Tuition Fee Hike Upheld By Mautz

A delegation of university student body members asked the Board of Regents during its recent meeting Monday to reconsider its decision to permit collection of higher registration and tuition fees.

While the Board continued that the increase was implemented before the wage-price freeze, those requesting reconsideration countered that fewer than 450 of Florida State University's 18,000 students had paid their fees prior to August 1 and that, "technically, the increase was not implemented until September 20 when classes began." Thus, it was argued that "a substantial number of transactions" had not been effected.

University Chancellor Robert B. Mautz, Monday issued a clarification: "Economic Stabilization One-Year Figure, published in the Federal Register, August 24, 1971, reads 'the ceiling price for the sale of a commodity or service is the highest price at which a seller delivered or furnished during the base period such commodity or service to purchasers in that base period.' That definition includes transactions, that is, 10 percent of his actual transactions."

The criterion, according to Mautz, 10 percent of the transactions made during the base period (August 1, 1971) and not 10 percent of the transactions expected to be made. In this case only 831 of 19,872 students paid their fees during the base period, representing 4.21% of the total, 100 percent of the transaction were at the higher rate.

In the basis of the aforementioned guidelines," said Mautz, "we must continue the collection of registration and tuition fees at the higher rate as required by the 3871 Florida Legislature."

Freeze Affects All; FTU No Exception

by Linda Mearns

The August 15 national price freeze has affected nearly every United States institution, with FTU being no exception.

Although the issue is still under consideration, FTU professors have not and will not receive a raise for the duration of the freeze. The debate continues on the K-12 increases and no decision has been made although many have received larger pay increases.

According to Vice President for Business Affairs John Philip Goree, materials and goods have been purchased under the freeze at their previous prices. This action constitutes a positive change, because those prices would have been raised.

Goree spoke of the November 15 deadline for the freeze, stating that "new guidelines" will be issued, which could include a "voluntary restraint" on some institutions.

In reference to effects upon students, numerous opinions have been voiced concerning the tuition increase. The latest opinion was expressed by Board of Regents Chancellor Robert Mautz, who said that tuition increases were not included by the Federal government in the freeze. This opinion was in answer to questions by FSU Student Body President Ray Gross at the September 17 meeting of the S.G. Mautz stated that as long as any percentage of the tuition paid, all would have to be payed at the new rate.

Goree explained the necessity of the tuition increase in relation to the individual student's total costs. The average cost per student for a three-quarter-year education totals approximately $1,800. With the $5 per week increase of the tuition rate, $900 per year. The FTU student body president explained the additional funds needed to support the $1,000 tuition increase to be used in building activities and the capital improvement fund.

GOREE EXPLAINS

Goree stated that the increase in housing costs went through because housing fees were collected as early as July 15 and even though the University President and the Board had not take place, the increase was implemented prior to the freeze.

One positive effect of the freeze for students in the area of book sales. Before the freeze, book prices had already announced price increases for books that had not been sold. Another advantage to students was in the area of cafeteria costs. "This reason was to be scheduled to be raised slightly."

Fiery Regiment Kovachevich Visits FTU Campus

Controversial Board of Regents member Elizabeth Kovachevich, in a whirlwind tour of FTU Tuesday, fielded questions from curious students, visited classes in session and like a modern-day Red Piped collected students and other onlookers as she hurried from library building to snack bar to dorm lounge, and stopped to talk.

Stepping briskly with a "Fire" reporter and photographer in her wake) to keep up with an impatient schedule meticulously lighted by her light, Miss Kovachevich explained her tour as "being part of a rotating system set up whereby each Regent is to spend one day each month on a state university campus. We want to get a better feeling of the university atmosphere."

A stop in the university snack bar found the slender, scarlet-jacketed Regent confronted by an FTU student who identified himself as Lloyd Woosley. In answer to Woosley's question about "What is it to keep students from doing what they want to do on off campus?" Miss Kovachevich said bluntly, "What a student does off campus is his business, but when it happens on campus we must follow the laws and guidelines of the state for using public property for public purposes."

A second student, dorm resident Teddy Smith, invited the Regent to visit her room, and the regent agreed. Heading for C Dorm, with Smith in the lead and an ever increasing group following, Miss Kovachevich commented on the over-sensationalizing of the visitation controversy and stressed that "Regents guidelines call for the fostering of excellence of thought, behavior and performance. Further, the state could legally be sued for bodily harm done to a student while on state property.

