Rohrer Conducts Rheology Research

The search for ways to make good athletes into super athletes has gone on for years. The dream of 300-pound linemen knocked off the world's record for the mile run, or a soccer team whose loss so stunned fans through a tough 15 rounds has become more than a realistic science fiction dream.

Special diets have been devised, extensive programs of exercises have been developed, all geared to improve the athlete’s ability to make the best of his natural endowment.

Here at Tech, a new and exciting experiment is being conducted by Dr. Frank D. Rohrer, researcher, teacher, and athletic director for the Tech sports program.

"Rohrer is working with rheology, the study of blood flow. His project is the study of the flow of blood through the muscular portions of the body when the body is at rest and when it is doing certain types of exercises."

"If we can develop the optimum exercise training program that enables the person to perform to the maximum of his skills, it would be a tremendous asset to an athlete," Dr. Rohrer said.

The government has awarded Dr. Rohrer's federal grant so he can continue his research.

At the present time, Rohrer and his assistant, Byron B. Wilson, are conducting limited experiments with forearms muscles, using a variety of FTU students and highly sensitive instruments that measure blood flow when the subject squeezes a hand grip.

"From this we may be able to determine if certain types of exercises will produce the greatest flow through this portion of the body," the Doctor said.

Jobs Planned For Graduates

For students completing graduation requirements during the Spring 1969 semester, the Office of Student Affairs is handling a student placement program.

Students who will be graduating should contact William Loving, Registrar, and register their names and qualifications along with the date of their graduation. Inquiries about the FTU graduates are already being made by business and industrial organizations.

Along with the placement of graduates in career opportunities, the service will try to place students in both on and off campus work for regular term or summer employment. The assistance of the faculty and staff in advising students concerning the placement service will be necessary to make the program successful.

A Director of Placement has been requested. Approval may be forthcoming in time to fill the position by July 1.

Questions or information should be addressed to William Loving, Director of Student Financial Aid and Placement.

Any student who feels that he is within one term of graduation should with W. D. Chapman in the Registrar's Office to get information and clarification of his status.

Sororities End Week of Pledging

Florida Tech’s sororities, Tyes and Fidelis, held their first week of pledging for the Spring Quarter, April 14-18.

Tyes members and pledges had dinner at the FTU cafeteria Monday night, April 14. After dinner, the pledges had their first meeting where they received ropes tied into knots which they wear as pins on their coats.

The pledges are now officially "Knots," which is the name for Tyes pledges. The Knots met their pledge trainers, Melinda Hardman and Connie Graham, who will guide them through pledging.

At a meeting, Tyes members, Marilyn Stadek, a Tyes member, was selected to represent Tyes in the Spring Queen contest.

Tyes also started Friendship Week at the Monday night meeting. Each pledge was given a member to get to know better for one week.

Members of the sorority recently received gold gavels with the letters T-Y-6-S running vertically on a gold chain. They also plan to get jerseys with the sorority name on them.

Tyes members and pledges meet every other Monday night. Members are asked to bring dues of $1 to the next meeting, to be held April 21.

Fidelis members and pledges had their first joint meeting Thursday, April 10 in room 358 of the LLRB. Pledges were told to wear a dress to school Monday, April 14, that they normally wouldn’t wear. At the end of the day, the pledges were told to wear that same dress for the rest of the week. Fidelis pledges are to wear a gold scapular around their neck. The purpose of the scapulars is to indicate which girls are Fidelis pledges.

Pledges held a meeting April 10 where Marsha Holbrook was installed into office.

The second pledge-member meeting was held Tuesday, April 15 and pledges were told to get a red brick, decorate it, and bring it to school. The meeting will be held at the week of April 21-25. In a letter to members of the Fidelis members only, Helene Commander, Fidelis pledge trainer, was selected to represent the sorority in the Spring Queen Contest.

The first pledge party will be held tonight and the type of party will be a surprise to the pledges—from formal to informal.

Fidelis members and pledges meet every Tuesday at 11 a.m. in room 358 of the LLRB.

The same civilian advisor whose letter was quoted above writes that there will be a blood bath whopping Hitler's if the US pulls out of its commitment or a coalition government is formed. There are almost three million Vietnamese who left North Vietnam before Ho Chi Minh closed the border. They had found out what it is like to live under Communist. Many of them had to leave their families behind to join the fight against the spread of Communism.

These millions have sworn never to quit fighting the Communists, no matter what. For our own sake, our own interests, can we afford not to do the same? Vietnam might as well be Mexico for all that distance counts today.

