Rocking vigorously back and forth in his chair, lighting a cigarette after cigarette, Steve Adamick reflected on the past six months he has been in office as FTU Student Government president.

Leaning back and appearing somewhat nervous Adamick recalled the original campaign promises he made last year when he was overwhelmingly elected SG president in May.

Adamick's position in office Adamick has completed or nearly completed half of his campaign promises. He feels this progress is good and he dos need in the eyes of the students.

One of the most successful promises made by Adamick was the expansion of the Student Government subsidy program. This program in the past has provided lower-priced tickets to Florida State and Woman's Theatre at a considerable savings (in last 50 percent) to the purchaser.

According to Adamick, "the single most popular continuing program on campus is definitely the subsidy program. We have already sold 30,000 tickets to one theatre chain.

Adamick continued, "In the past, Student Government helped subsidize tickets for Superstar and four rock concerts at the Tangerine Bowl and the Orlando Sports Stadium. This past summer I helped initiate what we called the "Family Treasure Book.

"This combined $1 coupons which were redeemable at restaurants, record stores, beauty salons and grocery stores in Orange County. If the coupons were used in every way possible the purchaser would have saved a total of $150.

"COMING up soon we hope to include in the subsidy program discount coupons to McDonald's and discount coupons to the University Drive-In," said Adamick.

"To me the most beneficial program on campus has been the Student Book Exchange," said Adamick.

By Mark Zimmerman

Adams added, "Although not all 6,000 students use the exchange, we provide a service for those who need it. We are trying to provide this service for those who can't afford to go out and buy a new book every quarter, because there are many students who need a very tight budget where every dollar counts," continued Adamick.

Adams also fought to get pre-registration back for the students. He said he felt this was one of the biggest accomplishments during his term of office so far.

Another project set up by the SG president has been the Lake Claire area. Although four years and $55,000 have been spent on the project, how much the recreational area is used is not really known.

"Most students commute to this campus so the project will not be fully used now. I have faith that in the future when there will be more apartments springing up around campus, and if more dormitories are built on campus, more persons will use the facilities," Adamick said.

He added, "People will be thankful in a few years, as Lake Claire will be an outdoor recreational greenbelt. The area never will be polluted because there will be about 95 percent of our staff working on the computer, including the switch to the new computer. The new computer is an IBM model and requires a different language or code than the Honeywell computer at Gainesville," Morris said the switchover is costing the university somewhere between $80,000 and $100,000.

When and if the computer or computer shutdowns during registration will be more or less frequent than with the present system, Morris replied: "Well, for the amount of down time we have experienced with the regional center has been less than what we used to get with Gainesville.

Library Security Defended

By Mark Weintz

The security check in the library has gone smoothly and only a few serious objections have been encountered, according to Lynn W. Walker, director of library services.

Walker explained the policy was instituted essentially as a service to students and as a reminder to check out library books. He said some students become involved in conversation on the way to the check-out desk and simply forget to check books out.

"None of us likes to do it, and it's against my nature," Walker stated. "I know it may be an inconvenience but it's just one of those things."

A number of students have said they are pleased with the new library policy, Walker said. They favor the security check because the students have had problems in the past locating required or necessary books.

"No, Walker said, "Frequently, people only know it may be an inconvenience but it's just one of those things."

Walker was concerned that the security check affects library personnel schedules. "We have to make sure we have extra persons at the check-out desk, especially between classes," Walker stated.

When asked if he considered the security check to be a worthless policy, Walker said, "No, I don't think so. There is no fooling around with this.

One FTU professor pointed out that it is not a right, but rather a privilege, to be allowed to borrow books from the library. He said library completeness often leads to abuse.

"The library employs an "open stack" policy. However, students, faculty and staff are asked to locate books freely through stacks of books. According to Walker, most, if not all universities in the state university system now have "open stack" policies.

Registration

Switch Likely

By David Fonte

The upcoming registration for spring quarter may be handled either in Tampa rather than in Gainesville. The switch to,value President of Academic Affairs C. B. Cambell.

The switch is being made as part of a statewide plan by the Board of Regents to populate state university data processing into four regional data centers. Bill Morris, director of computer services, said that because the computer systems are so different, the next registration will be processed through an IBM computer at the Central Florida Regional Data Center at the University of South Florida in Tampa, rather than at Gainesville, where it has been handled before.

