Revised Visitation Policy Becomes Effective Today

A REvised dormitory visitation policy, which becomes effective today, has resulted from numerous recommendations and conferences.

LARRY P. MATTHEWS, assistant student development director, described the revised policy as "a positive step in making the dorms a pleasant place to live." He said, "We honestly try to be responsive to recommendations students bring to us."

Information and ideas concerning a revision of visitation policy were provided by dormitory students, Student Government, Vice President for Student Affairs W. Rex Brown, graduate students and a state housing meeting.

ACCORDING TO Matthews, the revised policy is much clearer than the old one and is more consistent with Board of Regents (BOR) policy.

The BOR establishes policy guidelines pertaining to visitation, and each university is free to implement and supervise these guidelines.

Matthews declared the state housing meeting, which was held in Gainesville, gave insight into policy interpretation, which led to a more flexible definition of the term "supervision."

"We clarify the old policy called for supervising what went on in visitation rather than supervising the policy itself as described by the BOR."

The residence hall visitation policy has been developed within the guidelines set forth by the Florida Board of Regents in their statement of May 1, 1972.

The definition, purposes and procedures for the visitation policy at FTU follow:

Security Policy

Causes Problem

Editor:

There is a situation that exists on our campus that really needs to be modified. I thought I would publish the following hopes that it would reach the eyes of someone who can make a difference in doing something about it.

I only hope that the situation exists because the administration is ignorant of it, and not because they are unaware of it.

This situation came to my attention through a friend, who just happened to be on your staff. He was in charge of the Florida Symphony Orchestra, and since he was planning to be by 9:30, he left his books in the Administration Building. He figured he would be okay because there are classes there until 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Unfortunately for him, when he returned to pick up his books, the building was locked. A call to security got them to let him in so he could retrieve his books, at the cost of locking himself into the building. The lights were on, but no one could get in.

The event upset me more than I expected because I have had trouble with the lights being on and off. I thought they were supposed to be on until 10 p.m. or whatever it was.

For example, last week my night class, which normally got out until 10 p.m., was dismissed early, and we found ourselves trying to find our way through a locked and dark Administration Building at 9:25 p.m.

My experience is not unique. Conversations with several of the professors who teach at night have revealed that locking the building early is a rule and not the exception.

One of these professors expressed concern for her students because they have to go through a well-lighted room to an extremely dark hallway. She is afraid one of them, whose eyes may have adjusted to the lights, might fall over a piece of furniture and suffer an injury.

Another complaint was received because a professor had forgotten her glasses and had to find a telephone to call Security to unlock the door so she could retrieve them. Luckily her conference with a student after class last didn’t last until the library closed, or she’d had a long, lonely walk to the community college.

On another night, a professor, whose wife also teaches here, was unable to get into the Administration Building so she could pick up her (this was at 9:45 p.m.), and had to walk all the way to her car to use the phone so she could tell her he was unable to get into the building.

A check of this spring’s class schedule revealed that six classes were scheduled until 10:30 or four classes until 9:30.

At least part of the people in these classes are not only late at night and these night hours are the only ones in which they have a chance to meet with their instructors.

The lights-off and locked-door policy of Security makes even a simple trip to the library for a book a reason for some help from a professor a major operation.

If “Access to the Individual” means individual student, then there needs to start practicing it.

Crime Lab Degree Funds Revoked

PTU's development of a degree program for crime laboratory scientists in favor of other suggested projects.

The grant, which was to finance a library, laboratory equipment and faculty for three to five year project, was allowed to the university in August 1971 with the stipulation it would be used to purchase equipment. Commenting on the failure of the council to continue funding the program, PTU's director, Dr. William McGe, said the decision came as a "shock and disappointment to the university." McGe, who has worked this past year on "documenting the necessity of an academic program" to make application to the state for the degree program and has worked to bring the laboratory facilities to their now "sufficiency," said the university has "lived up to its side of the bargain."

Although the grant was cancelled, Governor Reubin Askew directed the council to try to find some alternative method of raising funds for the program. An answer to the dilemma is "promised on or before May 24," said McGe.

A criminal laboratory worker or forensic scientist has as his or her educational background a mixture of criminal law and forensic science. He must be both "a good scientist in the laboratory and able to go before a jury and testify to what he has seen." His major attribute must be "unflattering objectivity," explained McGe.

