Reflections

By Poolside

It’s not supposed to be a wading and swimming pool, but you never would have known it by the number of students who have been frolicking in the reflecting pool since water was first introduced last weekend.

On campus residents estimated that more than 200 swimmers and waders have been seen since the pool, which is only about waist deep at the center, was opened.

Participants have ranged from individual students to fraternities.

Campus cops have been trying so gently keep the students out of the water, but they have found it difficult to halt the nocturnal enjoyment.

(Sometime during this week the pool was drained.)

As impromptu football games were held in the water one evening.

Despite the inviting nature of the pool, and despite the fact that the regular swimming pool is not open yet, there are some problems with the swimming.

One is water pollution, or not, pollution. Attempts have been made by physical plant to keep the water free of pollution by adding some special floating chemicals. Walking or swimming apparently does not add to the problem.

Another is safety. There are metal pipes sticking up from the fountain area, and students have found that the bottom is covered with cut-producing tar.

And the third concern was their father put it, “I don’t think anyone could be blameless without the water is just fine, but I don’t think anyone on campus wants to run around touching some of water, no matter how mastiffy.

Students wanting to check library materials will be required to obtain a card prior to June 9th. Students with overdue cards will be unable to register for the summer term.

Campus Drug Bust Best Kept Secret

The best kept secret on campus for the past month was the undercover investigation of narcotic violations at FTU.

Resident students, who were still buzzing over the new told the FTU it was their belief that undercover agents posing as students were seeded into the resident student body and were actually living in the residence halls. This could not be confirmed.

Charged with possession of sale and delivery of hallucinogenic drugs were Gary S. Margulis, 19; and Bryant Paul Bourjoin, 19; bonds were set at $1,000.

Dennis Jay Musselman, 19, and Arthur J. McCuskey, 19, were charged with possession of marijuana. Bonds were set at $1,000.

Charged with two counts of possession and sale of narcotics was Donald Holt, 19. His bail was $5,000. Douglas Keith Good, 19, was charged with possession and sale of narcotics. Bail was set at $2,500.

Students Warned

On Climbing Campers

By the Post, but for the . . .

Vice President W. Rex Brown, vice president in charge of Student Affairs said this week that he had received information from Physical Plant personnel that students have been flitting with potential danger around the central utilities plant.

Dr. Brown said that “These attempts include attempts by students to climb the smoke stack, attempts to climb the stack to the plant roof and attempts to removeumps from the aircraft warning lights."

Dr. Brown stated that student who had tried to enter the cooling tower “All of these efforts are potentially dangerous to individuals and could result in serious, the student af fluids VP said.

“Climbing the smokestack without a safety belt is extremely dangerous,” Dr. Brown explained. “There is also the possibility of being overcome by carbon monoxide which, under certain conditions concentrates around the stack opening and around the smoke tower.

The dangers around the cooling towers include contact with infrared and which can cause severe burns to the skin and extremely dangerous injury to eyes.

“Individuals,” Brown said, “warned that the tower bases are treated with strong solutions of acid and corrosion (inhibitors all of which are highly toxic to the skin and eyes."

Brown said that the metal climbing fans are unguarded and an inexperienced person could receive injuries since the fans are not easily seen during darkness.

“Based on this information, students are warned not to attempt to climb in this area which could lead to injury or more serious consequences,” Dr. Brown said.

Spring Queen Crowned

At Well Attended Dance

Linda Brown, sponsored by Chi Beta Alpha Business Fraternity, was crowned FTU’s Spring Queen at the second annual Spring Dance last Saturday night. Miss Brown was crowned with a flower wreath by Susan Penn, recently selected Miss FTU, who was presented with a spring bouquet by Caroline Miller, chairman of the Spring Queen committee for the dance.

Association is majoring in nursing, and is a member of TriK security and a TALL member.

First runner-up was Melanie Hart, representing Phi Alpha Epsilon, a second-runner-up was Susan McHale, representing Phi Alpha Epsilon. The highlight of the dance were the drawing for the door prize, and the presentation of a plaque to Mrs. Pat Laws, owner of the dance, by dance coordinator chairman.

The door prize of $85 in gift certificates were given to Sandra Martin, a first place winner in the dance drawing, after two numbers were drawn for people who weren’t in the Science Auditorium.

