Wanielista Named Institute Director

Dr. Martin Wanielista, assistant professor in civil engineering, has been named director of the newly-formed Institute, which has been charged with the responsibility of improving the quality of the environment through research, education, public service and the promotion of cooperation.

"The solutions for pollution problems have been around for quite a while, but the scientists needed the trees, the grass and the shade, coupled with a Coke and a thought, seem to have transported this gentleman to some distant region, far from books, classes and professors. (Photo by Jon Findell.)"

New Curriculum Cuts Total Hours

A new, revised environmental studies program, calling for an end to required senior seminars and a decrease of three hours in the minimum major requirements has been approved and will be implemented this fall. The announcement was made this week by Dr. C. B. Gambrell, vice president for academic affairs.

The program will affect students who are in junior at FTU in fall 1972 and those students who choose to come under the 1972-73 catalog. Students who graduate in the fall will fill requirements of the catalog.

In a letter to the campus, Wanielista reported that the new program has been deleted as requirements allowable may now be on the class schedule as elective courses.

"This new proposal calls for several advanced classes. It is a major new being the implementation of a three-year environmental course as part of the advanced program. This addition represents the interaction of education into the basic curriculum. Courses from the five other colleges are located either in the basic or advanced advanced program of environmental studies. Education will be business and engineering as a course of study where the student may take one of a group of courses for the credit."

Dr. Robert Cowgill, assistant dean of the College of Education, said that a committee is presently examining the requirement addition to attempt to determine which education courses would be most beneficial. "He noted that the course would "probably be offered through the advanced course," as was the two-hour senior seminar.

Two FTU dormitory students were suspended from school for three quarters recently after they were charged with a major violation visitation.

"According to Student Government Senator and Vice President-Elect Lee Constantine, 'the two students were apprehended as the result of a phone call to the residence advisor.' Before being apprehended in the room of Sandy Miller, Ray Kern was suspended from the university by a decision of the Men's Residence Association.

MARK TWAIN

Tickets to "Mark Twain Tonight!" will be given free to FTU students today, but Monday, the tickets will be released to the public.

Tickets to the May 8 presentation are available at the Vertin Center office.

"Mark Twain Tonight!" is a presentation by John Chappell of the great American author Samuel Clemens, who wrote such books as "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" and "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" under the penname of Mark Twain.

Wanielista has consulted officials on the redosing of Lake McCoy in Apopka, and, with five other scientists, is providing professional advice and water quality analysis for work on Lake Jola.

Senior Seminars themselves were not necessarily handled as separate courses, but instead, students under 21 years of age had to receive parental consent. Under the new program, visitation hours were set from 2 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and from 2:45 a.m. on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

This program will be unconditionally labeled by FTU housing director T. K. Weischer as being "unconditional to supervise and hard to enforce."

In speaking of the new program, SC President Frank Sandry commented, "I am glad to see at last that freshmen students are being initiated to the level of university."

"This program is definitely an improvement over the present system. I am sure the ladies of the board are happy to know that the hour of confinement will be increased to 2:45 a.m."

Punishment Should Fit The Crime

Two students were suspended from FTU for one year after being apprehended during the commission of a major visitation violation.
It is indeed difficult for us to understand the justification behind expelling a student for any "first" violation, unless it also breaks a law.

This "sentence" has to be unprecedented, how can a person, with a clear record to expect to at least take some misguided punishment? The efforts of the students to attempt to receive a fair trial and to appeal the manner after the punishment given was felt to be too severe, are laudable.

The punishment should fit the crime. It was pointed out at an SG Senate meeting that the violation was a social, not an academic offense and therefore should be punished as such. Suspension from the university should be reserved for only the most drastic offenses. This decision must not violate any federal, state, county or city law and therefore there is no question of the students having to be refused representation by their attorneys.

And how is anyone going to benefit from the absence of these students?

The residence halls are not exactly overcrowded, so we gain range of space.

The two students are not only intramural and one quarter's credit hours.

The living benefit of this action is that students practicing such "immodest" behavior are banished from the university and therefore are not permitted to influence other students. Let's quit kidding ourselves; we are under the eyes of God and that student body's opinion is no better than another's. Who can say he is fit to judge what is immoral?