FTU Student Fined

On Assault Charge

The unidentified FTU student arrested November 19, in connection with a number of assaults on campus last quarter, was fined $27 in Orange County Criminal Court December 1.

First reports of the assaults came October 19, when an unidentified coed reported a young man grabbed her by the arm and pulled her toward her car window. A similar assault occurred on the same day but the victim did not report it for eight days.

A coed was attacked on the fourth floor of the library October 27. There were three more such assaults on the fourth floor. One coed said the assailant also exposed himself to her.

FTU is not alone in this problem. Other universities have reported similar incidents.

Library East on the University of Florida campus has had four such attacks so far this year. Most of the assaults occur between the bookshelves. In one incident a coed was chubbed by the attacker.

Cools at FTU have urged to report any attack we reported the campus security by calling ext. 2431 or going by the office of the safety director. The new computer is a $2431 structure on Gemini Boulevard.

AWARENESS LIST PRaised

The FPU Library's Current Awareness List, a publication that provides excerpts of news relating to higher education as it appears in Florida and national newspapers, has recently begun its fifth year of publication.

The publication is funded biweekly by the library and is distributed to the faculty and staff of FTU. In recent years it has expanded its circulation to the Florida Board of Regents office, officials in the other eight state universities and a few other major universities in the South.

We compliment this publication which has gained the recognition and respect of educators throughout the South, and recommend it to anyone who considers himself a well-informed reader.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DECal Prices Draw Criticism

Editor:

Today I was charged an outrageously ridiculous price of $8 for a parking decal. Why is this so unfair when everyone else is paying at least $10? For the simple reason that I will be in attendance at this university for one quarter, winter, only.

So I should have a decal good through August? It appears it would have been cheaper to risk getting tickets for no decal than to be honest and pay for one.

So the sticker was projected by $2--big deal! Since this university has upped its parking cost per year to match those of other state universities, I think it should adopt similar policies all the way, not halfway.

Having attended another state university (the big one) for the last six months, I happen to know that they do give out decals for one or two quarters at a time and do charge students for parking facilities they will not be using later in the school year.

Editor:

Other than this one irritating incident, I found the university police in the past to be extremely helpful in finding mysteriously lost keys, towing incapacitated cars from the sand lots and, for the most part, being generally nice guys. However, this visit to U.F. (University Police) cost me a little more than I expected, and I'm afraid it just killed my whole image of the department for good.

JoAnn R. Trotter Jr., Natural Sciences
Transient student from University of Florida

Decal prices at UF have increased dramatically. In the past, the cost has been $10, but now it is $26,726 for the year. This is a ridiculous price, especially when compared to the University of Florida, which charges approximately $17,660, or 8.5 cents per decal.

Editor:

This public discussion is promoted at an annual gross cost of approximately $36,726 to inform members of the university community of relevant news, announcements and activities. Given an approximate annual revenue of $9,066, this document is circulated for an annual net cost to the state of approximately $17,660, or 8.5 cents per copy.

Wine Barred

A discussion concerning the addition of wine to an investigation of the feasibility be held on campus, as suggested by Dean of Men Paul R. McQuilkin. The committee of the Ad Hoc Committee formed to study the matter.

McQuilkin, committee chairman, forewarned the students that the discussion is intended to probe the inclusion of wine.

McQuilkin said the committee has set the agenda and plans to have a Wine Barred committee meeting on Wednesday, December 14, to discuss the issue further.

BOR Makes Rule To Limit Speakers

The Florida Cabinet Tuesday rejected a proposal by the Board of Regents requiring persons to give 14 days advance notice to appear before the BOR.

The rejection was accompanied by a request that Regents vice chancellor Phil Ascher design a revised policy that does not conflict with the individual's right to address the board.

Newly appointed member of the Board of Regents (BOR), Jack McGriff, along with other board members, on Monday, Jan. 12, transmitted a proposal requiring students and faculty to give a written request in order to bring matters before the board.

The new policy states that requests must be submitted to the president of the university at least 15 days before the board meeting. The president is then to forward the requests to the Regents chairman along with his opinion on the matter.

The policy also requires non-university persons to make their requests directly with the chancellor of the State University System.

The policy has been met with considerable criticism that it is an infringement of free speech. Chancellor Robert B.ムauz, Jr., said it is a mere formality.

