Cabinet Vote Applauded By Murray

Reacting to the State Cabinet's decision to revert FTU's name change problem to the Board of Regents, former Regents Dr. Louis Murray said he most intimately concerned with selected for reasons that were now unclear to all but the persons been expressed by everybody be considered in a different light it's been referred to the Regents.

Murray said he felt the problem came to a head when the last of three choices was selected for reasons that were unclear to all but the persons most intimately concerned with the matter.

"People don't understand enough about why the first and second choices were rejected and the third was selected," Murray commented, "I think this is the best way to go about it. I'm glad it's been referred to the Regents. This way things will be quieted down, and there will be more time to consider the alternatives. You can be it will be considered in a different light now that more sentiment has been expressed by everybody involved."

Millican Pledges Renewed Efforts

By Sharon Mendel

FTU's quest for a "totally acceptable new name" may be an impossible dream, President Charles N. Millican suggested in a meeting of university leaders Wednesday and continued that "it is obvious in all the searching and suggesting that has taken place so far, no one has found a completely acceptable name, perhaps there isn't one," said Millican.

Coming on the heels of the State Cabinet's rejection of the name State University at Orlando, the meeting was called to announce Millican's decision about "new efforts" toward finding a name for the university.

The meeting marked the second time in as many weeks that an assembly which included the Faculty Senate, Student Government Senate, Staff Council and Administrative Council has met to discuss FTU's proposed name change.

Millican reported to the assembly results of the Cabinet's session and announced he would "not initiate a move to resubmit the matter to the Board of Regents, by their May 15 meeting." "I would prefer at this time," he said, "to wait a couple of weeks and let the Board find out what their feelings are, and then go on from there.

In his presentation Millican stressed the importance of cooperation of all segments of the university community in further attempts to rename the school. "I want everyone to work together to prevent factionalism, and I want everyone to work through the proper channels. If we wait a couple of weeks and let the Board sit on the back burner and simmer, then perhaps something will emerge that will be a good answer."

Based largely on almost unprecedented negative reaction from students and other members of the university, the Cabinet sitting as the State Board of Education voted unanimously last Monday to refer the name change back to the BOR.

A petition containing 1,409 names of students, faculty and staff members was presented to Millican by Student Government President Steven Adamicke Monday, before the meeting. Millican later handed the petition to members of the Cabinet.

"I'm never one to argue with as much brain power as you have represented here today," remarked Tom O'Malley, state insurance commissioner. O'Malley also suggested Central Florida University as a possible alternative.

All Cabinet members were in agreement that the word "Florida" should be included in the name, but emphasized their request was to approve or disapprove a name submitted to them by the Board of Regents.

According to Millican, when the matter is taken up again, all of the 45 names originally submitted to the BOR will be submitted along with any new suggestions.

Millican Calls NameChange Meeting

By Pete Spiley

Before leaving for Tuesday's meeting with the State Cabinet in Tallahassee, FTU President Charles N. Millican called an informal meeting of the morning of April 16 with representatives of several campus organizations.

The purpose of the meeting was to come to a measure of agreement on the name. The Board of Regents in its meeting on April 16 approved seven names for the University of Central Florida. Millican wanted to offer each group a last opportunity for debate.

The possibility of adding the word "central" to the new name was ruled out early in the meeting. Millican cited two instances in which the University of Central Florida had been used, each by a nonprofessional organization and which in each case, litigation against the owners occurred.

According to Millican, if any wording containing "Central Florida" was used, the likelihood of either a suit being filed against the university or the "riding on the coattails of the university by the former owners of the name" would be highly possible.

The majority of the representatives at the meeting favored adding "Florida" to the name of Regents' proposed title, making the new name read, "The University of Florida at Orlando, Florida." The other major opinion was to avoid going back to the Board of

State Board Of Education Hears SG Name Proposal

After hours of discussion with President Charles N. Millican, the Faculty Senate and the members of Student Government, SG President Steven Adamicke left for Tallahassee April 16 with Central Florida State University as the SG choice for FTU's new name.

SG arrived at this name selection as the aftermath of combined special SG sessions April 10 and 12. The SG Senate met on April 12 to decide what name Adamicke would take to the State Board of Education, which consists of the governor, the secretary of agriculture, the insurance commissioner, the attorney general and the commissioner of education.