SO LITTLE TRUTH

With so many believing in what they are doing, suffering physically, mentally and emotionally in order to do their job in this war, why is it not seen as much from an American point of view? Why is no so Little about the truth? Read the truth in its entirety in the newspaper, on the radio or TV.

but if you really trust, the truth is not hard to learn if you will only talk to people who have been there and have friends over there. There are lots of us around.

An isn't it important for you to know as many facts as possible? Writing, satirical or otherwise, is only destructive if it displays a lack of knowledge on the subject one wishes to speak out about.

Spring Week Broadcast To Offer Prizes

A spring week will be held during the two weeks just before the May 3 Spring Festival. Plans include a treasure hunt that will last throughout the two weeks.

Students are still needed, too, to participate in the Village Center, the campus starting at 3:30 p.m. Phi Kappa Epsilon pledges will hold a car wash at the Physical Plant for $1.00 per car.

A buffet dinner will be held in the multi-purpose room of the V.C. at 5:00 p.m., Dr. Charles N. Millican, President of the University, will speak on FTU and the campus. The Village Center is located on the FTU campus, on the route between FTU and the main campus.

The dinner will cost $2.75 per person, and there will be a bar set up, with Little dug here and there, that I really got tired of it. But as you know, the truth always hurts.

On the whole, I felt that with much age and practice, some day the play will be tolerable. If you have something to do like watching wind-blown oranges drop, then I would recommend you do it.

The entire play was performed in one set which was the court yard of a cheap hotel. The set was very good but some poor soul wasted a lot of time and materials on it. What I am saying is that compared to the theatre and the general performance, the set was very nice.

Speaking of the theme, you may have gathered that the entire play was an attack on the present state of American morality. This went so long, with little dug here and there, that I really got tired of it. But as you know, the truth always hurts.

At the Theatre

By RUSSELL T. BENLEY

If you have $4.00 that you can't possibly spend in a practical way, then I would advise you to see "The Time of The Cock" at the Central Florida Civic Theatre. I'm not saying that the play was all bad, I just probably smug after the dinner.

Orlando is the host to Claire Luce while she is starring in the play. Unlike previous productions from which she received wide acclaim from American and British theatres and also from the Ziffeld gefildes, after this performance she may have to open a fruit stand. After a few years of inactivity or semi-retirement, Elyse Parmenter, an American secretary on vacation in Venice. Leona, past middle age and suffering from a love-leslie kiss, and finds a plotter but is incumbed by the morals of all the inhabitants of Venice. After much ado, she flies off her puritanical conscience and proceeds with her original plan to really live it up; but alas it is now too late. Renato Di Rossi, portrayed by Ed Mills who also the director, refuses to accept her affection and goes back to his wife and "10,000" children.

Tom Hallbeck, the of the unexpected American artist. His best performance in the play was when he poured the beers. He actually filled the glasses. Carol Murphy played his wife who was a divorcée, drinking and very, very, naive, in more ways than one, until Leona, with a jealous intent lets it on her about her unfaithful husband.

Colleen Pope and "Happy" Low were supposed to represent the typical American couple as they hit all the typical tourist traps on a typical tour of Europe. Their good feats were, uh, well, they at least remembered their lines!

Millicent Clarke played Signora Fioria who was a "woman of the world" and performed her talents for an unsuspecting young artist. She had a difficult role to fill and did it very successfully. Her beak and seductive movements were quite appropriate and were executed with an air of realism.

Ed Schultz, an ex-student from F T U, played Vito, the son of Don Corleone and the captain an the streets. He performed quite well considering the emotional tempo he had to get rolling. Typical of a star-struck student of the theatre, he was a little too "hammy" with his directions.

Has Beens Take Tourney Title

The Has Beens won the Intramural Invitational Tournament last week, winning out over a strong Tau Blue squad 53-48 in the finals held at the Oviedo High School gymnasium.

Since the Has Beens and the Taus had defeated each other previously in the double elimination tournament, it was a case of do-or-die. But the Has Beens, who gave themselves that name because of their older ages, had too much experience and poise for the younger though talented fraternity team.

Both teams used tight zone defenses and the game was close all the way. The Taus gained possession of the ball with one minute left and trailing 49-48. Gambling on one shot, Tau captain Earl Stolzer’s jumper with 20 seconds to go missed its mark and the Has Beens gained possession and put the game on ice with two quick baskets. Russ Salgino’s 10 points in the first half and Mike Haynard’s 11 point second half were the sparks needed for the victory. Both wound up with 15 points. Hank Taylor and Don Lilly had 14 points each for Tau Blue.