"In one case last April at the University of Miami, drugs, sex and violence were so bad they literally had to empty the dorms. We cannot let the universities be a sanctuary to allow a few students to infringe on the rights of others," said the Regent.

Stepping in the C Dorm lounge with her entourage numbering a dozen, Miss Kovachevich hosted an unplanned rap session which began with complaints from one student that "this room, according to the requirements of the new visitation policy, was intended to be the entertainment area of approximately 100 people." (The room is barely large enough to accommodate the dorm or so people with the group.)

Miss Kovachevich answered all questions with a pleasant candor, eliciting a fist much of the time or gesticulating expressively to show emphasis. Even when the question became an issue it was suggested by Regent Kovachevich that it was a problem of the administration and not EFIU's rights.

SPEAKING ON student question regarding a possible K-12 freeze on one of these days, with gray in her hair, yes in her face and you will suddenly say, "You would not believe how I did with the time when I had it!"

Regent Kovachevich policy, was intended to be the entertainment area of approximately 100 people." (The room is barely large enough to accommodate the dorm or so people with the group.)
When the specifications of a position are not being lived up to, it is generally assumed that position will be abolished. In many cases, this is the best action to take. A bill to abolish the elected positions of class president and college governor has been proposed and was scheduled to go before the Student Senate this week. It is our feeling that this is a case that could be handled in a different manner.

According to the Student Government constitution, governors and class presidents "shall preside over meetings of their individual Senate delegations and shall sit, on the President's Council. They shall have the power to appoint such administrative assistants as deemed necessary." They have no voting powers. Consequently, those positions have, in the past, been responsible for very little positive action, other than committee work and the formulation of class projects.

Perhaps a more positive bill would suggest the abolishment of one office and the restructuring of the duties and responsibilities of the other.

We are in favor of seeing the office of class president abolished, basically because of the lack of distinction in the various classes. Class is determined by the number of quarter hours and does not necessarily constitute a year-to-year change.

We do, however, favor maintaining the office of college governor, with a marked change in office responsibility. The majority of students identify more strongly with their particular college than with their class of year of study, so more emphasis should be placed on individual colleges.

A great deal of thought should be given to a more authoritative and rational set of duties for college governors. The governors could serve as an advisory board to the university in the area of academic affairs. These governors should have a working knowledge of the problems and needs of their colleges. Areas such as general studies requirements and semester changes are now pass/fail system, and additions to the class schedule are just a few of the areas where students have expressed interest. This group could serve as a liaison between students and administration by submitting requests for changes and additions.

Considering the nature of this responsibility, we suggest that a person be a junior or senior in class standing to be eligible to run for the office of governor.

But most important to making this suggestion workable would be full cooperation from the university. These students should ideally be mature and concerned about the welfare of these under them and would need to be taken seriously by university officials and academic affairs. What good could they possibly do if no one listened to them?

Seminars Under Fire

Due to a number of changes and discrepancies in format, the senior seminars are once again under fire. Two of the five seminars are onoptional paperwork and do not necessarily constitute a year-to-year change. The pass/fail system appears to be relatively popular with students. It is originally requested by seniors in 1969 and is finally in effect in response to the actions of various student committees.

However, we cannot justify two seminars being on pass/fail and three not.

Additionally, the various sections of at least one of the two on the optional paper requirement are not compatible in course requirements. Class is determined by the number of quarter hours and does not necessarily constitute a year-to-year change. The Humanities and Fine Arts seminar is divided into several discussion groups, all meeting at the same time but being taught by different professors. One of those sections requires attendance and discussion for a pass/fail - the other attendance and a possibility of two papers and one exam.

Although the pass/fail system is in the early stages of implementation, it is just too easy to get on the bandwagon for a more structured system of senior seminars. If few facts from the students' point of view are taken into consideration, the seminars could be administered in a more positive manner. At the present time, senior seminars are basically unpopular. The students are unstructured and unorganized by virtue of the grading and requirements of each seminar. Perhaps it wouldn't be a bad idea to make a few changes, allowing the seminars to be simply a brief and general look at the course study of each college within the university. First of all, the seminars should all be on the pass/fail grading system. There are disadvantages to this, but all in all, they are "short courses" and should not be treated in anything more. Secondly, the requirement should be limited. Class attendance and discussion with an optional paper requirement would be plenty for a class where no grade is being offered. And thirdly, a different approach from the standpoint of the professor is necessary. Those who have realized the positive and negative aspects of the seminars and are teaching accordingly are one step ahead of the others.