SG Judicial Board Rules Sirianni Eligible To Run

By Joe Rodriguez

Jack Sirianni, disqualified earlier from running for Student Government president in this week's elections, is back in the race, due to a decision Tuesday by the Student Judiciary Advisory Board.

The SG Elections Commission ruled April 10 that Sirianni had violated election regulations, thus making him ineligible to campaign for office. Sirianni appealed the Elections Commission's ruling to the Student Judicial Advisory Board Tuesday and won a reversal.

The controversy began over a Pegasus News Network broadcast April 9 of an interview with student candidates running for Student Government president. When Sirianni was asked about the upcoming elections he stated, "I hope to be a candidate for Student Government president," and continued without mentioning his platform. Sirianni explained that (Continued on Page 4)
Adamic's Successor Faces High Standards

It's election time again, and no election would be complete without its standard anti-steph, pro-vote editorial. Well, this election will just have to make do without such comments.

Rather than a plea for votes, this time it will be a tribute to someone already elected. Steve Adamic, current Student Government president, has not said much during his administration. He has been the quiet man in a time when it is fashionable for students to be loud. He has been overworked perhaps and unforthright, at least as far as this newspaper is concerned. He has had successes and failures. He has presented students with a listening ear and hands to help. He has presented to administrators a controlled, mature approach to obtaining needed changes, an approach that has more likely increased their respect for students leading men.

Rather than a plea to students to vote this election (a useless plea at best), this is a plea to students who may succeed our current student body president, Heidi well his successes and failures — heed well, and succeed him well, for the future of Student Government depends on it.

To the administration, he is the student body.

It can be said, Steve Adamic has been a good student body. We will miss him.

Editor:

Shatred! This one word seems to be increasingly popular as well as the set associated with this simple word at FTU.

It is a cliche. It is frustrating. It is totally hopeless unless all of us do something.

Get out of your do-nothing, agnostic, unenthusiastic laziest chair and quit giving the few people in this university who try to do something the SHAT.

I'm fed up and exasperated at the pig squealing I hear from students. I don't like the food service or the university name. The change. The newspaper and radio stations are lousy. I despise all Greeks and why don't we have beer on campus? This university is a drag on weekends and student government hasn't done a thing all year.

Maybe the motto, 'Reach for the slop,' from the cartoon in last week's paper would be fitting because there seems to be a bottomless pit of misconceptions, complaints and self-inflicted pity littering this campus.

Anyone who does anything at FTU is used as a smokepet for those people who don't do a damn thing. I know that I am as guilty as anyone for the things I've griped about in this letter, but I feel better for closing some of the air. I feel that now is the time for action, positive action.

Join forces... get involved, be enthusiastic. GIVE A DAMN!\(^1\)

The department of theatre sincerely regrets the misunderstandings and inconvenience indicated in three letters to you last week regarding our handling of the tickets.

The audience at "How to Succeed in Business, etc." was the interesting thing. Rather than a plea to students to make reservations and arrive by 8:15. This is not unreasonable; in fact, it is standard at most shows. If the tickets were distributed in advance we would probably have sympathy from people who tend to not take seriously something they don't have to pay for, and frequently decide after getting the tickets not to attend the performance.

Adamick Backs Constantine Ticket

By Sharon Marek

Adamick, currently Constantine's vice president, is, according to Adamick, "the most experienced of those candidates running, and therefore will make the best student body president." A junior in the College of Social Science, Constantine has three years in FTU Student Government. Two years as senator and one year as Adamick's vice president. "As vice president, he has been privy to all the information that I have had as president," said Adamick. "He is not only familiar with the operations of Student Government in general and the senate in particular, but he is also very familiar with the operations of the university. This includes the rules and regulations that have affected nearly 50 per cent of my daily activities for the last year." According to Adamick, if someone were elected who was not familiar with these rules and regulations, "it would take months for him to learn proper procedures as set forth by the state. If someone without this experience is elected, it will probably be the first time in the history of SG that a president reigns before his term ended."

Price Increases Modify Humanities Construction

By Mark Weinst

The Jews of the nationwide inflationary trend are manifesting building plans on campus.

FTU Director of University Physical Planning Fred Clayton said the delay in the construction of the Humanities Building is because of inflation. The interim between the allocation of building funds and the actual construction brought a rise in cost of building materials sizable enough to call for a revision of plans, Clayton elaborated.

Clayton emphatically explained the plans for the Humanities Building were revised without sacrificing "one square foot of space." He said the cost reductions were made by altering different types of building materials used.