According to Mauz, requests will be approved "provided there is a valid reason and a valid subject matter requiring the appearance." It is this determination, however, that has created much controversy. The determination is to be made by the chancellor.

"Until now," said McGriff, who replaced Dr. Louis Murray of Oklahoma on the BOR, "there has been no set guideline for determining who is on the agenda and who is not. This policy gives us something to work with, and it seems fair and quite flexible.

"Some critics feared that each university president would have veto power over requests passed to him. However, this is not the case. The president is asked only for his opinion. The BOR makes the final decision.

The new policy was prompted as a result of a disturbance during the November meeting of the BOR in Gainesville. During that meeting a group of student activists interrupted the regular meeting and demanded that University of Florida President Stephen O'Connell be fired.

Engineers Confirm Study

A study by a group of four FTU engineers confirms the premise that streamlining and updating the communication center of the Orlando Police Department (OPD) is a wise community investment.

The FTU team, headed by Dr. Robert D. Dvorac, associate professor of industrial engineering, built a computer model to simulate the responses of a "real world" system to a wide variety of emergency situations.

The objective of the study was to determine the operational effectiveness of the system against accident demands projected into 1980.

Chief Robert Cheverton of the OPD praised the efforts of the FTU engineers, noting that he accepted their report that it represented the first part of an overall plan to effect a technological fusion of personnel, technology, and management techniques into his department.

Margaret Mead To Speak Of Past And Present Cultures

Dr. Margaret Mead, the eminent sociologist and author, will speak about American culture and the outlook for the future on the Village Green Tuesday at 11 a.m.

Dr. Mead's recent book, "Blackberry Winter: My Earliest Years," is currently on the best seller list. She has written enough books to fill a small library.

To say Dr. Mead is an anthropologist, a sociologist, and a writer would not do her career justice. Her writing reflects her concern herself with practically all aspects of culture.

She has spent many years earlier. The children she has known had grown to adulthood. They reconstructed their growth for her, and she wrote a book about it entitled "Growing Up in New Guinea."

The many other expeditions she has participated in are detailed in her other books. She has spent the past 25 years studying various South Sea peoples.

In the event of bad weather on Tuesday, Dr. Mead will speak in the Village Center Assembly Room.

Restaurant
"Relaxing"

By Pete Reynolds
A common complaint in Central Florida centers around having "nothing to do." This article does not intend to try to refute that obviously well-founded complaint, but there is a place to go for a relatively inexpensive evening of good times.

Steak & Brew, located on U.S. 17-92 in Fern Park is the place.

Steak & Brew is a restaurant modeled after an old English pub, and like the pubs, the atmosphere is calm and relaxed. There is never any pressure to hurry and, unlike so many places where alcoholic beverages are served, there is not an excessive amount of noise. Style of dress is optional and on any night there can be seen both suits and jeans.

However, the best part of the restaurant is not the atmosphere nor the management's attitude toward eating; it is the food and the prices. For a modest $4.50, the diner is entitled to an 12-oz. steak cooked to his liking, and, if he so desires, a choice of mashed potatoes or rice, rolls or sausages, a choice of salads, and a choice of drinks, if you so desire, and you can eat. The meal includes a 12-oz. steak cooked just the way you like it.

To top it all off, the basic price also includes all the beer or sangria you'd like to visit a place where alcoholic beverages are served, and all the bread you can eat. Of course, if you add in a salad and roll, you are brought a plate of cigars and mints and more drinks, if you so desire, and you are free to sit and relax even longer, if you so desire, and you can eat. The meal includes a 12-oz. steak cooked just the way you like it.

One of the selection of food and drink is much broader than the basic items listed. If you'd like to visit a place with good food and no hassle, then Steak & Brew may be the place for you.

Churchill Role Challenging

By Fran Elliott

RICHARD Attenborough, a fine actor, has added himself with quite a challenge in directing the fine version of the first quarter-century of Winston Churchill's life, as many historians claim Churchill may be the most notable political figure of our time.

The movie is extremely well done, featuring fine acting jobs by Robert Shaw as Lord Randolph, Anne Bancroft as Lady Jennie Churchill and Simon Ward as young Winston, who unfortunately for the audience's sake, characterizes with completely imitating the unusual physical and vocal qualities of the late Churchill. The only exception to this is that Ward's voice is used in narrating portions of the film as the old Churchill, and during this, he overdoes the "famous "umm" pause used by (Winnie)."