The present program will run until the end of the summer, during which time a course entitled "Introduction to Criminalistics" will be offered for credit at the university.

The Florida Insured Student Loan Program is now in effect on campus. Don Baldwin, director of student financial aid, said the program went into effect about a month ago. Students in good academic standing, who are carrying at least a part-time course load and who are in financial need, are eligible for this federally established loan plan.

Application may be obtained at the student financial aid office in the Administration Building.

Baldwin said completed applications are sent first to the Florida Department of Education, which then sends the U.S. Office of Education. Students awarded loans obtain their checks from the university. Repayment of loans must begin 12 months after graduation or termination of study, Baldwin added.

The application period usually lasts 6 to 10 years. There is a seven per cent interest rate on these loans.

Millican Plans Wheelchair Ride

President Charles N. Millican will spend two hours Monday in a wheelchair to gain insight into the problems of handicapped students on campus.

Starting in the parking lot west of the Administration Building, which handicapped students have reserved parking spaces, Millican will visit the Library and Classroom Buildings.

One handicapped student, Robert Van Etten, spoke to Millican recently about the design of new parking spaces and how construction could be handled to help those with personal handicaps.

Van Etten, who had spoken with other handicapped students, compiled for the president a priority list of changes needed in present structures. Millican indicated the information would be passed on to the architects for future buildings.

One problem is the steepness of some ramps leading into buildings. Millican explained he assumed that the architects would know the correct slope, "just as we leave technical details of the slopes of stairways...to their best judgment."

The university has been concerned with the handicapped student's need since beginning construction on the first building. Millican noted. Facilities for the handicapped were standard instructions to the architects.

Millican this week anticipated that as a result of his wheelchair "confinement" he would become "more keenly aware" of the problems handicapped students are facing.

Outing Club Request

On Equipment Funds Awaits SG Approval

A bill requesting $500 for the purchase of Outing Club equipment was included in the SG approval Tuesday by Student Government President Steve Adamick in the face of mounting opposition.

Lee Constantine, SG vice president and 1973-74 president-elect, said rising opposition to the bill stems mainly from the feeling that if the equipment is purchased, other groups with interests such as skin diving, boating and so on, would want the school to purchase equipment for them also.

"The whole thing could snowball," Constantine commented.

The bill provides that appropriate equipment would be spent for one 8-man tent, 10 sleeping bags, 10 sleeping bag liners, two large cooking kits, one tall espresso and two lightweight, two-man tents.

This equipment would be made available to all FTU students through the Village Center check-out system. Costs for renting equipment would be $1 per day for the tent and $0.50 cents for the other equipment.

Adamick stated early in the week that he has been assured if he voices the bill, several SG senators can find enough support to uphold his veto.

Solo Recitals Scheduled

The students of Dr. Homer Boyer's fundamental voice class will be presented in recital 11 a.m. Tuesday in the Engineering Auditorium. Eight vocalist will each sing one foreign language song and one contemporary English song.

Janet Kissell, mezzo-soprano, will begin with the early 16th century Italian song, "Alma Del Core" ("Flame Aflame") by Antonio Caldara, and Rudolph Schimmer's "Honey Shun."

Mezzo-soprano Susan Plants will perform "Lasciatemi Morire!" ("No Longer Let Me Langur!") by Claudio Monteverdi, and Powell Weaver's "Moo-Moos." (Amusing)

Freshman Grecia Muller, mezzo-soprano, will sing, "To Lo Be" ("In Thy Heart") by the Italian composer Giuseppe Torelli, and "My Love Roofs My Window" by Mary Beeline Calverton.

ORLANDO LIBRARY

If you ever need a book or reference that cannot be found in FTU's library, try giving the Orlando Public Library a telephone call at 432-4694.

The public library is normally open 9 a.m.-9 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Saturday.

Job Offers Made

Does the idea of digging up earth worms for a wholesale worm distributor appeal to you? How about shoveling out home stables or maybe washing airplanes?

These offers are a little out of the ordinary, of course, but they do exist. Along with these are hundreds more conventional jobs waiting to be filled through FTU's Financial Aid Office.

At FTU, more than 40 per cent of the student body are receiving funds either through loans, grants or student employment.

