Senate Elections Attract Smallest Turnout Ever

Last Friday's SG senatorial elections have the distinction of having the worst voter turnout in election history. Only 13.1 per cent of the 5,267 eligible voters went to the polls. Seventy-three of the forty-seven candidates on the slate were elected. The other seats will result in runoff; four of these seats comprise the entire representation of the College of General Studies.

Student Government President Steve Adamick attributed the poor voter turnout solely to student apathy. He said that he did everything he could to encourage students to vote, short of "physical violence." Adamick said, "The election turnout wasn't just poor, it was disgusting." "Students holder and scream that SG doesn't do things for them, but when the opportunity comes along for them to run for office or support or vote for someone who will be a good senator they don't do a thing. They just allow any Tom, Dick or Harry to affix the title of senator to their names.

"If the students aren't satisfied with the performance of the student senate this year, they have no one to blame but themselves. I do appreciate those who did bother to come out and vote." Of the 634 students who voted, 21.4 per cent were from the College of Natural Sciences, 15.7 per cent from the College of Social Sciences, 13.1 per cent from the College of Engineering, 11.8 per cent from the College of Business Administration, 11 per cent from the College of Humanities and Fine Arts, 9.3 per cent from the College of General Studies and 9 per cent from the College of Education.

Dean Gets ATO Ruling

Dean of Men Paul R. McQuilkin has accepted, with one change, recommendations from the President's Council of the Interfraternity Council concerning punishment of Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity.

McQuilkin said if the punishment should go into effect, the men just pledged by ATO would lose their pledges, but would be unable to be accepted formally as members until February 1.

The dean accepted the council's recommendation that ATO be placed on restrictive suspension with no fine for 10 weeks until February 1. According to McQuilkin, the restriction would deny the fraternity the rights of social andrush privileges.

ATO will have 10 days from last Monday, Oct. 23, to appeal the decision of IPC.

A hearing of the IPC Judicial Board was convened October 13 when Delta Delta Delta Sorority wrote a letter of complaint to IPC protesting alleged misconduct on the part of ATO during a rush smokeover.

During the hearing the judicial board found ATO guilty of violating Students Rights and Responsibilities section 4, Personal Abuse: "Verbal abuse of any person, including loud, indecent or obscene expression or conduct, on university premises or university related premises is prohibited..."

The fraternity was also found guilty of actions proven detrimental to the making of Delta Delta Delta.

Committee's Split Feelings

By Sharon Marek

It is possible that FTU's recently canceled advance registration may be reinstated sometime next week. According to Dr. Leland Jackson, assistant vice president for academic affairs and chairman of the ad hoc advance registration committee, results of the semester's meeting held early this week indicate "mixed feelings on the part of the various factions within the 14-16 commuter community.

The student members of the committee, including SG President Steve Adamick, are "hearty" in favor of reinstatement, he said. "The several members other than myself were pro-reinstatement, the administration (including Paul R. McQuilkin, dean of men; I. Edward Knight, director of admissions and Joseph Gomez, comptroller), the people who have to do the work, are strongly opposed to advanced registration because it is difficult to administer and the faculty members are largely split in their feelings," said Jackson.

"Because of split feelings, it would not have been possible to get an accurate vote so all we can do now is make a conscientious recommendation to Dr. Gambrell, who must make a decision by October 31 or November 1," he said.

Gambrell, vice president for academic affairs, was out of town that morning, but he had commended, "If the committee has brought out points in support of reinstatement, we may have to have advance registration. Otherwise we can't afford to spend money we don't have for a service we don't need. Presently if I need a fine was more valuable to us when we were much smaller, now I am not so sure."

Although Gambrell would not make a forthright commitment, his overall comments seemed favorable to reinstatement.

Advance registration was originally dropped after a June 7 Overall of Deans meeting in which the consensus vote was to drop the program. Reasons included "students and teacher complaints that pre-registration took away class time that was crucial to reviewing for exams."

Also, it was said too much of the teacher's time was taken up with registration, drop and add and advising and pre-registration duties.

Officers Say Coed Stops

Attack Try

A driver of an automobile near Lake Levee attempted to grab an FTU coed Thursday, Oct. 19, Campus Security investigating officer Jim Jordan reported this week.