The white-haired planning expert declared the necessary adjustments were made without any damage to the project, but such adjustments required going over the plans with "a fine tooth comb."

Clayton stated the money for the Humanities Building is now available and work on it is expected to begin within a month.

According to Clayton, the Humanities Building is not only project affected by inflation. He said the Education and Biological Science Buildings also face construction imposed by inflation.

Clayton said, "when you face inflation, it's hard to try and plan a project one or two years in the future. We used to know how much materials would cost and what you could do but we have to constantly revise our plans."

The director of planning said that such revisions demand that the architects, contractors, the planning department and Tallahassee's Department of General Studies (DGS) work very closely together in order to come up with the best solution.

Last week the DGS approved May 24 as the date to receive applications for the construction of the Biological Sciences Building. When the bids are received they will be sent to the DGS for final approval. Construction is expected to take a year.

The proposed Education Building is at the very beginning of the planning process, according to Clayton. He said it will take at least a year to plan the building.

When asked if he thought inflation would continue to be a serious problem Clayton replied, "If inflation continues at the present rate it will eventually stop building everywhere."

Humanities Plans New Department

By Pete Reynolds

DR. CHARLES N. Miscarelly, dean of the College of Humanities and Fine Arts, announced Thursday a major change in the curriculum of this humanities department designed to eliminate the duplication of courses in different departments.

This is to accompany the inception of a new department to be called the department of philosophy, religion and humanities. The new department will replace the old humanities department.

This action is a result of recommendations made to the dean by the H&FA chairman's and curriculum committees and many individuals, including students. Besides the alteration of name and curricula, there are a number of other important changes to take place.

The first of these changes is in the curriculum of the humanities degree. The degree is to be retained but the number of courses will be cut from 26 to 23. This decision to this is Humanities 201 and three capstone senior courses to be taken only in the senior year which will draw together the subjects the students have been taking.

Another change is in the distribution of the faculty of the humanities department. Dr. Robert Flick will remain as chairman, and some of the present staff will be retained on the faculty of this department.

However, those members of the faculty who received their degrees in fields other than humanities will be invited to join the faculty of the departments in which their degree was awarded. This last move is to be taken with every consideration possible for the best interests of the faculty involved, Miscarelly explained. All instructors now in the humanities department will be retained.

The dean plans to instruct Flick to develop a new curriculum for the humanities degree. This will allow for the consultation of the other members of the faculty and all students who are involved and would like to participate.

Distribution Of Funding Under Study

By Mike Crites

Debate concerning fair distribution of state educational funds is currently under way in the Florida House of Representatives in Tallahassee.

There is no way to determine, at this time, what effect their decision will have on FTU.

Last week the Florida State Supreme Court ruled the legislative auditor's tax ratio study invalid. The former method of distributing school aid in proportions to local revenue. It finally allowed the most per-pupil assistance to be allocated to property poor and rich counties.

Although FTU's funds will come from the same educational budget as the public schools the State University System is not affected by the tax assessment structure.

House Speaker Terrell Simmons warned the legislature will be forced to come line on all but emergency fund programs if the special committee does not come up with a new school funding formula in ten days. The House Finance and Taxation Committee is faced with the task of finding a substitute for the statewide property tax ratio study rejected by the Supreme Court.

The legislature will hold all educational spending if a decision is reached. Rep. Ralph Turbinling, D-Gainesville, said the bill under study would allow local assessors and State Revenue Department officials to "gracefully professional their work."

Dr. John Bolt, associate dean for academic affairs, commented FTU will not know how the legislation will affect the university until after the appropriations for the 1973-74 school year are made.
Theatre Power Revealed Backstage

By Mary Anna Jackson

FRANCIA Kaufman isn't the stereotyped theatre major whose primary ambition is to be a great actress. She is perfectly content to remain in the backstage position where the real power of a production lies in the job of stage manager.

The petite, pixyish blonde, who has stage-managed five major productions, including the upcoming play "The Rivals," readily admits she prefers her backstage job to an acting role.

"I don't feel comfortable on stage," she explained, speaking from experience. She has had small roles in "The Three of Your Life," "Juno and the Paycock," and "The House of Bernarda Alba," the latter two of which she also stage-managed. "I've always played little old ladies," she laughingly pointed out.

All stage manager, Frans is responsible for the entire production from the first technical rehearsal through closing night. Before that time her duties are coordinated to the director's activities.

