NEWS YOU CAN USE FROM YOUR UCF LIBRARIES

Interlibrary Loan and Document Delivery

What is Interlibrary Loan?

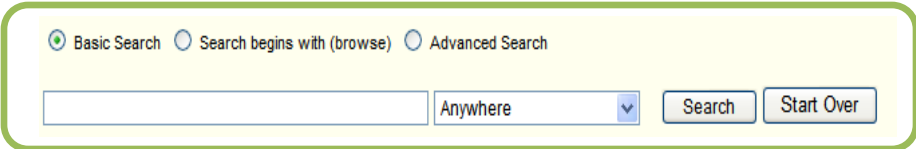

Because no library can contain every book and every journal ever published, libraries often borrow materials from each other. Interlibrary loan (ILL) is a service that allows students and staff to borrow items not owned by the UCF Libraries. Items that can be requested through interlibrary loan include books, articles, theses & dissertations, and conference proceedings.

Think you may need to use this service? This service is free to all UCF students and very simple to use. All of your requests can be entered through the library's interlibrary loan website, found at <http://library.ucf.edu/ILL>. Please note, items usually take about one to two weeks to arrive from the other library, so request them early! Please refer to the ILL website for more information!

Did you know?

The UCF library catalog contains items held at our branch and regional locations! If you search for items that are located "anywhere", search results will include books at UCF's six regional campuses and at branch libraries including the library at UCF's Rosen College. These libraries hold about 130,000 volumes, which account for over 8% of the items found in UCF's catalog. Even though these books are owned by UCF, students need to request them through interlibrary loan.

Visit our website for more information on branch and regional campus libraries: <http://library.ucf.edu/Administration/FindUs>.

Questions about Campus Organizations?
