SG Elections Approach

47 Senate Seats Await Occupancy

On the heels of last week's expulsion of six Student Government senators, a relatively light slate of 47 candidates will vie for 30 of the vacant seats in the new Student Senate.

Elections for SG positions in the senate will be next Thursday and Friday, Oct. 19 and 20, at the Kiosk. Students will be able to vote between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., and 5 p.m. and 7 p.m. on Thursday, and between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Tabulation of the results will begin at 4:30 p.m. Friday and the results will be made available by 6 p.m., according to SG President Sue Adamick. The results will not be final, however, until each candidate turns in an expense account and is certified by Adamick. The final clearance will probably come by the next week, according to Adamick.

FTU's procedure of selecting SG senators is unique among state universities, as each student only votes for candidates in his or her own class and college. Each class and college is allotted a specific number of senate seats based on their individual enrollment. This year, 44 potential seats were open, but candidates qualified for only 30, and of those 14 are uncontested.

A minimum of four students will be holding a “Meet the Candidates” forum at 11 a.m. Tuesday on the Village Green or the VC Assembly Room, in case of inclement weather. They will be available for a question and answer session at that time.

The turnout is light in comparison to last year's elections in which 67 candidates ran for fewer senate seats. Last Year's senate was first composed of 34 senators, but suffered problems gathering a quorum (simple majority). The size of the required quorum has been lowered gradually by expulsions and resignations, to the present quorum size of six.

Although the candidate turnout was good last year compared to this year, voter turnout was poor. Only 719 of more than 5,000 eligible voters turned out, which was 14.01 per cent. Adamick said that he "wishes for a good voter turnout, but a realistic approach is far more practical."

He said the probable turnout would not be more than 10 per cent, but added that he hopes the voters will make him a poor odd-maker by voting.

Sophomore Senator Appeals SG Ouster

On expelled Student Government senator may have appealed his expulsion from SG, and another has notified SG of her intention to resign, SG Vice President Lee Constable said Tuesday. But four other senators will remain expelled. All expulsions were due to more than one unexcused absence to a regular Senate meeting.

Vickie Rhodes, a social sciences sophomore, will be appealing her expulsion. "I was a freshman last year," Miss Rhodes, "and I was under the impression that the term lasted one school year and ended in June. I didn't attend school in summer, (Continued on Page 11)

Bazaar Americana Offers Enticng Wonderland

Like Alice stepping through her looking glass, visitors to the FTU Women's Club Bazaar Americans are likely to encounter a wonderland of hand-made, home-made treasures, curios and curiosities, all priced to entice even the most conscientious rabbit, and guaranteed to make you late for even the most important date.

Smooth stones from a little stream bed in the White Mountains of Arizona, miniature processes from the North East United States, sea shells from the beach at St. Amelind in South Florida, clumps of tumbled-wood from the West, some stranded trash found in a rubbish heap in Domerican Estates compete many of the raw materials which have been turned by the ladies of FTU into the delightful knick-knacks which make bargain-basement and flea-market shopping a joy for all.

The Bazaar, a colossal undertaking which has been in the planning stages for some 18 months, will be held at the Maitland Civic Center Oct. 29, according to Mrs. C. B. Gambrell, publicity chairman for the affair.

"It is like a fever," said Mrs. Gambrell, "all of the ladies, everyone of us have just been eating, sleeping and dreaming the Bazaar for months now. All of the troubles we will have on sale have been made by club members, who either bought the raw materials themselves, collected them or found someone willing to donate them.

"Proceeds from the Bazaar, which is the second money-making project undertaken by the FTU Foundation which provides both long and short term loans for deserving FTU students."

"It is for the best of causes," Mrs. Gambrell said, "and because the Foundation will get matching funds from the National Defense Education Association, money donated to or a purchase from the Bazaar will go to a lot farther than a personal donation to the Foundation."

