Semester Poll Set
By SG

Student Government President Steve Adamick said he will call for a special referendum in February to poll students concerning the proposed change to a semester system.

Adamick said, "This is one of the few topics to come along about which I have no idea how students feel. Personally I am against the change, but as the majority rules so shall I."

Last week the Board of Regents (BOR) was asked to study the "Texas System" which consists of two semesters and one summer session divided into two six-week periods.

As reported in the Florida Alligator, the University of Florida Faculty Senate sent a resolution to the BOR asking them to study the possibility of changing to the semester system.

The Alligator stated that State University System Chancellor Robert Mautz received the resolution and said, "Any change in the calendar will require careful preliminary study and thought. I will give it all the necessary sympathy and consideration."

A poll of university officials at FTU will be taken to indicate public preference for the change to the semester system. Officials cited saving of $30,000 a year for the university, less cost and registration troubles for students and more time to cover a subject as reasons for favoring the change.

The first Faculty Senate Meeting of the new year came to order at 11 a.m. January 9. The main business included the recommendation for guidelines for the presentation of honorary degrees and distinguished service awards.

The major contribution of this proposal is the fact that there have been no such formal guidelines in the past. According to Dr. R. Phillips, chairman of the Faculty Senate, four honorary degrees have been presented in the past, but none has been awarded since 1971 and no distinguished service awards have been presented, to Taylor's knowledge.

Taylor stated, "The feeling of many of the faculty members is that the degrees should be given sparingly if at all." He also added, "Other members of the faculty feel there are people in the university community and the community at large that desire recognition by FTU, but they do not meet the guidelines of the honorary degree program because this program is designed in an academic sense. Therefore, the special service awards program is being suggested." The guidelines for the presentations were proposed, amended and passed by the Faculty Senate. The awarding of honorary degrees and special service awards will be done by the president on behalf of the entire university.

In other business, Dr. John R. Holle, associate vice president for academic affairs, stated that computer programs prevented him from giving accurate enrollment figures to the Senate at that time. However, he did state that the enrollment list of the university would be down this quarter. This estimate was derived from a headcount. He also said that the average credit hour load per student has increased this quarter.

John P. Hartman, associate professor of engineering and member of the Admissions and Standards Committee, asked for comments or suggestions on two proposals.

The first was the organizing of a group for the evaluation of the administration. There is presently a system for evaluating the faculty, but none for the evaluation of the administration.

The next meeting of the Faculty Senate will be Tuesday, Feb. 13.

Local Regent Murray Ends Term

The administration's prospective plans to adopt the semester system at FTU in place of the present quarter system has led to considerable concern among students.

Since it is the students themselves who will be most affected by such a change, a man-on-the-street interview was conducted to determine a variety of students' feelings on the issue. The results were as follows:

I like the semester system, but it's only my second quarter here so it's really kind of hard for me to say. I would like a little more time to get into my courses, it's (the quarter system) just a little too quick for me.

Gary Martin, senior, anthropology

I like the semester system, but it's only my second quarter here so it's really kind of hard for me to say. I would like a little more time to get into my courses, it's (the quarter system) just a little too quick for me.

John Di Blasi, senior, marketing

I like the quarter system. You get over with everything kind of quick. The semester system wouldn't be quite as rushed but I still like the quarter system better.

Mary Jenkins, sophomore, music

I like the quarter system because if you get a teacher you don't like you get out faster, and it makes more of a change of pace. But then I suppose the semester system has its advantages because you don't have everything crammed in on you at once.

Susan Aletes, freshman, general studies

I would prefer the system that gives the widest selection of courses. There are few courses I've taken so far that I put much value on.

Jim Douglas, senior, education

I like the quarter system because if you get a teacher you don't like you get out faster, and it makes more of a change of pace. But then I suppose the semester system has its advantages because you don't have everything crammed in on you at once.

Ivor Singer, sophomore, marketing

I'd prefer the system that gives the widest selection of courses. There are few courses I've taken so far that I put much value on.

Ivor Singer, sophomore, marketing

I think the semester system is better because a quarter is only about ten or eleven weeks long and it's hard to pull yourself to push you too much. On the semester system you have your midterms about 15 or 16 weeks and it seems to go at a slower pace.

Rick Woolheater, junior, accounting

I think you would get more out of your classes on the semester system and if you don't you've got a better vacation.

Uncritical Editorial

The best thing about tradition is being able to break it. By tradition, even by its very nature, an editorial is a singular means of expression. Critical, often negative, eloquent, inflammatory, at times even rabid; it is the newswoman’s chief vehicle for swaying public opinion (or making it).

