Central Florida Future, Vol. 02 No. 02, October 10, 1969

Florida Technological University

Part of the Mass Communication Commons, Organizational Communication Commons, Publishing Commons, and the Social Influence and Political Communication Commons

Find similar works at: https://stars.library.ucf.edu/centralfloridafuture

University of Central Florida Libraries http://library.ucf.edu

This Newsletter is brought to you for free and open access by the University Archives at STARS. It has been accepted for inclusion in Central Florida Future by an authorized administrator of STARS. For more information, please contact STARS@ucf.edu.

Recommended Citation
https://stars.library.ucf.edu/centralfloridafuture/32
The open garden in the Science building appears to stare back at the camera. A special fish-eye lens was used to put the garden in this unusual perspective.

We Live in the Present.
By the Past, but for the . . .

The Black Student On Campus

Accent on the Individual . . . Not for Students

By STEVE JONES

"There aren't many of us," commented a black newcomer to FTU. And that statement is an appropriate summary of the black student population on campus.

The number of black students has increased over the extremely small number who attended FTU's first year of classes. Compared to the overall increase in the second year enrollment, the increase of blacks is practically unnoticed.

FTU is still a white-oriented school despite the fact that a vast majority of black students who apply are accepted.

Two black students, Wheida Hamilton and Roland Williams, were interviewed about their views concerning the black student's situation at FTU. Miss Hamilton is a junior English major who came to FTU from the University of Miami. She comments from her home in nearby Ormond. Williams is a junior physics major and a resident student. He attended Florida A and M University before coming to Florida Tech.

Both of these students feel that on the whole, the black student is treated equally and fairly by white students, faculty, and staff.

October 15 has been designated "PEACE WEDNESDAY" by FTU's Student Government. FTU will join over 400 other insti­tutions in a nationwide moratorium on killing for the Vietnam war. This official activity will begin at noon in the circle between the dorms, with a nonsequelational religious service in honor of those who have died and are dying in Vietnam.

A speaker's stand and microphone will be set up also. Anyone wishing to use these facilities may. Following these activities at noon, classes will resume and the Student Government is urging all faculty members to discuss either Vietnamese or war in their classes. It is suggested that the professors relate their college and subject matter to the Vietnam situation.

No Class Boycott

There will be no all-day vigil at FTU like at FDU, year will there be phony boycott of classes.

However, black armbands, to be worn in honor of the U.S. soldiers who have died in Vietnam, may be obtained at the Student Government office in the Village Center and worn on a volunteer basis.

The administration and faculty are aware of the activities scheduled for Wednesday and President Millican has said, according to S.G. president Walt Komanski, "Yes to the attitude. Yes, we should do something." A memorandum has been sent to the faculty advising them of the peace program and suggesting that classes be held outside if at all possible.

The Senate members and the visitors at the Student Government meeting Tuesday night showed concern that the activities not degrade FTU's image both on and off campus. One senator commented that "PEACE WEDNESDAY" must be done in conjunction with administration and faculty because if we just do it, then it would seem to the public like another protest against the establishment, the administration, and the faculty.

Therefore, a press conference will be held prior to Wednesday for the benefit of the press. Press coverage is also planned for Wednesday's activities.

Also important in the students' viewpoint was the fact that the participation MUST be voluntary and spontaneous. In relation to this, a suggestion that there be better planning and wide publicity, the students commented, "It's supposed to come from within. It's not to be pushed on you."

"You lose something (when it is pushed)" and "It doesn't fit if proceed" were additional comments.

The initial plans were started by the Students Mobilization Committee, a new name for the Students for McCarthy. Their plan is to boycott classes one day in October, two days in November, and so on till the campus is paralyzed. However, FTU's Student Govern­ment is calling a constructive rather than a de­structive program for Wednesday. "PEACE WEDNESDAY", and as Walt Komanski said, it is for the "whole educational system to show conc­ern."

General Studies Program Planned

Many freshmen entering FTU this fall are undecided on their major field of study. Others, who are sure of what their major will be when they enter, are often disillusioned when they find the field is not to their liking.

This year, FTU will offer a curriculum program for General Studies. The course is designed with two things in mind:

1. It accommodates students who desire a liberal, non-pro­fessional education encompassing several fields.

2. It provides a means for students to start a productive university education while delaying decision on a major subject as late as the end of the sopho­more year at FTU.

If pursued, the course will lead to a B.G., Bachelor's Degree in General Studies.