And modernization and implementation of change should figure highly in the overall education process.

Poetically Yours

Since FTU does not yet have a formal literary dignitary, the Future hopes to provide a forum for creative writing by inviting students and faculty members to contribute poetry, reviews, commentaries or other literary materials for consideration by the editors.

All contributions should be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope to insure their proper return.

The editorial opinions expressed are necessarily those of the editors; they do not necessarily reflect the views of the students, the faculty, the administration or the university.

Ken Lawson Returns to Village Center Post

Ken Lawson has returned to the FTU Village Center. Lawson, who was selected as director of the Village Center when FTU opened in 1964, returned to the position last week after taking a leave of absence. Lawson has been named to the new FTU Village Center bos in departmental recreation and park.
IN THE BEGINNING, a local rock band, will be featured at the Interfraternity Council dance tonight. The group is in the process of working on a contract with Capital Records to possibly cut a record next fall. On the left is Jon Fisher, an FTU engineering major, and "Cactus" Jack Stanley, a business administration major here. Ken McCoy is the fourth member of the group, and is presently attending an area community college.

More Speech Help Offered To Students

Approximately 20 students have signed up for a voluntary speech lab designed to give five more students more practice in speaking before groups, according to coordinator for the speech program, Dr. Kyle T. Taylor. "The goal of the program is to supplement the speech teaching required through Speech 101 for students who need or want additional work in overcoming delivery problems, excessive nervousness and voice projection. The speech improvement phase will deal with people who have problems of articulation or voice problems. According to Taylor, this phase will deal with such problems as dialect difficulties, excessive nervousness and voice projection. The speech improvement phase is designed to instill self-confidence in the speaker and overcome delivery problems.

Lab sessions are scheduled to meet once a week for the 10 weeks of the quarter. The participants will be speaking every week, as opposed to the four class speeches required for Speech 101. Taylor said the labs will be limited to "small groups of no more than 10."

"The program is offered primarily to students other than Speech 101, but there are available places for anyone who is interested," said Taylor. Students can sign up for the program in the communication department, AD 124.

Two Men Arrested in Parking Lot

Two males were arrested on suspicion of breaking and entering and grand larceny while attempting to break into a student's car in parking lot 7 Monday night.

Officer O. W. Cleveland of campus security noticed the two suspects tampering with the car of Kenneth Logue, a student at FTU, and proceeded to investigate. Cleveland found that the left front window of the suspect's car was chipped and the right front door was ajar. The male was lifted from the car and the owner was summoned. The suspects were transported to the Orange County Jail and bonded with set at $2,000. Neither of the suspects are students at FTU.
Bicycle Population Booms, Security Registers 33

Along with more cars, motorcycles and students, there are more bicycles on campus.

Bikes, which range from small-tired "choppers" to white-basketed women's to sleek lightweight 10-speed racers, were almost as numerous on campus during the first weeks of the fall quarter alone as they were during the entire previous year. Security director Shirley Garrett said Tuesday that 33 parking decals had been given to students applying for them this quarter. Last year a total of 41 decals were distributed.

Bikers attribute the increase to ecology, economics and the lasting potential for enjoying the outdoors. Some of the riders drive cars onto campus, but because of the parking situation, cycle from the parking lots to class.

Larry Gerardi, senior in the College of Social Sciences, owns a blue 10-speed, often pedaled to FTU from his home about three miles away. He cycles because of "pollution, exercise and gas money," and has been doing so since last Easter. He sees bikes becoming a lasting trend to the extent that some cities now are closing streets to cars and opening certain roads for bikers and pedestrians.

"If I were back in New York, I'd still ride the bike." Not all the bikes on campus belong to students. The Village Center now has eight of them which students may use while the student center is open. The Village Center now has eight of them which students may use while the student center is open.

A GROWING number of students, seeking to avoid the crush of four-wheeled traffic on campus this quarter, have taken to the old two-wheelers (both for pleasure and sensible transportation). Students (l to r) Fran Kaufman, Bette Heins, Jan McCormack and Susan Trapp and many more have joined the ranks of bicyclers. (Photo by Ike Spinofi.)