We must also consider the right (or lack of right) to privacy that members of this university see fit to disregard. It is a fact that this student's privacy should not be violated merely to try to penalize others. Would we want to be censored for the things we write or say?

All other arguments aside, the fact remains that two students were caught in the act and were expelled. It was not a first offense for both students and the punishment could severely jeopardize their attempts to re-enter this or any university.

We ASK one final question: what means of punishment chosen really the most fair and effective that could have been implemented?

Dear Editor:

"War Is Hell!" as we all have heard from our history books. The man who said these often quoted words was a poet and a very good one. He said that the war was a necessity because it was his belief that the world was being changed. For the time you told out, for the little you were able to do and all you took, thank you. For Miss Kovach, who thinks of us students as preserved, minded cattle, I would suffer for her. For everyone who rules us, for all the above and the rest, thank you for helping make the world today, while we, following by rules you will and ideas you created.

But each of us now is a revolution unto himself, and past is the time to change to. The caravan shall pass, and many dogs shall bark, but by what is immoral? The efforts of the students to attempt to receive a fair trial and to appeal the manner after the punishment given was felt to be too severe, are laudable. The student government does nothing, it is not as effective at FTU as at some other schools, the fact that this is not a dollar for dollar thing, but a great deal is contributed by the students and the punishment could severely jeopardize their attempts to re-enter this or any university.

Adamic's Margin Is Record

Steven Adamick took the office of president of the student body of FTU in the student election last week by the widest margin ever in a presidential election here.

Adamick, presently executive assistant to SG President Frank Santry, polled 697 votes for a total of 45.2 percent of the vote.

Of 1,600 students eligible to vote, 1,840 students cast ballots for a total of 80.3 percent.

The position of vice president was taken by Lee Constantine, Adamick's running mate, in an election, polled 37.4 percent of the vote, beating his closest opponent JoAnne Puglisi by only 90 votes.

Adamick was never active in student government until he came to FTU after his August 1971 graduation from Valencia Community College. He, however, had an active interest in SG and when he asked SG President Santry for a job, Santry offered him the post of executive assistant. He has held this job for a year and credits the office for what he believes will be a smooth transition in administrations.

Adamick, who received political endorsement from Santry, has been so active in SG for the past year that he has gained a well-rounded service or social organization since coming to FTU. Rather, he has been involved with the student judicial advisory board, the SG Book Exchange and the Lake Claire project.

"SG is in a transition stage by the three previous administrations," says Adamick, "growing from infancy to organization and streamlining. SG has now evolved with the experience of three years. It is ready to flex its muscles and take an active interest in student rights.

Adamick feels there is a right way and a wrong way to do this. The wrong approach is to make demands that are totally unreasonable and irrational." Instead, he would show that needs exist, and how, with student, faculty and administration cooperation, these three facets can work together to fulfill needs in a manner acceptable to everyone.

"I am really happy about my election," said Adamick's running mate Lee Constantine. Constantine graduated from Lyman High School where he first acquired an interest in SG. At FTU, he has been chairman of the budget committee and has sponsored numerous bills, including those dealing with alcohol on campus and the senior seminar referendum.

He is trying to promote SG incorporation, which he says will make it easier for SG to accomplish such things as its student-run grocery store, legal aid and the publishing of pamphlets.

Randy Jackson, senior senator from natural sciences was Adamick's closest competitor with 19.3 percent of the vote (296 votes).

Other presidential candidates included Bob Brown (18.5 percent, 280 votes), Debbie Hawkes (7.9 percent, 109 votes), Paul Woodson (6.8 percent, 109 votes) and Mark Turner (2.5 percent, 39 votes).

The third place vice presidential candidate was Darl Hale (20.6 percent, 318 votes) and fourth was Thom McGurn (9.4 percent, 149 votes).

Adamick is trying to promote SG incorporation, which he says will make it easier for SG to accomplish such things as its student-run grocery store, legal aid and the publishing of pamphlets.

Adamick faces many problems, including the lack of student involvement, the lack of funds and the lack of leadership among the students.

The SG student body is planning to hold a meeting next week to discuss the problems facing the student body.

Six Graduate Students Form MBA Committee

Six students in the business administration graduate school have formed a committee for improvement of the Master's of Business Administration program through increased communication with students and faculty members.

The committee members plan to meet regularly to discuss problems and innovations, and will set up periodic sessions with the business faculty to present ideas.