According to Jordan, the coed did not want her hair revealed, was walking along a small dirt road near the campus entrance. She said a car pulled into Board of Regents Road, a dirt drive nearby.

A car turned around and stopped, and the driver asked her for directions. When the coed approached, the driver grabbed her hair and she pulled away. Jordan said the woman described the car as a small, squash maroon model driven by a young man in his early 20's. Jordan said the car was about 17. The woman told Security it was some kind of a PTU's car.

Jackson could not recognize the car and driver, and will contact Security if she sees him again. She said she was willing to sign a warrant.

RUN-OFF ELECTIONS

SG run-off elections will be held today, Oct. 30, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the YC patio. Run-offs include the entire College of Engineering, the smaller class of the College of Education and the student members of the College of Natural Sciences.

Cafeteria Needs Cash Support

By Sharon Marek

As a result of a recent "review in process" of the cafeteria and snack bar, students have been informed that prices will increase. If the price increases are made, the 3,000 or 6,000 dollars loss per month would be made up through increases in prices.

"Our prices are 25 per cent higher than the prices at other universities in the state, and we have by far the best facilities I know of," said Eller, "but to keep it that way we must bring in around 3,000 customers a day. Presently the cafeteria is serving between 1,200 and 1,600 people per day.

"An increase in the problem, and in an attempt to keep prices at the present levels, we have instituted some of the day and periodic specials. The "commuter special" is a daily discount offered to all students for the lunch period.
Women's Club
Thanks FuTURE
Editor: As publicity chairman for the PFI Women's Club, I would like to give special thanks to the FuTURE staff for their excellent coverage of the Bazaar Americano. The project was a tremendous success.

The first prize, a large silver punchbowl and tray, was won by Mrs. Zorzik, Sping Valley. Second prize went to Mrs. Nancy Cullen, Orlando; third to Mrs. Gloria Wynn, Fern Park, and fourth to Mrs. Sue Twowell, Union Park. All the winners were thrilled with their prizes.

There are two coeds living in the apartments across from the main entrance to campus who walk daily to classes. They have realized that we have a limited security force and that few areas can be covered by these officers.

There may have been other related incidents, we will never hear of, due to personal pride and wishes. It is understandable.

But the argument is that it is as important, if not more so to provide protection to coeds on campus from sexually aggressive individuals, as it is to watch over speeding cars and failures to stop, and to write citations and parking offenses to fill the shiny red boxes that have mushroomed overnight on campus.

There are many coeds living in the apartments across from the main entrance to campus who walk daily to classes. It is reasonable to state that campus security cannot provide them full time protection ( I ), but it would not hurt to see security officers strolling down the university entrance from time to time during rush hours, and see them put into practice the title they have: "campus security."

Poetically Yours
Come on typewriter... make with the words. Help me fool those people once again.
Make them think I'm deep and thoughtful - Make them think I've never sinned.
Come on typewriter show the way - They're asking for the song
They want the happy and the sad - So they can sing along
They want to feel all kinds of ways - Without the wondering why
They want to go above the clouds - Without fighting the skies
How little do they realize - I've never seen the sun
And all the words I give to them - Are yours just having fun
So come on little keys and fall - In just that certain way
So I can fool them all again - And go pick up my pay.

Column Cracks
Trouble Reader
Editor: This is the third column of the Administration Building on the side facing the domes has a stable crack located about three-quarters of the way up the column. When I first saw it three weeks ago I asked one of the cleaning women if it had been reported. She told me it had been reported and was to be repaired.

The questions I raise are when will it be repaired and are there any other columns in similar condition? Three weeks is long enough to fix a building defect that, if it breaks, would scatter some brick into both windows and walkways, possibly harming students and faculty.

Therefore, I would like to urge the administration to contact the physical plant department and speed up repair for safety's sake.

Project Care
Needs Support
Dear Editor,
I wonder if any of you ever heard of "Project Care"? Well, if you haven't, it's about time you have - the project is very important.

"Project Care" is basically an educational program for migrant children. But then, that's putting it lightly. Within the three years this project has been in operation, those involved helped build a Head Start center at one migrant camp, a child day-care center at another. Students have also built and painted playground furniture for the migrant families.

All is not work, however. Every Sunday at noon interested FUTURE students gather at the "three-bench area" between the men's and women's dorms. Some go to either the Plymouth or Zellwood migrant camp.