Don Baldwin, director of financial aid, matches the student with the job. It is a task made difficult by the very location of the university.

"The fact FTU is here 10 miles from everything is our biggest problem," said Baldwin. "Only 20 per cent of all off-campus job offers are being filled."

There are now between 150 and 200 unfulfilled offers. The Financial Aid Office provides a bulletin board located on the ground floor of the Administration Building with brief descriptions of every job offer available. If a job is found that interests a student, an application should be made in the Student Financial Aid Office, AD 270.

There are two basic types of jobs available: on-campus jobs and off-campus work. The on-campus jobs are so popular that there is a waiting list for them.

Job offers for part-time and full-time employment have been pouring into the Financial Aid Office at the average of 15 per day, Baldwin said.

The offers include work as counselors at summer camps, watercraft instructors, hotel jobs, ranch openings, farm work, office jobs and many more.

Rollins Seminar

Winter Park High School is preparing its second annual "Drive-in" confab on campus. That's what a conference dealing with teachers, school administrators and the field of education is being called.

The FTU "drive-in" conference is being sponsored by the College of Education to enhance further public school administration. The conference will be held Tuesday, with registration beginning at 9 a.m. in the Village Center.

The program is divided into two segments, both involving group discussions on a variety of issues facing educators today and in the future.

Anyone wishing further information on the program and registration may contact Dr. Robert A. Rodberg, College of Education, CB 325 or ext. 4201.

FTU Club Named Best

FTU Civitans walked away with all major awards last weekend at the Florida Retarded District of Civilian International Convention at Miami Beach. The FTU group was named outstanding club, received an award for the outstanding service project (a complete remodeling of a classroom building at Princeton School for the Retarded), and two members received the highest awards given by the district.

Pat Smith was named Outstanding Collegiate Civitan in the Florida District and Shelley Keifer was named Outstanding Collegiate Citizen.

The club also received an award for selling 1,654 pounds of Claxton Fruitcakes during the Christmas season. Funds from community projects.

The Florida District Civitan International also honored Dewey A. McKemy, of the East Orlando Civitan Club for "the most outstanding contribution to the Collegiate Civitan program." McKemy, who served as the Senior Civitan Advisor throughout the district this year, helped form the FTU chapter four years ago and serves as the FTU chapter's senior advisor. Miss Hecht was also re-elected lieutenant governor for the district's east zone, serving East Central Florida.

Young Democrats Conduct Watergate Confab

By Pete Reynolds

FTU's Young Democrats hosted a informational conference about Watergate, a three-hour event that featured guest speakers Dr. William H. Arvey, a political science professor, and Dr. Edmund F. K. Contractor, a history professor.

The three men then discussed other political scandals that have been associated with past Nixon campaigns.

They concluded Watergate may turn out to be the worst political scandal in this country's history because it is the first time there has been such a concentrated political effort involving so many people working toward one goal, the election of the President.

Other panels invited one or only a few men working for their own profit, the panels sold.

A question and answer session followed. One questioner asked if the panelists felt Watergate would have any effect upon the next presidential election.

Severy answered affirmatively, saying he feels if the Democrats can get Edward Kennedy, a "clean" running mate like Governor Reubin Askew, they should have little trouble defeating President Nixon. Asked, especially because of his closeness to the Watergate events.

The panelists also felt the American press played a large role in the procedure of events.

Kalling answered one question with "No, I don't feel there is a danger of overkill by the press. It's just that the events are so complicated that people in the American people to follow them all. I feel Watergate may turn out to be a blessing in disguise by serving as an example to politicians in the future."

Jery closed the session by remarking, "No, I don't feel that impeachment is a viable answer. It is conceivable, however, if it is found that Nixon has lied to us about his connection with the event, then he might be tempted to play around with the idea of resigning. That would depend upon whether he thought the man or the office was more important."

HARK! WHAT lonely sentinel can this be faithfully guarding the city wall? Could this be the phantom Harvey, the vociferous rodent known to inhabit the dorms? Perhaps he is scouting the lay of the land, to see what he might EAT, or perhaps he is scouting the lay of the land to see what new fingers he may bite today. (Photo by Ed Burson)

Planned Bithlo Concert Facility

By John Chenet

Concert fans who are disappointed at the lack of programs in the Orlando area, may find some relief for their frustration if plans for a new concert facility are realized.