The dorm construction

- The dorm construction
- "Florida International has no dorms and I believe this will become a trend. In essence housing has become, or will become, an academic nonessential. I personally know of no one who eats, sleeps and plays at their place of employment. We must take a hard look at the system and decide between what is an academic essential and what is nonessential. As educators we must be less conscious with providing these services which, in my opinion, should be provided by private companies. If it comes to a choice between the dorm and the classroom I would choose the classroom."

- Preparing students to enter the business world: "We must spend our time providing greater, more realistic guidance and counseling for university students. I have been on the outside, and I know what it is like - it's rough - the university atmosphere today is unrealistically isolated from the community. This situation scares me. I am opposed to the isolation that exists on the university campus. We must make the university more relevant to what is realistic."

- The possibility of a woman being chosen for a Supreme Court

"The fact that there are two vacancies on the Court, I believe, makes the chances very strong that a woman might be chosen. President Nixon is concerned with creating a balance on the court which does not now exist.
Therefore I believe at this point in time a woman with equal ability and qualifications would have the edge over a man."

- Radical speakers on campus:

of segregation. Student audiences should be given the opportunity to

Forensic Team Faces 30 Foes At First Competition Of Season

Today marks the beginning of the FTU forensics squad's second season of competition, as a six-member team goes to Middle Tennessee State University, Murfreesboro, to face debate teams from more than 30 colleges and universities. Among their opponents will be teams from the University of Georgia and Emory University, both of which have a strong debate team, Duke University, the University of South Carolina and Penn State University.

The forensics team has shown a "significant increase" in members this year, according to forensic coaches Jeff Butler and Dr. Raymond Buchman, acting chairman of the communication department. From a squad of 12 last year, the team now numbers 30, with the coaches looking forward to a further membership increase.

Among the new team members are three out of four of the top debaters from last year's National Forensics League state contest. Several freshmen and transfer students are also on the squad.

The six debaters from FTU competing at Murfreesboro today and tomorrow are Jack Haight, East Boyle, Geoff Ringer, David Larkin, Ben Slivin and Bill Snyder. They will participate in at least one competition each day against junior and seniors from the other universities, and will accumulate 24 hours of debate over the next two days.

Activities of the forensics squad are not limited solely to debate, but also include extemporaneous speaking and original oratory. Butler said forensics is open to any student willing to work and willing to use their minds in "intellectual challenge." The team members spend from 15 to 20 hours a week in research and practice. The squad members have been preparing for the "year's round of competition since mid-July," Butler said.

This year's resolution will be "Resolved: That more stringent rules should be imposed upon federal agencies collecting information about U. S. citizens." Butler, who came here for the first time this year, said he feels that the FTU team is "the strongest young squad in the state and one of the strongest in the Southeast." He spoke highly of FTU's record for last year, and added that he expects the team to be able to beat the University of Florida's group this year.

Dr. Buchman worked exclusively with last year's team and was complimentary of the debaters' efforts, calling them "bright, hardworking students." He also said that team members have maintained high grade point averages, despite long hours devoted to forensics.

Butchman added that one of the forensics' aims is to bolster the academic experience of students and said anyone interested in the team, regardless of major, may contact him or Butler in the communication department.

Among the goals of the forensics team are the training of students to speak more effectively, the encouragement of students to learn and use tools of research; the increasing of students' abilities to analyze topics, determine issues, and relate concepts into coherent, logical patterns, and the providing of students with opportunities to visit other schools, to meet other students and to share and compare cultures and ideas.

Student Flu Shots Available

Flu vaccines are now available in the Student Health Service, Village Center room 143.

Students who did not receive flu immunization last year should receive two injections two months apart. Students who received the flu injection last year will need only one booster injection.

This service is free to all full-time students (nine hours or more) and a charge of $1 will be made to part-time, staff and part-time students.

Draft Deferment Laws Explained

All college students who have Selective Service deferments last year are still eligible for deferments this year, but no freshman students will be exempted, according to Registrar W. Dane Thompson.

In explaining the new Selective Service laws apply to FTU students, he added, "The Selective Service deferrals, but wishes to be fair about it." Under the system of nonexemption for freshmen, any student who has not successfully completed 45 quarter hours is eligible for the draft.

Chapman said that, although there are some students who were full-time last year and received deferments, they did not complete 45 quarter hours and are "out of phase," thus eligible for the draft.

Dr. Curtis T. Warr, Selective Service director, said he does not RETRO Grads Begin New Jobs

Tyke's

This year will witness many changes within Tyke's Sorority. To cope with the ever-changing structure of a sorority, Tyke's has revamped its pledge program. By doing this, they hope to build an even better sorority by helping their pledges to become the members they can be.

