A dark horse leapt into the heated Student Government Presidential race Thursday, to join three other anticipated and presidential candidates.

Full Roberts, a 26-year-old computer science major, entered the race, with the reputation of backing of Inter-Fraternity Council President Jim Stringer and Vice President Richard Lancaster.

Roberts, who planned an effort without declaring a vice presidential running mate, predicted suicides will not be by ticket a vice presidential running mate that is mandatory.

Frank Daniel, the present legislative assistant in the Senate, announced his candidacy, along with Senator Charles Simpson in his vice presidential running mate. Daniel was an unsuccessful candidate for president last year, with his vice presidential running mate, Richard Lancaster, winning the V.P. race. Fred Daniels announced his candidacy Thursday, with George Welch as his running mate. Daniels worked extensively last quarter in the Inter-Fraternity Council and raised quite a banner in the senate. Daniels is a transfer student, coming to FTU two years ago from a military academy.

The fourth candidate who had announced his candidacy by Thursday was Gary Hallman, a previous college governor. Hallman was the first to formally announce his candidacy, at an informal press conference Wednesday morning.

Hallman's running mate is the first female to run for one of the two highest offices in FTU. She is Pati Markow, the present attorney general in FTU. The vice president in the FTU SG was voted into office last quarter, by using notes and chords given to him in the senate. The Business College display begins Tuesday.

Dr. William O'Connor, academic vice president of Lake City Junior College and editor of the Creative Notebook, will be at Ichabod Wednesday at 7:30 pm to discuss roadblocks to creativity. Experimental films will be at 8 pm tonight and Saturday.

Dr. Bob Stevens is professor of English and will be at Ichabod Sunday.

New Com. Head

The search is on for a new communications department chairman, and Dean of Social Sciences Bernard E. Kissel said that the position will be vacant for as long as it takes to find the right man.

Kissel, added, however, that he would like to have a new chairman by fall, but that he did not want to go through the process of establishing a new chairman before the current chairman is called to retire.

Kissel said that a "search committee" has been formed and will be diligently looking on off campus for a new chairman. Kissel stated that he is looking for a man who has an appreciation for the various disciplines within the field of communications, not one who is a specialist only in his particular area. Kissel added that someone with behavioral science experience would be preferable. A doctorate is not a necessary qualification for the position.

Presently, the communications department consists of 10 instructors and four adjunct professors. There are approximately 70 students majoring in communications.

A RECENT IMPROPTU CAMPUS - Competition pitted the Terrier tractor against the Street Sweeper Special where the seat started or who was victorious is unknown, but at this point in the race "cement" appeared to be a shoe in.

Dear Editor,

April 6, 1971

I discovered that a text I had purchased before attending class was covered that a text had been taken from the bookstore. I claim my right to return the text in the way I purchased it.

We are particularly concerned with this problem at FTU, because of the opportunity to obtain a college education. This is a fear that the students have.

It is our doubt as to the quality of books in the bookstore. If we could have endured this fate for many more years, we would not have the price of $160 per quarter. It is our concern that housing and food service could have such little regard for the resident students who live on campus.

Sincerely yours,

Thomas Keiser
President

The U.S. Marine Corps Officer Selection Team will visit the FTU campus on April 21-22. The team will set up a display in the Village from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on April 21. A selection officer will interview and select any student interested in any Marine Corps commission.

Experience has shown that the number of students interested in our commissioning programs is proportional to the advancement of the oil industry and the marine industry. As a public service, we would greatly appreciate your publishing the enclosed release or any notice concerning our presence on the campus in the preceding football game.

The Marine Corps offers the following programs for freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and graduate-study students. The Marine Corps offers a Second Lieutenant with assignment to Office of the Marine Corps, a Second Lieutenant with assignment to Office of the Marine Corps, and a Second Lieutenant with assignment to Office of the Marine Corps.