The program is administered through the office of the Assist­ant Dean for Academic Affairs, Dr. John Bolte, and is specially designed for liberal education and academic flexibility.

Students fulfilling the require­ments for the B.G. degree must complete the Environmental Studies Program, a five course ESP Senior Seminar, and a minimum of 32 credits in each of five course areas.

Courses used to fulfill the ESP may not be used to satisfy any one of the five course area requirements. If these credits, at least half from each college or area, must be 100 course numbered 300 and above.

For more information about the new program contact Dr. Bolte.

S. C. H. Hamilton expresses her views regarding the black student's needs and responsibilities at FTU.
Editorial

Why The Citronaut?

In an editorial appearing in this newspaper last year, a headline asked the university community if FTU was "Destined to be Citronauts Forever?" Unless somebody moves fast, it looks as though we might well be. There is no student on campus who has not, from the first day of classes last year, wanted something to be done about the mascot. The time is no longer ripe. It is now and growing worse by the day. If indeed a mascot is finally chosen, it will even now be difficult to erase the Citronaut image which has already been indelibly stamped upon this institution. If action is not taken almost immediately, it will be all but impossible to remove that image.

For the benefit of any student who does not know anything about the Citronaut, or even what he looks like, he is pictured below, with a brief explanation.

As it was reported in the Future last quarter, it would take a miracle for the Citronaut to be ready for war in the full quarter. There is just part of the miracle.

---

THE PRESIDENTS' MESSAGES

...Of The University

Universities historically have been concerned with great moral, political, and social issues. This is wholly appropriate and the attention presently focused on U.S. foreign and military policy is no exception. We recognize clearly the concern of various classes concerning the war are of paramount importance and have been discussed at a joint meeting of the student body presidents, the Council of Presidents, the Chancellor, and the staff and members of the Board of Regents. It was the consensus of these individuals that the University should be open on October 15.

The recent statement on rights and responsibilities of the students at the University emphasizes the right to seek knowledge, debate ideas, form opinions, and express views freely and effect procedures to facilitate such activities. Classes at FTU will not be suspended on October 15, but opportunity exists for members of the University community to discuss and express publicly their views and sentiments on the Viet Nam war.

A "prayer for Peace" session, or something similar, is being planned on the FTU campus and a place will be made available on campus for this activity, provided appropriate procedures are followed.

Dr. Millican

---

... Of SG

On October 15, 1969 college students all across America will be recognizing a national day of discussion centering the necessity of an end to the Viet Nam War. Recognizing that FTU is an integral part of the higher educational system of the United States and that the students of FTU are equally concerned about and affected by this war the Student Government of FTU requests that the following be observed on campus:

1. October 15 shall be designated as "Peace Wednesday," a day devoted to discussion, contemplation, and debate concerning the United States' involvement in the Viet Nam War.
2. At 12:00 noon until 1:00 p.m. has been designated as the "Hour of Concern." All students, faculty, and university personnel are invited to this hour. Included in the hour will be an explanation as to the purpose of "Peace Wednesday," expression of varying points of view, and the singing of songs of peace.
3. On "Peace Wednesday" black arm bands will be worn to show sympathy for the national movement to end the Viet Nam War.

The students, faculty, and administration who will participate in "Peace Wednesday" will do so as a matter of personal conscience. "Peace Wednesday" is intended to be a day of personal reflection rather than public demonstration.

Walt Komanski

---

GC Building Opens A Crack

Everyone said it couldn't be done when FTU President Dr. Charles Millican announced that the new two-story, $2.7 million Classroom Building would be ready for first classes of the Fall Quarter.

At that time, workmen were still struggling to complete the frame of the basement and first floor, much less the final touches.

Last week, it looked impossible. There was just concrete, no floor, no furniture, no fixtures.

But anyone on campus over the weekend before classes began, could see for themselves the monumental finishing job being accomplished, under the most trying conditions.

Were the classrooms completed in time for classes last Monday? It was a question that was still being debated this week.

Classes were held, even as workmen labored industriously outside the classrooms.

Some classes were roughly furnished. Others had no equipment at all. Workmen were busy cleaning up glass and硬件 that fell from the ceiling.

One professor called the building "fragile during the first morning, and difficult to get to for the second."

"It was intensely hot there," he grunted. "A couple of the students passed out, and one fainted. But we went on with the classes.