Once there at the camp, students walk around the camp and accumulate a following of youngsters the Pied Piper of Hamlin would envy.

Next on the agenda is football for the older boys and college guys. The younger boys play with puzzles - the hair of any college girl who's willing to try their concept of the latest fashion.

The few hours spent at the migrant camp are climaxed by a kickball game. (And, how long has Foster, Randy Harrison, Bill Cavins and the rest of the "{

An $85,000 grant has been awarded to FTU by the Governor's Council in an effort to establish a forensic science program based on Forensic science is the study of criminal evidence and proper presentation of laboratory evidence in the courtroom. The Governor's Crime Control Bill and Safe Streets Act of 1968 called for better training facilities and procedures in the laboratory. Evidence in the courtroom is of great importance in crime detection, according to McGee. He also acknowledged the efforts of Seminole County Sheriff John Polk in securing the grant and the Sanford site. He added that the project was a "cooperative venture by FTU, the Governor's Council on Criminal Justice and the Seminole County Sheriff's Office."

The FTU program will be one of "only four or five" in the country, according to McGee. He emphasized that a "great deal of practical work will be involved." McGee interned for his own project by working at the Region IV Crime Lab in Sanford. Since the Sanford lab is near the building being remodelled for the FTU project, Sheriff Polk said it will be "available" to students.

Two groups will comprise the initial program. One will be practicing law officers, interested in expanding their crime detecting capabilities. The other group will be full-time FTU students.

Findings evidence and protecting it for courtroom presentation could mean the difference between justice and a guilty person going free, explained McGee, when asked about the importance of forensic science.

The tour is set up for 15 maximum load is 16. Minimum load is 12 hours, maximum load is 16. Outlining some of the activities of the program, Couch said there will be seminars with the Ministries of Information to give students a focus of the mass media of those countries.

The tour will include 12 major European cities, with work emphasis in the cities of London, Paris, Geneva, Rome, Vienna, West Berlin and Copenhagen. Other cities that will be visited are Nice, Florence, Venice, Budapest and Prague.

Yearbook Deadline Today
For Campus Senior Photos

Today is the last day graduating seniors can be photographed on campus for their yearbook pictures. Photos are being taken through December 31, but seniors may also be photographed at Jordan Marsh before December 1.

Club and organization photographs will be taken through next Friday. Photographs for fraternities and sororities will be taken January 8-19, but appointments must be made by December 4 with Maryke Lobis in VC 221. All photographic services will be taken without charge.

The yearbook itself will be free to all students, faculty and staff members. The 1973 edition of the Pegasus will have 232 pages and full color. One difference from previous years will be the "bubble" font used for illustrations. The yearbook will be reserved on a first-come, first-serve basis, using computer printouts and FTU identification cards. Books will be formulated and printed in the seventh and eighth weeks of fall quarter.

Yearbooks will be distributed at a "firm" price of $8.90. Students are allowed to mail in their books to them for $11. Pre-registration was terminated by an informal vote of the Council of Deans during the summer quarter.

Boron Approves Summer Program

A 10-week journalism work-study program in Europe offering a full quarter's credit will be sponsored by FTU's department of communication this summer.

The program, approved by the Florida Board of Regents, is available to any undergraduate student in the Florida University system, and also to out-of-state students, according to tour director James E. Couch.

Couch, director of publications, pointed out that this is the first college tour of its kind, and is "perhaps unique."

The tour is set up for 15 students who will be accompanied by Couch. He encourages anyone interested to make "firm plans as soon as possible."

Application forms may be obtained from European Journalists Tour, ca. of James Couch, Department of Communication, FTU, Orlando, Fla.

Tour members will enroll at FTU for the summer quarter, and all earned credits may be transferred to their own schools.

Pool Bill Passed

The resolution recommended that Physical Planning conduct a study to ascertain the necessary work and equipment needed to make the pool relatively maintenance-free. An afterthought, the bill suggests that such a study should investigate the feasibility of paving the two footpaths surrounding the reflecting pool.
Literacy Series Canceled

The Village Center's Visual Literacy series, which had been scheduled for Sunday through Wednesday was canceled due to lack of time for previewing the films before deadline, Debbie Wheatley, president of the VC Board said this week.