Dear Editor,

I should like to publicly express my deep appreciation to all members of the Florida Technological University community for the splendid group of cooperation and dedication evidenced two weeks ago last Wednesday afternoon when a series of fire alarms forced a serious threat to the campus. A special word of thanks goes to the staff of the university who worked with the professional fire fighters throughout.

I particularly note from my point of view was the manner in which members of the FTU community began and ended the evacuation. It was a manner which could have given great credit to the university.

Sincerely yours,

D. C. D’Alessio
Major, U.S. Marine Corps
Officer Selection Officer

I am not the only resident student who has been on campus for several years, and was at least in cases where and French fries. It is our concern that the quality of books in the bookstore could have such little regard for the resident students who live on campus.

Sincerely yours,

P. J. I am not the only resident student asking this.

Editor's Note:

Wayne Leland did indeed replace Kevin Wadsworth as Men's Resident Advisor. Leland has been on campus for two years and has been a Second Lieutenant for three years. He is poised to act as a liaison between the student body and the Resident Advisor.

Sincerely yours,

D. C. D’Alessio

President Millican: Communication Is Chief Concern

Communication is the responsibility of an administrator which has been shown to either make him or break him. Last week the FutUrE interviewed Dr. Charles H. Millican and discovered his ideas and efforts on the subject.

President Millican has often received personal recognition for his attempts to talk with and understand the people who are connected with FTU. He has been praised by the dormitory residents for his rapport and has earned a reputation for introducing himself to total strangers as "Charlie Millican."

It was surprising then when the president said, "I am relatively satisfied with my communication efforts off campus, partly satisfied with my efforts toward the faculty, but I am not satisfied at all with my communication with the students. The list of committees, representatives, and other individuals he meets with is nearly endless. I want to know the ideas, frustrations, problems and suggestions of everyone I can to make a composite view in order to make this kind of university we should and must have," he said.

There are two major areas the president's office must contend with, inside and outside the university. Outside FTU the president must move, and keep informed by the Governor's cabinet, members of the legislature, other university presidents and the Board of Regents meeting.

Within FTU, the president must meet with the faculty in four groups to cover the same area. So far two years ago, "I admit I haven't had much chance to do this quarter," he said, "but I often have time to stop for a few minutes and go visit some faculty members in their offices." At least all the full, then there's the report system. Even though filling out reports seems to be part of the other side of a business, the president needs each report he receives, and often writes notes on its quality and sends it back to the writer.

WITH STUDENTS

And what about the students? "Communication in that area is a two-way street," President Millican said that both parties must be able to talk to each other. He cited the case of a meeting he held for all the cadets who told him of their concerns and organized campus organizations to pull their members together for putting up a proposed tuition hike. After explaining the issue and giving his personal ideas, he then talked with the leaders on their personal ideas and asked them to go back to their organizations and find out what their members think. Then they were supposed to report back to him and to the Board of Regents meeting. Out of approximately 26 organizations polled, nine wrote the president back concerning the hike and its legality.

Where will it all end? "I've been working with my staff and through the administrators in student affairs but I also pulled out a lot by myself." The president explained that he will often go to the Village in a## and eat with the students to know what they are thinking and to help them with their problems.

The program since before the university opened, speaking of such future things I think I'll ever stop working on it. It's one thing that we can never perfectly attain our objectives we have set, but the Individual so that we don't just give it up. Well, to me the most important is not whether we perfectly achieve that goal, but that we keep working on it. We can't stop.

Election Bill Passed, Sgt.-At-Arms Gets No

A quick paced Student Government meeting Tuesday saw the passage of six key bills on the senate floor and re-passed one of two bills that failed last week. The most decisive of the bills passed was 3-64, which deals with the Student Government and election procedure. After organizational discussion of one points, the bill passed unanimously. The bill sets an election commission, to serve as the supervision of elections and fail regulations for the candidates. A copy of the bill is available to all students at the Student Government office on the second floor of the Library Building.