The first 25 years of Churchill's life is made up of successes and failures as told in the book, "My Early Life-The Roving Commission." The title sequence gets the film off to a good start by showing actual photos and newsreels of the Churchill years. Then the story backs up to depict the childhood spent at Harrow where he was largely self-taught, away from any training or experiences) and Sandhurst (where he finally comes out a top military man).

The only really exciting scenes are during his unorthodox military marches in the Boer War and on the deserts of India. He has an almost unbelievable escape from an enemy prison which is certainly partially responsible for building his reputation and his popularity with the English people.

EXCEPT for the reality of the material presented and the sense of respect for his father who was "brilliant in Parliament, but not at home." As a matter of fact, Winston claimed to have had only three or four intimate conversations with his father before he died of syphilis at age 46.

Churchill always desired to be a politician and reached his goal at the age of 26 through fame as a correspondent. (writer) and cavalry officer. The humor, strength and true greatness of Churchill are somehow missing in the film. Perhaps in a sequel to the film these qualities will be emphasized.

There was, however, in the final scene the presence of that winsome grin, the cigar-puffing and a statement by Churchill himself that he married Clementine Honder and "lived happily ever after."

Language Book Due
Sometime next month, the product of 24 years of correspondence among six language authorities around the country will be published by Charles G. Thomas under the title, "The Modification of Language Behavior."

Dr. Benjamin Labey of PIU's psychology department edited the book and contributed the chapter on minority group languages. The other five co-authors dealt with the language difficulties of mentally retarded and schizophrenic children, stuttering, aphasia and clattering.

English has already been shown to be the most difficult language for non-native speakers. Research has shown that non-native speaking children under the age of seven have a better opportunity to gain proficiency in English. Since this research is based on the work of the six experts, the book will be a valuable contribution to understanding and treating language problems. Labey said he feels this book will interest parents, psychologists, speech therapists, and educators.
Brownsville Station Concert
To Rock Campus Tonight

By Mike Crites

Brownsville Station, a rock and roll band from Ann Arbor, Mich., will appear in the Village Center Assembly Room tonight. Student tickets are $1.50, and are available at the V.C.'s main desk until 4 p.m. today. Admission for anyone at the door is $4.

Identification cards are required for students to purchase advance tickets. The concert will begin at 8:30 p.m.

with a performance by The Devastations. Brownsville Station will be playing songs from their record, "Night on the Town." The most important numbers in their set are "Country Flavor," "Rock With the Music," and "Wasted (Dead or Alive)." Lester Bangs wrote in the "Rolling Stone" about the group's album:

"...There's enough monster moves in here to make this well worth shelling out a few shekels for.

Cub Koda, lead guitarist, spoke of the group's philosophy in a "Zoo World" interview: "We feel that people should admit that they are in the business of entertaining people, that they are entertainers. That's why we do the little things, naps and comedy bits, jump tunes, things to spice up the evening." Brilliant colors and wild styles are employed in the costuming of the band. They wear orange high-heeled boots, aerialist tights, hot pants, silver fringe, flowered jackets and other outlandish clothes.

Gray Shaw analyzed the band in "Fusion": Brownsville Station decided it was time to show the world that rock and roll doesn't have to be Chuck Berry songs, it can be thoroughly contemporary.

During 1972 Brownsville Station performed in Orlando's Tangerine Bowl and St. Peterbarg's Bay Front Center. The band is dedicated to audience participation and enthusiasm through rock and roll music.

So far we have experienced no real problems with the computer in fact we are presently running all of our student programs over the Tampa computer.

PROBLEMS with past registrations have included difficulties in the communication between the terminal here and the computer in Gainesville. Morris said the problem of distance remains uncomplicated and is complicated by the fact that transmission now goes through two telephone companies rather than one, as it did when Gainesville's computer was being used.

He said the system is workable, but he still feels the best system would be for FTU to have its own computer. But since that is not financially feasible he said FTU will have to share the present system by devising adequate back-up systems.

Vice President for Business Affairs John P. Goree said that under the present timetable a remote job terminal for administrative purposes should be set up by April. He said that once the new system is rolling the university will be able to do more things than it could with the University of Florida's computer.

NOT ONLY are programs being connected but plans are being laid for their change. Morris said two major changes are under wraps for the registration program.