The series would have featured films by the instructional media department. "But because of the large number of programs we're doing," Miss Jones said, "we didn't feel it was right." Since there was not enough time to preview the films, she said, the Village Center "didn't want to spend the students' time and money to bring out the program."

"We would really like to extend our apologies to all those who turned out and were disappointed," said Craig Smith of the VC Board arts committee, adding that he did not think the films would be shown later this quarter.

The program may be offered in winter or spring, Miss Jones said, when the board could review the films by the instructional media committee. "We would really like to extend the quality of the series."

Mayall, Poco Concert At Stadium Tonight

By Mike Crites

"We're gonna listen to that Good Time Boogie tonight!" John Mayall smiles in his latest album "USA Union". If you show up at the Orlando Sports Stadium tonight, you will be able to catch some of that good time boogie music. Tickets, at $4.50, are available at the Infinite Mushroom and at the box office. "Poor" will be featured on the same bill.

Mayall is bringing the same band that appears on the "Fusion" album: trump, Blue Mitchell, saxophone, Clifford Solomon, drums, Larry Taylor, drums, Ron Silico, and guitar, Freddy Robinson. The jaz-blues combo is one of the major musical innovations of 1970.

As he has done in the past, Mayall is setting the trend in contemporary blues. "John Mayall's Bluebreakers" featured guitarist Eric Clapton and introduced the heavy lead guitar and drums to modern blues. After hundreds of bands have adopted this form, Mayall returned to the basics in 1969. "The Turning Point" abandoned the hard rock approach and Mayall proved again to be the leading innovator in modern blues.

Mayall's records are always clean, spontaneous and true to his main assets. "Jazz-Blues" was recorded in Boston and at Hunter College in New York City in late 1971. Mayall is so enthralled with his current line-up that he is going to stick with the group until the 1980s. This is a lengthy time for the 38-year-old ever-changing artist.

"Country Roads" is the smooth opening number that allows the audience to immediately recognize the continuity of this band. "Man Around" is a medium tempo blues song that is similar, though not duplicative, of the style of the "USA Union" album.

A truly brilliant song on the album that will definitely be done by Mayall tonight is "Good Time Boogie". Mayall is involved in an amazing dual harmonica-guitar solo leads into Robinson's solo on guitar. Robinson is quick and versatile, without fuzz tones and electronic feedback. "Good Time Boogie" is the pivot of the album, the perfect mixture of the blues and jazz.

The final song on the Boston side of the LP is "Change Your Ways." "Dry Times" features Mayall on harp and electric piano, "Exercise In C Major For Harms" and "Go To This Way" round out the selections on this "Jazz-Blues Fusion" album.

Mayall's horn section is small but dynamic. Mitchell excels in his other role as trumpet. Solomon's sax is the major jazz influence on the record that does, on the whole, lean toward the blues. Taylor has played in Mayall bands in the past, and with "Caned Heel." Drummer Silico has played with Frank Zappa and many others.

Jack Breschard, a record reviewer for "Crowdaddy," states, "Mayall loves the music and freely features these great musicians. He exhibits a personal proficiency and a sincere humility throughout the album ("Jazz-Blues Fusion") that guarantees more Mayall music of the future." Tonight will be your only chance to see these musicians playing together. If you enjoy the blues and jazz music you will be impressed with the fusion performed by John Mayall and his current band.
The whole novel is actually a "duty dance with death" as in such "telegraphic, schizophrenic manner of takes" as this one. It's full of the most surprising elements, such as now happily the British princess of war welcome Billy and his troop to the concentration camp. Its humor ranges from Billy's chubby wife Val, constantly promising to go on diet, to his mother dazzling lightly, "I prayed, even though we don't belong to a church of our choice," and the ridiculously crazy trip of Val rushing to Billy's side at the hospital and wrenching everything in sight is "out of sight." Yet it is a strange thing, that for all his humor and lampooning, somehow you find it hard to laugh.

Anyway, with all its sadness and moments of compassion, you never quite cry real tears. Even in the climax when Billy's most respected and loved friend is shot in Dresden by Germans who caught him with a porcelain figurine, the tears don't come. There's just a sinking feeling in the heart. As a matter of fact, the entire Dresden sequence is most moving because of the catastrophe bombarding in which over 13,500 people were wiped out along with the beautiful city. (Some historians consider the Dresden affair the most callous, mean act of any war.)

