Reflections By Poolside

It's not supposed to be a wading and swimming pool, but you never would have known it by the number of students who have been frolicking in the reflecting pool since water was first introduced last weekend.

On campus residents estimated that more than two hundred swimmers and waders have been seen since the pool, which is only about waist deep at the center, was opened.

Participants have ranged from individual students to fraternities.

Campus cops have been trying so gently keep the students out of the water, but they have found it difficult to halt the nocturnal festivals.

(Sometime during the week it was noticed that the pool was very clean.)

As impromptu football game was held in the water one evening.

Despite the inviting nature of the pool, and despite the fact that the regular swimming pool is not open yet, there are some problems of the swimming.

One is whether it is not or is not a pool.

Attempts have been made by physical plant to keep the water free of pollution by adding some chlorine and chemicals. Walking and swimming apparently does not add to the pollution problem.

Another is safety. There are metal pipes sticking up from the fountain area, and students have found that the bottom is bond-cut-producing.

All of this was made clear to me, as I was wading about, by a student, who added, "I don't think anyone could be injured for wanting to try that off for just once, but I don't think anyone on campus wants to run the risk of breaking some body of water, no matter how many times"

NOTICE
Students wanting to check out library materials between the hours of 10 p.m. and 8 a.m. should bring their Campus ID Card along with them to the library.

All overdue books should be returned by the last day of the summer quarter or fines will be charged.

Campus Drug Bust Best Kept Secret

The best kept secret on campus for the past month was the undercover investigation of narcotics violations at FTU.

Resident students, who were still buzzing over the row told The Post it was their belief that undercover agents posing as students were seeded into the resident body and actually living in the residence halls. This could not be confirmed.

Charged with possession of and delivery of hallucinogenic drugs were Gary S. Margulis, 19, and Bryant Paul Bourgin, 19.

Dennis Jay Mathesman, 19, and Arthur W. McGinnis, 19, were charged with possession of marijuana.

Bonds were set at $3,000 each.

Charged with two counts of possession and sale of narcotics was Donald Holt, 19. His bail was $5,000.

Douglas Keith George, 19, was charged with possession and sale of narcotics. Bail was set at $5,000.

Students Warned On Climbing Campers

Vice President W. Rex Brown, vice president in charge of Student Affairs said this week that he had received information from Physical Plant personnel that students have been firing with potential danger around the central utility plant.

Dr. Brown said, "These attempts include attempts by students to climb the smoke stack, attempts to climb the stack to the plant roof and attempts to remove lamps from the aircraft warning lights."

Dr. Brown stated that students had also tried to enter the cooling tower. "All of these efforts are potentially dangerous and individuals could result in serious, the student affairs VP said."

"Climbing the smokestack without disturbing the safety belt is extremely dangerous," Dr. Brown explained. "There is also the possibility of being overcome by carbon monoxide which, under certain conditions, could cause severe burns to the skin and extremely dangerous injury to eyes."

"Individual," Brown said, "warned that the tower bases are treated with strong solutions of acid and corrosion (inhibitors all of which are highly toxic to the skin and eyes.)"

Brown said that the metal cooling fans are unguarded and an inexperienced person could receive injuries since the fans are not easily seen during darkness.

"Based on this information, students are warned not to attempt to climb campers in this area which could lead to injury or more serious consequences," Dr. Brown said.

Spring Queen Crowned At Well Attended Dance

Linda Brown, sponsored by Chi Beta Alpha Alpha Beta Fraternity, was crowned FTU's Spring Queen at the second annual Spring Dance last Saturday night. Marc Brown was crowned with a flower wreath by Susan Penn, recently selected FTU's Miss Tabby with a spring bouquet by Caroline Miller, chairman of the Spring Queen committee for the dance.

Association is majoring in nursing, and is a member of Tri Kappa and a TAA member.

First runner-up was Melanie Huffman representing Phi Beta Alpha. Representative of Alpha Epsilon.

Highlights of the dance were the drawing for the door prize, and the presentation of a plaque to Mrs. Paul Easter, owner of the dance, by dance committee chairperson.