The members are looking forward to participating in Intramurals once again and plan to have a hard year, thanks to the Overall Trophy in Women's Intramurals.

College Band is on the calendar again this year and Tyke's have already started preparations for their teams. Also on the agenda are "to keep them busy" service projects, socials and fund-raising projects. Added to these are planning for winter rush and the fall calendar is filled with events.

Finally, the sisters of Tyke's would like to congratulate all the sisters they lost and welcome the new ones. Kathy and Ken Martin, Joyce and Ric D'amato, and Kris Stroud.

After the banquet, brothers, sisters, alumni and guests gathered at the house for a little get-together.

All rushes are invited to the Sigma Chi smoker and rush party tomorrow. The smoker will be in L.R. 211 all day. The wild cat party will start at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Ramada Inn East (Highway 50-Alafaya Tr.). The party will include music by the East Coast Stompy, two kegs of beer and a good time for all! The dress is casual.

The SSX's wish best of luck to the all-new Sigma Sigma Chi football team. The major change from last year's team winning the season for 1971.

LXA

Lambda Chi Alpha ended the summer by sending four brothers to the fraternity's annual national Leadership Seminar, held this year at Ball State University in Muncie, Ind. During the August 28-29 seminar, brothers Bill Evans, Marty Dennis, Wayne Leland and Burt Barnes participated in Lambda Chi's From the U.S. and Canada in a Leadership Lab conducted by National Leadership Methods of Austin, Tex.

The results of the Ball State lab were so impressive that Lambda Chi Alpha at FTU conducted a Leadership Retreat last Saturday at American Federal in downtown Orlando.

Some 70 persons participated, including brothers, alumni, faculty, interested non-faculty members and Crested Gildes. The lab utilized small groups of eight doing "leadership exercises, solving the problems and offering suggestions for the operation of LXA for the coming year. The reaction to the lab was highly favorable from those who took part. Jim Brasler, director of alumni affairs for Lambda Chi Alpha National, conducted the retreat.

After the retreat, everyone enjoyed a barbecue at brother Tim Batchelor's house.

During the past week, LXA has been planning for the upcoming Fall season, build out to improve on last year's 6-2 record.

The last day next Wednesday's meeting, Burt Barnes was selected as the new High Director, Shirley Hille, "both male and female students are needed who can give one hour a week to the organization, play cards or just talk to some lonely old people."

Interested students may contact Shirley Hille at 671-5400. The home is also interested in finding groups who would be interested in entertaining on a volunteer basis.

LXA invites all rushes to drop by their taller Saturday afternoon and their Wildcat Party Saturday night, so they may share the concepts of the new education program.
PEGASUS PILOTS

The Pegasus Pilot Flying Club will meet next Wednesday, at 7 p.m., at Showalter Flying Service, Henderson Airport. Officers for the new year will be elected. A demonstration of one hour free flying time will be given away. All members and prospective members are urged to attend.

WESLEYAN FOUNDATION

Students interested in forming a Wesleyan Foundation on campus are asked to attend a meeting Tuesday at 11 a.m. in A.D. 110. The "club" will be a fellowship for Methodist students, and premises to be a worthy addition to the campus. Smile, God loves you!

ASTROLOGY CLUB

An Astrology Club is now being formed on campus for students sincerely interested in technical astrology. Memberships are now being taken and as soon as student interest is sufficient a program of monthly lectures on this fascinating and enlightening subject will begin. For more information call Mary Greer at 267-1 or 644-4694 or Kay Hagar at 295-7389.

ACLU CHAPTER

There will be an organizational meeting of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) 11 a.m. Wednesday in SC 115. Interested students who cannot attend may contact Jim Brooks (647-5670).

CHESS CLUB

The first meeting of the Chess Club for this quarter will be 7 p.m. Monday in LR 212. The Chess Club is now officially recognized by Student Government. The purpose of the club is to promote the game of chess among the general student body.

You need not know how to play. Come and learn!

YOUNG DEMOCRATS

The Young Democratic Club of FTU will hold a meeting 11 a.m. Tuesday in LR 210. All interested persons are invited to attend.

CIVINETTE CLUB

Civinettes have been busy preparing for welcoming new girls. Plans are also being made for the upcoming council meeting in Miami. Civinettes are very happy to have a new advisor, Miss Marilyn Busch, who comes from the College of Business Administration. Any girls interested in joining Civinettes may call Carol at 841-8865.