Fred Stover, publisher of the "Watcher," a local underground newspaper, has announced plans for a concert facility to be located in Bithlo, next to the Florida Dragway.

Stover said about 115 acres have been leased, and the go-ahead now rests in the hands of the Orange County Commissioners.

"The main problem lies in having the land rezoned to provide for large groups of people." Stover said. "The Orange County Zoning Board has already rejected one request with neither of those convenient "adverse to public welfare' rulings."

City commissioners Tuesday are to give a final ruling on the issue.

Stover said if approval is given, it would take about 15 days to set up an outdoor stage with restrooms and concession facilities.

MBF productions in Tampa has tentatively scheduled two concerts, the Allman Brothers on June 15 and Pink Floyd on June 29.

The facility will not be used solely for rock shows. Stover indicated the possibilities of its also being used for a Billy Graham Crusade and a country and Western music fair.

The 1-1/2 acre concert area will have acoustical fencing, while the rest of the land will be contained by a chain link fence.

Booths will be located outside of the fenced areas for ticket sales. Concert goers will purchase tickets there, drive in and park. Then after a walk to the concert area, the tickets must be shown again.

This procedure will eliminate any hangar-on who企图 to skip the outside, the "trying to beat money or get in free," Stover said.

Support for the new facility, according to Stover, is coming from parents who are writing letters to the Orange County Commission, ministers who want to bring a Graham-type program here, and many Central Florida rock fans.

A position in favor of the facility is being facilitated in the Watcher. Interested students may forward their own petitions and forward them to the Watcher. Stover may be contacted at the Watcher office, 422-3077.

STICKY ELEVATOR

Near panic ensued in the Administration Building Tuesday morning, when the building's lone elevator ground to a halt, trapped several travelers in its sudden stoppage.

Bill Dunm of the Public Information Office, one of those caught in the vehicle, was reluctant to reveal what occurred when the elevato stopped. He would only note that there were two young women in the infernal machine, and he left with a smile on his face.

Key administrators and others vitally concerned with the stoppage were heard to comment that a special team of experts from the physics department is being called in to find the cause.

After all, one dean was heard to say, what goes up must come down.

RELIGIOUS STUDIES

An ecumenical weekend sponsored by the Fine Arts Department will be offered for church men and women on the FTU campus from May 18-20. It is a unique program which combines study, fellowship and discussion.

The seminar leadership will be provided by the Evangelical Institute staff. For more information, call the Rev. George Messenger at 644-2900 or 830-4500.

If you were born today:

You have all the calm of a forest glenn, which is to say not very much. Your hermit-like attitudes will get you shown out of all the finest country clubs and eight spots. You will be voted least likely to succeed by your graduating class and will have this school "Cam Naughty."

Aquarius:

You will find a number of small worms crawling in your bed today and will not understand.

Pisces:

They have decided to change their birthstones, just for you. Your new stone is apricot seed.

Aries:

This is the last day of the Israeli Independence Day. Go out and step on an Arab's toe to celebrate. Or, if you are not from the House of Israel, go out and yell "We'll get it back, Golly, just you wait. We're going to get organized tomorrow!"

Taurus:

You are concerned about your future, and justly so. You have good reason to fear tomorrow, and don't let anyone tell you otherwise. After yesterday you should have good reason to have done so.

Cancer:

You think your burdens are great. Rather than list them, however, not list that thing which could have happened but didn't. It can't help but help. Unless, of course, you are a Cancer.

Leo:

Virgo:

On this day in 1914 a slave ship got away with 47 mulatto covers in Little Rock, Arkansas. Could this have had something to do with the racial disturbance there? It's something to ponder.

Libra:

Don't smile. It makes you look funny.

Scorpio:

The ostrich egg is the largest single cell in the world, so we know it today. That was before.

Sagittarius:

Don't be fooled by what some people will tell you. You actually don't have any potential at all, other than your study or not. They just want your money. Flush out now and think of all the trouble you will save yourself.

Capricorn:

Take a house! In 1840 many Egyptian drafted one eye so they would not be drafted into the armed forces. The ruler of Egypt got so mad he created two infantry segments consisting solely of one-eyed soldiers. (One un-eye'd and one left-eyed, I suppose.) Is there any justice?