The door prize of 845 in gift certificates from Walter M., Bales, was won by a female student on the first drawing, after two numbers were drawn for people who weren't there as the Science Auditorium.

Mr. Piasecki was then presented with a gold plaque expressing appreciation for her help in making the dance successful. The plaque was also engraved with the names of the men who gave awards for meritorious chairmen.

Mrs. Piasecki estimated that 450 people attended the dance, including honored guests and spring queen contestants and escorts. The dance was open to everyone from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. and people arrived as late as 11:30.

Music was supplied by Norman Wood and the Stone Ballroom, with only a few slow songs being played.

People alternated between the dancing area and the snack bar area, where refreshments were served.

Sweet strawberry punch poured from a fountain-style arrangement, and food committee workers were kept busy until midnight supplying tea cakes, finger sandwiches, and cookies.

Many people escaped the loud music and crowded dance floor to walk over the campus. Empty punch cups were found as far away drawn for people who weren't there as the Science Auditorium.

Policy Questioned

There appears to be a great deal of discussion presently going on about a recently initiated policy of the bookstores. The policy requires that students entering their books and supplies on a stand at the entrance. There are no guards or lockers to protect the books. Consequently a number of students have had expensive text books stolen.

We do not condone stealing, but where the conditions are conducive it’s going to be done. Working on the premise that college supplies are expensive and students can hardly afford to have them stolen, there has to be a way that everybody can be satisfied.

We can understand that the bookstore cannot afford to have supplies taken and that a student armed with books and notebooks could easily pick up something, and leave without anyone ever noticing. But students are becoming rightfully resentful.

There are a number of ways that this problem can be solved. It has been suggested that a guard be placed outside the bookstores to watch books. This would prevent any possible stealing although it may be considered infeasible because of the unnecessary expense. Another suggestion made to the FUTURE is to install lockers. Expense would also be great for this due to the necessity of keys or locks.

The FUTURE suggests that books be checked in the information table at the entrance of the bookstores. Persons could be given numbered slips of paper and could pick up their books on the way out. Something had better be done before the fall rush for textbooks. The large influx of new students in the fall may increase stealing rather than curb it unless something is done.

Casualty Readings

Dear Editor:

Recently a memorial service was held on the FTU campus for four students of Kent State who were killed during an anti-war protest pertaining to our new involvement in Cambodia. I can empathize with this cause and am not endeavoring to put anybody down for it. However, I believe that a more suitable type of protest against our fighting in South East Asia would be a memorial service every week in honor of those American servicemen killed in Viet Nam, Cambodia, and Laos during that week. I suggest that this memorial service be held during one of the campus free hours for example, Thursday from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. so as to not interfere with any classes. The US casualty lists are sent out as a general rule once a week and I believe can be obtained from either the US Defense Dept or the local paper. You must pardon me if I sound moribund but I believe that it would not be improper for us to read each week’s list at the service.

Sincerely,
Leif Johnson

Stolen Briefcase

My car was entered and my briefcase taken last Saturday night, May 22nd. The case was parked on the campus, near the Theatre Tent. I am writing you in the hope that whomever took my brief case might stop this and be prevailed upon to return it.

This upset could well be attributed to Lancaster’s affiliation with the Delta Sigma Pi fraternity.

Pi Kappa Epsilon Takes College Bowl

PTU’s first College Bowl tournament was won by Pi Kappa Epsilon. Tyce sorority came in second place. The tournament, produced and directed by the Village Center, was a very successful activity with seven teams participating: Pi Kappa Epsilon, Tyce, Young Republicans, Chi Alpha, Hoosierwomen, Illiniettes and Ioin (7).