A meeting with Business Administration Dean Charles Gilliland and MBA program administrator Jackson Winchester was held recently and several suggestions were made by the committee. One suggestion was quarterly evaluations of business professors "for improvement of the courses of the instructors," according to committee spokesman Harry Burridge. A second plan was to research methods of specific elective courses for the program.

The committee members hope to establish themselves as a liaison group between the faculty and the business students. "We want to give the students a voice in the program," said Burridge.

Brett Marshall heads the group consisting of Burridge, Richard Aldinger, Herbert Long, Cecil Howell and William Wells. A suggestion box will be placed in the office of Graduate Studies in the General Classroom Building to allow graduate students in business to present proposals to the committee.

Civic Heads Pleased In Millican Speech

President Charles N. Millican addressed a meeting of East Orange County civic leaders Friday at the Rainbow Ballroom and said he felt the future of the county and leaders and pledged FTU's continued cooperation in the growth of the area.

The meeting was the first Annual Appreciation and Awards Banquet of the East Orange Chamber of Commerce. Millican said he feels that East Orange County and Florida Tech's growth is intertwined. Millican stated that FTU "will definitely continue its commitment to the principles of educational excellence, community service, and the full development of the individual."

To further support this stand, he crowed that, like the rest of East Orange County. FTU's growth this year has been part of the county in the city, he cited the donation of 133 acres to the university by the Mackey family. He also thanked members of the Chamber of Commerce for their "friendship and wonderful spirit of good neighborhood."

Millican related to the group the FTU student and faculty involvement in the Lake Claire recreation site; "Project 7th of March" which originated at FTU and gained statewide adoption on other campuses; FTU involvement in ecological research and environmental cleanup campaigns. Millican ended his address by bringing them up to date on FTU's campus development and future plans.

Exhibit Opens Doors
By Grace Kahner
The FTU news bulletin announces an "unusual art exhibit at FTU." Appropriately a display board in the library lobby points to an exhibit of Nancy Reid Gunn's encaustic paintings; but the real show occurs behind and within the paintings, and not in the library lobby. Each of Miss Gunn's paintings is a doorway to an individual show. Miss Gunn labels the doors in an imaginative manner. Speculator choose to journey through doorways announcing "My Pet Lion Ral Dolls," noting "Essence of Time Past" and declaring "Messages on the Wind." Wanderers travel past "Lustier," "Heavens" and "Three Jelly Beggars" as "Gavanus" and "Clown" pass in review. Speaking of her own work, Miss Gunn says each painting is "an experience for me and the titles suggest my personal association during the experience." The creator of doorways suggests that the paintings function as passageways to another reality. These paintings are doorways that allow the viewer to slip away from the ordinary for a moment. Wandering behind doors made of swirling lights and colonnade spots, the viewer unexpectedly sees a world within molten wax. Winding in and out of passageways, entrance halls and long corridors the viewer sees black and striped dolls perform before cloaked and laughing beggars. The show ends, and the spectator is back, unhappily, in a hallway that is bounded by doors that lead either in or out, but never beyond. But the lions, dolls and tigers live forever, because artists and door builders like Miss Gunn continue to create entrancesways, allowing others to go behind the obvious and build unique worlds from the materials the creators left behind.

'Crypt Tales' More 'Fidget Frolics' Than 'Fright Follies'

Fran Elliott

"Whatever Happened To Baby "Dracula"? Moreover, whatever scary movies that made their theatre? "Tales from the Crypt" is

"Fright Follies, Dracula" or "Sweet Charlotte" or happened to all those marvelous audiences afraid to walk out of the billed as one of those good old spook shows, but don't be alarmed, since the most frightening scene in the whole movie is a hand darting out to grab a woman who is locking her door to keep out a maniac. That's about the extent of the frightening moments.

It seems horror movies have gone so "mod" that they've lost all their horror. To be perfectly honest, they're not even slightly horrible! If this new show, now playing at the Rocking Chair Theatre, is an example of today's "Fright follies," then they are more like "Fidget frolics."