The final day for filing for candidates for the upcoming election will be Monday, April 19. In other action, the senate decided to elect a president pro tem to serve in the stead of the vice president when the vice president is unable to attend the senate meetings. The president pro tem will be elected by a simple vote of the senators. The senate decided, however, not to appoint a sergeant-at-arms for the position sounds like a common bouncer," commented Senator Dan Scott, Education. "I would like to think that the position is not appear as a source to the bill. The bill was defeated, 15 to no, six yes, and one abstained.

An additional $500 was allotted for use in the SGT Pageant in a bill introduced by senator: Mary Lou Rajchel, Education. "The pageant is being held in connection with the Spring Formal dance," explained Senator Rajchel, "and will be much more elaborate than it was last year." The bill passed unanimously.

Another bill proposed by Senator Rajchel, one setting guidelines for allotment of Student Government funds to student clubs, was passed after some discussion over the legality of checking club bank accounts (see additional story, this issue). The bill passed, 17 to five, yes, and one abstained.

The senate also denied a request by senator David Boharner, Humanities and Fine Arts, to donate $100 to the Florida Symphony Orchestra. The senate expressed concern that such a donation would open the door to limitless requests from other organizations for similar funding.

A bill died on the floor, and was referred to the Senate Rules Committee, was designed to stop charity organizations.

Grasty Stunned, Pleased With Executive Position
By Sharon Marek

"I was stunned," said Dr. William K. Grasty, newly-appointed Executive Assistant to President Charles N. Wile. Grasty, mild-mannered Texan, presently chairman of the Communications Department, was not considered for the position last week.

"It really came as a total surprise," said the 46-year-old educator. "I knew of course that Dr. King was leaving, but I had absolutely no idea that I was being considered to replace him." Grasty has written several essays on Bellow, the writer signifies their 1915 and raised in Montreal. Crutcher Going To Music Fest

Dale Crutcher, a tenor majoring in radio and TV, will be representing FTU in the semifinals of the Southeastern competition of the Intercollegiate Music Festival to be held at the University of Florida next Friday.

The Intercollegiate Music Festival (IMF) is a search for the top talent from colleges across the nation. There are six regional competitions which will select top performers in pop/rock and folk categories from each district. Dale will be competing in the folk category and plans to sing the theme from "The Bluebird," among other things.

The winners of the semifinals will compete in the finals in St. Petersburg. From there, winners will go on to national competition, and from there to the IMF finals. The Southeastern regional has a fantastic record for sending winners since both the last year's winners went to take first place in the national competition. College's "Drumboe" won last year's folk competition.

Economically Speaking

By Linda Singer

Calling all amateur, professional, part-time, "only in spare time" artists! The College of Education needs your wonderful works of art for a tremendous art auction! The auction will be held Thursday, April 22, as part of the Village Center's two-week extravaganza which will be centered around the theme of "Creativity." Our portion of the program will feature the auction of all art objects made by the faculty, staff, students, and wives of FTU. Anyone, I repeat, ANYONE who is invested with the FTU scene is urged not only to contribute their work but also to attend the auction at the GC from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

All types of articles will be accepted - from bask, quilting, painting, sewing, sculpture, weaving, drawing and even to the auctioning of special services - such as the commission of portraiture, building of fountains, or designing gardens, etc. Anything and everything from any price range will be accepted and sold.

To participate, just fill out the form below (give one to a friend) and turn it in with your art work to Mrs. Pat Hornblower, GC 317. They will be welcome immediately any day within the next two weeks.

From the sale of your article, 25 per cent of the sale price will go to the FTU Foundation. The auction will benefit everyone on campus, both artist and student. With Dick Cornell as auctioneer, it should be a fantastic afternoon of unexpected events!

The newly-appointed Executive Assistant had no comment regarding the duties and requirements of his new position.

The FTU Library is presenting a potpourri of artistic experiences. The word potpourri is understood as a mixture or collection of entities. FTU's potpourri is a collection of images, both photographic and metal, and FTU style.