"After class," he continued, "I complained that the air-conditioning wasn't on, and they told me it was on. Perhaps it will get better, but without windows and fans it is not as good as it should be."

The general opinion on the CGD was that despite the problems existing the first week, the best it was open at all was an example of the Western World.

---

The College Housing and Company Certified Public Accountants, Inc., is the weekly college student newspaper. It is published through the College of Business Administration at FTU, the College of Business Administration, Business Manager...Georgeanne Millican. Columnist...Kathy Jenkins. Sports Editor...Gary McMillan. Marketing Editor...Bob Holmgren. Advertising Manager...Tim Johnson. Business Manager...Linda Metz.

Please direct all letters to: Editor, Future.

Future

October 10, 1969

Editor in Chief...John Gholdston

Associate Editors...Pat Johnson, Steve Jones, Linda Metzel

Sports Editor...Gary McMillan

Marketing Officer...Linda Metzel

Advertising Manager...Tim Grady

Assistant Editors...Linda Metzel, Steve Jones, Gary McMillan

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Orlando, Fla.
Can It Kill?

The Oviedo Light

Part Two

By Pat Johnson

In order to try and explain the Oviedo Light on State Road 13, I felt different areas of the community could give their theories and we could derive a reasonable explanation from these. Members of the Future staff contacted the Physics Department at FTU, George D. Fawcett, founder of the Florida U.F.O. Study Group and West Hall, a Medallist in the Spiritualists Community in Cassadaga.

Hall, though he had heard of the Light, said, "It never thoroughly aroused me enough to track it down, never enough to give up a good pizza for." He referred to the light as a "willow-of-the-wisp" that "probably goes anywhere the wind blows."

Hall said the story remained him of three different and notable stories that are circulated about Cassadaga. The first was about a house that when you pick a rose from it all the petals fall off before you leave the garden gate.

Then he recalled the young girl that was picked up in a car while she was hitchhiking. When the driver got to her he found her at her house, she had mysteriously disappeared - wondering about this, the house, explained what had happened to the lady and was told by the hysterical women that her daughter had been killed on the same road a year ago that day (name hidden). Dickie Lee and "LaVairle".

And finally he talked about the woman who went to a spiritualist in Cassadaga for a look at her future. She was given a note and told not to read it until she got home. On the way home she was killed in an automobile accident. The note found on her body read, "You have no Future." When asked how he reacted to the light Hall remarked, "I wouldn't be afraid of anything that wouldn't bite me."

George D. Fawcett, founder of the Florida U.F.O. Study Group has another opinion about what could be terrifying visitors to State Road 13. He believes that the mystery is related to several other phenomena in the US, all of which are referred to as Fireballs. According to Fawcett these fireballs do not only appear on streets but on moonlit sights as well. Fireballs have been reported "dancing" on power lines in New York, sailing over lakes, and racing down roads. Several reports relate the fireballs even latch on the roof of cars and remain for several minutes. Fawcett explains that for these actions is that the balls are charged, either positively or negatively, and attractively attracted to oppositely charged objects, such as cars.

Fawcett thinks that the fireballs might be some type of energy or projectile of energy of which we know nothing of. He speculates that it might be this same type of energy which propels TIFOS or perhaps in the weapon system in some of them. Fawcett firmly believes that these fireballs are natural phenomena and not manufactured. He is adamant in his belief that they are a phenomenon in their own right. Fawcett claims that the fireballs are capable of serious undermining because they could well be a revolutionary, unanted energy source which could change the course of the world.

The PTU Physics Department was asked to give its opinion on the "light." The department held a special meeting on the subject, but stated officially that there was not sufficient information on which it could base a concrete, scientific opinion.

The beleaguered as an expert on the light without a thorough investigation," a spokesman said.

The department offered, however, to aid the FTU in a further study of the phenomenon, perhaps by offering the services of a Physics major to aid in the search for the truth.

The department spokesman said it would aid the investigation if an actual photograph of the "light" could be taken. This, the Future will attempt to do.

"If we can, and in spite of the anxious, and repeated dangerous light will pose some dark night. Maybe then an answer will be found; if there is an answer.

Can it Kill?