Policy Questioned

There appears to be a great deal of discussion presently going on about a recently initiated policy of the bookstore. The bookstore requires that students entering their books and supplies on a stand at the entrance. There are no guards or lockers to protect the books. Consequently a number of students have had expensive text books stolen.

We do not condone stealing, but where the conditions are conducive it's going to be done. Working on the premise that college supplies are expensive and students can hardly afford to have them stolen, there has to be a way that everybody can be satisfied.

We can understand that the bookstore cannot afford to have supplies taken and that a student armed with books and notebooks could easily pick up something, and leave without anyone ever noticing. But students are becoming rightfully resentful.

There are a number of ways that this problem can be solved. It has been suggested that a guard be placed outside the bookstore to watch books. This would prevent any possible stealing although it is may be considered infeasible because of the unnecessary expense. Another suggestion made in the Future is to install lockers. Expense would of course be great for this due to the necessity of keys or locks.

The Future suggests that books be checked in at the information table at the entrance of the bookstore. Persons could be given numbered slips of paper and could pick up their books on the way out. Something better be done before the fall rush for textbook sales. The large influx of new students in the fall may increase stealing rather than curb it unless something is done.

Overview

The following is a column by Kevin Wadsworth, a junior communications major, about Student Government. Its purpose is to provide an opportunity for the student body to keep up with its elected representatives.

Wadsworth is a former Attorney General in SG, a member of the Council of 20, the regional student government of the Florida Student Congress, and the former President of Student Government at Valencia Junior College.

Taking a second and closer view of the Student Government election results recently held in the Florida Student Congress, the new President, the new President, did not receive a mandate and, in fact, was not considered the most qualified by the majority of those voting. With 41.3% of the franchised students voting, the results indicate:

Jim Stringer 559
Frank Snaky 419
Greg Norton 227

By barely edging Santry from the covered office, Stringer's vote indicates that the Greek system isn't as close knit nor as strong as was commonly believed and, without a third party candidate, Santry might not have received the majority vote. Stringer was so weak that, even though Stringer won, he could not save his Vice Presidency candidate. In fact, Richard Lancaster, Santry's running mate, polled just as many votes as Stringer.

Richard Lancaster 565
Blue Roper 929
Pete Barnes 241

This upset could well be attributed to Lancaster's affiliation with the Delta Sigma Pi honorary fraternity.

Stringer now faces a short year in office during which he must prove the viability of the concept of a high level of student government organization. He also faces a Senate whose leader and spokesman should eventually be a member of the Delta; a student organization. Stringer's predecessor, President Walt Kaminski, a very capable person, has established the pace for the Executive office which may be difficult for Stringer to follow since he has no previous experience with the functions of FTU Student Government.

The ensuing year will be a test not only for Stringer and Lancaster, but for the Greek system. Questions will definitely arise in the near future. How will the Greeks to handle the better qualified leaders--who the Greeks support Stringer with personnel qualified for appropriate positions--and will the GDs' on campus support a Greek kingpin?

Letters To The Editor

Casualty Readings

Dear Editor:

Recently a memorial service was held on the FTU campus for four students of Kent State who were killed during an anti-war protest. The involvement of the students in Cambodia. I can empathize with this cause and am not endeavoring to put anybody down for it. However, I believe that a more suitable type of protest against our fighting in South East Asia would be a memorial service every week in honor of those American servicemen killed in Viet Nam, Cambodia, and Laos during that week. May I suggest that this memorial service be held during one of the campus five hour free week, Thursday from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. or so as not to interfere with any classes. The US casualty lists are sent out as a general rule once a week and I believe can be obtained from either the US Defense Dept. or the local press. You must perform me if I sound morbid or I believe that it would not be improper to read each week's list at the service.

Sincerely,
Leif Johnson

Stolen Briefcase

Dear Editor:

My car was entered and my briefcase was stolen the other night, May 22nd. The quarry was parked on the campus, near the Theatre Tent. I am writing you in the hope that whoever took my brief case might feel guilty about this and be prevailed upon to return it.

Kevin W. Wadsworth

It was an old briefcase and contained nothing of value, as the taker must know by now. It did contain papers from students, some legal papers, as old and unfashionable tie, and these library books. Close to one hundred students are adversely affected by the event, as their performance in my classes cannot be adequately judged as a consequence. The library books can be replaced, of course, and, of course, my insurance will pay for them so there is no loss there, except in time, trouble and real inconvenience for the library staff.