Quiz Competition Scheduled By VC

The Village Center is sponsoring College Bowl 1971-72 which will begin the last week of October and should be finished during the first week in November. All campus organizations as well as individuals are eligible to form teams and enter the competition. The College Bowl is a quiz program run according to television's G. E. College Bowl and will consist of a double elimination campus tournament.

Organizations may form as many teams as they wish. Entry blanks may be obtained from the VC.

Frame should consist of four regular participants and one to three alternates. All must be listed on the entry blank.

Association Concert Scheduled For Oct. 14

There are still plenty of good seats available for the Association concert, Village Center Assistant Program Director Linda Kazemi said Tuesday. The concert, featuring the seven-man group that recorded million-sellers as "Cherish," "Windy," "Never My Love" and "Along Comes Mary," will be Thursday, Oct. 14 at 8 p.m. in the Orlando Municipal Auditorium, and is sponsored by the VC.

Tickets for the Association Concert are available at the Village Center Ticket Office and are $2 for FTU students.

On the strength of the Association, Valiant Records sold 1.5 million copies of their debut album "Along Comes Mary," which became the first rock group to star in its own animated cartoon on the strength of the Association, Valiant Records sold 1.5 million copies of their debut album "Along Comes Mary," which became the first rock group to star in its own animated cartoon series. The group has sold over $1 million, and under the new label, the group has released "Windy" and "Never My Love," among other records.

The men were introduced to audiences in television programs, including the Smoother Brothers, Ed Sullivan and Johnny Carson's 'Tonight' Show and became the first rock group to star in its own animated cartoon series. The group has sold over $1 million, and under the new label, the group has released "Windy" and "Never My Love," among other records.

The Association will perform Thursday, Oct. 14 at 8 p.m. in the Orlando Municipal Auditorium 101 W. Livingston St.

The group was organized in 1965 in Los Angeles with members Jules Alexander and Tony Kirschman. The rest of the original crew is Brian Ely, Ted Buschel, Jan Yesterm and Russ Giguere. They are no longer interested in the Association and were replaced by Michael Thompson. Also added to the first six was Larry Ramos, who once sang with the New Christy Minstrels.

Each of the group's three Grammy nominations and the Bill Gavin Radio-Record Congress voted them the number one pop group in the nation, which displaced the Beatles for the first time in four years.

The Association, which writes most of its recorded music, was asked to write music for "Goodby, Columbus." Although the group was on tour, Paramount Pictures rushed a print of the film to the East Coast for the group to screen. By the next month the entire score, including the title song, had been written and recorded.
New Club To Teach Defense

There is a club starting on FTU's campus that may, someday save your life. It's called the FTU Karate Club and will specialize in the karate moves hand and foot and floor moves called Go Ju. The Karate Club will give free lessons to all students, faculty and staff so they are enough to be able to protect themselves, as well as others.

According to club president Eric Potts, lessons will be taught by Sgt. William Liqouri of the Orlando Police Department. Each lesson will be two hours in length and will be instructed Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday in room 110 of the Science Building.

Go Ju is a form of karate that will not condition the student to break boards or flip the attacker over his shoulder. Instead, Go Ju will train the body and mind not to panic under attack. Simple hand and food movements are taught to be used at the right time in order to break the attacker. Quite often, this is all that is needed to scare the assailant away.

Men and especially women are urged to attend the organizational meeting of the Karate Club October 11 at 3 p.m. in EN 419 of the Science Building. The meeting will start at 3 p.m. For further information contact Eric Potts at 671-0138.

Rowers In Search Of More Oarsmen

The FTU Crew Club will meet today at 4 p.m. for its second meeting of the fall quarter. The rowers will meet in the Student Government Office on the second floor of the Library Building and will discuss a future schedule of meets with other state colleges.

A call for oarsmen is still being made by the Crew Club. All students interested in rowing for FTU are asked to attend this afternoon's meeting. For further information, contact Fred Daniels at 277-2034.

ECOLOGY PROJECTS

Dr. Martin Wanielista has requested that students who did projects for his spring "Plan and Environment" class pick up the proceeds from the sales of some of the projects. He said a "pothy" ash tray, a Budweiser light and a milk bottle light were among items that were sold. He will refund the money obtained from the sales to the students who made the items.

His office is in EN 419.

