Uploading Your Honors Undergraduate Thesis to STARS

Congratulations on reaching the Format Review process for your Honors Undergraduate Thesis! Your next step is submission to STARS, UCF's institutional repository.

First, you will need to create an account in STARS. We suggest using the "How to Create an Account in STARS" guide to help with this process.

Next, you will want to review your dissemination (access) options of who you want to be able to view your thesis and when. Dissemination defines the availability of an Honors Undergraduate Thesis to both the academic community and the general public. Use the following explanations in conjunction with advisement by your faculty adviser about publishing within a particular discipline to choose the best dissemination (release) option for your thesis:

1. Immediate worldwide access with no restrictions.
2. Dissemination with limited access to the UCF community for a period of 1, 3, or 5 years. Worldwide access after that period.
3. Pending dissemination of the entire work for six months for patent or other proprietary issues, with an additional six months extension available. Once the patent and proprietary issues are resolved, we recommend immediate worldwide access with no restrictions.
4. Pending dissemination of the entire work for six months for patent or other proprietary issues, with an additional six months extension available. Once the patent and proprietary issues are resolved, dissemination with limited access to the UCF community for a period of 1, 3, or 5 years

Next, you can upload your thesis for format review. At this point, you may include draft information on the submission form, however, the more you complete now, the less you will need to complete when you submit your final thesis.