Bill Spidle and Gary Noffke sent their works to speak or sing, as the case may be, for them. Spidle's "Photographic Images" and Noffke's "Images in Metal" will be on display in the Library Buildings throughout today.

Spidle and Noffke are adamant regarding the importance of the artist's perception ability through the viewer's perceptive and imaginative capacities. Noffke said, "I don't read—I observe. I don't write—I express my ideas and feelings through my metal works. Ask it "Images of artistic perception."

"...the photographic artist, too, must be a skilled technician. But more important, he must possess and use a perceptive added perception the artist includes a dimension not available to the technicians."

Today, the sorcerers live, and each wields formulas. Each tower is covered with a cryptic code. To decipher the code is to even the simplest utensils its unique aspects slowly come into view. No one can be merely studies of the ordinary and commonplace, i.e., an open market, seaweed, bits of driftwood, dead twigs, etc. But through a magnification of the mundane, Noffke creates a helter-skelter world filled with trolls, fairies and strange amulets. In this secret place where magicians and sorcerers exist side by side. This is an enchanted land that lies beyond the rim of Spidle's monocromatic world of photographic images.

"And in Noffke's world, a mixture of images, impressions and expressions makes minor magicians and conjurers of us all. In the end, Noffke is correct."

In his new capacity, Juge will coordinate graduate and undergraduate programs, as they expand throughout the State University System. Juge joined the FTU faculty in 1963, and was named assistant dean of Natural Sciences in 1969. He has also served as coordinator for the Sciences of Health and Humanities. Dean Osle has not yet formulated plans for replacing Juge, although he said that such plans will be forthcoming.

Parking Ticket Dodgers May Receive Summons

Law-abiding students will be the beneficiaries of a new policy instituted by the Campus Security Department, those wishing to check the law will find it rougher, the FTU knew this week.

The new plan allows parking tickets to be paid, if there is no question or contention, at the cashier's office in the Administration Building, rather than in the basement of the Library, as they have been. The catch is that if a fine is not paid within nine days, Security will issue an arrest summons through the Orlando Police Department, and the offense will then require an appearance before a municipal judge.

Campus Glances

PLAINOFTHEMEN

There are two plainclothes secret on the PTU campus, according to Security Superintendent John Smith.

The men, who also wear uniforms, have general security duties and are not assigned to a specific job. "It is no secret," Smith said about the men. "They wear civilian clothes all the time."
AAUP Forum:
Qualified Profs
Always Needed

The 1979's will see in general a decreasing demand for college teachers, but shortages will continue in certain specialized fields, and there will always be room for the best qualified professors. This was the consensus of the panelists in the first AAUP Forum on College Teaching and Graduate Study held last Monday.
Moderating the panel was Dr.
William Brumbaugh, who said part of the shortage in certain fields was professors Douglas Brookhouser, Dr. Paul S. Mapes, Melvin Hughes, Howard Nimmo, and David Weiler.

In a spirited discussion, the panelists answered questions about many aspects of graduate study. They advised that a student choosing a graduate major should take into account the intangible factor of what will give him or her the most satisfaction. Cost should be the least important criterion, because good graduate schools
usually make financial aid available.

The forum was sponsored by the AAUP chapter of the American Association of University Professors.

The University Government elections are upon us again and, judging from the past two years' projects, Project
Pick-Up.
The purpose of this project,
which will take place next Thursday, is to do something positive about pollution problems.
The object is to pick up all trash (cans, paper, bottles, etc.) along the entire length of Florida Tech Blvd.
The project will begin at 9 a.m.
outside the Enco station at the intersection of Florida Tech Blvd. and SR 436.

After a short dedication and initiation program, plastic garbage bags will be distributed to everyone present and the march to FTU will begin. In order to allow more people to take part in this Project Pick-Up, Florida Tech Blvd.
will be divided into six equal sections.
One section will be completed at a time, according to schedule.