Dave Jackson, Fred Carter, Kent Casey and Ken Lawter were the participating on the winning Pi Kappa Epsilon team while Connie Graham, Mary Lou Rajchel, Sandi Wolden and Frank Sautry (Tye Coach) led the Tyce to second place. Being that the tournament was one of double elimination the Tyce with one loss going into the final round had to defeat Pi Kappa Epsilon (understated in the final round) twice to capture first place. The Tyce succeeded in winning the first game 160-160 but were defeated in the championship match 135-95 by Pi Kappa Epsilon. Following the championship game the All Star team played the Faculty-Staff team. Members of the All Star team were Dave Jackson (Pi Kappa Epsilon), Connie Graham (Tyce) and David Boleslaw and Dennis Reeler, (Both Young Republicans).

The faculty-staff team consisting of Dr. Richard Adickes, Mrs. Pat Fawcett, Mr. Bill Lovig and Mr. Hank Hill overwhelmed the All Star team by a 260-115 margin. Following this game Pi Kappa Epsilon challenged the Faculty-Staff to a match and were soundly beaten 305-55 by the FAC/STAF team.

Trophies for 1st & 2nd place and to the All Star team will be awarded at the Awards Assembly this coming Thursday, May 28. Because of the success of the program, the Village Center is going ahead with plans for a second tournament possibly to be held in the fall of this year. Contact is also being made with General Electric College Bowl TV quiz program to get PTU’s name on the list of possible participants.

Overall nice of the Spring Dance in the Multi-Purpose Room, which was converted into a thing of beauty by the dance committee. The clothes were a shimmering array of lace and sequins. The girls looked nice too.

Trosvillion Is Named FTU Foundation's Head

A prominent Central Floridian with a long record of active participation in civic affairs today was elected president of the Florida Technological University Foundation. Unanimously chosen at the quarterly meeting of the Foundation Board was Winter Park contractor Allen Trosvillion, who assumes the office first held by the late Judge Charles O. Andrews.

In his new position, Trosvillion will head the 23-member Board which represents the seven counties in East Central Florida primarily served by the University.

The FTU Foundation is a non-profit corporation formed by interested citizens to provide a means of assisting the University in areas not funded by the state. Since its inception, in February, 1968, the Foundation has received approximately $300,000 in gifts. A portion consists of materials and equipment which has been turned over to the various colleges at FTU for research and laboratory use.

Through contributions of money and scholarships, the Foundation has been able to assist more than 150 FTU students who otherwise might not be able to pursue their education goals.

Trosvillion, who began his own navigation firm in 1953, is a Winter Park native. He is a 1944 graduate of Winter Park High School; was a Flying cadet during World War II; was awarded a Bachelor of Building Construction degree from the University of Florida in 1950; and from 1952-66 served as mayor of Winter Park.

He is a member of the President's Councils at Rollins College and Florida Southern College; vice president of the Orlando Area Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the Orange County Licensing Board. Trosvillion's other affiliations range from membership on the executive board of the Rotary Club of Florida to president-elect of the Winter Park Rotary.

Trosvillion is married to the former Rhoda M. Birdsell. They have four children: Barbara, 12; Tommy, 10; Douglas, 8; and Sandra, 6. The Trosvillons live at 363 East Lake Sue Avenue, Winter Park.
Federal Student Aid
To Have Bleak Future

If the long-range outlook for federal student financial aid at FTU looks bleak, the university shares the gloom with the rest of the country.

After attending a recent conference of the Florida Assn. of Student Financial Aid Administrators, Robert E. Williams, financial aid director, gave a state of aid review for the FTU community.

"There are several disturbing elements in the new federal student financial aid program proposed by the Nixon administration," Williams said.

He said that students from families having a gross income of more than $10,000 a year would no longer qualify for any government aid programs regardless of the number of children in the family, medical expenses, or other extraordinary financial needs.

The proposal would also do away with the Federal Family Education Loan Program, and funds would have to rely on bank loans, which the National Student Loan Bank thought some of the paper.

The proposal calls for the maximum Federal Pell Grant aid of $700 instead of $1,500 presently supplied.

Loving said the present Educational Opportunity Grant and the College Work-Study Program would be merged and would be used to match the loans.

The total aid for the student meeting the new requirement would be $1,400, Loving said.

The bill itself was introduced would also do away with student aid programs for all graduate work.