The legal papers are workable. There is among them a warrant. Dated 1943, taken out by my late father for me and I would kind of like to have that back.

Although I am pretty sure my chances for recovering the briefcase are slim, I would like to take the opportunity to offer a ten dollar reward for its recovery with the books, bond and student papers. If by great chance----the person who took the thing reads this, I would appreciate his calling me at ext. 2801 so we can arrange a discreet transfer of the case and the reward back into the Future for its help in this matter.

Sincerely,
David Marks

NEW YORK TIMES, APRIL 26: A private study group said today that colleges and universities should develop "better lines of communication among students, faculty members, administrators and trustees to ease campus unrest. This was a basic theme of a report on the International Student Center on Education. The report stated that student unrest is "the major incident of student discontent," and listed the major causes as, among other issues: student power and the war.

The student issue, the Committee said, "Until the nation ceases to force young men to fight in a war they believe to be a major source of campus tensions will remain."

Pi Kappa Epsilon Takes College Bowl

Pikes' first College Bowl tournament was won by Pi Kappa Epsilon. Tye sorority came in second place. The tournament, produced and directed by the Village Center, was a very successful activity with seven teams participating: Pi Kappa Epsilon, Tyes, Young Republicans, Chi Alpha, Lambda Sigma, and Delta Phi.

Dave Jackson, Fred Carter, Kent Casey, and Ken Lassiter were the participants on the winning Pi Kappa Epsilon team while Connie Graham, Mary Lou Ratchel, Sandi Wilden and Frank Santy (Tye Coach) led the Tyes to second place. Being that the tournament was one of double elimination the Tyes with one loss going into the final round had to defeat Pi Kappa Epsilon (underbelts in the final round) twice to capture first place. The Tyes succeeded in winning the first game 160-100 but were defeated in the championship match 132-95 by Pi Kappa Epsilon. Following the championship game the Alpha-Kappa team played the Faculty-Staff team. Members of the Alpha-Kappa team were Dave Jackson (Pi Kappa Epsilon), Connie Graham (Tyes) and David Boehm and Dennis Keeler (Both Young Republicans). The faculty-staff team consisting of Dr. Richard Aldich, Mrs. Pat Fawett, Mr. Bill Lovin and Mr. Hank Hill overwhelmed the Alpha-Kappa team by a 260-11 margin. Following this game Pi Kappa Epsilon challenged the Faculty-Staff to a match and were soundly beaten 305-55 by the FAC/STAFF team.

Trophies for 1st & 2nd place and to the Alpha-Kappa team will be awarded at the Awards Assembly this coming Thursday, May 28. Because of the success of the program, the Village Center is going ahead with plans for a second tournament possibly to be held in full of this year. Contact is also being made with General Electric College Bowl TV quiz program to get FTU's name on the list of possible participants.

Trovillion is Named FTU Foundation's Head

A prominent Central Floridian with a long record of active participation in civic affairs today was elected president of the Florida Technological University Foundation.

Unanimously chosen at the quarterly meeting of the Foundation Board was Winter Park contractor Allen Trovillion, who assumes the office first held by the late Judge Charles O. Andrews.

In his new position, Trovillion will head the 35-member Board which represents the seven counties in East Central Florida primarily served by the University.

The FTU Foundation, a non-profit corporation formed by interested citizens to provide a means of assisting the University in areas not funded by the state since inception, in February, 1968, has received approximately $300,000 in gifts. A vision consists of materials and equipment which has been turned over to the various Colleges at FTU for research and laboratory use.

Through contributions of money or scholarships, the Foundation has been able to assist more than 100 FTU students who otherwise might not be able to pursue their education goals.

Trovillion, who began his own construction firm in 1953, is a Winter Park native. He is a 1944 graduate of Winter Park High School; was a Staff cadet during World War II; was awarded a Bachelor of Building Construction degree from the University of Florida in 1955; and from 1962-66 served as mayor of Winter Park.

He is a member of the President's Council of Rollins College and Florida Southern College; vice-president of the Orlando Area Chamber of Commerce; and chairman of the Orange County Licensing Board. Trovillion's other affiliations range from membership in the executive board of the Boy Scouts of America to president-elect of the Winter Park Rotary.