Cambell said the university will not run the risk of using the new system for next quarter's registration if there is any chance it will not operate, thus inconvenience students.

Modern Art Bizarre
But Not Beautiful

By Weber ivy

Who says art has to be lovely, and easy to understand, yet enticing in its richness of meaning and detail, full of the zest and life of the artist, pointing the way to be a touching truth about ourselves? Well, there are still a few die-hard laymen, like myself, who, objectively, insist that anything calling itself art should have an accessible importance as well as an impact.

From the Mark Lynch sculpture exhibit in the Village Center Art Gallery, the writer came away with a general impression of overpriced ugliness whose implied message was, "This is modern art, which you can never hope to understand. Get used to it."

Indeed, the "Frog Skin," a large, contorted canvas selling for $1,300, seemed to ward off every eye within 50 miles of it, as it slowly turned in and out, following the air currents in the room while it hung from the ceiling like the charred victim of a prehistoric lava flow.

There were works such as "Toxic," which the writer found interesting in a bizarre sort of way, but all of the exhibited works seem designed to provoke a discussion of the possibility of having delicacy and taste thwarted in any serious forms of study, color, depth and texture. If you are still interested in this kind of exhibits come by the Village Center Art Gallery anytime from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

What a delightful contrast we have in the two expositions from the Library lobby! As you go through the front door you will find "Journals and Sketchbooks at Red Reeler," a contemporary example of the student pundits of visually and verbally recording the impressions that a man gains from travels through counties, personalities and his own mind.

Reeves, a native of Winter Garden, renders in lines such subjects as the face of Greta Garbo, provocatively half hidden by her raincoat as she walks through the street; the woman who won a 1915 "Better Babies Contest" at the Orlando Fair; a "British Sketchbook," appearing in the Winter Garden Times, which gave a daily account of a summer stay in England, and many other things.

Beside the stairway in the lobby is Arnold Cain's photographic rendering of the people of Israel. Looking at the photographs, the writer sensed the paradox of a modern nation rising out of an ancient land. An old fortress over looks a parking lot, a sky scraper towers heavily over sun bleached stone houses which look as though they had sprouted on the dead cement shoes.

Above all, it is a portrait of a people's life, from the Westernized patrons of a Tel Aviv ideala cafe to the hatted dressed Arab slipping a bottled drink through a slotted door.

As Arnold Cain says, "It will be obvious to the observer that these are a people a great warmth and humanity."

Channel 24 Gets Pledges

Public television, Channel 24, has announced that $11,677 has been received in pledges so the station can pay for the new mobile unit and continue broadcasting during the week.

The new unit will be used to fulfill an existing contract with the Orange County School Board.

The station discovered late last year that a former employee had taken $11,677 in channel funds and fabricated a $100,000 pledge supposedly made by a wealthy citizen. The ex-employee's father repaid the $11,677 but the station acting manager announced January 4 that the station's two nightly public affairs programs, "Feedback" and "Report," had been cancelled indefinitely due to the financial crisis. Sixteen employees also had to be laid off.

The station will also discontinue broadcasting on Friday and Saturday nights after January 20.

The station found out 75 per cent favor the quarterly system, 20 per cent favor semester and 5 per cent are undecided. (Photo by Robert Biedenbich)

Channel 24 receives no advertising revenue, so the station is dependent on viewer support. Viewers can become contributing members for $35 a dollar.

Recovered Mike Vaughn Returns To FTU and Friends
By Sal Seminara

For FTU student Mike Vaughn a ten month ordeal is just about over and thankfully this is one story with a happy ending.

The story began last March when Mike, like most other students, was busy studying for finals. He had been trying to fight off the flu for a couple weeks, but at the time he was more worried about his finals than his health.

The flu attacked Mike's kidneys, which had been weakened by a rare illness he has had since he was two years old. By the end of March his kidneys had completely stopped functioning and his life was in danger. He suffered from a disease he has had since he was two, which had been weakened by a couple weeks, but at the time he had had an attack of the flu. Mike's machine in Gainesville, Florida was more worried than his health.

Mike was hospitalized in Gainesville, Florida after 6 weeks of treatment, and thankfully this is one story with a happy ending. Mike was more worried than his health.

When asked who he would like to thank for the financial and moral support he received, Mike responded with an emphatic and sincere, "Everybody!"