Eventually, in old age, Billy is hunted down by one of his army "buddies," the indescribable Paul Lanzeno, who has always blamed Billy for his army oath. But our hero Billy has already established a home on his far off planet where life has no beginning, no middle and no end, and the days on his planet are like the days on... "concentrate on the good, ignore the bad."
Way Down Upon The Ichektucknee...

Outing Club 'Tubes' Down River

Serenely floating down the Ichektucknee River last weekend was none other than the FTU Outing Club. Numbering eighteen in all, each mounted on his or her inner tube, they drifted at the mercy of the swiftly moving river. The crystal clear, springfed river cuts through the Suwannee River Basin, which is located in the southern section of the panhandle, an area rich in untouched natural beauty.

The caravan started here on campus last Saturday afternoon and, after a three and one-half hour drive, wound up the first leg of its trip at O'Leno State Park. Here the club camped out, fixing their dinner to the tune of guitars and planning the day ahead.

Early the next morning the group set out for the Ichektucknee State Park, where they began their three and one-half mile, three and one-half hour journey into a land of deep underwater springs and towering cypress trees.

The FTU Outing Club was just recently revived from a long slumber by Craig Powell and Dr. Bolesman (club advisor). The club was originally the Central Florida Outing Club.

The club is presently planning a trip to Juniper Springs for both canoeing and camping Nov. 10 and 11. All interested FTU students are invited to attend the club's next meeting, Nov. 2 at EN 306 at 11 a.m. or call Craig Powell at 385-8768.

For Friday, October, November, December.

IF YOU WERE BORN TODAY:

Dear Mom. How are things on the front? It's all terribly dreary here. No real excitement since Aunt Creech died last month, and then that was only come and gone.

I want you to know that I think I've finally got Richard right where I want him. It looks like we are going to get peace over there, thanks to that fat talking German he has working for him, but since I am the only one who really wanted peace in the first place, people will think I'm the one who is responsible and give me the credit. After all, he was politically motivated but I have the best interests of my campaign at heart.

As ever, George...

P.S. I know what I said earlier, but please don't send my mail to that Pennsylvania Avenue address yet. I get the funniest feeling that all the mail they forward to me gets opened by mistakes first. I've got to get over that silly feeling that someone is watching me.

AQUARIUS:

What you don't know will hurt you more. This is a midtermer week.

PISELL:

You will start the morning in a confused fog and gradually slip into a total stupor of thought. Your mind will be blank and you will not be able to hold on to any thoughts. Then you will go to your calculus test. By easy evening you will have complete recollection and will curse because you only have three sleeping pills left and the drug store is closed for the night.

ARIES:

Despite mixed signals and seemingly confused thoughts, by noon the choler will be clear to you. It will be the wrong one.

TAURUS:

Financials will prove no problem today. You will have none to be concerned with shortly after you are settled this morning.

GEMINI:

"Tell me, O Octopus, I beg, if these things arms, or is they legs? I marvel at thee, Octopus; if I were thus, I'd call me 'It.'"

Ogden Nash, November 1942.

CANCER:

You will run into an old friend this afternoon. He will use for damages. You will be ruined.

LEO:

Your dominating character will clash with a Virgo this week. Actually your dominating character clashes with just about everybody the same time, but for some reason Virgo gets the award for the special clash of the week.

VIRGO:

Sure cure for rashes! Shoot all small animals within 50 yards.

LIBRA:

You will be involved in a fatal boating accident just days before your next birthday. News of the "Harbor" is published.

SCORPIO:

And all this time you thought everybody had five toes on each foot.

By John The Good, Resident Seer

*SAGITTARIUS:

Just remember. The world is laughing at you, not with you.

CAPRICORN:

Tuesday is your night without a clock. Go out there and give them what for. It is the one night the theater people welcome you to parties and give you awards for "Most Appropriate Outname."

Remind me of a gaggle of geese waiting to happen.

education; Bernard Oats, dean of natural sciences; Dr. Lawrence Tantl, assistant dean of graduate studies and I. Edward Knight, director of admissions.

"I think it would be a tragic mistake," said Chapman, commenting on the possibility of a reinstatement. "I don't think students who voted in the recent referendum were fully aware of all the implications."

In the recent SG referendum, 93 per cent of the members of the student body voting were in favor of reinstating pre-registration.