The "treasures," according to Mrs. J. F. Gore, another member of the organization, represent uncountable hours of work on the part of the some 150 members.

Various members have made such goodies as funny pillows with mushroom appliques, boxes of ceramic figures, candle holders, wooden chippings solders, hand knitted baby shawls and pones, painted Christmas wrings and a vast array of Christmas wrenetl and other decorations.

The smooth stones from Arizonaes have been used to make hand painted rock "babies," which take three or four hours to paint one of the rocks," said Mrs. Bires.

Two of the more exotic contributions to the Bazaar are tumbled stone jewelry and Amidene transparencies, black stone beads imported from the West and made into jewelry items. (Continued on Page 11)
We wonder how many thousands of dollars annually are going to be spent on clearing the world's largest scum culture in front of the Administration Building! While no one seems to furnish figures, we would wager that the sum would be staggering, and all because of someone's ignorance of water flow and filtering systems.

We recently watched the pond drained, dirtied and cleaned again until our patience has worn thin. If there is a filtering system in the potential wasteland, it evidently does not work because of lack of ability to get the water to flow to the filter. One would think that a simple glance at a pool of standing water would bear out the point that the water stagnates quickly in Florida, and is far from aesthetically well done.

A GOODLY SUM was invested in the construction of the pool. (Figures are not available, as it was part of the total cost of constructing the Administration Building.) We would think that the dollars should have been invested on top of that to install a good filtering system, one which would not allow the water to stagnate and become the bottomless.

Such a lack of complete understanding is not totally uncommon within our campus construction, however. The Library building, for instance, has no sprinkling system to stop fires. Should a fire break out in the building, the only way it will be stopped if there are some消防man who just can figure it out and put the sprinkler system on automatic. (Many of the emergency doors in the building are locked, so people going out of the building or on purpose, with a key of library books. The fire boxes are outside these doors.

It also took almost three years before the entrance to the university could be sodded and landscaped, due to a problem unnoticed in the original contract.

These problems generally stem from ignorance. Not on the part of the administration, as a rule, but of the laboratory contractors. We reflect on a clever but not too funny answer given by one of our first astronauts, when asked what he was thinking about just before leaving off. "I was just thinking that this whole rocket was built on low bid," he is reputed to have said.

We have patiently watched the pond drained, dirtied and cleaned - and then again until our patience has worn thin. If there is a filtering system in the potential wasteland, it evidently does not work because of lack of ability to get the water to flow to the filter. The filter is not working, and we should strive for the highest quality possible for a good price.

How many of our buy our cars, our houses, or for that matter, anything, just because it is cheap? Specifications could determine exactly what a house could look, sound, and be built, but other than that, if we buy solely by price, we are likely to wind up with a recording of crickets in Spain rather than the Three Dog Night we had wanted.

A Matter Of Opinion
By Gabriel Yanni

We are not demagogues, and criticism, whether self-inflicted or otherwise, often awakens avenues of bewildering thoughts about what any other wound the way they do and in turn what motivates us to be what we are.

"It's and all the like, no one has ever claimed the super role of deity or omnibulous, but whether you like it or not, "survival of the fittest" is a way of life and society or else you will be wiped out. When a strong leader emerges, he takes hold and often reaches insurmountable heights.

The world will never belong to you if you simply write about it, gamble about it, and all the like, no one has ever claimed the super role of seeing a lake, and all the like, no one has ever claimed the super role of the old leaders pass on, it becomes increasingly difficult to find a leader.

We have watched the pond drained, dirtied and cleaned again until our patience has worn thin. If there is a filtering system in the potential wasteland, it evidently does not work because of lack of ability to get the water to flow to the filter. The filter is not working, and we should strive for the highest quality possible for a good price.

How many of us buy our cars, our houses, or for that matter, anything, just because it is cheap? Specifications could determine exactly what a house could look, sound, and be built, but other than that, if we buy solely by price, we are likely to wind up with a recording of crickets in Spain rather than the Three Dog Night we had wanted.