Disney Grads Tell 'All'

Black Students

(Raw text follows...)
Registration. The word to some means terror, confusion, or frustration. To others it means weeks of planning down to the drain when the classes signed up for are filled. But to all it means the only way to get classes. All must endure and suffer. No one is exempt from the true test of a college student. Many make it no farther in college, while many find it the "hurdle of hell" which separates the men from the boys. Whatever the case, FTU's students have the most highly mechanized registration system of any college in the country. The 30000 cards issued to each student carry codes which connect their daily card with the master computer. Any changes to a class on the computer are transferred automatically to all cards. FTU's system is fast because it is efficient. It spends all day registering but when registering, where registered or five hours or more begins to wear thin. Perhaps it is because of such a large number of Chinese students who own their own cars. Photos by Chuck Seithel
For Adults Only, Or...

College is often thought of as a place for 17-18 year olds to go after graduation from high school. However, a substantial percentage of the FTU student population is composed of what is commonly known as the adult student. The question is what distinguishes an adult student from every other student? Age must be ruled out because every student is considered to be an adult until he proves otherwise. Class is not the distinguishing factor because freshmen can be any age. All in all, it is impossible to say who is an adult and who isn't.

But there is a category of students which remains almost unnoticed in the rush of classes, activities, and clubs and organizations. These are the married adults.

Most married students are entering college from the world of work, are looking for a second career through a college education, are looking for a new occupation, or are attempting to fulfill drives for achievement and advancement.

The married student at FTU has been overlooked in the past. The FTU Review would like to remedy this by starting a weekly column dealing with the problems, humor, and social activities of the adult student.

One of the biggest problems the married student encounters is children. According to one source, "You have to fit your schedule to theirs and be home when they are to take care of them." Children are used to having their mothers at home all the time and a tendency to become jealous said another student.

"One day when I was caught up in my studying and housework, I started to bake a cake and my son came in and said, 'Now that's the way I like you, baking a cake; not in there with your nose in a book, said a married student.

A necessity for a married student is an understanding spouse. Husbands and wives must give up many social functions because of studying. Also, spouses seem to be very good for drilling on the night before an exam. An example of an understanding husband occurred when a married student left for school, only to come back home a few minutes later. As she opened the door her husband said, "You're back early, what did you forget this time?" She looked up and sighed, "My glasses and my teeth!"

Can Dot

Find Happiness At Tech?

"Why don't you go get it?" But she felt so concerned about her prospective role as a college student she applied for admission late in order to make certain she didn't supplant a younger student.

The slender, youthful matron hopes her courses in economics, political science and sociology will prepare her to work with the federal government and foundations in making comprehensive surveys and studies necessary to program planning.

"Modern technology has revolutionized the subject matter in the old food and sewing courses she took at Louisburg College, North Carolina, so long ago. The courses are so out-of-date they may not be credited even as electives. Although these lost credits represent lost time, there is still a possibility she can make her married son Bill, 24, who is presently completing his basic studies at Valencia Junior College, graduate from FTU together. A former substitute teacher, Dot says, "There is always something to do besides housework." She presently holds office as voter service chairman on the state board of the League of Women Voters of Florida, and she is active in several other civic organizations.

In making a comparison of "then" and "now," she reminisces, "Dress was so uniform back in 1939. There is 100 percent more individualism in the way young students dress nowadays." And she likes what she sees.

Dot summarized her philosophy by commenting, "While the children were small, I did all the things you are supposed to do to be a good housewife. But when they grew up, those things were not important any more."

-0-

The FTU Review would like to invite any adult married student who would like to relay her or his feelings on these subjects to submit an article to the FTU Review.

IN PICTURESQUE WINTER PARK IT'S:

For FASHION

FOR FUN

Where discriminating women of good taste find the finest in apparel, sportswear, dresses, shoes, lingerie and accessories.

Central Florida's most exciting specialty shop... open your charge account today.

IN "PROCTOR CENTRE" PARK AVENUE WINTER PARK
IM Football
KO Oke
Extramural football at FTU is taking shape for the fall quarter.
If you don't believe it, just take a look outside the men's dorms in the afternoon. The athletes are out in force practicing,
and Ken Renner, head of the intramural program, is making plans for the fall season.

By Linda
CAMPUS GLANCES

Sigma Alpha Fraternity spent the summer as an active men's social frat working on service projects and internal improvements in the social and administrative areas. SA participated in Mountain Day as a summer service project. Sigma Alpha will hold a smoker October 21, and a wild cat party October 31 for rush.

-o-

The Alumni Association of Kappa Sigma Fraternity will be present at Sigma Sigma Chi's meeting Sunday, October 12
at 7 p.m. at the Homecoming Banquet.
It is understood that the lamps will look better when they are orange as part of a plan for putting individuality into the different villages, as each color but both did comment that their paint is already peeling off wiring and labor, cost approximately $200.