Trovillion is married to the former Rhoda M. Birdsell. They have four children: Barbara, 12; Timmy, 10; Douglas, 8; and Sandra, 6. The Trovillions live at 363 East Lake Sue Avenue, Winter Park.

Federal Student Aid
To Have Bleak Future

If the long-range outlook for federal student financial aid at FTU looks bleak, the university shares the gloom with the rest of the country. After attending a recent conference of the Florida Assoc. of Student Financial Aid Administrators, William Loving said FTU gave a state of aid review for the FTU.'s program. "There are several disturbing elements in the new federal student financial aid program proposed by the Nixon administration," he said. He said that students from families having a gross income of more than $10,000 a year would not qualify for any government financial aid programs regardless of the number of children in the family, medical expenses, etc.

The proposal would also do away with the Federal Work-Study Program, and funds would have to rely on bank loans, with the National Student Loan Bank paying some of the paper.

The proposal calls for the maximum annual loan repayment would be $700 instead of $1,500 presently supplied.

Loving said the present Educational Opportunity Grant and the College Work-Study Program would be merged and would be used to match the loans.

The total aid for the student meeting the income requirement would be $1,400, Loving said.

The bills introduced would also do away with student aid programs for all graduate work.

"It was reported that the task force gathered by the president to review financial aid to students did not contain a single representative from Student Financial Aid Administrators," the aid director opined.

At FTU the passage would create problems for low income students.

FTU Will Meet
Juveniles Halfway

FTU may answer a cry for help by handlers of young people in Orange County.

In a joint meeting between Orange County Juvenile Court Judge Chester Kerr, his staff and members of FTU Administration, an agreement was worked out to place a halfway house for juveniles who aren't tough enough to return to a state school for delinquents, but who can't for one reason or another be returned to his home environs.

The halfway house concept, has been a dream of juvenile authorities for years, but funding has not been available.

Under the new proposal, a federal grant of $200,000 would be augmented by aid from study and personnel from the university, and the facility would be designed by Dr. Charles Urkowitz and Robert Brod of the FTU Sociology Dept.

This was just a hook of ice before some artists with icepicks get after it. Then it changed from an ugly hook to a lovely ice swan that graced the Spring Dance. The transformation cost $25.

M E M E R
C.C. Investigates a non-partisan problem this week: the plight of Claude College in the University Bookstore.

Claude is an average student, cuttin' the usual number of classes, burning the midnight oil, and such quarter he enters the bookstore every night, after completing registration and armed with his $50 book allowance. Several bouts later, he emerges with his bundle of bindings, reconciled to the realization that inflation has again claimed his share of his hard-earned cash (and that of several friends as well). He proceeds contentedly on his way, aborting each book with fraterinity deference and his girlfriend's name (it's gold magenta type). Some of the texts, Claude finds, are indispensable—especially those for classes he can't make because of the beer party. But much to his chagrin, the professor who has it out for him anyway decides not to use the $5.50 workbook because the $1.50 text is self-explanatory. So Claude pain-takingly removes the fraternity decals and erases the wrong answers on the inside and sells the book back to the bookstore for half price, so that they can resell it for three-fourths price next quarter. He thanks the professors who run the bookstore for their cooperation and becomes hopelessy, breaking his mag-binding hand on the turnstile.

But as he rushes for his books on the shelf outside the store he makes the discovery that rounds out his day. Someone has stolen the $13.50 Calculus book with all the notes from the 5 p.m. Econo-exam that he always sleeps through. Not knowing anything better to do, Claude sits down and cries and wonders what anyone wants with the book with his frat decal and his girlfriend's name on it. He complains to the bookstore lady but learns that they are not responsible for lost items. He checks the university lost and found department but has no luck. He finally gives up and writes a letter to the editor of the newspaper, who dutifully prints it along with the others, 14 that have come in that week on the same subject. He suggests that someone be hired to watch the books or that they be checked inside the bookstore. But his fears have fallen on deaf ears. He gives up the beer parties and goes to Calculus and borrows his girlfriend's Math 100 book for reference.

And so the sad tale of Claude in the Bookstore ends (until next quarter, when he can be at the university). He can be even be a liberal. In such a well-managed well-facilitated university, a problem like this has no chance. Claude represents the government representative so that this expensive crime problem can be alleviated.

