Letters to the Editor

Slammed

Dear Editor:

I am not in the habit of writing letters concerning the articles that appear in this newspaper. In fact, unless I can offer a valid substitution, I am reluctant to complain about anything. HOWEVER, I must express my opinion concerning a regular column of the Future.

The first edition this quarter produced a very poor movie review. Each edition, the column has gotten longer and longer, detracting from the quality of the paper. Not only is each edition has produced a column longer than the last.

Why must Mr. Hollinger be allowed 16 inches to berate us with his idea of humorous discourse? Why must he try to impress us with his idea of a pseudo-intellectual format? Can't he just review the movie? In an article that was approx. 16 inches to berate us for the movie, the newspaper has requested the Office of Student Affairs and members forming the student government that all matters be conducted at a bonfire this Friday night.

The paper has requested that the FUTURE'S final deadline be the Thursday midnight before the Friday on which the paper is distributed. The paper is actually produced for the next week's delay. Students would never become aware of what had been decided until it is too late, and the final results of the elections can be distributed to the entire student body in a complete and competent manner until the next issue of the newspaper is published.

This precedent will also allow the student government to carry out certain actions, if it should ever so desire, without any communication to students in a comprehensive manner before the student government actually carried out its decisions.

The paper would always be a week behind in student affairs. And if the student government deemed that only one week was necessary from the time a motion was entered until it could be passed, the student government would never become aware of what had been discussed until it is too late, and the final results of the elections can be distributed to the entire student body in a complete and competent manner until the next issue of the newspaper is published.

Both the paper and the student government decided that the final results of the elections can be distributed to the entire student body in a complete and competent manner until the next issue of the newspaper is published. To the student government, the FUTURE is merely a vehicle for the announcement of results. However, the paper is actually produced for the next week's delay. PORTABLE THE PROPHET

By ROBERT E. HOLINSKER

Franco Zeffirelli's film version of "Romeo and Juliet" is the most enjoyable motion picture to come along in some time. Naturally there have been some alterations made so that the work could be adapted for the screen, I imagine this is considered heresy by the serious Shakespearean scholar. For all practical purposes most of us will find that the producer has taken great care in his sensitive transformation of the play from stage to screen. And if we break into a bit we will see, in some instances, the camera has had an additive effect in developing the play's treatment of day and night/night and darkness.

A gentle photographic technique lends to the film a Rembrandtian flavor. Subdued tones melt together and give some indoor footage (the feast) the total visual solidarity of oil and canvas.

Olivia Hussey and Leonard Whiting install the film with an authentic freshness and verve. It is not necessary for the viewer to make the ordinary compromises that so often accompany a professional stage production. The need for competent talent generally demands the play be handled by older actors. Hussey and Whiting are young, but there is no question of the quality in their performance. The vivid character portraits presented by the two young British artists will be immediately injected into any further encounters that you may have with the play. They are the measure of ideal casting.

Future

Future--Is there any possibility that perhaps the roadway on Alafaya will be able to be worked upon a lot sooner than previously planned?
PICKETT--Well, there will be work done on Alafaya in calendar 1969. But it will not be completed in calendar 1969.
Future--Exactly what type of work?
PICKETT--There is a considerable amount of shoulder preparation work that must be done before any paving, or what most people would call widening and resurfacing, can be done. The roadway itself must be properly prepared to hold up the cap. And this is a slow, rather drawn-out, aggravating process. But it's got to be done or the roadway won't hold, and I imagine that's all that will get done in calendar 1969.
Future--Is there any plan, or any possibility of a traffic signal being placed on the entrance to Alafaya Trail on Highway 50 to more adequately handle traffic flow on and from classes?
PICKETT--Yes. And if I had known the question was coming I could answer it more intelligently because there has been some correspondence on it. I don't know if it has actually been approved or not. We cannot put a traffic light on any state highway. We can only approve it and send the request to the State Road Board in Deland. This has been done. We have requested it from Deland.
Future--When could it be possible for such project plans to be changed?
PICKETT--Well, the plans could be changed anytime the board of county commissioners met and decided they wanted to change priorities and sent it off to the state road board. The state road board does not object if we change priorities within the plan as long as the changing of the priorities involves roads where they have already completed their estimates and engineering drawings.

Teacher Profile
Gerber Math Professor at FTU
Homer G. Gerber, assistant professor of mathematics and teacher of Math 100 and Abstract Algebras at FTU, was born and attended school in Dalton, Ohio. After graduation from high school, he attended Bluffton College in Bluffton, Ohio. After two years there, he taught elementary school for three years and returned to Bluffton where he received a B.S. degree in Elementary Education. He then attended Rolling Green State where he was a graduate assistant in mathematics. He later worked for the government at the Defense Electronic Supply.
Gerber received an M.S. degree in mathematics at the University of Illinois. He then attended Florida State and was in a math education program there and a graduate assistant in math. He is presently working on his dissertation and hopes to have his Ph.D. by fall. Before coming to FTU, Gerber taught mathematics at Tri-Way High School in Ohio. He came to FTU because he was curious about the organization of the math department and because it was a new university.
Gerber and his wife Marilyn, a Young Adult Librarian at the Orlando Public Library, reside at Park Manor Estates in Orlando. He enjoys reading, music and swimming. He is a former member of a barbershop quartet.