The coloring in the film is perfectly clear and beautiful, not even a suggestion of the dreariness and gloom in "ye olde honorable" grave cinemas. The crypt is shown mainly in the opening and closing scenes to try to hold together the stories of five people reliving their personal involvement with such pastimes as murder, cruelty, selfishness, cheating and other expensive self-indulgences. Each tells his own story in retrospect, and unfortunately, except in one story including a narrow tunnel of razor blades, the climaxes are not even chilling.

But, would you believe, the main actors are good ones, such as Joan Collins, Peter Cushing, Nigel Patrick. Considering all factors, they even do a fairly good job of acting.

Probably the best touch of the melodrama which helped to make the old style horror films successful was exhibited in one story when one character found his son dead with this bloody valentine beside him:

You were mean and cruel from the start,
Now you REALLY have no heart.
And guess what prop was fiercely pumping at the bottom of the note? Now THAT bit has a lot of heart!

NEWMAN WEEKEND
Truth, reality and awareness are subjects that will be discussed during the upcoming Christian Experience Weekend sponsored by the Newman Student Center. The weekend activity will take place May 15-30 at Camp San Pedro and will cost $35.

"Know Thee" is the theme for the weekend and those attending will face themselves by searching to discover their self-image, the problems they encounter in life and how to cope with those problems.

Office of the Student Center. The president for academic administration, said that his office is presently re-verifying the information because it did not want erroneous information to go out.

Evaluations with errors will be sent back to U of F to be re-analyzed.

Computer analysis of the evaluation questionnaires was late due to a delay at the U of F Computer Center. FTU Computer Center, arranged to make it possible to publish the results.

EXTRA $6,000 ALLOCATED TO SG SPRING PICNIC
The SG Senate recently allocated an additional $6,000 for the spring picnic scheduled to be held in May.

According to SG President Frank Sancy, the purpose of the allocation is to cover the cost of bringing a "national name group" to perform the evening of the picnic.

The original allocation of $3,000 was intended to cover the cost of food and entertainment, but did not take into consideration the cost of a "name" band.

Senator Sean Puglisi explained to the senate the possibility of hiring either Melanie, Rod Stewart or Elton John. According to Miss Puglisi, the cost of bringing Melanie or Rod Stewart would be $7,500.

Additional funds for the venture will be made available by the Village Center.

BILL 4-194, a resolution concerning the senior seminar was amended to call for a questionnaire to be distributed to determine student opinion. These questionnaires are scheduled for distribution in each seminar class during the week of May 8-12 of the spring quarter. The questions asked will sample opinion on these alternative courses of action, which would be discussed in seminars on what should be done.

In other action, BILL 4-128, a proposal to allocate funds for the Foreign Students Organization, passed its first reading. It authorized $75 for publicity, cultural display materials and office supplies. Also, BILL 4-129, appropriating $60 for rental of an arena in Oviedo for the Pegasus Rodeo Club, received its first reading.

It may come as a surprise, but FTU has an excellent debate team. In fact, they won the state championship last year with the help of Dr. Raymond Buchanan, a former high school debate and psychology student at Louisiana State University. In short, the team has built a rather impressive reputation.

The team finished up this school year with two tournaments the last week of March. They placed first in the national tournament held in the junior division in the Enterprise Invitational Debate Tournament in Enterprise, Ala., March 30-31. March 30, 31 and April 1, the team was in Chicago participating in the Seventh Chicago National Novice Debate Tournament held on the University of Chicago campus. There they met Purdue, University of Massachusetts Amherst College, Bellemont College, University of Redlands and Western Illinois University. They achieved a 5-2 record, defeating every team except Western Illinois and Redlands, the latter of which won the tournament. There were 75 teams in the tournament from all over the U.K. and FTU placed in the top 16 teams.

A typical debate round lasts about one hour and 15 minutes, and that time is evenly divided between each of the two team members of the opposing sides. There are 20 minutes for the affirmative members to state their positions, 20 for the negative, and the remaining time is divided into five-minute intervals for the rebuttals. Since each team must debate six to eight rounds in the preliminaries, each member may be performing for as much as 10-15 hours per week in research and examination of case studies and practice.

"Any proposition has a number of different angles," says coach Buchanan, "and the debater must be prepared for meeting any one of those students. Often travel to Stetson or the University of Florida to use the law library, or to become experts in the field."

The information gathered for the debate must be carefully documented on what debaters call 'casebooks' and must be arranged in such a manner that the other side has ready access to them, so that if necessary he can prove his points with accuracy to the source of his information. After researching and documenting information, debaters spend hours in discussion and practice rounds, testing and weighing arguments.