Media Aid Issued

An FTU media directory, published by the Public Information Office, will provide area media with an effective reference tool in order to tap information from FTU's personnel resources.

The directory lists about 350 subjects, each of which is followed by the name of an FTU professor qualified to provide information on that topic. Barth Engert, public information director, explained the directory was the result of the realization that, "On the basis of education and experience, FTU personnel must have information that could be helpful to the media."

Engert stated he has never seen a similar directory published by a university.

The directory, "Questions? Ask FTU's Answer Man," has been distributed to all area newspapers, radio and television stations. Each media received at least two copies, and the directors of one TV station requested one for each member of his staff, saying, "The directory appears to be an invaluable source of information."

The director of a local radio station commented the station found the directory a productive source of ideas for feature programs.

Behavior modification, Japan, burgers, records, and pollution are a few of the subjects listed in the directory.

In addition to the subject directory, the book of sources also offers a separate office and departmental directory, maps of FTU and a directory suggestion form.

MEAS Seeking Best Boat Builder

A boat race to test the ingenuity of its participants is being planned by the Mechanical and Aerospace Sciences (MEAS) Club.

The contest will require entrants to build a seaworthy boat for no more than $850 and race it along a specially designed course on Lake Bainbridge. Leo Brooshe, vice president of MEAS Club, said the race is open to all students in the university community, either as an organization or individually.

A band will be hired for the May 20 race, Brosche said, and refreshments may be provided. He added the date of the race may be postponed until May 27 if a band cannot be obtained for May 20.

Brosche explained the boat may be built from any material, but it must be self-propelled and have a paddle-powered and keep its occupants relatively dry.

We don't want anyone straddling a log and calling it a boat, he said.

The MEAS Club will judge the value of each entry in the race according to a list of values which will be available to all participants. Members of the club will also judge the race.

Brosche said he hopes the race will become an annual event, adding that interested persons or groups may contact him through the MEAS office, EN 113, or by calling Dr. Bruce Shimko, club advisor, at ext. 27066.
Symposium Outlines Opportunities Of Area Employment For Women

By Susan Savenbrun

"The NOW Woman" series concluded last month with a two-day symposium entitled "Women in the Labor Force." Subjects included fair employment practices, employment opportunities for women in Florida and coping as a career woman.

Janet Stone, management consultant on fair employment practices, said sex discrimination attitudes begin early in life. "Women avoid success and treat it with extreme anxiety because of how they perceive their roles," said an aide.

Although married, she said she prefers the "Ms." title and has retained her maiden name. The QUESTION of family versus career is a conflict which she believes may be refuted. Moore's demonstration, which was sponsored by the Physics Society, included a typical four-group application of electrostatics, some of which may prove useful in improving the environment.

Before retiring, Moore taught electrical engineering at the University of Michigan for more than 47 years. He has written three books, and one on electrostatics and its applications is due to appear soon. (Photo by Mike Berman)

Office was notified of the situation, the professors were told "maybe" would not be acceptable. "I think an answer either 'yes' or 'no','" Country (a member of the committee said this situation led her to withhold releasing results of her own student evaluations. Another criticized the proceeding of the forms, saying if evaluations were to be of any use, feedback to faculty must be immediate and not "anonymize from two to three quarters."

According to the chairman of the committee, Dr. Leland Jackson, assistant vice president for Student Affairs, the form was presented to the faculty for their input. The form will be sent to each professor to ask for their input on what form future evaluations should take.

"The written comments seem to be the most useful to teachers, but only a very few students write in their feedback," he said. He was opposed to the present form, because it was not the most desirable instrument. He added the committee needs to find or construct a better device.

The major suggestion of the committee was that Jackson advise faculty members to ask students for their input on what form future evaluations should take.

SG Gives Input About Visitation

According to Larry F. Matthews, assistant for student development, many organizations on campus had a great deal of influence, including the residence associations, Student Government and resident students themselves.

The original visitation bill presented by SG to Dr. W. Jess Brown, president-elect, added, "The problem of visitation was not only being worked on by Student Government, but also by Student Affairs. Therefore, by making the SG bill a recommendation, it was easier for Brown to combine the two organizations' proposals."

social and educational life of students. Values which appear to be in danger are: respect for the academic integrity of the student, personal and group privacy, and the value of free and open discussion.