For all the help and support Mike received, he asks only that one thing: "Please stop using cars!"

The University of Hawaii has come up with a new course offering that may appeal to students complaining of air pollution and worsening traffic congestion. The course, entitled Survival 495, offers two credits per semester to students who can find their way to and from the campus without using a car.

Gainesville, Florida ......

In a move that surprised absolutely no one, University of Florida President Stephen O'Connell finally managed last week to kick the campus paper, the Florida Alligator, off campus. The paper is now published in violation of university regulations. Investigations have disclosed that the university professors who published the books also receive royalties, a direct violation of rules; however, the book continues in use.

Student To Teach Hatha Yoga Class

After a bicycle accident injured his back, Bill McGrath took up yoga on the advice of his doctor.

New 2½ years later, McGrath's back is not only healed, but also "my nervous system and circulation are in peak condition."

McGrath will be teaching a class in Hatha Yoga starting Monday in the Physical Education dome.

"People have misconceptions about yoga. It is not always standing on your head or lying on a bed of nails," said McGrath.

He added, "This class will deal mostly with asanas (exercises). The exercises are based on the postures of animals, such as the cat, swan, camel and snake. Breathing is an important part of life and many people do not do it correctly. The lung has the capacity to breathe five pints of air and most people use only one pint. So an important part of the class will be dedicated to learning how to breathe correctly with the diaphragm."

"Yoga is a discipline which brings your mind and body together and teaches you how to function one with the other and not separately. Yoga will increase your flexibility, and tone your muscles and nerves. This class will greatly benefit those who have nervous tension and stomach disorders," said McGrath.

The class sponsored by the Village Center meets every Monday and Thursday from 8-9 p.m. and there is no charge. McGrath asks that participants eat no sooner than two hours before the class, and that they wear loose clothing and bring a blanket.

Newman Sets New Courses

Plans for OPUS, an open-university program offering courses of general student interest, were recently announced by the Rev. Patrick O'Neill, director of the Center for Campus Ministry (Newman Center).

Father O'Neill said these courses will "teach how to live rather than how to make a living" and will attempt to "make the student conscious of the resources he has on hand."

Courses to be offered include breadmaking, candlemaking, real estate investments, "money-how to make it," history of Christianity, death and dying and the search for God.
Rajchel Describes Co-op Beginnings

“Cooperative education began in the Garden of Eden when God told Adam that he would have to earn his keep by the sweat of his brow,” said Thaddeus P. Rajchel, FTU Co-op director.

Rajchel’s remark came after a regional cooperative education seminar. College and university officials from throughout Central Florida attended the workshop held last Wednesday, Jan. 19, in the Administration Building.

W. Rex Brown, FTU vice president for student affairs, began the meeting saying, “Cooperative education gives students practical experience and an understanding of human relations, aids students financially and makes studies more meaningful.”

In the Co-op program, students alternate quarters of academic work and employment.

Tram Plan Considered

FTU is currently looking with interest at the University of Florida’s proposed experimental tram system. Fred Clayton, FTU director of university physical planning, said consideration for a tram system of some sort at FTU was made even before construction was began on the campus.

The University of Florida was recently given administrative approval for an experimental tram system on the Gainesville campus. Pending final approval by the Arrow Development Corp., an operating tram system is expected sometime this quarter, and it is this system in which FTU is interested. Clayton said he feels a tram system at FTU would be “quite feasible” and hopes to see a system similar to the one at the University of Florida here in the future.

FTU Faces North Georgia, Bloomfield This Weekend

Knights Reverse Debacle
Into 106-56 Atlantic Thrashing

By Larry McCorkle
Sports Editor

FTU's neighbored the day.

That's how different FTU's basketball Knights looked in consecutive games last Wednesday and Saturday nights.

LAST WEDNESDAY the Knights took on a little too much to handle in Memphis State. State won 124-75. And then on Saturday FTU met probably quite not enough in Palm Beach Atlantic. FTU won 106-56.

This weekend FTU hopes to extend their one-game win streak when they take on North Georgia tonight at 8 and Bloomfield Saturday, also at 8 p.m. Both games will be played at Oviedo High, not at Lake Highland.

How could FTU play so different in two games?

Realistically, one must take into account that Memphis State is one of the elite teams in the nation, led by three legitimate All-American candidates.