Dr. David Mays, with whom Frans has worked on several plays, explained the stage manager's role in terms of what goes on behind the footlights and the stage door. In her realm, she is in charge of coordinating all backstage activities—sound, lighting, properties, costumes and actors.

Mary added the stage manager has the additional function of being the liaison between actors and director, and the stage manager "keeps the book" of production notes before technical rehearsals begin.

"In this early stage of production, I have to make sure everyone is there and knows lines and blocking, but I don't really start working until tech rehearsal," Frans said. "During the production I have to make sure the stage is set, keep everyone quiet backstage and close up the theatre. Theoretically, I'm the last one out."

Fran commented that being stage manager has helped strengthen her personality "a lot."

"I'm turning into a power freak," Frans said with a laugh. "I like being the boss, but I know a lot of the actors have disliked me on occasion. I don't have a tact; I yell a lot... no, I don't want to say that. I might just be blowing it down, that's another matter.

"Tech rehearsals were easier in the tent," Frans reminisced. "I could sit in the house and yell to everyone. The first tech rehearsal in the Science Auditorium was a disaster. The head sets weren't working and I had to run back and forth between the sound booth and the stage."

When asked about the plays she has stage-managed, Frans said the upcoming production of "The Rivals" looks as if it will be the most fun. An unusual feature of "The Rivals" will be the blowing of a whistle to signal scene changes, as in the original 1770 production. Frans will be the power behind the blow.

"It had the lead to do with "The Bald Soprano" and 'The House of Bernarda Alba,'" Frans explained, "and there was some trouble coordinating the acting and this is 'Right You Are.'"

Fran said she would like to continue with a career in theatre as a stage manager, or in some similar capacity, but has no immediate plans for her future after she graduates in June.

Change Runs Dry
In Library Building

Editor:

What is this nonsense? What is the university coming to now? Don't we have enough problems just trying to determine an acceptable name? Do we now have to find pettiness undermining the primary function of the university, which I was led to believe was serving the student body - without which there would be no university?

I'm speaking of the latest folly on the part of the library - yet another 'gimmick' to pander to students' use in the copying machines. The staff's advice is to obtain the necessary change from the dollar bill change machine on the second floor of the library or from the Auxiliary Services office in the Administration Building.

In the past week I have encountered two inherent difficulties with their latest policy blunder. In the evening, the change-making machine on the second floor is frequently without change. Where does one obtain change in that event, as the Auxiliary Services office has long since been closed (poor choice that it is) and, if the hour is late, the money changer bar is also closed, just in case the library staff thinks (!) to suggest that as the next alternative.

The second problem I encountered was in obtaining change for quarters. Of the two copy machines on the fourth floor, one was totally out of order and the other indicated that correct change only must be used. On the third floor, one machine had a note on it saying "check only" and the other... was in working order, however, the line was, as expected, several persons long.

I inquired at the reserve desk if they would be willing, under the circumstances, to give me change for a mere quarter, but was firmly informed, first, that they had no change, and, second, after reluctantly admitting they did have change, that they were not allowed to give change out of a machine for the purpose of using the copy machines, that that was now the sole responsibility of Auxiliary Services.

Now, really, must the student body put up with such petty underestimating between university departments? The library is primarily for the use of FTU students, and this includes a need for copy machines to be made available for their use. Without change, the copy machines are not available. How long must we tolerate such foolishness?

Food Service Thanked
For Special Dinner

Editor:

For one, I would like to thank Mr. Elzer, the cafeteria staff and any other persons responsible for the excellent steak dinner prepared by our cafeteria last week. The dinner, complete with waitresses, cloth napkins and tablecloths and four courses, was comparable to eating at one of Orlando's finer restaurants. The personal attention received was a great deal of work preparing for the dinner and I do think the effort was reflected in a distinctive French restaurant.

Before going on to keep SUO, some prefer a version of "Central Florida University," others like "State University of Florida at Orlando" or some other combination. But President Millican apparently 'squashed' a move by many students favoring a "Central Florida" name, and other FTU officials have killed several proposals of a universitywide poll (for instance, a poll of all students, faculty and staff on campus at 10 a.m. last Monday).

The only alternative is to write the Board of Regents before May 15 and let them know what we want - because they already should have the message about what we don't want.

During the last BOU session, the third name choice was selected after an outright rejection of the first choice and a vote on the second.