Today we cast aside the negative, we throw it out the uncharted today we break tradition, we go clear across the line, we take the position of faceless ones on campus who do nothing more exciting than a good job...

TO THE CAMPUS custodians and groundskeepers who have given us the cleanest and most attractively landscaped campus in the university system.

TO the personnel on the reserve desk in the library who are always glad to help.

TO our security police, without a doubt the most courteous and helpful collection of campus cops to be found anywhere.

TO MAX and Terry Giroux, the man who makes the bookstore a pleasant place to spend money and the one who knows it.

TO the ladies from Sands Vending who work diligently to keep the vending machines full all the time.

TO the voice on the other end of the line who always gets the correct “Number please.”

TO THE FRATERNITIES and sororities on campus, who, when they undertake a project, make a united effort, and make it one to remember.

And to the secretaries in the various administrative offices, who always manage to have the right answer.

By the way, a word with the other state universities. FTU stacks up to be the best in many ways, and to all those who work diligently and anonymously to keep it so, the FuTUre says, “Thank you!”

Evictions Are Good Tool

Editor:

The students quarterly evaluation is a profitable factor of self-judgment for instructors who conscientiously want to consider and analyze students’ reactions, for the few instructors who avoid an average of high-level courses for as long as a year, there is no doubt that they are aware of their limitations and they try to avoid the truth for as long as they can.

Evaluation should take place for all courses presented by an instructor during a quarter or there should be at least a balanced evaluation of different level courses from one quarter to another to avoid discrimination against students whose judgment he may wish to disregard.

There is no perfection in this world, but rather an awareness of reality and a conscientious striving toward improvement that can reach effective results and lead to high quality. To make it possible for an instructor to choose for his evaluation courses below the 400 level while he regularly teaches a 400 level course to allow him to appreciate his students’ reactions and to make something of it.

FTU’s Upset Stirs Student

Editor:

Upset! What is that extra spark which can put such a charge into a team that it can overcome all odds to defeat a seemingly strongly favored opponent? Some call it unity, some call it spirit, “Dandy” Don Meredith calls it momentum. But whatever you call it, our FTU wrestling team certainly had it last Friday when they defeated the storied Fighting Irish of Notre Dame.

The spark was there in Coach Gerry Gregley fighting doggedly for his team. It was there in big John Newsom trying in his assistant coach role to direct the efforts of the home combatants, in Charlie Patton serving as coach’s aide as well as winning his match, in all those who sweated and pulled for Dom Mandicott to seal the victory in every FTU wrestler giving all he knew how to give.

Through such efforts, FTU can now, in the minds of some, join the sates and the Mice as a great upset victor in sports history. And Gerry Gregley, who predicted it all, can join Joe Namath as one of sports’ great prophets.

Editor: to those interested (and to those who were foolish enough to put a poem of mine in the FuTUre), a poem of mine has been accepted for the National Poetry Press for their College Anthology, you will be available for interviews on my life stories, photos and autographs any time.

Thank you for informing me of the poetry contest in the FuTUre. If not for you, I would not have an acceptance slip dangling among my rejections.

P.S. to all you dummies sucked into spending four years and thousands of dollars for a piece of paper (instead of being good, 9-5 working Americans)—May the traffic in your life be moderate and your ear of good spirit never stall in the big intersection of your goals, and all that other stupid stuff!

Hidden Thoughts

By William Lee Hidden

I’d like to mention an accident that happened on my trip to the Bahamas. I was going to be interested, but because I enjoy being the envy of the editors of this paper, I have never seen such a place. I believe I have such good English diction, yet I cannot understand a word you say.

On the second day at the Paradise Inn on Holiday Island (is that right—I discovered I had no face cloths in my room. That is where my troubles began.

“Hello, Housekeeping. I need some face cloths in room 608.”

“Just a minute, I’ll put you through to Room Service.”

(Half-hour later) “Room Service? We need some face cloths up at room 608.”

“I’ll put you through to Laundry.”

(Half-hour later) “This is Mr. Hidden in room 608 and we need some face cloths.”

“I’m sorry, Mr. Hinton, we have no cloths here of yours.”

“No, the name is Hidden and I need...”

“Hidden, Mr. Hinton, we’ve looked.”

“No, you fool, come back!”

“All I wanted was a face cloth. (Miss Olivia Shumway is over—beginning to wonder when I’ll be able to go eat and...)

“Mr. Hinton, I have no cloths of yours either.”

“You don’t understand. I need face cloths.”

“We don’t have any face cloths of yours either. You are welcome to use the ones in the bathroom.”

“Sure, guy. I know I shouldn’t ask, but where can I find some of these rare articles?”

“The Paradise Inn has always puts plenty in every room. Feel free to use them. The maid will bring you new ones each day. Thank you.”