Parking Lottery Plan Proposed

Editor:

I propose the following as a possible source to obtain money to pay more student parking lots:

The two parking lots immediately adjacent to the Administration Building are now entirely faculty and specially reserved parking areas. I propose to eliminate these reserved spaces and arbitrarily number them.

Thereafter, each week students and faculty alike will be able for $1 to buy chances on these parking spaces. Each raffle winner will receive a special parking sticker and will be able to park in his newly-won space for the following week. The money derived from these raffles will be deposited in a special bank account opened just to develop more parking lots. The Student Government can sell these tickets at the same place and time as they sell theatre tickets. This plan may sound silly or unfair. It may be, but is the present structure now in use.

Name Withheld

Editor's Note:

In the first place, we would occasion the legality of such a move, and in the second place, which is perhaps more important, the thousands of dollars required to construct a parking lot would take years to amass through your lottery method. It would not take long for the students to realize that their chances of winning were slim, and hardly worth the extra money involved.

Students have always been the first to gripe about the parking situation, and rightly so, as they are the ones forced to park in the lots of hidden terror. It seems logical to me that everyone buying access across the board so that everybody contributes a little more to get the necessary parking spaces.

This has been done, and new lots are under construction. The money is ear-marked solely for the purpose of construction and relief of existing lots. It seems to us that this is a laudable, worthwhile effort, and we should give it a warm reception.

Pre-Reg. Return Is 'Possible'

The durability of reinstating advance registration will be evaluated by a new University Committee. The committee was created in response to the furor raised by many students over the cancellation of advance registration, according to Dr. Leland Jackson, assistant vice president for academic affairs.

Before this quarter, presently enrolled students could choose their class schedules and be completely registered for the following quarter before the current quarter was over. The abolishment of the system causes all students to register on the same occasion, which is usually spread over several days.

The system was originally canceled because administrative leaders felt it was causing too many problems by being held during an active quarter. Among the reasons cited were that students were having classes meet during their registration appointment times, and the admittance procedures were more difficult for the professors who would have to advise students between their other regular duties.

The Pre-Registration Committee will be composed of three students, one of whom must be a sophomore and two from the student body at large; one representative each from the registrar, business affairs, student affairs and academic affairs offices.

"With all those sources of input we should be able to come up with a plan that will last several years," Jackson said.

Kreskin Enchants Audience

By Beth Weilman and Sharon Marek

Kreskin, a self-proclaimed conservative in an extravagant field, captivated an FPU audience of more than a thousand Tuesday night with a performance that strains the bounds of all imagination.

But he is only a conservative on such subjects as voodoo, magic and hypnotism, which some people consider related to his work as a mentalist.

The major thrust of Kreskin's efforts both on and off stage are to "cause people to wonder," and to substantiate his claim that there is no "state" of hypnotism.

Beginning with simple effects and working up to more complex ones, the master mentalist played his mini-audience like a well-tuned instrument (even if they did dig off key).

"Hold your hands out straight and let your hands hang limp, like water is dripping from them. Now flop them!" Kreskin said. Adding that "things might get out of control - but don't worry!" Kreskin said, "Flop," and suddenly 50 pairs of hands not only - Dropped, but flung convulsively with a frantic tempo.

"You are conscious of everything said, but it is impossible to avoid doing what he suggests," said Richard Smith, one of the participants. "You have a tendency to rationalize. I can stop this, but the more you try the less you want to. You know what you are going to do and you tell yourself you won't, but it is a driving compulsion you can't resist. . . . you have to do it. I found it difficult to believe I had so strong a compulsion to do something I detested, but because of Kreskin's personality it wasn't embarrassing."

With little more than a wave of cigarette, Kreskin caused people to leap up and involuntarily Greece Wilson's Geraldine and sang "Happy Birthday" off key.

