Frank Santry took the highest FTU student office available in a tight elections race last week. If there are no consequences with the results
Santry will be given his election certificate as the new President of the Student Government of FTU by the end of this week.

Santry's Vice-President will be his runningmate, Senator Charles Simpson. Simpson, a relative newcomer to Tech compared to Santry's three years served in the FTU Senate this past year as a
Senator from the College of Business.

Santry pulled his way past Lawrence (Larry) Zimmerman with 11 votes, with 367 votes being cast for Santry and 356 being cast for Zimmerman. The next closest candidate was Marc Hamilton, with 260 votes. All total there were 2,113 votes cast for president.
Spring fever is affecting the country again and I, for one, feel tugging at my desire to travel, drink, and have a good time. However, to my chagrin, classes always seem to interfere with my vacation activities. Our brothers and sisters throughout the U.S. must be feeling the same beckoning and are displaying their energies in a variety of ways. One such activity is Operation Dewey Canyon III in Washington, D.C.

Operation Dewey Canyon III is a protest against our continued involvement in Vietnam. Although the theme is not new, the actors are, instead of the radical and violent youth of yesterday’s protest fame, the characters in this most recent saga of American involvement in Vietnam. Dear Editor,

I am writing this letter in reaction to the many unfavorable comments that I have heard concerning Bellow’s reading Thursday night (April 22). Those comments have ranged from “There’s something shallow about a man accepting money to read from his own book” to “He didn’t say anything” to “I can buy his book, why should I listen to him read it.” Thus I have concluded that I am a minority because I thoroughly enjoyed the reading.

I am curious about those disappointed people, those people who wanted something for nothing. Were they disappointed when they discovered that the winner of three National Book Awards and “the greatest living American author” was merely a man, not too tall, who had no halo, but a hat around his temple? Would those people have been happier if he had appeared on stage glaring like Eisenstein or if he had pulled rabbits from his hat?

Did those people come to hear profound statements, so that in later years they could tell their grandchildren that they had heard Bellow in 1971, and said he was, indeed, profound?

Are those who felt disappointed because Bellow did not comment on his planet; those who feel that a fair young maiden of Board dorm was found in bed with an over-passerionate teddy bear. Further investigation disclosed that funding, an education major, will soon turn down the bear for her fiancé Dan. Well, she’ll have to go it alone now.

Letters To The Editor

Correction Offered

Dear Editor:

I was pleased to see a summary on the tic-tac-toe machine which I designed, and which was demonstrated in the Engineering Building.

I would like to offer two corrections to the article. First, the machine is NOT a computer. It has no computing capabilities. The machine is an implementation of a flow-chart, using logical elements to build a flow-chart. (In this case, the implementation of electronic building-blocks used in all data-manipulating systems.) Second, the flow chart, as implemented during the display, is not underfashioned. The machine was defeatable by four different patterns, (other than chance) all of which were due to the incompleteness of the flow chart. The machine is currently being modified to “eliminate” the defeat patterns or command. That is, some switches are being added to inhibit machine checks, and therefore allow a player to search for the correct win combination.

The tic-tac-toe game is scheduled for display at the Central Florida Museum/Planetarium this summer.

Teddy Bear

Dear Editor:

Reliable sources have revealed that a fairly large portion of Board was found in bed with an over-passerionate teddy bear. Further investigation disclosed that funding, an education major, will soon turn down the bear for her fiancé Dan. Well, she’ll have to go it alone now.

Sororities On Way To Nationalization

By Linda Metel

Nationalization has been in the news since at least four FTU fraternities claimed the prestige of being "first" to be chartered by a national fraternity. And now it's the sororities' turn. FTU sororities are moving in the natural progression of nationalization, said Gwen Sarchet, dean of women. Dean Sarchet has coordinated the efforts of the FTU locals and the national organizations since 1968. Nationalization procedures actually began before any local houses were established at FTU. During that time the University has maintained constant contact with the national sororities and their area alumnae groups.