(Okay, that was a big hangup.)

“Hello, Room Service? Could you send one bottle of Scotch, some aspirins and a stuffed daisy dressed in laundry attendant’s outfit to room 608?”

“Yes, sir. Right away... Oh, yes, Mr. Hinton, did you manage to bring you new face cloths of yours?”

“Don’t have any face cloths of yours either. You are welcome to use the ones in the bathroom.”

The Paradise Inn always puts plenty in every room. Feel free to use them. The maid will bring you new ones each day. Thank you...
Soaring Fulfills Flight Fantasies

By H. Alexander Smythe

Soaring is the essence of beauty found in my trembling frame. It is the sensation of fulfillment in soaring. The roads to be paved, according to Fred Roberts, an FTU radio-television manager, have been under construction since last March. Roberts has been selected for the position of station manager at FTU. He will be working in various capacities with the station's audience, including news, advertising, and sales.

Roberts began his career at FTU in 1968, working as an announcer and producer. He later became the station's news director and later the general manager. In 1973, he was named executive producer of the station.

In his free time, Roberts enjoys flying and has accumulated over 2,000 hours in the air. He has flown in a variety of aircraft, from small single-engine planes to larger jets.

Roberts is married to Sarah and has two children, John and Emily. He enjoys spending time with his family and traveling, particularly to Europe.

Roberts has been a member of the American Association of Radio-Television Managers (AARTM) for over 15 years. He is also a member of the National Association of Broadcasters (NAB) and the National Association of Radio-Television Station Managers (NARTSM).

Roberts is a strong supporter of education and has served on the boards of several local schools. He is also a volunteer for the local Boys and Girls Club.

Roberts is looking forward to working with the new station manager to continue the success of FTU.

For more information on Fred Roberts, please visit the FTU website at www.ftu.org.

SIBERIA FILM

A travel adventure film, "Siberia: The Endless Horizon," will be shown 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the Blalock Room of the John Young Museum of Geology. Members of the public will be admitted free of charge and there will be a 50 cent fee for non-members.

DONNELLY ELECTED

A successful political campaign was waged by Dr. Jerome J. Donnelly, a 20-year veteran of the City Commission of Winter Park. Donnelly, an associate professor of English at Stetson University, is a Democrat and was elected to the first January meeting of the Winter Park City Council. He will serve a two-year term as commissioner.

Contract Let For Paving

Hubbard Construction Co. of Orlando just before the holidays made the low bid of $67,809 to receive the contract for paving approximately 7,200 square yards of roads on the FTU campus.

The roads to be paved, according to Fred Clayton, director of public relations, are extensive physical planning, are due to new access roads, which will be held by Hubbard. The contract will run from Jan. 1, 1974, to Dec. 31, 1974.

VC Schedules Rock Night

By Mike Crites

The rock and roll band "Brownsville Station" will perform at the Village Center next Friday, "The Devotions" will appear first at 8:00 p.m. All tickets for students will be $1.50 in advance.

Students will need their identification cards to purchase a ticket at the VC's main door. No student-priced tickets will be available after 4 p.m. the day of the performance. Admission at the door will be $4.

Brownsville Station's second album, "Night on the Town," will be the primary source of songs for the concert. "Country Flavor" is the most well-known song in their repertoire, and is usually the highlight of their show.

Lead guitarist Cub Koda wrote "Loverin' Lady Lei" to the Grand Funk Railroad tradition with less bass. "Loverin' Lady Lei" is Brownsville Station's rendition of a Motown soul song. "The Man Who Wanted More" is a hard-rock takeoff on "When the Saints Go Marching In." "Mister Robert" is a hard-driving song that criticizes lazy rock idol. The group parodies old cowboy movies in "The Sky Is Falling." "Whoever World" interview Koda

WOMEN'S SYMPOSIA

A series of symposia about women's future role in society has been tentatively scheduled for April 3.

"The Women's Symposium is an attempt to respond to the needs of women students and assimilate information that will appeal to both male and female members of the FTU student body," said Linda Lutz, assistant for student development.

Some of the topics to be discussed are sexuality, the legal rights of women and the future of women in the labor force.

"Poor Richard, Poor, Poor Richard." And why is Richard poor? Because, as characterized in Jean Kerr's play running through January at Once Upon A Stage Dinner Theatre, Richard has the pity of all his friends for wasting his marvelous talents. Richard, a modern English poet, is called to New York by his publisher, Sydary, whenupon his secretary Kathy, who immediately announces we will end her write-up. Therin begins the literature. These references serve as a kind of theme, fitting in nicely with the exposition and characterization of Richard.