But then he climbed the scaffold and recued his check. Only once in the year of performing the trick has he failed, and he relinquished his pay for that performance.

Kreskin, in the more informal atmosphere of a reception, Kreskin's dynamic personality shows, a contrast to his described his philosophies and feelings about his field. Not only a showman but a scientist who avidly studies all phases of mental and psychic phenomena, his ready ability to quote names, dates, book titles and authors showed his knowledge of mind studies.

He expressed admission for the current, studying of psychic phenomena by the Soviet Union, but he criticized the purpose for the study. "The overall plan is to discredit religion, and to explain everything as really being physiological," he said. "I think they'll have red faces later on."

He is a skeptic, however, by the contrast in the United States, where there is almost no intensive study of mental phenomena.

He himself has spent years in studying; his beginning exercise Tuesday night, linking three rings owned by members of the audience, took seven years to accomplish. More years of study have gone to a trick he will perform on his Sunday night television show in about three weeks. He will attempt to move an object simply

The fourth annual Musical Theatre Tour of New York City is being organized this week. The tour will leave April 20 and return April 28, 1973.

This year the group will be flying to and from New York, instead of as in previous years by train.

Prices range from $190 to $310 to $210, depending on single, double or triple occupancy in the hotel rooms. The tour price includes a 4-day, 3-night stay at the Taft Hotel (a few steps from most Broadway theaters), 2 Broadway musical performances, and a choice of dinner at a popular restaurant (such as Mama Leone's), a tour of the city or a Radio City Music Hall show.

Reservations for the tour must be made by Sunday. The reservation must be accompanied by a non-refundable $25 deposit. The rest of the tour price must be paid by March 15, 1973.

About the basis of this outrageous claim:

EPI Linear Sound.

As EPI's line of speakers continues to grow people have been talking about EPI Linear Sound for years. But until EPI came along, nobody had it.

So what do we mean by "Linear Sound"?

On the bass end, down as low as 22 cycles, there's exactly the amount of bass that was recorded. With no artificial boosting to impress the innocent.

On the treble end, up as high as 20,000 cycles, EPI speakers deliver overtones that are exactly the amount of treble that was recorded. With no artificial coloring added. And nothing taken out.

Linear Sound. It comes out of eight fantastic speakers, from $55 to $1000, made by Epicure Products Inc., One Charles St., Newburyport, Mass. 01950.
'Centurions': Cop Flick With A Realistic Kick

By Fran Elliott

If you've been calling the movie theaters lately, you'll notice that police shows are on the incline in number, popularity and fine filming. "The French Connection" brought new respect to this subject matter by winning the Oscar, but in this reviewer's opinion, "The New Centurions," now showing at the Rocking Chair Plaza at Colonial Plaza, has brought it to a new high.

What makes the film loop? It's difficult to say, because like other such films, it has its share of action, realism and empathy. Only its share seems to be somehow more than is needed, and it also adds the human touch by its basic story of a rookie cop (Mary Keach) who learns his lessons on the streets from an old cop called Kolvinsky (George C. Scott).

At first the film almost bogs down in graphically depicting all the dirty work Los Angeles policemen have to endure. There's the prostitution beat, the robbery detail, the vice squad work and the general role these policemen have to endure. There's also the vice squad work and the general role these policemen have to endure. There's the prostitution beat, the robbery detail, the vice squad work and the general role these policemen have to endure. There's the prostitution beat, the robbery detail, the vice squad work and the general role these policemen have to endure.

The language of all the characters is quite sordid but realistically appropriate. And many of the lines are just as appropriate and humorous when said in context. When going through trash, for instance, the vice squad members refer to themselves as 'G-men, for garbage.'

Kolvinsky frequently states what he calls "Kolvinsky's Law," which in essence is his reason for doing what he does, even though his private life is a failure, and he is doomed to commit suicide after an unhappy retirement from the force. His protege follows in his footsteps, getting so wrapped up in his duties that his home life is wrecked. He turns to alcohol and has more than one near-fatal encounter before finally getting killed.