FTU locals are currently being entertained by Orlando area alumnae. Each local will attend six parties and will narrow the field down to three selections. From there the Deans will write to each of the national groups asked to participate in their area. The national sororities will then contact the local alums for information on the sorority. The time period between this and the selection of the sorority will be determined by the national and local alumnae. They will then be invited to meet with Dean Sarchet, a faculty committee and the sorority.

The time period between contact and actions of FTU nationalization has been a major factor in determining the interest of the sororities. This period varies from six weeks to six months, and according to Dean Sarchet, the date of nationalization will be determined by the security and the University. During this time, the FTU locals will be pledged and learn the procedures of the national sorority.

Twelve national sororities are being considered for participation in the nationalization process for the FTU sororities. Originally 15 sororities were approached, but five were narrowed down by the locals after presentations and reversed rush.

The presentations by nationals were held between January 19 and March 16. Each national sorority visited the campus with local and national alumnae who answered questions and presented information and materials concerning their group. Reversed rush was held at FTU on March 30 to give the alums a chance to find out more about the individual local houses.

Dean Sarchet expressed the desire that all four locals will be chartered by next winter's formal rush. "I'm very pleased with the cooperative attitude of the local groups on campus and the cooperation of the national and local Panhellenic Associations. They have gone out of their way to offer help and assistance and to give us as much information as is accurately possible," Dean Sarchet said. "Our local sororities do not have the opportunity to hear about each sorority."

Comments from the FTU sororities concerning nationalization have ranged from "I have not met so many fantastic women in my life!" to: "When it all is said and done, the whole business of going national is going to be incredibly hard!"

Both statements are understandable but everyone agrees there is a lot more to the idea than meets the eye. "There's a lot more to going national than meets the eye. I took a long, hard, but worthwhile---------------­ path," said FTU student Ron Arrington. "I don't believe we have the right to spend students' money and then get nothing out of it," said Student Senate Danny Sont. The sponsor of the bill, Senator BYD J. Brownell, explained to Gaudnek, Walter Gaudnek, Hans Eyfells, Walter Gaudnek, Hans Krenn and Steve Lote, creating their own specialities.

The results of the presentations will be in display in the Library for at least a week after the completion of the "14 hours of creation," according to Walter Gaudnek, one of the contributing artists. The presentations by nationals were held between January 19 and March 16. Each national sorority visited the campus with local and national alumnae who answered questions and presented information and materials concerning their group. Reversed rush was held at FTU on March 30 to give the alums a chance to find out more about the individual local houses.

Will the Seal's Seal Seal the Seal?努力 to have a Senior Class project before the fall year runs out have been thwarted to date, as a result of projects which were not acceptable to the Senate. Another bill proposing a new Senior Class project submitted the Senate floor for its first reading Tuesday, and concerned itself with the possibility of placing a ten-foot square replica of the University seal, made from mosaic tiles, in the brick walk at the north entrance to the Administration Building. The seal, according to the sponsor of the bill, headed by Senator BYD J. Brownell, would be in black and gold tiles and would cost $70 to the neighborhood of $700. The bill will come up for its second reading tomorrow.

Frosh To Give Library Clock

A large digital clock will be placed above the main entrance to the Library by Student Government, as the freshman class project, if all goes according to plan.

The project came in the form of a bill, submitted by Linda Metel of the College of General Studies. After a review by the Senate committee on Student Government, the bill was made law by a unanimous vote of the Senate. The cost of the project is estimated at $700, and no date has been set for the clock to be installed. The digital clock is the type often seen on bank buildings. This clock's dimensions in inches will be 4x5.25x3.9, and it will weigh 116 pounds. The clock will be readable from 100 yards away and will light up at night. The clock will be operated independently from other clocks on campus, working on its own electrical supply. The clock is expected to be placed before summer quarter, in case of bad weather, will be in Engr. Aud.