According to Chapman, despite mechanical trouble in the recent registration, "We were able to register 6,900 students in two days, and we actually made over 10,000 attempts at registration if you include course conflict problems, et cetera."

Chapman went on to describe the danger of allowing students to pre-register who have not yet gotten their grades for the present quarter. Many of these students may pre-register for a sequence course not knowing they will fail the prerequisite, or they may even flunk out after they have pre-registered.

"I don't believe my feelings are arbitrary ones," he said. "It is ludicrous to tie up students, our staff and the whole faculty for a period of time that will interfere with the junior seat while Jeff Junkins, graduating senior, tied Anne Clarke for the junior seat.

"The IG Presidents Council met the following Tuesday to consider the recommendations made by the judicial board. These recommendations were a 10-week suspension with no fine, denying the fraternity the rights of social, rush, intramural and pledging activities. The Presidents Council removed the intramural restriction after sending the recommendations to McKelkin."

Editor's note: Headline for the story last week announcing that ATD was found guilty of four counts of misconduct read "ATO Punished For Arson." This was incorrect in that no punishment can be administered until after the 10-day period during which the trial may appeal. Restrictive suspension will go into effect if ATD does not appeal. If no appeal is made, the suspension cannot be used unless the decision is found against ATD.

for the sophomore seat. Becky Chaly took the junior seat over John McGinn. The race for the two senior seats in Natural Sciences forced a runoff between Jimmy Miller and Sam Hopkins.

In the College of Social Sciences the two freshmen seats went to Bill Kekalas and Michelle McBurney over Martin Craig and Jim Davis, with 12 votes, edged out his three opponents for the sophomore seat. Bill Powers and David Roys, unopposed, captured the junior seats. In similar fashion John D. Foster and Steve Rajar took the two senior seats.

In the College of Business Administration Randy Ferguson and Lisa Malla won the two freshman seats over Alton Hoover. Teddy Turner, unopposed, took the junior seat over John D. Beckman and David Roys.

All unopposed, Dan Hodge and Jack Sawanetti captured the two junior seats. Writing is Kalamoru and Bob Carroll took the two senior seats.

In the College of Humanities and Fine Arts, Donna Wettst, unopposed, took the sophomore seat. Richard Wolten beat out Bob Holovko. Two seats were unopposed. In Brooklyn, unopposed, took the junior seat. Between Ed Jenkins, graduating senior, tied Anna Clark for the runoff, then withdrew from the race, exceeding the seat to Clarke.

In the College of General Studies the slate of candidates had been limited to freshmen Michael D. Brown and Pati O'Brien. But write-ins abounded for every class, locking up the entire college into a run-off. The fight between Brown and Miss O'Brien proved a stand-off at 10 votes. Of those, James Weldon, Robert Ryan and Donna Wold, one vote apiece, were all up for the sophomore seat. Alton Jeff Nolley III, Tom Smith and Glenn Vandervelde, one vote apiece, will be fighting for the junior seat. Likewise, J. R. Bearden and Mohammed Darab and Mohammad Diab will compete for the sophomore seat.

Co-ed Attack

Director of Security John Smith said that a daylight attack is very unusual. He added that although the concern of breaking and entering of cars last year, there had been no reported trouble this quarter. The college's shop attack.

Smith gave the case to Jordan to handle as investigating officer, and posted a description of the car and its driver. Chuck Cullen, Jerry Dwyer, was aware of the incident.

There may be other instances of similar cases on campus which may have gone unreported, Smith said, because some people are afraid to inform Security. "All reports are kept confidential," he said, adding that anyone who may have seen a car or driver answering the description go locking up the entire college into a run-off. The fight between Brown and Miss O'Brien proved a stand-off at 10 votes. Of those, James Weldon, Robert Ryan and Donna Wold, one vote apiece, were all up for the sophomore seat. Alton Jeff Nolley III, Tom Smith and Glenn Vandervelde, one vote apiece, will be fighting for the junior seat. Likewise, J. R. FTU'S HARD WORKING tennis team has been doubles match against Nate Smith and Mike DeMeur. Apparently all that work paid off, as FTU had no trouble downing Stetson 136-74 Tuesday.

The Florida Tech Tennis team showed its strength Tuesday as it rolled over Stetson on their home courts 136-74.