Even with all the interesting views of police work and the humor, the film is very sad and leaves you with a hollow feeling. When Kolvinsky says "Stay frosty," his partner before putting the involved in his mouth, and when the rookie is dying and disappointed over not being a policeman anymore, the tear in his eye brings a tear to yours. "The New Centurions" is too sophisticated a title for down-to-earth tough yet tender drama about today's policemen.

WHILE NOT quite up to standards of challenging Bobby Fischer for chess supremacy, PTU students have nevertheless caught the "checkmate craze" and many spend their free time dueling with intense concentration this battle of wits and nittitas.

Orlando Audience 'Miles' High

Salt and Pepper, Ginger Baker's new band, presented an experimental style blending African initial rhythm and rock music. The vocals were done in an African dialect. Drums that are used in jungle communication were part of the band.

Ginger Baker's band was surprisingly different. I would have to hear an album, which should be forthcoming, or listen to another concert before offering an opinion. It does seem that Baker's new style is superior to anything he has done since Cream broke up.

Baker gained a huge following of rock fans during his combination Roberta Flack will perform Wednesday at the Sports Stadium October 5. Buddy Baker was named to Playboy magazine's All-Star Band in 1960. The Buddy Miles Band, headliners on the bill, warmed up in a mellow tone before exploding into an instrumental. The opening song and some of the other material were new. Miles played a few of his well-known songs, including "Them Changes" and "Down by the River."

Miles did an exceptional job of bringing the Orlando crowd to its feet with brilliance, vocally and on the drums. He is able to fill in the gaps between songs with interesting background. Unfortunately, the sound system was fine enough to allow the audience to hear what Miles was saying between songs.

Roberta Flack will perform tomorrow at the Sports Stadium at 10 p.m., an HRS production. The Years After will be at St. Petersburg's Bay Front Centre Sunday night.

Students Speak On Kreskin ESP

Word War I Rages In Library

A word of war has broken out on the second floor of the Library Building. To date there have been no casualties, but there have been a few direct hits.

The scene of action is Lt. 219-better known as Greenhaw’s door. Thomas Greenhaw, assistant professor of history and upholster English pride, decorated his office with English memorabilia. "I'd like to add a color poster of broadcasting, later told Kreskin that the green of the unconscious mind. Greenhaw and Forrest may not be the folk in the conflict - the ink is too much of colors.” Greenhaw explained, “I have to get my kicks somehow and through conferences, I just don’t feel it’s something to be, so I would have written it.”

completely independent of the city government within the next five years. Their budget was just recently cut in half. I'd like to see it cut down gradually. It's primarily run for the business men of Winter Park.

Brooks likes Winter Park just the way it is. It is a residential city with quaint, narrow brick streets. He feels they give Winter Park its own personality and charm. The recent widening of Lakemont Avenue had him up in arms. "They widened the street because there was too much traffic and all they did was draw two lanes of cars as far as.

Another of his ideas is buying the general water works, something that would take approximately $3.5 million dollars, but feels the city could recover the money with the water works.

He agrees with the idea behind the Monroe Avenue area land purchase for HUD low income housing. He feels it would give the city a chance to rehabilitate the substandard housing on the west side of Winter Park. The complaints that the Monroe area would be completely black he deemed as untrue. "Most people qualified in the low income townhouses in Winter Park will be white," Brooks would like to see some sort of transit system for senior citizens.

Bazaar

"We hope to raise as much as $5,000 at the bazaar," said Mrs. Gove. The club has already realized $700 in profit from the contributions of businesses and individuals. About $250 of the club's treasury has been expended in the purchase of raffle prizes, but all the money that is taken in at the bazaar will go directly to the FTU foundation. "We don't lose money, we can only make it," she said.