Library Doubles Size
As Fifty Tons Shifted
By Shannon Marcik

Fifty tons of books and equipment were moved, and the overall size of the FTU Library was more than doubled by the recent completion of a planned expansion program.

According to Lynn W. Walker, the director of FTU Libraries, this move signals "only the beginning" of a long-range program, with the final goal being total occupancy of the present Library Building and eventually the construction of a second building comparable in size to the first.

With the help of 20 regular staff members and 10 student assistants, 2700 current periodicals, 43,000 books and numerous desks, tables, chairs and shelves were relocated.

"The only inquiries," said Walker, "were from one student who inadvertently discovered gravity, and a group of petrified insects, broken figurines, sore backs and aching feet.

Also on the agenda of new additions to the library is a revised edition of the library catalog, which will be available in the fall. According to Schmidt, only those of World War II vintage are involved.

Other new additions to library facilities include the relocation of numerous volumes of bound periodicals to the fourth floor; the addition of the curriculum and instruction room devoted to educational tests and collections of children's books, mainly for use by the education department; and finally, a study area with open access to the general book collection, also on the fourth floor.

Future plans, according to Schmidt, include the installation of copying machines in the foyer and moving the media center and radio-TV studio into the area now reserved for registration. They are presently housed in temporary quarters.

"Library expansion," said Walker summariily, "becomes more and more necessary when you realize that at present we can accommodate only 13 to 18 percent of our student body at any given time."

Crime Report Indicates
Fla. Situation 'Unusual'

Chris Schmidt's hobby is organized crime.

The FTU Junior in the College of Social Sciences is writing a paper on organized crime in Central Florida. Here is a digest of the report on crime's past, the persons involved, and how criminals operate.

There is organized crime, Schmidt says, in every state. Of Florida's population, only a small percentage is involved. It is a business, and in such activities as gambling, vice, and the sale of alcohol, the groups are involved. However, according to Schmidt, only a small percentage of the Italian aristocracy are involved in the present period.

Florida has an unusual situation for organized crime, Schmidt says. Whereas in most states, entire sections of criminal activity are governed by specific "families," the state south of Tampa is "free" - and Miami is one of two major cities in the United States. Sometimes, Schmidt says, there are killings in attempts by crime groups to monopolize Miami. This happened as recently as about three years ago.

Use of legal business has increased, and it is often achieved through the use of fronting, says Schmidt. A restaurant owner, he says, would go into debt, borrow money from a syndicate loan company, which will often take the company's payment. But the syndicate is still in the illegal business, and receives from gambling alone are greater than the amount of money made by the state's citrus industry, Schmidt says. Schmidt says that the organization is also involved in heavy drug use, but not with marijuana. The major drug, he says, is heroin.

Orlando is already affected, he says, and will be affected because of the economic boom of Disney World. The traditional approach of fighting with law and "big guns" is now being complemented with an innovative approach, in which such activities are infiltrated and agents of which organized crime can operate, are being legal. Schmidt, admitting that his finding are preliminary, says that even if all these activities are legalized, people wouldn't find another substitute and opportunity for the syndicate to operate. As yet, Schmidt has no solution.

He has worked on the paper an average of three hours a week, and has been investigating organized crime for about a year and a half.

Most of his research has been in the form of interviews with informers, talks with policemen, and many hours spent reading. He and Unkovic hope to get the report published in a corrections journal as a study of the sociological characteristics of the criminal.

Even still, it seems to Schmidt that "future" of organized crime is in the future.
Pick-Up Succeeds - But Trash Returns

FTU students cleaned over five miles of Florida Tech Blvd. per mile: 117 aluminum cans 300 in cans and 45 glass bottles. Also, found were a few wire parts, plastic bags, a pair of size nine shoes, and a dead fish on the surface of the Econ River, divers refused to go diving in that body of water. (Photo by Ed Barton).

Members of the AquaKnights participated in the pickup drive along Florida Tech Blvd. last week by venturing into a sand pit along the road. They found everything from old tires to bed springs.