The FTU squad went right to work on the Stetson University courts which are slower than FTU's and much easier to adapt to the speed of the ball. The Knights moved ahead quickly when Joe Lucci playing in the number 3 slot roared past Steve Prates, 31-14.

The FTU's like score system, Tech Downs Stetson, 36-74.

Rollins, FIT Highlight Weekend Of Soccer

FTU's soccer team seeks its first win of the year this weekend, meeting two arch-rivels in its first home game of the season at the Phillips Education Soccer Field.

The squad will be trying to average eighthouse to both the Rollins freshmen and Florida Institute of Technology. FTU tangles with the Tars this afternoon at 3:30. Rollins rallied for a 4-2 win in the early season contest.

GOLF TEAM WINS

FTU's Golf Team opened the season in impressive style defeating Embry Riddle by 41 strokes last Friday at Sugar Mill CC in New Smyrna.

A misty rain and 30 mph wind kept score high but FTU's top four golfers nevertheless averaged under 80 strokes per man.

Gary Matteliot won individual medalist honors with a 78. Matteliot was followed closely by Doug Perry with a 79, John Tanner, 80, and Mike Commar, 82.

By Bill McGrath
31-7, to chalk up a win. Then, it wasn't long before all the other individual battles were ended except the duel in the number 5 position. Bill McGrath after losing his first set lost, fought back to win the match with set scores of 31-25, 31-26.

The doubles competition produced another cliffhanger when Joe Lucci and Charlie Henry held off a strong bid by the Stetson team of Martin and Ferguson. After each team had won a set, the score deadlocked at 30 points each. In the third set, the referee to decide the match, Charlie hit two loping backhand volleys for winners to shake the Stetson crew and edge out a 31-30 victory.

The match was played using the Van Allen Scoring System (V.A.S) which has become popular among tennis professionals because it is a simplified method which is easier to follow than the traditional 6 game set. The system, devised by James Van Allen who also invented the thrilling sudden death tiebreaker, employs a 31 point set. In this each person serves five times until one wins a total of 31 points. If the score reaches 30-30 in points, a 9 point tiebreaker will be played.

ARCHERY TEAM Triumphs

The FTU archery team dominated the field at the Stetson University Invitational, but Coach Lee McDonald was still disappointed in the results of his team.

McDonald said that the archers have fairly well mastered the merchandise, but McDonald also said that the team needs to better prepare themselves mentally and emotionally before a match.

Sam Rayna of FTU took top honors in the men's freestyle division scoring 791 points out of a possible 900. (In freestyle archery, the bow is equipped with a sight.) FTU's Jeff Morton finished in third place with a score of 698.

Battles for Runner-up Spots
Highlight Football's Final Week

While ATO and Faculty-Staff and Students moved closer to the title game, the race for runner-up spots in both divisions takes the spotlight in intramural flag football. Two Kappa Epsilon took a big step toward a second-place finish Tuesday, whipping Lambda Chi Alpha 19-0, boosting their record to 4-1. They'll play Sigma Alpha Epsilon by one-half game but play SAE Wednesday, the last day of regularly scheduled play.

TKE's Mark Dennis fired scoring passes to Mike Murdock twice and to Rex Reipe as TKE rolled up all Women's flag football and men's Volleyball rosters must be their points in the first half and volleyball are the next major sports composed of at least nine point tiebreaker is played to decide the match.

Coach Wood praised the VASS system, "It is an individual, not a team scoring system." He went on to point out that the players win decisions. Ron Chesser and Tom Smith scored for the winners, as they held off a touchdown and a safety by FKA in the second half.

Epsilon by Ten Bernardino, as TKE took a big spot in the title game, the race for runner-up went to Mike Murdock twice and to Rex Reipe, who ran laterally and half. Players are competing against their opponents for victory.

Mike DeZeeuw reacted to the new scoring method by saying "I like it. It brings out my normal character of play."

In the other singles matches, Octavio Pena, playing No. 1 for FTU, crashed Mike Lenahan, 31-14, 31-21 while Mike DeZeeuw in the second spot was eliminating Pete Rocker, 31-16, 31-26. No. 4 Charlie Herrera downed Jesse Thompson, 31-21, 31-14. Neil Howard, No. 6, defeated Lee Shannon, 31-14, 31-17.