STONE SOUP SCHOOL
Intelligently Filling

Ever heard of the Stone Soup School? It's a school for children from two to thirteen years old that mixes the constant stimulus of an individualized curriculum with the fun of summer. The school is planning its summer session for June 25 and needs volunteer workers to give their services to the project. According to John Dooley, an FTU education major, the school would provide an excellent opportunity for education majors to get involved in a worthwhile project.

One of the main purpuses of the school is to help the child develop independence, self-esteem, and the ability to make decisions. It is located at 210 Jasmine Road in Atlanomie Springs. Summer session tuition is $135 for nine weeks with a registration fee of $35.

The school feels that it is an important part of the ordinary process of learning to move about and work and play without direct supervision. The directors realize that there are many children who do not fit into a structured six hour school day and learn well and progress from experience.

The name “Stone Soup” comes from a children's book in which three soldiers show a village that by pooling their vegetables, meat and spaces, and humor they could prepare a feast enough for a whole village.

The Stone Soup School is somewhat like that. They take their interest, talents, and material wealth to contribute to a better learning environment than each parent alone could do.

Education majors, this is your chance. A new and different atmosphere for a new and different type of learning experience.

A Longwood area man who serves as a security officer at FTU has been awarded a certificate of merit after completing 270 hours of off-duty study in law enforcement at seminole Junior College. Danilec, Le, East, a police officer in Rolling Hills with his wife, Frances, has been with the FTU security force since June, 1964. He was appointed a sergeant the following December.

The 270 hours that Lee accumulated in two semester of evening courses far exceeds the amount of police officer training required under state statute. In addition to the merit award, Lee, a retired Army lieutenant colonel, was awarded a certificate of excellence from SJC.

Lee is the fifth member of the FTU Security Force to complete the minimum of 200 hours required police training. Those others currently are enrolled in such courses. The force, including three student assistants who aid primarily in maintaining communications, is responsible for enforcement of campus regulations around the clock over the sprawling, 1,200 acre complex in East Orange County.
FTU Scholarship Day
Considered Success

"The day was definitely a success," said Lloyd Richardson of Sigma Sigma Chi fraternity when discussing FTU Scholarship Day. The university project succeeded in raising over $4,000 for the FTU Foundation to use in student loan programs next fall.

All funds raised by the Foundation will be matched on a 9 to 1 ratio by the Federal Government, so the $4,000 is actually equivalent to $60,000. Last Friday's Scholarship Day was only one project to raise money for the Foundation and is also a separate project being done by the Foundations' headquarters by another fraternity to raise money. Sigma Sigma Chi is also planning another fund-raising day to be held in late summer, Special plans are being made to use the Winter Park Mall for the project.

Currently money is still coming in from last week's Scholarship Day, during which a Sigma Sigma Chi brother and little sister set up a desk with a telephone in ten area banks. Here they collected pledges and donations from passers-by and people who called. Largest contributions of the day came from Paul C.R. Mears, who gave $2,000, the Orlando Sentinel which also gave $2,000 and the University Club, which gave $1,000. Money is still coming in and anyone who wants to contribute is asked to send a donation to FTU Foundation, Florida Technological University. Richardson pointed out that $15 donation, when matched by Federal funds, is equivalent to a student for one year.

The project came about as the result of a talk by Frank King, Jr., executive assistant to the President, who heard the fraternity brothers several ideas for projects. One, which was first planned, was a

Dietzel Takes Honors
In Stockmarket Game

The winner of the Stock Market game is Dotty Dietzel, a senior in the College of Education. At the conclusion of the game she had $15,052 in capital and showed an overall profit of $1,052. For her outstanding performance in the Business Administration activities, the amount she is awarded is $75.

The second and third prize winners are H. E. Hani and Frank M. Durance, respectively. Hani is a senior and is awarded $50. Durance is a graduate student and is awarded $25. The two students are from the College of Business Administration and they both attended the Business Administration activities.

Richard Lauter, the founder of the Stock Market game, commented, "Every student from April 17 to May 15 decreased in market price."

The first week of the game 200 students had their books validated. During the next four weeks the number of students decreased. In the second week 175, the third week 120, and the fourth week 53 students had their books validated. On the last week of the game only 49 students turned in their books. Out of these only 21 made a profit. When asked why not many students turned in their books, Lancaster explained, "Some players compared their books with their own, and if their ending prices were less than a friend's, they wouldn't turn their books in."