-o-

Clayton felt orange was the color choice among the architects "to make the poles different from regular lamps. " TEP brotherhood is an overall endorsement of the entire brotherhood. TEP is stressing the aspects of social life, academic and dance are planned for after major requirements for the brotherhood are an average of 2.5 and the endear student body. TEP is interested in being members of committees or two TEP alumni who are interested in

-o-

Panhellenic will hold a tea
the near future.

-o-

Panhellenic advisors.

-o-

Panhellenic will hold a tea
the near future.

-o-

Panhellenic will hold a tea
the near future.

-o-

Panhellenic will hold a tea
the near future.

-o-

Panhellenic will hold a tea
the near future.

-o-

Panhellenic will hold a tea
the near future.

-o-

Panhellenic will hold a tea
the near future.
The university was airing its dirty linen this week, and it wasn’t a very pretty sight.

Students and staff were far from happy about the linen service offered on campus this year by Pan American Linen Service of Tampa. A staff spokesman said that something in going to be done about it.

Each boarding student is given three towels, two sheets and a pillow case that will see him through the week.

Much of the linen, however, appears to be soiled when delivered. Towels are smeared and sheets are often torn and have holes in them that range from the size of quarters to watermelons.

Towels in the nurses’ station are also discolored, and are a great source of embarrassment to the kids who pride themselves on an antiseptic clinic.

The general feeling among students toward the linen service was “it will do,” when the problems persisted last year.

This year, the above-said problems cropped up, everyone was taking a more militant attitude. Students reported dining crib sheets among their ration of bed linen. One student opened his sheet last week and found the other side of his room staring at him.

Another lamented, “I once had a sheet that literally fell apart when I unfolded it.”

Said a female student, “My sheet had little holes in it, but the way the company had patched it made me believe that their sewing machine had gone broke.”

Pan American was low bidder this year, C. Barth Engert, director of campus housing explained.

“We realize,” he said, “that the company had offered to supply bed pads it had on hand as part of the service.”

“We saved some money not having to buy the bed pads,” Engert said. The company, however, raised its rates after the contract was signed.

The bed pads can’t be returned if quality is poor, but the sheets and towels can. Exchange dates are Wednesdays, 11 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. for buildings A and B and the same times on Thursdays for buildings C and D.

Because of the pleading pressure of the FTU’s investigation of the linen situation and by concerned university administrators, Pan American this week agreed to bring in brand new linen.

FTUers were happy about the promised changes, but were reassured just in time for the new semester they saw its color and quality.

Lotz of Art

Steven Lotz, Asst. Prof. of art at FTU, will open a one-man invitational exhibition at the Jacksonville, Florida, Art Festival to be held at Jacksonville Municipal Auditorium Oct. 10-12.

Lotz is one of three first-prize winners in previous shows of the Festival who have been invited to mount exhibits. Twelve major pieces in his show will be monumental 4-ft. by 6-ft. chalk and white drawings on black paper with chalk. Lotz describes as “reductive” with a “surrealistic quality.”

The other two former winners who will mount exhibits are Durls Jasper of New Smyrna Beach and Joe Sabatella of Oviedo. Sabatella in past Dean of the School of Architecture, University of Fla.

Colonial PHOTO & HOBBY Welcomes FTU Students

CENTRAL FLA’S MOST COMPLETE LINE HOBBY AND MODEL EQUIPMENT

636 N. MILLS ST.

841-1485

Activity Calendar

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>MONDAY</th>
<th>TUESDAY</th>
<th>WEDNESDAY</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>October 10</td>
<td>All Day - F. C. Rush Registration (Village Center-Library Lobby)</td>
<td>All Day - F. C. Rush Registration (Village Center-Library Lobby)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>12:00 p.m. - Cheerleading Clinic(Test)</td>
<td>5:00 p.m. - Cheerleading Clinic(Test)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>7:00 p.m. - Panhellenic Coffee (Multi-Purpose Room)</td>
<td>8:30 p.m. - Village Center Flicks Phantom of the Opera (Village Center Lobby)</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

HONDA OF ORANGE COUNTY

Authorized Sales & Service
Over 30 models to choose from
On the spot bank financing
Factory trained mechanic
Ideal student transportation
Enjoy prime parking spaces on campus

Open 9-6 Tues. thru Sat.
6436 E. Colonial Dr., Orlando, 277-6880

Tech Talk

Orlando Linen Service is offering a pick up and delivery service for laundry and dry cleaning items for students and faculty. Times are Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays at the Village Center Housing Desk, open from 9:00 - 11:30 am and 12 noon to 4 pm daily. Prices are pretty good, ranging from .55 cents for a pair of pants and $1.15 for a suit.