Organizations wishing to participate please contact Anna Millies or Pauletta Gots
at 375-4342 to pledge support.
Individuals wishing to need not call.
Bulletins listing the pick-up schedule are available at the Admissions Building.

Wood's Racketeers Victorious

Fourth Straight Win

by Mike Criles

Charlie Herring, Larry Whitacre, and Bruce Broussard of FTU scored significant victories in a tennis tournament won over Seminole Community College. FTU’s threesome gave the Knights a 5-2 lead in the singles competition, paving the way for an FTU victory. Even from the beginning, these three players’ determination was evident. Larry Whitacre, Bruce Broussard, and Charlie Herring defeated SJC’s Ed Monarch with a 6-2, 6-4 lead at the first set of the same game. Herring had a 6-2 overall record.

Olympic Weightlifting

The Olympic and Collegiate Weightlifting Award was given to tech students for their present quarters are in the basement of the library building. Admission to the exhibition is free and all students are allowed to attend.

MEMBERS OF THE FTU weightlifting club will demonstrate their talents in open exhibition tonight in the Village Center's Multi-Purpose Room from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. The purpose of this exhibition is to give Tech students a closer look at the various lifts involved in the weightlifting sport.

Gary Venter, Mr. USA, will make a special guest appearance and will explain the difference between weightlifting and body building. Admission to the exhibition is free and all students are welcome to attend for a fine hour of exhibition weightlifting.

Weightlifting, a competitive sport whose origin dates back to early Greece, has been at FTU since 1969. Weightlifting club advisor, Mike Stone, believes that club members have improved their lifting capabilities greatly since they joined the FTU league. The surrounding pictures show only a very small portion of action during state meets held this season. Through the expressions on their faces, the spectator can feel the deep concentration the weightlifter undergoes for that last burst of strength.

Golfers Take Second In Tampa-VJC Meet

The golf team of Florida Tech placed second in a tri-match against Tampa University and Valencia Junior College last fall. Led by former Boone High School standout Carter Murchison, Valencia won the match with a final total of 316. The Matadors of Tampa finished last with a 326. Leading FTU were Richard Haase and Mike Kza who posted scores of 78 and 79, respectively. Durey Howard tallied with an 82, and Chuck Ludwig came in with an 84.

FTU Goldsax Lose Five Due To Lock Of Pitchers

BY LARRY MCCRELL

After his team lost its fifth straight game, FTU baseball coach Jack Pastinele appropriately stated, "We are not playing good ball. Most of the time we lose because we beat ourselves."

Although the Goldsax lose in the fact remain that FTU's record does not reflect the ability of the team. However, it is true that the lack of pitchers is beginning to take it toll. Coach Pastinele's baseball team is struggling. And at no time was this more apparent than in Tuesday's game with Brevard Community College.

Starting pitcher Mark Denno, former Boone football player and baseball, caught his first game and showed outstanding poise. With Jones moved outside, Pastinele was able to move Owen Mouwekate to first and put Allen Tuggle back in the outfield, the position he played at Valdosta. That move allowed part-time outfielder Bob Rodriguez to move back to second base. He's still waiting to hook the one-man assault. Rodriguez is a psychology major at FTU.

However, Denno was not as effective as normal, because he had just pitched nine innings the day before. FTU could have very well swapped from this game with a victory but it had not been for the fact that pitcher Bill Parham was absent due to a biology field trip.

If Pastinele had been able to call on Pamuk, who has been pitching very well lately, the final outcome could certainly have been different.

However, there were some bright spots in the game with Brevard. Jones, former Edgewater footballer and baseball player, caught his first game and showed outstanding poise. With Jones moved outside, Pastinele was able to move Owen Mouwekate to first and put Allen Tuggle back in the outfield, the position he played at Valdosta. That move allowed part-time outfielder Bob Rodriguez to move back to second base. He is a sophomore at Bishop Moore High School. He is presently a junior at Bishop Moore High School.