GUARD LARRY FINCH led the Tigers with 34 points including 13-21 from the floor-and most from 15-25 ft. Forward Ronnie Robinson, a 6-8 leaper, and equally tall Larry Keen pulled down 37 rebounds between them as Memphis State outrebounded FTU, 82-60.

Without a doubt, Memphis State is very talented. The Tigers were aided by a capacity crowd of 11,600, who came out to cheer while Finch and Robinson arrowed the scoring and rebounding records.

MEMPHIS STATE was aided even more by a coldshooting FTU squad. The poor shooting forced the Knights to abandon their slowdown and try to run-and-shoot with Memphis State. FTU hit only 14 of 44 shots in the first half when State took a 61-28 advantage.

Mike Clark scored 16 points, 6-4 frame to spring for rebounds and 15 points. It was his defensive rebounding that started many fastbreaks which ended with Mike Clark or Arnett Hall driving for layups.

The press worked to effectively FTU took a 21-3 lead at one time in the first half.

With a comfortable lead, Coach Torchy Clark was able to substitute liberally and two freshmen responded with sound efforts. Guard Steve Armitage scored 12 points and 6-7 center Willy Boslow had 13 points and seven rebounds.

ASSISTANT COACH Ben Metz explained the difference in the two games. "After gaining a little humility against Memphis State, we had more incentive for improvement against teams of our own caliber."

About the only negative thing about the game was the injury to captain Mike Clark. Clark suffered an ankle injury as he committed his fifth foul with almost 15 minutes left in the game. Clark may not be ready for tonight's game with North Georgia.

North Georgia, you may remember, is the team that beat FTU 87-56 last year when "Future" Mike Smith failed to make the game when he missed the plane.

RETURNING for North Georgia is the entire starting five, including Jim Hyder who hit for 27 points in last year's win over FTU. Added to last year's starting five are two junior college transfers, 6-6 Tony Harris and 6-9 Johnny Glitsop.

On Saturday FTU plays Bloomfield at Oviedo High Gym. Bloomfield also returns their entire starting five. A point worth repeating for those of you planning to attend the games this weekend, both will be played at Oviedo--not Lake Highland.

Mike Smith uncould his 6-4 frame to spring for 20 rebounds and 16 points. It was the Women's Athletic Association who open the basketball season Tuesday at 7 p.m. against Rollins.

Last year FTU's WAA carried a 9-3 record both teams were deflected by Rollins by 14- and three-point margins.

WAA's other games with include another match with Rollins, Florida State, Florida, South Florida, Indiana CC and the state tournament in Miami. Jody Hall, a St. Petersburg JC transfer, highlights the present team. J. J. Kile, also from St. Petersburg, and June Fortune, a Brookville CC graduate, will aid the team greatly. Those three, along with returnees Anne Kennedy and clever Karen Mathews give FTU a strong team. Jim Shepard and Maria Mora give the team additional depth.

Wilbur Davis will coach the team. Anyone interested in playing should call 4742 and ask for J.J.

FTUS FAWELL Byrd, called "Mighty Mouse" by his teammates because of his small size but enormous strength, successfully lifts 250 lbs. in the clean and jerk during action of the Florida Invitational Weightlifting Meet held at FTU last Saturday. FTU Grapplers Favored In FSU, FAMU Tri-Meet

By Fred Cay
Assistant Sports Editor

FTU's wrestling Knights travel to Tallahassee tomorrow afternoon, looking to up their record as they take on Florida State and Florida A&M. Last year the Knights unfurled both in dual meets and Florida A&M. Their record of 6-9 for this year's squad is apparently improved over last season's edition--thus giving them a good chance they'll walk away winners in this encounter.

On Tuesday, Gerry McGrath's young grapplers will journey down the road to Tallahassee to face the University of Tampa and one of the nation's top collegiate wrestling outfits, Florida State. Carr, also the center on the Spartans' 135-pound champion football squad, was the College Division National champion in the 120-pound class and set a new record in both the NCAA tourney and the Olympic trials.

Tampa also has a new coach, Joe Windell, himself a former collegiate wrestler.

The Knights faced East Stroudsburg, Pa., in their most recent dual meet Jan. 13 in the Village Center. The result was a 10-0 loss. "It's time for us to make up for East Stroudsburg," the best we've faced this year," according to McGrath.