In keeping with the American theme of the bazaar, the various booths will carry such quaint names as Pontrich's Potl, Patricia's Pottery, Best's Books Bindery, Tinker's Paepour, Chrisman Corner and Steven's Pantry.

There will also be a Kiddie Karner for low income townhouses, for the children and want to be free of them while they shop, and a Sidewalk Cafe for snacks.

The Bazaar will be in the Maitland Civic Center from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

For Friday, October 13, 1972.

IF YOU WERE BORN TODAY: Everything ever told you is a lie. All the private things you have always put much stock in are false. All you cherished as silver is tin, and all that you thought was gold is bronze.

AQUARIUS: Alleged of stupidities. Ignorant of ignorance. Fool of fools. Yours is the fate reserved only for those who stick their hands in fans to see if they are still going around. You will lose all you risk before you realize that you have risked it. The worst part is you will squander and waste.

TAURUS: Cancel all plans which would involve use of your hands. It is not anticipated that you will keep both of them through the end of the week.

GEMINI: Slide the blade about two inches under the skin, and then draw quickly up and toward yourself, catching the major veins found there. Then lie in a tub of warm water and rest your head back.

CANCER: God forbid that you should begin to spread.

LEO: Dinner parties bode ill for you. Avoid chocolate covered anything, most of all cherries. The best looking streaks sometimes contain frightening worms.

VIRGO: Don't write any checks which can't be cleared within the next two days. I foresee some kind of trouble with a distant but powerful multicolored uncle who will question last year's income and might tie up your legal matters for a while. You might try liquidating quickly and moving to Montana. I hear the government can't get you there.

LIBRA: Try to make a friend again

SCORPIO: Anything you can do she can do better, and faster and more accurately. Rather downhill, isn't it?

SAGITTARIUS: You are the type who goes to parties to quiet things down. When you walk into a room the stereo goes slower, and the smoke gets stronger. Get out of my life, you bore.

CAPRICORN: They found a new disease and named it after your Chicken Pox. Just your style. You leave everybody with red spots all over.

Tie Kappa Equilion scored first and last in Tuesday's big game, but in between it was all Alpha Tau Omega as they whipped TKE 21-12, in a battle of top fraternity contenders.

ATO can credit a tenacious defense for the victory over their arch-rival. Two big interceptions directly resulted in ATO's last two touchdowns which gave them a commanding 21-6 halftime lead, putting the contest more than two scores out of reach.

TKE jumped off to the lead following a Larry McCorkle interception deep in ATO territory. Denno hit Rex Reipe for the score, but the all-important extra point pass was grabbed by Powers who made the diving grab in the corner of the end zone. The extra point pass was grabbed by Greg Carroll to give ATO a lead they would not relinquish.

With the score 7-6, Larry Johnston blocked one of Mark Meyers passes, snatched it out of the end zone and ran half the length of the field for the touchdown. On the next series Jim Vanhetzel on another aerial, started downfield, then tumbled to Fred Maust who took it in for the TD. Jim Pietkiewicz then fed the TD strike to Chip Mayberry.

Only other score was a Denno-to-Mike Murdock pass late in the second half.

Denno was under a fierce rush all day with his receiver usually covered closely. Four interceptions and at least four other passes that were batted down attained to the strong effort by ATO's fire-up defenders.

ATO took it to inside the TKE another aerial, started downfield, to Johnston blocked one of Mark Meyers pass by Joe DeNovo, but the all-important extra point pass was never relinquished.

Intramural Flag Football

Big Game

By Shelby Brosher

Texas-Oklahoma, Florida, and Florida State represent the Southeast Coast's top intramural flag football teams as they play against each other for supremacy.

Florida State and FSU, who have been the top teams for the past two years, will face a tough challenge in Florida State's top defense. FSU's strong defense will be key in their quest for another national title.

Florida State is coming off a loss to Georgia Tech in the national championship game last year, but they have regrouped and are ready to take on the challenge.