B. Definition of Visitation:

Resident visitation is defined as the presence of a nonresidential student in designated university residence halls and suites for the socializing of resident students.

C. Regulations:

1. Members of the opposite sex are permitted, upon invitation, to enter quarters approved for visitation after 8:00 p.m. on weekdays and 10:00 p.m. on the weekend.

2. Those students over 21, and those students under 21 having written parental consent obtained by the university, may live in a suite designated as a "visitation suite."

3. Students who request it will be assigned to a suite designated as a "visitation suite."

4. When residents in a suite designated as a "visitation suite" do not wish to participate in the residence hall's visitation program at a given time, they may post a sign on the suite's outer door stating NO VISITATION TODAY.

5. Suites and groups of套房 will be open to approved visitation. Area organizations on campus are expected to make arrangements acceptable to all parties involved. Should irremediable situations arise, residents may choose to register a complaint with the resident advisor.

6. Only those persons who are acknowledged guests of resident students may enter residence halls of the opposite sex in designated university suites.

7. No visiting is allowed after 11:00 p.m. in designated university suites.

8. The rights of privacy of those residents who are not members of the opposite sex must be protected. Suite occupants are expected to make arrangements acceptable to all parties involved. Should irremediable situations arise, residents may choose to register a complaint with the resident advisor.

9. Maximum Hours of Visitation: Monday through Thursday 2:11 p.m. and Friday and Saturday 2:11 p.m. and Sunday 2:11 p.m. The hours of visitation will be strictly enforced. Visitors must be out of resident's living quarters by the closing hours of visitation, at which time they must leave the resident hall or continue visitation in the first-floor lounge area if accompanied by their resident host or hostess.

10. The right of privacy of those bringing in a visitation suite but choosing not to participate in visitation at a given time must be maintained. Suite occupants are expected to make arrangements acceptable to all parties involved. Should irremediable situations arise, residents may choose to register a complaint with the resident advisor.

11. Only those persons who are acknowledged guests of resident students may enter residence halls of the opposite sex in designated university suites.

D. Continuance of the Visitation Program:

The university has approved a visitation policy. It may be shared and lost, or nurtured and developed into a positive factor in developing individual responsibility and self-discipline. Although the university may assume ultimate responsibility for the visitation program in continuing access will be determined by the degree of cooperation of resident students within the established guidelines.

Matthews pointed out that at the beginning of each quarter, resident students vote on the hours of visitation and these hours must coincide with the resident students vote on the hours of visitation and these hours must coincide with the resident students vote on the hours of visitation and these hours must coincide with the resident students vote on the hours of visitation and these hours must coincide with the resident students vote on the hours of visitation and these hours must coincide with the resident students vote on the hours of visitation and these hours must coincide with the resident students vote on the hours of visitation and these hours must coincide with the resident students vote on the hours
President Nixon's Speech

Typical Rally Talk

Editor:

I really hate to sound like a broken record, but Mr. Nixon's speech last night really deserves a comment. I really have no intentions of putting the president down, I would simply like to record a few observations.

The speech was a typical one by our president since it was a comment. I really have no intentions of putting the needs their help and support.

Julie Nixon Eisenhower was quoted last night as saying, "His speech was really heartfelt." I also believe that it was heartfelt, especially the part where he accepted all the blame for the Watergate events of the president down. I would simply like to record a few observations.

P.S. Is there any truth to the rumor that a Futurer photographer who volunteered to help out at a critical moment, and who was promised a free meal for his troubles and inconveniences (especially since he had a lot of things that needed to be done), is still waiting for that dinner? Perhaps the Dos of Women has the answer.

Voters' Apathy Jeopardizes SG

Editor:

It is with no little concern that I sold you this letter about student voting apathy.

Considering that apathy is one of the undermining premises of our democracy, very relevant case can be made concerning poor voting habits among students, especially among those that are inexperienced and partly altruistic, following every man fit to hold office.

As a student at FTU, I have noticed that the majority of our elections are ill-institutionalized. As a typical example I cite our recent election of Lee Constantine and Hunter Potts, president-elect and vice president-elect of Student Government, respectively. Out of approximately 7,100 students only 1,100 voted, a mere 16 per cent of the total.