"It's time the Board hears us - even if they don't care to listen," wrote Chancellor Robert B. Hume, 107 W. Gables St., Tallahassee, Fla. 32304. A postcard can contain a multitude of suggestions, and it only costs six cents.

We have a chance to choose our own name - an opportunity few university people have.

Make good use of it.

As a participant in the Greek Sing this past semester, I feel it would be wise to attach to the Greek Sing, The Greek, or more or less, a talent show for fraternities and sororities. This past Greek Sing, the Greek, and the talent show were without a doubt one of the best (closed) events that night. In fact it is a fact that when the Tekes began to perform, two of the seven judges left the room. Then after the second song, the other two (left yet the Tekes) were in the lead. As the songs were finished, I asked these judges, especially the two who left early (incidentally, they were from the music department) was this respectable judging? Do you consider it fair the Tekes? Do you hate 1950s rock and roll music?

Also, I would like to thank Mr. Elzer and the catering department for some of the finest food yet. In bold letters in the rule-book, it states "no on-campus events on Saturday." It seems that only "Take and Kappa" and "Dub and Sig" got a copy.

Do you think we impressed independents with the Greek Sing? Well? Would you do the same act if your mother was in the audience? I sure YKS: I don't think the secretaries would like it.

As for the awards ceremony of the following night, I was glad to announce the awards demonstrated the manners of a real Greek party and the intelligence to match. He definitely did not add anything to Greek and appealing change for the wear destroyed, in ten minutes, which has taken six years to build in pieces of Greek cohesiveness.

A 14-foot shark was discovered in the reflecting pond early yesterday morning by the University Police Department. The shark was found by officers Frank Kerns and Bill Wiggins at 3:17 a.m. while they were on routine patrol. As they were taking down the shark's serial number and fining it for failing to have a parking sticker, a van with out-of-date tags went speeding by 3 miles per hour over the official posted speed limit. The officers followed the vehicle and stopped it.

Two males in their early 20s who were riding in the truck were apprehended. Found in their possession was six pounds of Columbia Shark Bait, nine No. 12 and No. 8 baublocks, a fishing pole and eight pounds of mullet wrapped in April 5's Sunday comic section of a local paper.

The suspects were taken to security headquarters and booked at 4:02 a.m. on 2-72, a 10-71, a 3-62 and a 9-8.

Because of possible legal ramifications, further information regarding the suspects was withheld from the press.

Plans to rid the pond of the shark have already been made. Several members of FTU's faculty and administration have made offers to catch the shark using rod and reel. Even President Charles Millican has volunteered. Millican will get the first try, however, because as Chief of Security John Smith said, "He is the president."

To find out what challenge Millican would be facing, Dr. Fimmel Babcock, head of FTU's underwater marine vertebrate department of marine biology, was asked what he knew about the shark.

Babcock said, "The shark we have here is a Dorylis Teridienous, Gravidious. It is 4.87 meters in length and weighs a mere 528 kilograms."

When asked if the shark could be a man-eater, Babcock replied, "It could certainly eat a man or a woman or couple of children if it wanted to." He added that he was somewhat puzzled how the shark could survive in the reflecting pond.

His department had made tests on the pond water in February that had shown the shark should have been killed instantly by the large amounts of Plasmodium Corox virus that is present. Many students feel the shark should be left in the pond and be made the university's official mascot.

SG President Steve Adamick has called for a special SG Senate meeting to draft a resolution to save the shark because of the tremendous response by the student body.

If it fails, President Millican will proceed as planned and start fishing for the shark at 5 p.m. today. The president picked this time because he said he finds fish generally bite better in the late afternoon. If he is successful, he plans to have the shark mounted and placed on the wall of his office next to his tarpon.

By Weber Ivy

While browsing through Jack Dunathan's collection of photographs in the Village Center Art Gallery, I discovered a wapu nest in the tall grass, commuter with the crows and dust of an abandoned home, poked into the waist-deep meadow of a young man's room.

Handsome images and alluring verses led me down into the passing of Santa Claus' sled, to the confrontation of figures in planes, admired virile expressions on a wasp nest in the tall grass, and communed with the cobwebs of a blindfolded man's summer.

Good photographs in the Village Center Art Gallery, color removes the viewer from the earth and heightens his horizon for the return of beautiful vision.