PERSONAL GROWTH

The Developmental Center is sponsoring a personal growth laboratory for students. The lab is designed to develop interpersonal communication skills and self-understanding.

Interested students may apply at the Developmental Center, Room 316, residence hall.

Club Offers Diving Lessons

The FTU Aqua Knights are offering diving classes for this fall quarter to all interested students, faculty and staff. NAUI, FSADA and PADI certifications will be given. The course fee will be $20 to FTU students and meetings will be held one afternoon a week at the campus pool.

Although the first meeting was held yesterday it is not too late to register for diving lessons. The instructors will receive applications for the course October 4 through 7. The first business meeting for the Aqua Knights will be held 11 a.m. October 7 in the lobby of the Library.

HALA YAH!!—William Liqouri of the Orlando Police Department breaks a pile of wood with his foot during a recent demonstration at his karate school. Liqouri is a fourth degree black belt and is southeast head of Go Ju Karate in the United States.

The FTU Aqua Knights have been active since their approval as a school club last April. They have made three dives in Key West along with many other local excursions to Palm Lake, Crystal River, Daytona Beach. In the future, a floating party down the Ichuchukkee River plus a treasure dive will be planned along with other r club activities.

The first business meeting for the Aqua Knights will be held 11 a.m. October 7 in the lobby of the Library.
Goldsox Seek Out New Players

When the baseball season officially opens for Florida Tech next spring, the FTU Golden Eagles can look forward to tougher competition.

An expanded 36-game schedule against colleges including Harvard, Princeton, University of South Florida, Embry Riddle, St. Leo, Austin Tray, and Biscayne College meets more hours on the practice field for FTU Goldsox.

Baseball Coach Jack Pantelias strongly believes that FTU will have a second year of success on the diamonds. Not only does he base his decision on last year’s astounding eight-game winning streak, but also because most of the men that made it happen last year will be returning this year.

Included in this roster of returning players will be: outfielder Allen Tutt, who batted 423 last year, shortstop Tim Gillis, batting a 340 last spring, second baseman Bib Rodriguez, outfielders Steve Wilson and George Milwae and pitchers Mark Dennis, Billy Spellman and Kidy Bants.

McCorkle The Great Predicts The Sports

by LARRY McCORKLE

College football, believe it or not, begins its fourth week, and already fans throughout the nation are voicing their opinions about what team is the best in the nation.

Big 10 Conference experts declare that their conference has two possible national champions, Nebraska and Colorado. Nebraska has easily handled its three opponents, while the Buffaloes also are undefeated, having achieved wins over LSU and Ohio State.

Football fans in the Midwest can’t seem to decide between Michigan and Notre Dame, while both Arkansas and Alabama have received notice from the Southern fans.

Of course, Texas can never be counted out until the season is over.

Just about anyone who writes a column on college football, will try to show off his knowledge (or else make a fool of himself) by trying to predict scores of the weekend games. So, here we go.

Florida State 31, VPI 14

The Seminoles under the capable guidance of Larry Jones look like one of the top independents in the nation, and its only a matter of time before they catch the eye of the pollsters. Quarterback Gary Huff is just now coming into his own, and he has excellent receivers in Wheet Dawson, Berry Smith, and Winter Park’s Kirt Gaidry. If the offense of FSU falters, little Frank Fontes can kick from 50 yard out.

Miami 17, Baylor 10

Fran Curi has got his boys believing that they’re winners, and their play last week against highly-touted Wake Forest shows it. The Hurricanes’ John Holmbock quarterbacks for Miami, and he has a host of talented running backs including Chuck Foreman, Tom Sullivan, and Silvo Cardona (not affiliated with the Mafia).

Alabam 28, Mississippi 14

It looks like the Bear has another one of those teams, The Crimson Tide will roll over the Rebels behind the running of Terry Davis, Joe LaBue, and Johnny Musso, Parkhouse of Orlando Boone a sure choice for All-SEC defensive end, leads the defense.

Nebraska 28, Ohio State 6

Ye Old Future HORRIDSCOPE

By John the Good, Resident Seer

Friday, October 1, 1971

IF YOU WERE BORN TODAY:

It is written: "No man knoweth the hour whereby October doth pass into bloom, save he count these things which are close to him. Twice in his lifetime the star could not be sounder on this occasion. What October has to offer, only you held the keys to unfold. Ignore the counsel of those who might be related to you.