SMC Poll: 39 Pct. Want 'Peace Now'

Results of the Student Mobilization Committee's (SMC) recent "Vote on the War" poll revealed that 39 per cent of the 412 students voting favored "total and immediate withdrawal of U.S. troops — Peace Now."

A total of 39 per cent of the FTU student body voted on four propositions presented by the SMC in a poll held on April 21 and 22. According to Miriam Weller, SMC president, the purpose of the opinion poll was to "build up interest in Vietnam on campus prior to the two weeks of war protests in Washington, D.C." The unit of sisterhood in Fideles Sorority has been strengthened in past weeks by the attendance at national security parties. Fideles plan to attend seven parties and have gained many friendships and experiences. Parties will end on May 2, but the selection of a national security will be a while in coming.

New Fideles pledges were introduced and the39g 8t 3m 83 at the Wednesday night meeting. Little sisters were presented with decorated pillows (supposedly in the shape of a custard-pie — the Fideles pledge class mascot) and decorated banner mittens. Pledge trials began Tuesday, with a description of pledging by Paul Borden. The prize items Officers were elected and are as follows: president, Kathy May; vice president, Marita Swam; secretary, Bonnie Boddish; and treasurer, Patty Case.

The pledges began their pledge period on the right track last Thursday when they aided in the Newman Club sponsored PTU Boulevard cleanup.

PTU's Kappa Sigma chapter, now the Lambda Epsilon chapter of one of America's oldest fraternities, which dates back to 1400 A.D. in Bologna, Italy. PTU's first national chapter, Kappa Sigma, has yet to gain official PTU recognition. It is hoped that administrative recognition will come shortly.

The little sisters hosted a dinner Friday night at the house before the initiation. The ceremony was held at the First Federal of Orlando Building downtown.

Saturday, after an afternoon class session for all the new brothers, the South Florida chapter from Tampa joined them at the house for a keg session for all the new brothers, the ceremony was held at the First Federal of Orlando Building downtown.

Superlatives were voted on this past week. The winners in six categories will be announced at the Awards Banquet on May 13. The awards to be presented are the Mickey Jackson Brotherhood Award, Best Athlete, Best Pledge, Best Little Sister, Best Service, and the HA award.

Greek Week is coming and all fraternities and sororities will participate in the scheduled activities. All Greeks are urged to put their best foot forward.

Three FTU communication majors placed in a University of Florida film competition last week. The winning students films each received judges' choice awards, and the students were awarded $250.

The winners were Dave Desheimer, Fred Dobbs and Paul Grange. They were awarded three out of a total of ten prizes in the contest which was open to high school, college, and university film makers.

Desheimer, who graduated from FTU last quarter, presented his film concerning drug usage, "Who's To Blame?" Desheimer is now working for Cybil Hay, an independent skier and making films.

Dobbs, 20, a student with an interest in public relations, presented a "movie film" entitled "El Condor Pass."

Grange's film was "Hello, I'm Going To Be," which presented a twist to the "external triangle" plot.

The main judge at the contest was Dennis M. Olson, a noted New York film maker and critic who writes for the Village Voice.

Bruce Meyer, communication instruction, also attended the competition, conducting seminars and lectures on film making.

ELIGIBLE STUDENTS ACCEPTED;
75 Pct. Actually Attend

FTU now admits all student applicants who meet minimum entrance requirements, although 75 per cent of the total number of applicants actually make it to the university. Ten per cent of the total number do not qualify for admission, and 15 per cent never attend, although they were eligible and have been accepted.

Ralph Bostin, the registrar and admissions officer gave these figures and added that in full, 1970, 2,455 students were processed by admissions.

PTU, as well as the University of South Florida, has a 2,000-student ceiling for incoming freshmen, but thus far PTU has not reached that limit.