"It was reported that the task force gathered by the president to review financial aid to students did not contain a single representative from Student Financial Aid Administrators of the Office of Education," Loving said.

"Passage of the bills and implementation by the 1975 academic year, would be a major disaster for those students dependent on financial aid," the aid director opined.

At FTU the passage would create problems for low income students.

FTU Will Meet
Juveniles Halfway

FTU may answer a cry for help by hundreds of young people in Orange County.

In a joint meeting between Orange County Juvenile Court Judge Chester Ker, his staff and the Student Financial Aid Administration, an agreement was worked out to place halfway house for juveniles who aren't troubled enough to be sent to a state school for delinquents, but who can't for one reason or another be returned to their home environment.

The halfway house concept has been a dream of juvenile authorities for years, but nothing has been available.

Under the new proposal, a federal grant of $200,000 would be augmented by aid from students and personnel from the university. The facility is expected to be under the direction of the Association of College Student Social Workers at the University of Florida Sociology Dept.

C.C. Investigates a non-partisan problem this week: the plight of Claude College in the University Bookstore.

Claude is an average student, cutting the usual number of classes, turning the midnight oil, and each quarter he enters the bookstore nearly inaugurated after completing registration and armed with his $60 book allowance. Several books later, he emerges with his bundle of bindings, reconciled to the realization that inflation has again claimed its share of his hard-earned cash (and that of several friends as well). He proceeds contentedly on his way, adorning each book with fraternity deads and his girlfriend’s name (in gold magic marker).

Some of the texts, Claude finds, are indispensable—especially those for classes he can’t make because of the beer party. But much to his delight, the professor who has it out for him anyway decides not to use the $35.50 Calculus book with all the notes from the 6 a.m. Econometrics class he always sleeps through. Not knowing anything better to do, Claude sits down and cries and wonders what anyone wants with the book with his frat deads and his girlfriend’s name on it.

He complains to the bookstore lady but learns that they are not responsible for lost text. She checks the university lost and found department but has no luck. He finally gives up and writes a letter to the editor of the newspaper, who dutifully prints it along with the other, 14 that have come in that week on the same subject. He suggests that someone be hired to watch the books or that they be checked inside the bookstore. But his plea falls on deaf ears. He gives up the beer party and goes to Calculus and borrows his girlfriend’s Math 100

And so the sad tale of Claude in the Bookstore ends (until next quarter at least). Claude College could he even be a liberal.
In such a well-managed well-facilitated university, a problem like this has no place. Claude college students and the government representative so that this expensive crime problem can be alleviated.

Stone Soup School
Intellectually Filling

Ever heard of the Stone Soup School? It’s a school for children from two to 12 years old that mixes the constant stimulation of an individualized curriculum with the fun of summer. The school is planning its summer session for June 25 and needs volunteer workers to give their services to the project. According to John Dooley, an FTU education major, the school would provide an excellent opportunity for education majors to get involved in a worthwhile project.

One of the main purposes of the school is to help the child develop independence, self-reliance, and the ability to make decisions. It is located at 202 Jasmine Road in Altamonte Springs. Summer session is $135 for nine weeks with a registration fee of $25.

The school feels that it is an important part of the ordinary process of learning to move about and work and play without direct supervision. The director realizes that there are many children who do not fit into a structured six hour school day and learn well and profit without it.

The name “Stone Soup” comes from a children’s book in which three soldiers show a village that by pooling their vegetables, meal and spices, and humor they could prepare a feast enough for a whole village.

The Stone Soup School is somewhat like that. They take their interests, talents, and material wealth to contribute to a better learning environment than each parent alone could do.

Education majors, this is your chance. A new and different atmosphere for a new and different type of learning experience.

Richard Lancaster, the founder of the Stock Market game, commented, "Every stock from April 17 to May 15 decreased in market price." The first week of the game, 200 students had their books validated. During the second week, the number of students decreased, with 175 in the third week, 120 in the fourth week, and 93 students had their books validated. FTU Scholarship Day

Considered Success

"The day was definitely a success," said Lloyd Richardson of Sigma Chi fraternity when discussing FTU Scholarship Day. The University sponsored a second on May 29 to raise $60,000 for the Student Loan program.