The game will be a battle of two of the best teams in the country, and it is sure to be a close one.

Florida State is favored to win, but neither team is taking anything for granted. The game will be played in the new state-of-the-art stadium that was built specifically for this game.

The Big Game is always a highly anticipated event, and this year it is extra special because of the return of FSU's quarterback, who missed last year due to injury.

The game is scheduled for November 18th, and tickets are already selling quickly.

Intramural Wrapup

The ATO team was led by quarterback Mark Stockwell, who threw for three touchdowns and rushed for another. The TKE team was led by Denno, who threw for two touchdowns but was intercepted twice.

The game was a hard-fought battle, with both teams displaying great offensive and defensive play.

The ATO team went on to beat TKE in the championship game, winning 35-28.

There were also games played between the Alpha Nu Omegas and the Sig Em's, with Sigma winning 26-19. The night ended with the Phi Delta Theta team taking on the Sigma Alpha Epsilons, with Phi Delta winning 24-17.

Flag Football Scores Given

While ATO-TKE hogged the spotlight, at least three other important contests were played early this week in intramural flag football.

Two of the games saw four top independent squad clash. Monday, Faculty-Staff is the only undefeated remaining among them, but it took the extra point pass from John Davis to Rick Mills to pull out a 7-0 decision over Powell's People. In an exciting see-saw battle GDI took the Bombers 26-25 at Pat McCarty and Steve Jackson each other had the ball all but one score. TKE's last one was a game-winner to Richard Kirkland (his second score of the game).

Two other undefeated frat squad also met Tuesday. The winner was SAE, 16-13, by virtue of three Bobby Cooper-to-Craig Rich scoring bombs. Joe DeNovo caught one TD and threw for another for LAX.

Incidentally, SAE did indeed beat SIS in last week's opener, not vice-versa as stated in last week's wrapup.

No Disappointment

By Madison Martin

While many were disappointed by the results of the ATO-TKE game, the overall atmosphere of the intramural flag football season was still positive.

The games were exciting, and the weather was perfect for outdoor sports.

The ATO team dominated the game, scoring 21 points on three touchdowns and two field goals. The TKE team, on the other hand, only scored six points on two touchdowns.

The ATO-TKE game was the highlight of the week, but there were other exciting games played as well.

The Alpha Nu Omegas took on the Sigma Alpha Epsilons, with Sigma winning 26-19. The game was a hard-fought battle, with both teams displaying great offensive and defensive play.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilons then faced off against the Phi Delta Theta team, with Phi Delta winning 24-17.

Overall, the intramural flag football season was a success, with exciting games and close contests.

The ATO team went on to beat TKE in the championship game, winning 35-28. The night ended with the Phi Delta Theta team taking on the Sigma Alpha Epsilons, with Phi Delta winning 24-17.

Two Weightlifters Compete in Meet

Two members of Florida Technological's Weightlifting Club participated in the South Florida Open held in Belle Glade, Saturday, September 30th. Several new members of the club went along for the experience and they will be participating in the next contest, which will be held in Jacksonville Beach on Nov. 4.

Doug Zitza, lifting in his first meet, as a member of the FTU lifters, won the lightweight gold medal. His lifts included a 165-lb. press, a 150-lb. snatch, a 225-lb. clean and jerk for a 550 total. This jerk and total were new personal records for Lee.

The club still needs new members, especially in the lighter classes. Anyone interested in competing in future meets should contact either Farrell Byrd (614-0665) or Harvey Newton (647-6255).

FTU's DOUG ZITZA lifts 200 pounds in the clean and jerk en route to his gold medal at the South Florida Open in Belle Glade. Zitza, who lifts in the lightweight category, won his class with a total of 500 pounds for his three lifts.

Archers Dominate Meet In Brevard

Last Saturday, the FTU archery team competed in the Brevard Community College Invitational Meet. FTU archers completely dominated the meet establishing themselves as the team to beat in Florida.