This is very difficult to believe, for it is in no way proportional to the relative importance Student Government plays in the student campus life, both socially and academically. Almost $100,000 is the university capital per annum passed through its hands and, even more disconcerting, it has power through representation of its student body, which is no trifling thing.

This is not to say that the student elected was not a fine candidate, he was, but he is really representative of the apathy of the SG members refuse to vote? I would say not.

The problem lies in each individual thinking his vote is meaningless. How is this, when the sum of votes is merely a reflection of the most individual effort? Every person who is capable of voting and does not, is showing he does not consider the important choice, for it is true that man does nothing which will not lead to some desired end product, no matter how trifling.

I hope it will not take a poor series of candidates elected to convince us of the importance of good leaders, and, notwithstanding the ability of present administrators, it takes more than directed office holders to do justice to a group; a powerful government can stand under almost any external pressure but, missing one factor, it cannot last—-you the voter "will make it happen."
FTU’s Crew Meets Nation’s Best Today

FTU’s lightweight eight crew team today meets its greatest challenge in its competition against four of the nation’s finest lightweight teams in the first qualifying rounds of the Dad Vail Regatta. This is the small college rowing championship held annually in Philadelphia.

The Coaches’ Guard Academy, University of Buffalo, Fordham University and University of Virginia are the four teams FTU meets in the first qualifying heat. Should FTU row well enough to place among the first three finishers in the qualifying rounds, they will advance to the semi-finals in the afternoon, and hopefully to the finals tomorrow.

For the first time, we have had enough rowers and oarsmen to make up an eight crew. Considering the time we had to devote to other activities, we are the only one in the nation who can say this.

The classic lightweight eight has been used in Germany and England for 20 years. The eight is the only weight class in which the men compete against the best. The heavier weight classes are more of a national effort, and the teams are chosen by the national headquarters.

Ferrell Byrd, who has rowed for the past two years, is the key man. He has been tied twice and will be the one to watch in the semi-finals.

The team today meets its greatest challenge. The expense, of course, is considerable. The men rowed for the first time in May, and the team has been practicing almost every day since.

The team will be in the semi-finals in the afternoon, and hopefully to the finals tomorrow.
Water has to be purer than a Rocky Mountain spring before it's pure enough for Red White & Blue.

“That sheds a whole new light on beer.”

There's no light beer quite like Red White & Blue. We don't say that lightly. Its special lightness comes from our own special combination of the finest natural ingredients from the good American harvest and crystal water purer than a Rocky Mountain spring. That's how Red White & Blue gets its natural American flavor. Enjoy a glass and see the light. It just might be the lightest beer you'll ever taste.

The coed tandem bike race May 3 was won by Lima Young and Kevin Murphy. The men’s intramural golf results were cut off last week’s wrapup, but the meet was indeed held April 28.

The winning team was an independent one—MLER— the lone total led by Carter Murchison. The final score, one of the day, the team won the $1.00, the only independent action of the first two days of the week was the Cavaliers 15-5 win over TKE II. The Cavaliers, 3-0, will decide the Gold title (11-2) when they host 25 next Thursday. The Denisons, 0-9, rest the Black League standings.

Larry McCorkle started off that final frame with a single up the middle. Pitcher-batter Jim Holcomb then double off ATO pitcher Bob Matoush, chasing McCorkle to third, still no outs.

Another unintentional walk, and the stage was set for McKinnon’s heroics as he calmly shot a single between short and third.

CHI PHI TOURNEY

Chi Phi fraternity will be sponsoring a softball tournament to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation May 19 - 20 at Faithwood Park. Eight fraternity and eight independent teams will be invited to participate, with a trophy to be presented to the winning team. Chi Phi spokesmen are expecting a good turnout, and the disc jockeys of WKIL will play the winning team. Both fraternity and independent teams will play in single elimination and the winning softball team will play the disc jockeys.

Pay times will be 1 - 8 p.m. Saturday and 1:30 - 8 p.m. Sunday. Finals will begin at 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

FTU students and the public are invited to make donations to the Muscular Dystrophy and to watch the best softball teams at FTU in action.