The second and third prize winners were H. R. Hani and Frank M. Darrance, respectively. Hani is a senior and was awarded $50. Darrance was a graduate student and awarded $25. Two students are from the College of Business Administration and they both attended the Business Administration Day activities. Richardson pointed out that $15,000 was raised, which matched with Federal funds, to provide assistance for students.

Looking for a job for leadership for this summer? Then Student Government needs you! Student Government will need 12 senators for the summer term of 30,000. Those who attend summer school will not be attending summer school. According to the constitution, if there are not 12 senators, the President must appoint enough to equal 12 with the confirmation of the present board.

Summer Senators Needed for SG

All full-time students in good standing with the university (2.0) are eligible to be summer senators. Any student who is a summer senator must be confirmed by the regular senators in the fall due to the fact that summer senators are not elected officially.

Any students interested in being a senator are encouraged to request a letter from the Student Government secretary in the Library.

The Roadrunners crossed the plate once in the first inning, once in the second inning and five times in the third inning. PAE made their win in the fifth inning. The Roadrunners had 14 hits to PAE's 6.

The final standings at the close of this year's Intramural season show Roadrunners in first place with 740 points, TAU in second place with 597 points, PAE in third place with 670 points and TKE in fourth place with 627 points. TYES' 602 points took first in the women's division, the winners of each sport throughout the year were, Flag Football: Harry Cross, Cross Country: Mac Hammond (individual); Table Tennis: Melanie Deas, Volleyball: Psychology Faculty; Basketball: TAU; Tennis: Roadrunners, Golf: TAU; Softball: Roadrunners;

A Tribute To Malcolm X - A Moralist Perspective

Submitted by the Black Students Union.

When a human life in a society is seen as being of far less value than one of the unprejudiced, deplorably indifferent of an elite, then we say that something is wrong with that society. In an attempt of man to redeem himself, and to overcome a generation of some event act or malicious deed, can we say that those rights that are explicitly articulated in our Constitution? No! It is to say that such a deed should be done in the "American traditional spirit," when in fact entails following the contradictory dictates passed on by the oppressors. Have men not the morals and conscience that permits them to act responsibly and in response to times of crisis? Would we hope yes. Yet, past and recent occurrences has greatly altered our vision of such. All left now is the dark, morbid and grotesque act, and nothing can in any way lead to peace and harmony. Let's say the students at Kent State; Jackson State, or even in Augusta, were compelled to stir the moral conscience of the political entities which has been endowed with our tax dollars to represent their aspirations and needs. This is in all likelihood the case, as an energetic attempt in striving for some political reform. Unhesitantly, it is said by the "Rashashes" as well as by the other narrow scaled elements in society, that they were "sick." The vociferous and articulate response to this is "no, it is not us but you are the ones who warrant medical attention. So is the end, what still persists is a conflict in idea, and interest which will eventually react once again into confrontation and dans le monde. Our point is "With the assumption that both elements are "sick," which we really don't believe that's as a consequence this sickness is diagnosed, yet treated with bullets. It merely seems to us that this would only perpetuate the sickness. Let us raise the step in the name of humanity to think, so that we might begin to act more responsible.

One felt a compassionate desire to apologize to the world and mankind for the mistakes of Kent. But is reoccurrence in August and next in Jackson compels one to apologize to conscience of the political powers. We are weak of mind as to let such "positive" actions taken so prevent such a "mistake" from appearing again so make itself permeate itself into the nature of American life.

Nixon Rumor Nixed, Graduation Nearing

Dr. John W. Budinich, Jr., associate professor in the College of Business Administration, is chairman of the University's Board of Regents. The only basis for the report was the graduation plans, that President Nixon would be in Florida during that day, and not be present to attend.

Closer to earth, graduation plans were expecting a large turnout for the ceremonies. When the auditorium was chosen at the University of Pennsylvania. It was thought that no more than 200 would graduate.