Intercollegiate debate has a long and honored tradition that dates back to the beginning of the nation. Since then, it has developed into a large-scale activity. On any given weekend, several thousand students will be debating in any of the approximately 200 national, regional or local tournaments held across the nation each year.

A typical topic is debated for one year. It is chosen by a national committee that sends out lists of topics to team coaches to be rated. The topic for this year was "Resolved: That greater control should be imposed on the gathering and utilization of information about U.S. citizens by government agencies."

The topic for next year has not been determined yet, but the coach will be informed in August and the team will begin preparation immediately for their first tournament the end of September.

The team receives dozens of invitations to debate from colleges and universities across the county and attends 15-14 each year. Distance is sometimes a factor involved in determining which tournaments they will attend. Some universities are too far away to make the trip in a weekend, but they try to get to the ones that have developed the most prestige.

Dr. Buchanan believes that debate is an important and intellectual exercise from which all students would benefit. "It helps the student to think," he says, forming an organized thinking. It increases his ability to analyze a topic, to determine issues and relate concepts in a coherent, rational pattern. It encourages the student to use both verbal and written communications in a particular and carefully documented information. It teaches him to operate in a democratic society where direct confrontation is often necessary and the action in a given situation," said Buchanan.

"In addition, our competing in inter-collegiate debate reflects upon our university. These students have made a name for FTU. In coaching them, we place great emphasis upon hard work and preparation because these are requirements of the job, and our students have always presented us with a very professional job. While winning is always gratifying, it is not the principle objective. The important thing is that we work as a team. We want to see our gains manifest the debate and make a name for ourselves."

GROUP INSURANCE against speeding tickets was taken out earlier this month by the brothers of Kappa Sigma. It was part of a $5 pledge service project during which 65 police canes, both Orlando Police Department and Florida Highway Patrol, were seized. Jimmy Collins, a junior English major, wrote the program for which highway patrol car officers put the tickets into a box on a Highway Patrol car, while the officer waits. (Photo by Ike Spinos.)

Goldsox Lose Two More Games, Errors Costly In Rollins Defeat

The FTU Knights ran up against a couple of hot college baseball teams and felt the result in the loss column.

Last Saturday night at Tinker Field the Knights lost 11-6 to South Florida, whom they had beaten earlier in the season. Bill Larsen pitched seven innings, giving up 11 runs on 11 hits.

Larsen pitched for South Florida, soon-to-be-rivals. Rollins' record is now 14-19 but the team has the distinction of recording wins over No. 1 ranked Florida Southern (23-4) and nationally ranked Stetson (24-12).

Harry Jacobs once again was the touch-back loser, allowing only two earned runs against the highly touted Tars. Three errors by catcher Owen Moore head and outfielder Rich Dawkins accounted for the remaining runs.

Tuttle still leads FTU in batting with a .381 average. Jack Stranirnis is hitting at a .333 clip followed by Dawkins (.309) and Gilliss (.297).

FTU will play Bethune-Cookman at Daytona Beach tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. and follow with a Tuesday encounter with FIT.

Flash!

Dr. Frank Rohrer, athletic director for FTU, has announced that Doug Holmquist, former baseball coach at Vermont University, has agreed to take over coaching chores for the FTU Knights for the rest of the season.

For the past 12 games, the team has been coached by players Tim Gillis and Allen Tuttle.

“We are glad to have the services of Doug Holmquist whose experience will relieve the heavy burden carried by Tim and Allen,” Rohrer commented.

Team Prepares For Nationals

Using a shell borrowed from one school, and oars from another, an FTU crew this past weekend took the southeastern collegiate victory, remarkable is that FTU had no crew team before last December when several students joined to make a club. Then under the guidance of Barth Engst, team president, and Larsen, they entered seven meets, mostly against Florida schools, all leading up to the final last week. FTU is the only state university with a crew team.

The team hopes to make up for lack of experience with optimism.

Thanks to a generous Alabama crew team, the FTU rowers won’t have to worry about a shell to use. The one that FTU used to win the trophy is being shipped from Huntsville for FTU.

Girls' Softball Starts Soon, Other Deadlines Announced

Softball will begin on campus for women May 8. The entry forms must be turned in by Monday, May 1.