C-Bar Stables Inc.

NICE & EASY

1 mile west of Christmas
Just 14 min. from FTU
RIDING LESSONS

Ph. 564-2596 John Tanner

Colonial PHOTO & HOBBY Welcomes FTU Students CENTRAL FLA’S MOST COMPLETE LINE HOBBY AND MODEL EQUIPMENT

636 N. MILLS ST.

841-1485

SHELL’S HP-40 “The 40,000 mile line”

10% Discount on HP-40 with this ad

In Union Park at the Traffic Light 277-4962

FuTure

October 10, 1969

Activity Calendar

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>THURSDAY</th>
<th>FRIDAY</th>
<th>SATURDAY</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>October 10</td>
<td>All Day - F. C. Rush Registration (Village Center-Library Lobby)</td>
<td>Nothing SCHEDULED ON THIS DAY</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10:30 a.m. - Student Government Coffee (Library Lobby)</td>
<td>5:00 p.m. - Cheerleading Clinic (Test)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5:00 p.m. - Cheerleading Clinic (Test)</td>
<td>9:00 p.m. - Rush Dance Featuring “Fin and the Stairfresses” (Multi-Purpose Room)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Linen Service Woes Aired

The university was airing its dirty linen this week, and it wasn’t a very pretty sight.

Students and staff were far from happy about the linen service offered on campus this year by Pan American Linen Service of Tampa. A staff spokesman said that something was going to be done about it.

Each boarding student is given three towels, two sheets and a pillow case that will see him through the week.

Much of the linen, however, appears to be soiled when it is delivered. Towels are smeared and sheets are often torn and have holes in them that range from the size of quarters to watermelons.

Towels in the nurses’ station are also discolored, and are a great source of embarrassment to the kids who pride themselves on an antiseptic clinic.

The general feeling among students toward the linen service was “it will do,” when the problems persisted last year.

This year, the above-said problems cropped up, everyone was taking a more militant attitude. Students reported dining crib sheets among their ration of bed linen. One student opened his sheet last week and found the other side of his room staring at him.

Another lamented, “I once had a sheet that literally fell apart when I unfolded it.”

Said a female student, “My sheet had little holes in it, but the way the company had patched it made me believe that their sewing machine had gone broke.”

Pan American was low bidder this year, C. Barth Engert, director of campus housing explained.

“We realize,” he said, “that the company had offered to supply bed pads it had on hand as part of the service.”

“We saved some money not having to buy the bed pads,” Engert said. The company, however, raised its rates after the contract was signed.

The bed pads can’t be returned if quality is poor, but the sheets and towels can. Exchange dates are Wednesdays, 11 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. for buildings A and B and the same times on Thursdays for buildings C and D.

Because of the pleading pressure of the FTU’s investigation of the linen situation and by concerned university administrators, Pan American this week agreed to bring in brand new linen.

FTUers were happy about the promised changes, but were reassured just in time for the new semester they saw its color and quality.

Lotz of Art

Steven Lotz, Asst. Prof. of art at FTU, will open a one-man invitational exhibition at the Jacksonville, Florida, Art Festival to be held at Jacksonville Municipal Auditorium Oct. 10-12.

Lotz is one of three first-prize winners in previous shows of the Festival who have been invited to mount exhibits. Twelve major pieces in his show will be monumental 4-ft. by 6-ft. chalk and white drawings on black paper with chalk. Lotz describes as “reductive” with a “surrealistic quality.”

The other two former winners who will mount exhibits are Durls Jasper of New Smyrna Beach and Joe Sabatella of Oviedo. Sabatella in past Dean of the School of Architecture, University of Fla.

Colonial PHOTO & HOBBY Welcomes FTU Students CENTRAL FLA’S MOST COMPLETE LINE HOBBY AND MODEL EQUIPMENT

636 N. MILLS ST.

841-1485

SHELL’S HP-40 “The 40,000 mile line”

10% Discount on HP-40 with this ad

In Union Park at the Traffic Light 277-4962