In an interview with Lancaster after the final validation, he explained, "I hope people aren't discouraged because this is a bad time in the stock market, I feel it is amusing 21 people made money. This represents 11% of those who participated which made a profit, which is much higher than the national record. This game will be repeated next year."

Intramural Sports Year Ends

Roadrunners Ride Over PAE For Title

Last Wednesday the Roadrunners softball team ran over a stunned PAE team 7-1 to take the Intramural softball title as well as the Men's Intramural all sports title. From Roadrunners seemed to hit timely and place the ball well in the field.

The Roadrunners crossed the plate once in the first inning, once in the second inning and five times in the third inning. PAE made their win in the fifth inning. The Roadrunners had 14 hits to PAE's 6.

The final standings at the close of the intramural season show Roadrunners in first place with 740 points, TAU in second place with 597 points, PAE in third place with 570 points and TKE in fourth place with 627 points. TYES Snorvik took first in the women's division. The winners of each sport throughout the year were: Flag Football: Harvey; Cross Country: Mac Hammond (individual); Table Tennis: Melvin Doctor; Volleyball: Psychology Facility; Basketball: TAU; Tennis: Roadrunners; Golf: TAU; Softball: Roadrunners; Track: PAE; Women's Basketball: Women's Division were Volleyball: Types; Table Tennis: Daryl Jackson (individual); Powderpuff Football: Typs; Softball: Typs; Basketball: Typs.

Throughout the season no team ever took a commanding lead in the Men's Intramural division and up until a week ago no team was awarded the trophy. The Roadrunners, an independent team on campus surprisingly shot ahead by winning softball to win the trophy. TAU fraternity won the award last year.

Coach Ken Remmer, the head of Intramural sports stated that he was very satisfied with the response of students in Intramural this year and said he hoped next year would be better. Coach Remmer went on to say that next year there will be a stronger team in water polo, and a doubles fountain competition added to the regular Intramural program.

P.A.E. Takes Honors In Track Meet
On Thursday, May 21, at the Intramural Track and Field Meet, eight FTU Intramural records were shattered. The meet was held at Shakerow Field in Winter Park and six teams participated.

The meet was extremely close with the outcome resting on the last event, the high jump. On Tuesday, the P.E. high jump edged out the 1st-runner-up Roadrunners in this event to win the meet and the meet.

Team results of the meet were: First, P.E. 46; Second, Roadrunners 42; Third, TAU 27; Fourth, TKE 14; Fifth, XA 5; and Sixth, Beta Chi. Roadrunners led the field in first places with five followed by P.E. with four.

A TRIBUTE TO MALCOLM X - A MORALISTIC PERSPECTIVE

Submitted by the Black Students Union.

When a human life in a society is considered precious or of primary importance to the establishment of the unpreceded, deplorably unjust, and unnecessary suffering of an entire race of people and the making of a free and just society. We hold the position that no man with any common decency would willingly surrender his right to express freely his opinion. Even a fool would not be so foolish as to fasten the chains of slavery around his own ankles. Under any system of government control, a man becomes a slave once he allows that system to stifle and silence his voice. Repression of one right to interchange ideas is a step in the direction of the formation of a government with a foundation of something other than "Democracy". No man, we think, with a desire for freedom would passively by while such a repression of freedom takes place, and so we deplore the nature of intelligent men.

In honor of the birthday of Malcolm X (perhaps the most articulate and dynamic spokesman ever to claim the title of leadership for the cause of the Black American in his struggle for COMPLETE physical, economic, and mental liberation) we dedicate the following article to the former students of Kent State; the two women, Susan Stilson and the six citizens slain in the recent unrest in Augusta, Georgia.

Campus Glances

Dr. John W. Buda, Jr., associate professor in the College of Business Administration and past chairman of the Faculty Senate, has been elected chairman of the Faculty Senate Council, the executive body of the Council. Gerard G. Venti, assistant professor in the College of Engineering.

Nixon Rumor Nixed, Graduation Nearing

Graduation fever struck the campus this week with one delicious rumor that President Nixon might attend Orlando's Municipal Auditorium. The only basis for the report appeared in the graduation planner, that President Nixon would be in Florida during that time and it was requested to attend.

Closer to earth, graduation planners were expecting a large turnout for the ceremonies. When the auditorium was chosen they were requested to keep in mind that no more than 200 would graduate.