Studens might find it easy also to empathize with the human emotions within the basis of the story, and they would most likely appreciate the witty, sharp, and often humorous quips. In a sense the story is a contemporary study of poetry and a poem-out of a belated, retrospective "love story" without the syrup.

If a student considers himself a "poor Richard" financially, he would be wise to consider Once Upon A Stage Dinner Theatre for an evening of professional entertainment.

IF YOU WERE BORN TODAY: Reorganization is the key this week. Reorganize your work schedule. Reorganize your class schedule. Reorganize your body. It's on backwards, you know.

AQUARIUS: Don't tell me to do it, but I think you are in for a financial windfall. It appears that a great sum of money will soon cross your fatal path. It's yours for the taking. Take it. Then run like the devil, because it's bound to belong to someone else, who will not look too lightly upon your taking it.

MESTERS: You klutz. Why would you make a promise to her you can never keep? Or perhaps you didn't know that you have to be married before you can commit adultery with somebody. I realize that she has some strange fetish about married men, but he is real. There are bound to be other girls, with more easily satisfied fetishes.

ARIES: Around noon you will begin to have vague palpable problems (look that up in your F&W) caused by a large dust. (I am laboring under the assumption that "dust" is the singular of "dusts." After all, who ever heard of "several dusts" being on top of a table?) Absurd! Perhaps, however, the word is part Hebrew, and is to be read from the inside out (being only part Hebrew) and is correctly spelled "dusts" (being only part Hebrew) and is through some doors and run down the "up" escalator. What sport! It's on backwards, you know. Around has never got you as far as the inauguration in D.C. at the end of your original but obviously likely cost you a few front teeth your best to get an invitation to it's your taking it. be read from the inside out of use when you had planned a bit perhaps you singular would be nervous, and guess where the blame is going to lie? I mean, after all, it's not every 10-year-old girl who gets taken to see Walt Disney films once a week by the college kid who lives down the street. Clod! I told you that you should have picked an orphan.

Tennis Family Fosters Another DeZeeuw Netter

By Bill McGroth

For Mike DeZeeuw, trying to be the best tennis player in the family is a difficult task.

Especially when you consider that his father is a tennis professional in his hometown of East London, South Africa, and his mother teaches tennis-ette, a tennis development program designed for children. Add to this the fact that Mike's older brother, Paul, now a medical student in South Africa, and Belgium, a teaching pro at Estrela Estates and FTU's assistant coach, both played as well.

"As a result, the DeZeeuws are a tennis "family," but that doesn't bother Mike to be the third DeZeeuw to come to the United States to enter in the sport. Although the uphill road is a steep one, the progress is great, "Mike, who spent a miracle and a redundancy complex, knows that when you are number three, you try even harder."

And try harder he has. Last year as a freshman, Mike accumulated a 10-5 record throughout the season while holding down the number one position on the FTU tennis squad.

"However, playing tough competitive tennis is nothing new for the 20-year-old DeZeeuw. He has his family's support for polishing. But be did have some "veterans" to learn from and improve. And try harder he has. Last year as a freshman, Mike accumulated a 10-5 record throughout the season while holding down the number one position on the FTU tennis squad."
To lose is not a pleasant thing. Some coaches try to pass off a loss positively, but most coaches will tell you a win beats anything that comes in second.

Last Saturday night, FTU came in second to Rensselaer Poly Tech in a 69-66 loss which took three overtimes to decide. And there was nothing positive about this loss.

For one thing just the way the Knights did lose was disheartening. Ahead by 11 points, with nine minutes left, Rensselaer was in second to Rensselaer Poly Tech and finally went to a full court press. Slowly, very slowly, FTU began to chip away at the lead until Pete Hane tied it up for FTU with 1:55 left in the game.

But it was in the overtime that FTU got cold at the wrong time and the wrong place. A last second tip in the first overtime by John Smith went all around the rim but… for a former FTU player who left FTU for personal reasons, John Smith has been the most consistent all-around performer to date for FTU, and he will be backed up by top scorers Mike Clark and Arnett Hall.

On Wednesday, FTU will play Ft. Lauderdale University also at Lake Highland. Ft. Lauderdale is paced by 6-8 Angelo Kelley and 6-5 forward Gary Dippold. The school has eight returning letterman from last year’s 10-7 team.

While it is easy to look back at the loss, the game neatly. "I saw a Mike Clark drive almost in that would have won it; I saw a John Smith tip-in go in and out that would have won it; I saw us come back with the press four times; and I saw us lose."

Clark quickly added, "Rensselaer’s got a good team."

This Saturday at Lake Highland Prep, the Knights take on an always tough Palm Beach Atlantic squad. A point to note; one of Atlantic’s starting guards is Willie Gibson, a