The best wrestler on this Knights team is the still Lockenbach, an All-American last year who figures to repeat this season. He pinned Shivers in 3:30 after Shivers had taken a surprising early lead.

Social Tennis Different Than Match Play Tennis

By Bill McGrath

Most persons think of tennis as a singles game, but it is not and not too strenous. Well, that is true for the average social game of tennis where most of the time is spent picking up balls. When it comes to competitive tennis, however, it's a whole new ball game--especially when players compete in tournaments.

Only top players from other states and other countries compete in the events and only California and Florida have year round tennis courts.

These weekend tournaments allow players to gain a ranking, the yardstick for measuring a player's ability, since they are sanctioned by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association.

For the collegiate tennis players, tournaments allow an opportunity to gain the experience which comes from playing in a select field with all the players of the top echelons of FTU's tennis team have played in several of the tournaments on the Florida tennis circuit and have made excellent showings.

Youth tennis has also developed. Young amateur players, foreign players, two from out of state and four top area players.

In a tournament match, a player needs to combine quickness, foot work, hours of speed, endurance. Matches last two to three hours with no time-outs or half times. In an average match a player can expect to run more than four miles.

The most important factor in tournament play, however, is concentration over a long period of time. The most difficult thing is keeping your head together when your body says to give in. This is often the difference between winning and losing a match.

The key to a good trip is playing condition the FTU squad is working out 15 hours a week and is gaining the way. The visitors a commanding 15-3 lead after Shivers had taken a surprising early lead.

Patton Is A Winner -- Not A Quitter!

By Fred Cay

Charlie Patton quit FTU's wrestling effort after three days-a-couple weeks back. Discouraged by losing and feeling frustrated in getting anywhere in the sport, he needed a lot of coaxing from friends before reconsidering and rejoining the team. He's definitely glad that he came back.

Returning, Charlie has looked like a new man rather than the inconsistent performer of the past two years. He's not only winning; he is displaying state championship form, according to his assistant coach and good buddy John Roue. Why this big turnaround?

"I've got the right mental attitude now," Charlie explained. "I decided I'd just have to come back and try harder. After I quit the team I was just loafing around and really wasn't myself. My friends on the team reminded me that I should come back."

A wrestler-coach) who has "served as an inspiration" to Patton. One of the friends he credits with helping is Joe Yanovitch--"the best we've respectively.

"I just needed a proper outlook," he went on. "I was taught the right techniques all along."

TKE Upsets ATO, 34-31; SSX, ATO Battle Today

This afternoon's much-anticipated basketball match-up of Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Sigma Chi no longer features two undefeated teams due to a surprising upset this week.

Tau Kappa Epsilon's squad upstaged today's main event on Wednesday as they defeated arch-rival ATO 34-31, in the exciting wrap-up of the January 9 suspended contest. The game continued from the midway point, with TKE leading 17-15 (the halftime score).

TKE came out red-hot, scoring 18 of the first 27 points, and put ATO in a 30-19 hole.

TKE picked up their 13-point spurt on the strong board-work of Dale Wise, who also scored 9, and a bed shooting spree by the whole team. However, they became overly cautious with the lead and nearly blew it with numerous turnovers. Larry and Rich Johnston and Bill Whiddon all hit jumpers, and Kurt Wolfe made two from close range for ATO. Sufficiently it was 32-20 with about two minutes remaining.

Then Wise made the play that probably saved the day for his first team, stealing an inbounds pass directly under the basket and laying it in for the two points that broke the scoring drought. Then Larry Johnson's 16-footer cut it to 32-31. A free throw by TKE's Jay Ferguson made it 33-31. When Ferguson missed the second attempt of the one-on-one, ATO rebounded and quickly called timeout with seven seconds to play, but the time-out was their fourth of the half-one over the limit—resulting in a technical foul. Ferguson made the free throw to set up the win and hand ATO the stunning defeat.

So some of the luster may have disappeared from today's SSX-ATO contest, but little of the importance has. SSX, 3-0, could put themselves well on the way to the Fraternity title with a 3-1 finish. Then ATO overwhelmed and quickly called timeout with seven seconds to play, but the time-out was their fourth of the half—one over the limit—resulting in a technical foul. Ferguson made the free throw to set up the win and hand ATO the stunning defeat.

Ferguson made the free throw to set up the win and hand ATO the stunning defeat.