Last year's champions were The Immortals, a commuter group that banded together "just for fun" and wound up winning the title.

Rules will be discussed at a meeting Tuesday at 11 a.m. in the Physical Education Building. All rules decided during this meeting will be strictly enforced, so participants should try to attend the meeting. The team captains, softball officials and women's coordinator will attend the meeting. Also anyone interested in officiating softball should attend.

The annual Intramural Golf Tournament will be held at Land O' Lakes Country Club tomorrow. Tee-off time is 7 a.m. Monday is also the deadline for entries in the good finisher competition. The following Monday will be the last time applications will be accepted for entries in men's water polo.

MEN NEATER

It seems that the men of FTU have an edge on the women—at least as far as neatness in the restrooms is concerned. Both Lloyd Prescott, building services superintendent, and custodial supervisor Margaret Tanner and Alma Head have agreed that men's restrooms are easier to maintain than women's. Prescott indicated that the men appear to be neater.

Weightlifting Meet To Be Held Tomorrow

The FTU Weightlifting Club will host the 1972 Region IV U.S. Weightlifting Championships in the campus library tomorrow, the meet will start at 10 a.m. and will continue through the day until around 9 p.m.

FTU will be represented by Farrell Byrd, Marty Lee and Harvey Newton, all members of the FTU team.

The meet will qualify many Florida lifters for the national championships next month and the Olympic trials in June.

Included among the participants will be two Junior National Champions, and two others who have a strong chance to win the title. One of them is FTU's Farrell Byrd, who finished second in last year's national competition.

National champion and world record holder Russell Knipp and national champion Gary Gehney are expected to be guest lifters. Both are members of the Christian Crusaders' Athletes In Action group, who tour the nation giving exhibitions.

World champion Joe Dube is also expected to put on an exhibition similar to the one he did at an earlier meet held at FTU.

The meet will be held in the weight room, L108. The club was unable to secure a larger place to hold the meet so seating arrangements will be crowded, according to Harvey Newton, a participant and coordinator for the meet. All students and faculty are nevertheless invited to watch. No admission will be charged.
Rollins Humbles FTU 9-0
In Tennis Meet Last Week

Rollins College met the FTU tennis Knights here, April 19, and left with a 9-0 victory. The match was much more competitive than the score indicated.

FTU completed their season yesterday against Florida State University. Results for that match and Wednesday's contest with Florida Institute of Technology in Melbourne were not available at press time. Following the Rollins match, FTU's record stood at 8-7. Contrary to the schedule, there will be no Sunday match against FSU.

In the number one game of the Rollins match, FTU's Coach Alexander Wood said that there was not much difference in ability between Mike DeZeeuw and Rollin's Robert Beerman. "He lost one or two careless points. He did not play a careless game. It was good tennis."

Beerman played better under pressure than DeZeeuw, and won on sets of 7-6 and 6-4. In the second set, Beerman made a slow call on what DeZeeuw thought had been an ace serve. DeZeeuw then double-faulted on the tie-breaking point.

Brad Smith, of Rollins College, went into the match with Craig Leland in what Dr. Wood called faculty members are invited to watch the meet today at 1:30.

In the number five position, the Rollins match. He thought that the first four and number six singles matches could have gone either way.

Smith and Nellar downed the FTU number one doubles team by a score of 6-4, 6-7 and 6-1. The "Tim" combination of John Steele and John Steiver downed Kelahar and Herring on sets of 4-6, 6-4 and 6-3. Rollins' Doug Welch and John Erickson breezed by Bruce Bouvard and Ralph Stone 6-3 and 6-1.

There is a tendency to be psychologically defeated when you play a powerhouse...we were the definite underdogs," Dr. Wood said. "But everybody came with a positive attitude. Despite the odds, everybody went out with their heads up. They (FTU Knights) showed competitiveness and sportsmanship."

Mike DeZeeuw commented, "Everybody went out and tried. Craig Leland added, "We gave them a respectable match."

Millican To Play In Golf Meet Here

In a special exhibition of golf prowess, President Charles Millican and members of his administration and faculty have agreed to offer some positions to the FTU team that will be held at the Rio Pinar Golf Course in Orlando. Students and non-participating faculty members are invited to watch the meet.