FTU's Derk Pickens and Lyvonne Harvey placed 1-2 in the women's freestyle with a score of 583 each.

First place was decided by the highest score shot at 60 yards. Anne Kennedy, another newcomer, took second place in the women's novice class and should add depth to the women's squad.

Kelley has been shooting a bow for only a week. Both of these individualists were under the coaching of Lee McDonald.

McDonald has been in archery for 18 years. He, in fact, started a business manufacturing bow sights. His company now markets an extensive line of archery equipment.

McDonald is currently vice president of the Florida Archery Association and also vice-president of the Central Florida region.

Strong winds kept scores lower than usual.

Soccer Team Loses to Rollins

FTU's soccer team played an outstanding first half against the Rollins 2-0, but ultimately succumbed to the depth of the Tars by a score of 4-2.

Behind 2-0, with five minutes left in the first half, FTU's Bill Read dropped in a corner kick for the first score.

One minute later, Bill Read, with an assist from Bill Balance, tied the game with a 12-yard bullet. Rollins scored early in the second half on a great shot by their left wing. FTU kept up a consistent attack, but were thwarted from any score by outstanding saves by the Rollins goalie.

Rollins scored the final score with 30 seconds left in the game. Rollins played a very physical game as three of FTU's starters left the game with injuries.

Coach Jim Rudy felt FTU played well enough to win, but were hurt by some poor officiating at the wrong time. Outstanding efforts were turned in by Bob Stadem and Dave Smith.

CREW

The Extramural Crew Team is progressing well and the turnout has been very good. The team is still in need of several more oarsmen in order to compete in the Fall Regatta on November 18th. No experience is necessary. Stop by the extramural office in the PE Building or call ext. 2136.

GOLF

The golf team's organizational meeting was Wednesday, Oct. 11 and the turnout was good. Any men interested in trying out for the various tournaments and matches and representing FTU should contact the extramural office in the PE Building or call ext. 2136. The first match is against Embry-Riddle.

The Gators beat their rival last week. This week two long-time rivals in the Southwest Conference clash in what looks at one of the most important games of the year: Oklahoma and Greg Pruitt vs. Texas.

The Sooners can rely on the outstanding speed of Joe Wylie, the quick bursts of Leon Crosswhite to control the ground game. The Sooners can also boast a great defense. Texas can't really unravel as many offensive angles as Oklahoma's nor is their defense as tough. But the Longhorns do have quality players in quarterback Alan Lowery and tackle Jerry Blenrene.

The score, Oklahoma 32, Texas 17.

In other important games: Alabama 24, Florida 21.

I'd like to pick the Gators to do it again, but the Crimson Tide won't make as many turnovers as FSL, Florida's defense, led by Brooksville's Fred Absher, Cosmetic Garage's Ralph Osperg, Clearwater's Tyson Siver will help the Alabama fl. Look for Alabama's offensive line, led by Tallahassee's Buddy Brown, center Jerry Kemp, and All-Americans John Hannah to open the holes when necessary.

Florida's Wayne Wheeler and Steve Dean, both from Boone High, will see considerable action against the Gators.

Last week resulted in 20 right and five wrong for 85 per cent.

In other games this week:

Air Force over Boston College; Arizona over New Mexico; Arizona State over Utah; Arkansas over Baylor; Penn State over Army; LSU over Autumn; Bowling Green over Kent State; The Citadel over East Carolina; Iowa State over Iowa; Michigan over Bowling Green; Illinois; Idaho over Missouri; North Carolina State over Wake Forest; Ohio over Miami (Ohio); UCLA over Oregon State; Texas over Arkansas; South Carolina; Texas Tech over Westen Michigan; William & Mary over Vanderbilt; Wisconsin over Indiana; Stanford over Washington; Southern Cal over California; Virginia Tech over Arkansas State; Oklahoma State; Notre Dame over Pittsburgh; Slippery Rock over California State.