Mike Vax, a trumpet player in the Stan Kenton Orchestra, visited FTU Wednesday to give a clinic study and an evening concert in the V.C. Assembly Room. Vax, a native of Oakland, Calif., has traveled across the nation on the Kenton tours, talking with student musicians. He has played lead trumpet with the Sacramento Opera Orchestra, Stockton Symphony and the Stockton Municipal Band.

Vax has explained his intent as a horn player: “Being a lead trumpet means a lot more than being able to play high and loud. You must have a sound with enough projection and intensity to be heard over the entire orchestra—without Microphones.”

A group of FTU chalk students performed individually in a student recital last Tuesday in the Engineering Auditorium. The introductory selections were performed by pianist Cathy Band. J. Stoner, soprano, sang out the sharp, rapid lyrics of “Fernuta” from the Alexander Sarasateli operas “Pyramus and Demetrius.” She performed “Se tu meri’,” which was listed on the program as a Giovanni Pergolesi composition, but is actually part of Stravinsky’s “Pulcinella.”

Tenor Mitch White, a vocal major and soloist in the FTU choir, gave an outstanding performance of Frank Sinatra’s “Sach's Klipschlag,” a type of 19th century German song which Schubert founded. White continued with L. Deibler’s “Boyfriend.”

Plutist Donna Milanovich gave Kent Kennan’s “Night Solitude” to the audience. Sam Brown, baritone, performed “When Noone” by the 20th century English composer Vaughan Williams and Tchaikovsky’s sweeping “Pilgrim’s Song.” Jorgensen had a singer as Walt Disney World.

Sophomore Nancy Finch chose two compositions by Mozart, “Iotti Batli” from the opera “Don Giovanni” and “Calma Ridiati.” Miss Finch is a soprano soloist in the FTU choir.

The concluding portion of the concert was devoted to the Danish composer D. Buxtheduthe’s “Aperite Mihi, Portis Austina” done by a six member group: White, tenor; Barnes, basso; Jackie Mertens; flutists Katie Nicklin and Miss Finch, and pianist JoAnne Westphal.

Jerry Benton and Miss Westphal alternated as piano accompaniment for the soloists throughout the concert. Richard Schoethbock, associate professor of music, directed the final piece.

Students Participate
In 2nd Model Senate

A National Model U.S. Senate was sponsored for the second year by Stetson University April 12-15.

The purpose of the annual senate was to involve students in the functions of government by portraying U.S. Senators in every sense, said Dr. William J. Jervey, assistant professor of political science and FTU coordinator of the event. The student representatives introduced bills, debated and voted on measures as they believed the senator they portrayed would do.

Jervey further explained that each participating university represents at least one state's senators. At last week's senate, FTU students represented 10 senators from a total of five states.

Those students and the senators they characterized were:
- Edward Kennedy, D-Mass.
- John Muldoonvey (Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass.)
- Jeff Dunlap (Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore.)
- David Elliott (Sen. Lowell Chiles, D-Fla.)
- Jim Morris (Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska)
- Thad Carland (Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska)

Of these students, Dale Higgins received an award for the best bill proposed. The bill was entitled "The Health Securities Act."

Tom Dobson, student body president of the University of West Florida, has been elected to replace Sam Taylor as chairman of the Presidents Council for Student Governments in the state of Florida.

The organization consists of the student body presidents of seven of the Florida state universities. They are a recommending body to the Board of Regents.

As chairman of the council, Dobson's main duty is to keep the council aware of R&D changes and so on.

When Dobson graduates in June, the new student body presidents will elect a new chairman.

Foundation Receives Wanielista Check

The FTU Foundation was presented a $1100 check Tuesday from Dr. Martin Wanielista, director of the Environmental Systems Engineering Institute, which furthers research in lake restoration and educates students on lake restoration.

The money came from the proceeds of a published article by Wanielista, C. W. Sheffield, pollution control officer and Tony Stoddard, bacteriologist, both from the Orange County Pollution Control Department (OCPCD). The article, "Engineering to Improve Lake Quality," was published in the April 1973 issue of Public Works.

The article explored the problems encountered in the recent restoration of Lake Kola. Wanielista and OCPCD will continue work on the lake. Samples from the lake will be tested continuously to document pollution recreation and to help keep the lake fit.

Work will continue with a $275 science grant from FTU. Additional funds will come from Lake Kola project sources along with some OCPCD funds. Wanielista said a total of about 50,000 is available for further study.