ARIES:

The glorious pattern etched into the sky by the moon this month is for you. It is the pattern which was drawn in the sand on the beach of the Tiber by the son of Dives. The Great. Grab someone close to you and feed them grapes from the Andes. Better yet, feed them grapes from Wrath, Pa. If you can roll your tongue, do so, and you will be spared (from the wrath of grapes).

TAURUS:

You will be tested today by one who is in a position to give you one of the most lucrative jobs in the state of Florida. You will fail the test, needless to say, and will not even be considered for the position. While it is a tough break, I can't think of a more deserving person. You deserve all the tough breaks you can get. That old man in Chihuahua will never forgive you.

GEMINI:

What fun! Why are you out of bed? After the way you worked yesterday you should stay in bed all day. Besides, if you stay in bed, and stay very still and very quiet, they will think you are dead, and the law says they can't prosecute a dead person. How did you find the strength to do all that yesterday? You always did have a mean temper.

CANCER:

Stress will become so great today that only a born great would be able to stand up under it. You, naturally, will crack and have another nervous breakdown. No one will believe you are really having a breakdown, however. See Aesop's fable about the boy and the wolf to learn why. If you could develop symptoms of a nest, tropical disease, like Yellow Fever, which causes you to fall over a lot, they might believe you more. The trouble is, you don't have enough imagination to come up with an idea like that. You're a clot.

You will be invited to a masquerade party for the end of the month. I suggest you go disguised as a hypocris. The costume will be easy to make, and you won't need a mask. You are a heart breaker and a great lover. (It was very difficult for me to write that with a straight face.) Somewhere a great someone calls your name out softly in the evenings. It is the perfect mate for you, and has all the qualities you desire in a spouse. You will die before you meet, however, as your secret admirer is also very shy.

VIRGO:

You will begin growing a full beard tonight, on th' end of your left elbow. Hire out to the fair in the side-shows. It will prove to be the only job you can hold on to for any length of time. You're actually lucky. It could have grown from your knees.

LIBRA:

See Sagittarius.

SCORPIO:

A tall, handsome man will affect your life tonight. He will turn out to be a Jinni, and will turn you into an apricot seed. You can only be changed back by the kiss of three-toed gnome, and you know how rare they are.

SAGITTARIUS:

See Libra.

CAPRICORN:

One of the greatest dangers which faces you each morning is the bathroom mirror. Do not be concerned because there is no image reflected. While it's tough to share, think of the next night life you will have after you die. Put on a pair of fangs and have patience.

Aquarius:

Budget

Estimated income of $10,000, the budget will be $29,200.

Orientation and Handbook require an allocation of $5,028 in addition to $1,557 for a budget of $7,186. Student Arts and Culture shows (Theater) had a balance of $211. Their allocation of $3,300 will provide a budget of $3,513.

Entertainment, Extracurriculars and Recreation managed a $7,346 allocation, which will be combined with a $9,560 allocation for a budget of $16,904. Intercollegiate Athletics will have an estimated income of $30,880. An allocation of $70,703 is provided to give the intercollegiate teams $91,613 to work with. The total budget of the intercollegiate teams is $74,311.

The total balance for Student Activities and Athletics from 1970-71 was $63,256. Total allocations for 1971-72 are $66,297, and the total estimated Other Income will be $102,686. The total budget, as approved by President Millican, amounts to $179,338.

Night Curriculum Increased By FTU

The largest number and variety of evening on-campus courses are being offered this quarter by FTU. A total of 118 undergraduate courses and 33 graduate courses are scheduled for 5 pm or later. Registration for the 1,500 students who registered for the courses had indicated an interest in evening classes.

Evening courses may or not be taken for degree credit. Fees include a one-quarter registration fee of $15 and $16 per hour for students taking less than nine quarter hours.

The courses range in scope and variety from Introductory Accounting to Advanced Photography.

At the outset let me make one thing perfectly clear: I am the President.

Now back to reality.

I am pleased to announce the willingness of the PEGASUS Yearbook staff at FTU in Orlando to follow my directives in setting our economy back on th' right path.

It's a good thing.

The staff has given me the honor of presenting the price of the PEGASUS '72 as $4. That's right. folks$4! (Last year it was $7.50)

This of course includes the mailing costs. Sales will start Monday at the PEGASUS office (AD 108).

Complete payment will be made at one time and if you wish you may use the handy mail-in coupon accompanying my official photo graph here.

Now let's get those orders in early. My Fellow Americans; many of you missed out last year
