A University library, whether the association is through employment or attendance, has many advantages. It is difficult, for instance, to go very many days without learning something new on any subject, many things truly profound. Also, the people one is likely to meet are equally diverse and the introductions to them can be spectacularly rewarding.

In eLearning, Inez Bracy was featured in Rejuvenate Your Life in 21 Days. In May, Inez Bracy was featured in Rejuvenate Your Life in 21 Days. She made the long trip to Florida, landing on a late Sunday evening, and visited the campus on Monday morning, fighting jet lag and a vicious lack of sleep. She was able to impart an insightful knowledge of Australian culture we would never have been able to learn on our own.

In late June the UCF Libraries had the honor of accepting a gift book from Professor Charles Bali, who happens to be an instructor of law. He donated to the library his most recent book, Australian Commercial Law In Perspective. As we showed him around our department, the library as a whole, and the campus, he was able to impart an insightful knowledge of Australian culture we would never have been able to learn on our own. The UCF Libraries became clear to all who attended and reflected her 20 year experience in an array of professional environments from academia and education. All washed away from the visit with something to ponder and look forward to.