Cooperation between FTU and the OCPCD was lauded by the three authors. Sheffield stressed that "without the cooperation of FTU the restoration would not have been successful."

COMING IN & SAY HI!

...is running for President
But FTU Crew Soundly Defeats Rollins, FIT
Coast Guard Narrowly Beats FTU

In their first major regatta of the 1973 racing season, FTU's varsity lightweight eight crew showed that they could be competitive even in tough competition as they lost by only eight feet or .6 second to highly rated Coast Guard Academy, the 1972 small college champions. In the process, FTU soundly defeated FIT and Rollins.

"When we went down there," coach Dennis Kamrad, "I was afraid I had let my guys get over their heads, but I thought the experience would be valuable. As it turned out, not only did they benefit from the experience, they also convinced the other crews what I had thought for some time: we have the nucleus for a very fine program. We just needed a good test to prove it." Kamrad's heavyweight crew did not fare quite as well as the hands of their competitors, placing last in a field of eight with the Vesper Boat Club of Philadelphia, Coast Guard Academy, Rollins College, The Antwerp Rowing Club of Belgium, FIT, Temple University and Florida Southern College, placing in front of them. But even in that defeat, Kamrad remained encouraged.

"Look, we took on top flight material. Coast Guard took first in the small college championship, Rollins took second in 1972. Vesper Boat Club has international experience and has competed in the Olympics, Belgium also has international experience. We were up against the best (both Vesper and Belgium were in FTU's qualifying heat) and we only lost qualifying by two seconds, a little more than a deck. There's no way that I couldn't be proud of those men. They showed me a lot. They had experience; we didn't," he added.

Kamrad's oarsmen weren't the only FTU competitors to enter the Miami Invitational. His newly formed women's crew also entered in exhibition against FIT. In fact, Kamrad had to loan FIT an oarswoman to get the team working on the water at all.

"The girls did a great job. We didn't even know we were going until two weeks ago and at that point we weren't even rowing all eight together. Up until that point we were just out there having fun and learning fundamentals. The girls had a lot of courage. I think I was probably more scared than they were, and undoubtedly we were the prettiest crew entered. They only lost by four seconds to a group that had not only raced but had also been working out all year, and we looked a heck of a lot better. I'm just as proud of them as I am of my guys."

Even Gary Bridges (Kamrad's assistant coach who volunteered to coach the women) agrees. During hot weather close off air conditioning, he said.

FTU finished third in the Rollins Invitational Swim Meet April 13 with a makeshift team consisting of only five people, Rollins took top honors with a team numbering around 30.

Eckerd, Jacksonville, Stetson, St. Leo and West Florida also participated in the meet. Rollins won both relays, while FTU placed second in both the 200 medley relay and the 400 freestyle relay. Individually, FTU's Mike Walker placed first in the 100 breaststroke and the 200 freestyle and second in the 200 individual medley and the 400 free relay. Walker, a freshman from Winter Park, was offered 20 swimming scholarships after high school, but he refused them out of the race. They looked good in practice, but we had several sick and some consistently missing practice because of class conflicts, but they came out looking good in the race and certainly proved that you can be pretty and handle a blade too," Bridges said.

FTU, Rollins Battle To 6-6 Deadlock

FTU earned what might be a moral victory in Wednesday’s 6-6 tie with cross-town rival Rollins, while the Tars were merely fit to be tied by that same score.

The Goldcoast, down 3-0 and 5-1, mounted a late comeback, taking advantage of some inexplicable errors by the Tars to take control of the game.

But the Tars got back into it with two runs in the sixth, making it 5-3, and then tied it up in the seventh with a two-out hit by Greg Perich.

The game was called in the eighth inning due to impending darkness.

Freshman Perich Earns Top Hurler Spot

By Fred Cay

Greg Perich has surprised a lot of people this year, himself included.

"I'm really surprised. I've given all the chances to start this year," Perich said, "and I admit I didn't think I'd do this well."

Perich has done well and when he was named the starting pitcher in last Wednesday’s encounter with Rollins, possibly the first time of the year the minds of FTU players and fans, it was a significant step in the young pitcher’s development.

"I have been a good competitive attitude," Coach Doug Holmquist offered. "He doesn't throw like what he has thrown there. He just concentrates on throwing strikes."

"He doesn't throw really hard yet, but he's mechanically good. And if he stays out physically, he'll be quick."