Admission requirements for first-time students to PTU are a C average for the overall high school minimum score of 300 on the Florida Twelfth Grade (PTU) Test, and a favorable recommendation from the student's high school officials.

However, if a student does not qualify academically he may go before the admissions and standards committee to appeal his case. Students admitted by the committee usually enter under academic warning if they are first-time college students, or under academic probation if they are transfers. There is a five per cent exclusion rule that allows for a five per cent deviation in accepting students whose averages are below C.

FTU students have a high average score on their PTU tests. A survey taken in 1969 revealed the average

Saul Bellow’s first novel was awaiting publication in 1941, but it ended up in an incinerator, rather than on a bookstore shelf. Students who attended Saul Bellow’s first appearance at FTU April 22 at a coffee in the Regent’s conference room were astonished that anyone would throw away a novel that had already been accepted for publication and that was the author’s major work. Bellow explained, “I didn’t want to see any smoke coming out of the building. I didn’t want to add to the number of books.” In 1944, “The Dangling Man” was published. “I was under the influence of another book. That’s a proper thing for a young writer.” Bellow hails from Chicago where he is a member of the Committee on Social Thought at the University of Chicago. He was born in 1915, and was raised in Chicago. Bellow earned his Bachelor’s degree at Northwestern University. His fiction has appeared in Partisan Review, The New Yorker, Esquire, and the literary quarters.

DEMETRIAN

The atmosphere at the center was informal and conducive to personal discussion about Bellow. The writers who have attention today may not have it tomorrow. It's a writer is thoroughly truthful, then he will be heard. Of course, he must keep going. “In the future there is greater hope for restoring the confidence of the public in the novel and its many forms of doing things. They are often more explicit, more direct than before.”

FTU Conquers FIT In Tennis, Baseball

Gillis, Donn Star As Tech Sweeps Tech

By Larry McCorkle

Strong pitching by Mark Dennis and Billy Spillman paved the FTU Goldkings to a sweep of a doubleheader over accredited Florida Institute of Technology. FTU moves their winning streak to live in a row with seven wins in their last eight games. More importantly, the Goldkings ended their season record at 12-12.

In the first game FIT scored an unearned run in the top of the first. A number of interference was called on catcher Wood, and a dropped batter's swing, allowing a home run to first. Two infield errors and an infielid hit to the only run FIT could muster off Dennis. After the first inning, FIT played errorless ball the rest of the day.

FTU retaliated with a run in the bottom of the first as Tim Gillis singled, Dennis was hit by a pitch, and Bob Rodriguez walked. Owen Moorehead launched a fly to right for some reason FIT shortstop lost the ball, allowing Gillis to score and tying the game at 1-1. The bottom of the fifth. Moorehead walked with one out, and up to the plate stepped Pat Hiram" McCurry, who had variously promised this reporter that he would "just one out. That was no wood, McCurry promptly slammed one over the left-center fence - although it bounced over. McCurry's ground-rule double moved Moorehead to third base. However, FIT pitcher retrieved the final two batters without allowing another run.

There were no further threats in the game, until FIT batted in the bottom of the ninth. The Goldkings, sparked on their own by their own second baseman. "Go, Tech," FTU's number one hitter, Bob Wilson, walked, leading the bases. Coach McCurry signaled for the second baseman, and catcher Jerry Jones had down a near-perfect sourris, scoring Wilson from third base. The final score was FTU, 2, FIT 1. As Denhoff pitched a three-hitter, FTU won, 2-1.

In the second game of the twinbill, FIT's Gary Poppell was stifled. FIT's Tim Gillis singled, stole second and went to third on a wild pickoff attempt, and scored on a throwing error by the FIT catcher trying to pick him off third base. The second run was scored when pitcher Bill Spillman walked, advanced to third on a single, and scribbled home on an infield hit out by Steve Wilson. Spillman won his third game in a row pitching a five-hit, strikeout, shutout. The Goldkings last game of the season will be played Saturday against FIT in Melbourne at 5 p.m.