In the Secondary Tournament held on the FTU courts, Chi Alpha II built up a 21-14 halftime lead and held on for a 34-28 victory over PKE in the finals to win the event. Ed Schenck led Chi Alpha with 10 points while Gary Hackett was tops for PKE with 12 markers.

Three adolescent boys trip through this film in search of well--let's just say "get some." It is almost a motion picture adaptation of Bill Cosby's short story, The Regular Way. The time setting is that period in most boy's life when they start talking about girls. Maybe then dreaming; then dying.

The three boys in "FTF" fit the form nicely. They are at the stage when some of us start to exaggerate. Head on head confrontations take the form of "Ya, I did it Liz but you don't know her; she moved." In this flick, as in real life, the three are inexperienced. They pretend that they are old hand's, because that's just the way they play the game.

Our trio is composed of all aggressive and slick "Eddie Haskell" types, (the only true characterization to come out of a half hour TV show) a little guy, who scares easy, and the typical kid by selfish parents. In this case Kenny's widower father wants the boys out of the way to make room for his fiancée secretary.

The threesome take a day trip across the border to Canada and meet up with Jacqueline Bisset. They think she is a "Hooker".

The boys front Anna's entrance into the US. She is an English citizen and has left her passport in Canada and has left her residence accommodations. The movie is absolutely predictable. The plot by some fanciful workaholics to offer a national explanation for all the circumstances to the point of becoming apologetic. Still, America actions can only be acknowledged with an orchestrated two thousand "why's."

Being turned off by the general quality of the film does not allow me to discard the moral directives offered by the heavyweight Rome home movie. I guess they are play-unsuccessfully, don't over dramatize your own situation, and have a good time. Please, no nut mail form the April 17, and discussed the FTU Library and its services to students of this local N.W.L Committee. Subversion Still Haunts Airways

The Columbia Broadcasting System recently scored a point for decency and Mom's apple pie by cancelling the Smothers Brothers Show. CBS claimed that the Smothers' Show continued to exhibit poor taste with controversial, offensive and downright truthful material. If CBS is going to follow a policy of purging shows of this nature from the airwaves, I feel that it is only my duty to advocate the demise of Captain Kangaroo.

At first glance, one might classify this show as an innocuous kiddie hour. A closer inspection will reveal that Captain Kangaroo is dangerously high in mind-warping potential. When you consider that a child of tender preschool age watches the Captain for at least three years, that's a lot of time for them to become brainwashed by the program's controversial views. Some adults even watch the show, so there's a double danger!

Captain Kangaroo himself parallels the Smothers Brothers personality-wise: his is a seemingly gentle man intent on producing an hour of entertainment. But, like the Brothers, Kangaroo is in reality transparent. And he's always tricking the unsuspecting Captain. What else can this be but outright bigotry?

The less obtrusive but real villain of the show is none other than Bunny Rabbit. His tricks are always intended to confuse the Captain. This teaches the children that material objects are easy to come by and thus, their sense of values is distorted. His always cheery demeanour, which may lead children to think that the world is also as carefree, coupled with his uniform instills a belief that a military state would be a "swell" government to have.

Mr. Green Jeans is a racial symbol. The "green" stands for the color of other races. He might as well be called "Mr. Red, Brown, Yellow or Black Jeans" since the cover name of "Green Jeans" is so transparent. And he's always second to the causative Captain. What else can this be but outright bigotry?

Bunny Rabbit's tricks never turn into violence, but those of Mr. Moose do. The Moose is forever intent on goading Captain Kangaroo into saying a word that will cause ping pong balls, obviously bombs, to be dropped on the unsuspecting Captain.

Yes, good folks, we must unite now to prevent controversial programs of this nature from continuing to subvert our children and society as well. Total censorship is our only salvation.

This is Portable, the Prophet. Peace.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Junior Class Gets President

After a month of existing in limbo, the Junior Class has a president. The Student Senate recently confirmed the nomination of Brenden Voss, of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences as chief executive for the University's approximately 700 juniors.

Voss, was active in student government in high school and college in New York. At present he is busy organizing the Junior Class government contingent into an effective legislative unit.

Student Government is also taking up the woods, literally. Through their efforts a path has been cleared to the shore of Lake Clair and work on clearing the lakefront and dredging a beach area is progressing ahead of schedule. Student Body President Walt Komsatski calls the Lake Clair project "an example of Student Government initiative, cooperation, and tangible work for the students of Fla. Tech."

Project Chairman Richard Staley (Junior Senator, Humanities and Social Sciences) stated "that plans call for a picnic area, pavilion and tennis courts, to be built on the lakefront and dredging a beach area, all within easy walking access of campus. It is estimated that the area will be ready for students this summer."