Football, Men's V-Ball
Kick Off 2nd Half Of Fall

Women's flag football and men's volleyball are the next major spots on the agenda of FTU's intramural program. Monday is the entry deadline for both activities. Men's racket ball, new to intramurals this year, begins Nov. 7 with the deadline one day earlier. It's a doubles tournament and each match is two out of three games. Revised national paddles rule will apply. (Copies may be picked up in the intramural office.)

Fac-Staff, ATO Vie for Title

Two teams which concentrate on defense — yet have good scoring potential — figure to battle in Thursday's intramural flag football championship game.

Faculty-Staff and Students, 7-0, has already clinched first place in the Independent division, while Alpha Tau Omega, also 7-0 after Thursday's play, had to beat Lambda Chi Alpha yesterday to assure themselves of a spot in the title contest.

At initial glance, ATO would seem an overwhelming choice. They outscored opposition 229-25 in the first seven games while FS&S squawked by its three toughest opponents and averaged 14 points per game.

However, there is no lack of talent on FS&S. Bruce McLendon is the flanker while John Kirkpatrick and leading scorer Rick Mills, both with good speed, share the wide receiver spot.

Mills and Kirkpatrick also burst into the opponents' backfield from their defensive end positions. Defective back McLendon will have the task of chasing ATO's equally fleet receivers.

End Ray Brownlee and Dr. Hugh Martin of the physical education department are also talented receivers.

Running the offensive show at quarterback is bearded John Davis, a clever, sure passer who actually performs better under pressure conditions. He can certainly count on the pressure, to be provided by Kurt Wolfe and Larry Johnston.

Fred Muns and Joe Hart operate at linebacker while Chip Mystery, Jimmy Johnson and Greg Gavel are the secondary of ATO's solid defense which registered four shutouts.

Gavel, who has blazing speed and Kevin Power are the primary targets for QB Jim Pietkiewicz bombs. Pietkiewicz is probably the league's top quarterback, but will be tested by maybe a stiffer rush class.

VOTE MONDAY OCT. 30th FOR STUDENT GOVERNMENT SENATE RUN-OFF ELECTIONS

VC SNACK BAR 9 - 4 p.m.
Robinson Spirit Lives On

It's kind of ironic as well as sad. Jackie Robinson died of a heart attack earlier this week. For his heart seemed to be the strongest part of his being. His heart beat unerringly. What was broken was everything but the strongest part of his being. His heart beat unerringly. What was broken was everything. Durable, distinctive line that demands and gets attention. From now on, he was never spoken of as "Jackie". His heart seemed to be heroin. He fought through heart attacks and bouts of the flu. But he never gave up. And what's more, he never lost his professionalism. Call it heart, determination, guts or what.

He led the way. He pioneered the black man into baseball. Racism overcame him. But he never quit. When blacks finally got their chance, he wanted more opportunities for his brothers. He wanted front office jobs for blacks. Management positions. He dreamed of a black manager in the big leagues.

Last week, when he was honored in pregame ceremonies in the second World Series game, he mentioned his dream. "I'm very honored and happy today, but I won't be truly happy until I can look down that third base line and see a black man managing in the major leagues."

When he said it, he couldn't see the third base line.

For Jackie Robinson was almost totally blind. Cataracts and diabetes had teamed up and sapped him of most of his vision. Jackie Robinson, mention the name in Brooklyn, where he played during his career, and someone always remembers something special he did on the ball field. Whether it was ripping a game-winning hit, or intimidating opposing pitchers and catchers with his reckless base stealing or making an uncatchable "play" in the field, someone remembers. But what everyone should remember is that he did something special in just being on the field.

Jackie Robinson proved that baseball could be color blind and he was one of the heart. Every sports writer in America will repeat the same adulations in their eulogies to this great man. The Hall of Fame will record forever his playing feats. So little can be done on an individual basis to honor him. And it's a shame that an entire nation can't conjure up a fitting tribute to an individual who did so much for the advancement of all races.

Maybe we can. The morning Jackie Robinson died, he was scheduled to make a speech on drug abuse prevention. Jackie Robinson cared. He got involved.

Let's open more doors. And let's close some others. Give a damn. Jackie Robinson's heart wore out, but his spirit hasn't. Lately, all you major league owners and executives. Let's put a black man in that third base coaching box. Because Jackie Robinson can see just fine now.