Perich had a pretty good season at Edgewater but the college innings didn't exactly come as a surprise, with Holmquist one of the few expressing surprise. But even then, a little pinch from a big-league hurler may have had something to do with Perich turning into one of the sleeper finds of the season.

"Rollie Fingers (Oakland A’s relief star) was a cousin of one of the guys on the Edgewater team," Perich said. "He helped me a lot with my fast ball pitch, showing me how to hold the ball different ways to make it do different things—then I worked at it a lot during the summer and fall."

The result was he worked his way into the Goldcoast starting rotation—but not automatically, of course. There were early-season relief appearances against Jacksonville and Florida Bible before his first start against another FTU rival, FIT, for which he got no decision. However, Perich hooked back to his start against Air Force on March 30 as the "turning point."

The 6-0, 155-pounder didn’t win that game, either, but he allowed just one hit and three walks in seven innings before departing with the score knotted, 1-1. Since then, he has been the Goldcoast’s most consistent hurler and certainly has exhibited the best control.

"I’ve improved my speed a lot this year," Perich said. "I need work on my curve, though. It’s in the last inning, I had to hold on to it too long and don’t get it over there."

"Mainly I try to get ahead of the hitters, don’t start throwing my curve until I have to, FIT just go ahead and throw the fastball by them until they prove they can hit it."

The slender, 19-year-old displayed a few symptoms of nervousness appearing in anticipation of last week’s big 6-6 game.

Archery Team

held at FTU two weekends ago.

In the men’s amateur division, Sam Rayna of FTU placed second. In the women’s amateur division, Dena Pickens came in second followed by Lynonne Harvey in third.

Dena Pickens qualified for the U.S. National team tryouts that were to be held last year in El Dorado, California.

Dena is only the second woman from the state of Florida to receive an invitation to compete at the World Championships.

In the men’s category, she was only selected to represent the U.S. in the World Championships in Grenoble, France.

Golf Team Loses, Wins

FTU’s golf team lost to Stetson yesterday by three strokes to 10 April 10. The match was played at the Stetson Country Club.

FTU’s Tony Kirby led the entire field with an even par, 72. John Tanner followed Kirby with a 73, John Whitey (94), Doug Perry (93) rounded and FTU scoring. FTU’s total was 311.

Stetson’s Pete Williams led his team with a 70, while Stetson finished with a team total of 311.

The victory that Holmquist called "our best of the year."
ATO, Team A Win Polo Leagues

Water polo, a sport not generally thought to be one of the world's most exciting, nevertheless produced some of the closest, most action-packed games of this intramural sports year.

Probably the best example would be the battle between Team A and TKE II Wednesday to decide the independent representative in the following day's title game. Team A won it 7-6 and faced fraternity champ Alpha Tau Omega Thursday for the campus championship.

With the score tied 5-5 against TKE II, Team A's Willy Belotte fired in his third score of the game with just 38 seconds to go. However, just moments later Rick Keller put in his fourth goal to deadlock and apparently end their battle.

Little Sisters, 4-0 after Tuesday's action, continued to leave women's softball. The sport winds up tomorrow with Tri-Delta, 4-1, and Tyas, 8-2, the closest pursuers of Little Sisters' most important win so far was a 15-13 squasher over Tyes April 12, a game they nearly blew after leading 11-0.

FTU Faces S. Florida, Rollins This Week

By Bill McGee

Local tennis fans were treated to a dandy of a college tennis match on the courts of FTU April 13. Nationally ranked Florida State, one of the top teams in the country, made an appearance to play FTU before a sparse crowd of onlookers.

FTU coach Dr. Alexander Wood knew what to expect from the visiting Seminoles since he had coached FSU before coming to FTU. It was soon obvious to everyone, however, that the Seminoles had prepared the FTU squad well for the match.

Although they looked cool and casual at the onset of the singles match, after completing the FTU team began to sweat as they realized FSU players with a current lifesaving certificate or one which has expired within the last year is eligible.

In the no. 2, 4, 5 position, the players deadlocked at one set apiece, then went into the deciding third game. The whole process took 2 1/2 hours of continuous play in the steadily rising 90 degree heat.

In the doubles, FTU's no. 1 combo of Mike Doolin and Joe Luetz brought the crowd to the edge of their seats. They defeated Leonard and Diamond 6-4, 4-6, 6-3. At no. 2 doubles, Craig Lintong and Okeefe lost the first set 5-7, but then tied the score at 6-6. As in every other sport so far this year, both took clean
