The MANY faces of the Rev. Vincent Hagan capture photographer Matthew's. "Father Vin," as the Rev. Hagan is known around campus, is a man of versatile background, having traveled throughout the United States and Canada. He has attended six universities can speak four languages and can read Hebrew and Greek.

Father Hagan will finish his doctoral work in pastoral counseling this fall at Andover-Newton Theological School in Boston. After receiving his doctorate, he said he plans to serve as a chaplain and teacher at a Long Island state university, where he will serve in an advisory capacity to university policymakers, as he does at FTU.

Father Hagan has also worked as a professional skating teacher, cashier, general laborer and camp counselor.

He has served as community coordinator for government-sponsored antipoverty programs and has taught high school courses in ethics and theology and a college course in anthropology.

He has also been on a lecture series tour focusing on contemporary youth's problems as seen in a religious light.

After two years of study for the priesthood, at 20 years of age, Father Hagan was too young to pursue this and spent a year hitchhiking around the U.S. and Canada.

Characterizing himself as a "searcher" at the time, Father Hagan said he usually remained in an area two or three weeks. (Continued on page 9.)

A story that appeared in the May 32 Sentinel Star reporting FTU faculty members were "low men" on the totem pole of state university salary is misleading, according to FTU sources.

The story claimed FTU faculty salaries are lower than any other state university in Florida, drew actual salary comparisons only between FTU, Florida State University and the University of Florida. U of F and FSU are the system's oldest universities.

President Charles N. Millican stated Monday faculty salaries here are comparable to all Florida state universities except Florida and Florida State. Millican added Florida A&M University in Tallahassee has the lowest paid faculty members, not FTU.

Millican also commented professors at the two larger universities are paid more because of the more extensive and varied resources of the schools.

"These universities have many doctoral programs, and both have law schools," he said. "At FTU we have no law school, no doctoral programs, and our graduate programs are limited. Naturally, we don't require the services of the highest paid professors as those schools do."

Reaction among FTU faculty representatives ran along the same lines as Millican's.

Dr. K. Philip Taylor, chairman of the Faculty Senate, commented, "The schools with highly paid faculty have a greater percentage of associate and full professors, thereby requiring higher salaries than our staff which is mainly made up of assistant professors."

Taylor added, "There is also a great deal of difference in prestige and status between FTU and those schools. They have a national reputation, and, to keep it, they attract professors from all over the country with higher salaries."

Food service rate increases at FTU were approved by Florida's Board of Regents this week.

The price increase, which will not be instituted until fall quarter, will affect only meal-plan students. Meal rates will increase 2.5 per cent for the 15-meal-per-week plan and 2.2 per cent for the 21-meal-per-week plan.

The increase means students now paying $165 for the 15-meal plan will pay $187.50 for the fall quarter, and students on the 21-meal plan now paying $170 will pay $225 next fall.

"There was a real need for the increase, since the food service is currently operating at an average monthly deficit of about $3,000," said James Eller, director of auxiliary services. "I'm really glad to see that the BOVR approved the much-needed increase."

The State of Florida does not and will not subsidize university food services. Therefore, the entire cost of serving food must come from these revenues, explained Eller.

"It is a shame there has to be an increase of meal-plan prices, but, with the rising cost of labor, food, electricity, maintenance and cleaning, there was a need for the increase," stated the Student Government chairman for the food investigation committee, Gayle Prince.

Imagine an individual who has worked as a lumberjack, hitchhiked around the United States and Europe, and who has done doctoral work at Harvard. Now characterize him as a Roman Catholic priest.

Born in Long Island and raised in Canada, the Rev. Vincent Hagan describes himself as a "farmboy" and a "survivalist." He loves nature, which he said has had a balancing effect in his life.

Father Hagan came to FTU when Bishop William Borders of the Catholic Diocese of Orlando invited him to work with the office of Campus Ministry. He interrupted his work on his advanced doctoral program in theology and education at Harvard to answer the bishop's call.

He has studied at six universities and served as chaplain at Adelphi University.

May Sound Sour Note

FTU will hold its fourth June graduation three weeks from today with the usual ceremony at 9 a.m. on June 8. As in previous years, the main concern seems to be getting the Everything is Downtown. Indeed, if a picnic were to be held in the Municipal Auditorium, the usual occur for the graduations, it will be more in character than the currently planned graduation site on campus.

Seasonability: high temperatures (which according to the Weather Bureau can get in the 80s), the presence of the mosquitoes, and the likelihood of inclement weather (a chance of at least 57 percent on this day) also according to Weather Bureau data, a number that certainly put a damper on the ceremony now scheduled for 9 a.m., June 8.

A check of possible alternative locations has proved virtually futile. The Municipal Auditorium, which would cost the university $300 in rental fees, has long since been reserved on that day for high school graduation ceremonies. A little people of the part of the administration, however, and a willingness to pay for a more desirable locale, might have succeeded in booking that building. The Naval Training Center gymnasium/auditorium is another possibility which has been used by the university in the past.

This is another factor which has caused many to comment on this particular graduation. The time chosen, 9 a.m., will naturally exclude many fathers and mothers, husbands and wives, perhaps grandmothers and grandfathers, who likely have waited some years to see a loved one be graduated from college. It will almost automatically exclude working persons who may be unable to get time off from work, if they did decide in getting time off, would run the risk of being laid off, blown out or burned out for their troubles.

Mother Nature just doesn't mix well with academic regalia. Surely it would be worth the $300 premium, if that is the only possible solution, to move the commencement a day and have it at a time more acceptable to those who would like to attend.

Even in our age of anti-institutionalism, graduation remains too checkered an event to be labeled a family cookout. Give graduation a chance, give it a change!

FTI Shower System

Editor:

I would like to commend the physical plant for their growing concern about the plant life on this campus. Our shower heads really look nice. However, I think the most notable change has been the sidewalks — since they’re being watered daily the entire quarter, their slipperiness has been miraculous.

The shower heads should also be recognized for their high regard of the students. No matter how hot it is, or how cold it is, or what time of day, their functioning is utterly ridiculous.

The change machine does not work, so unless you have someone with you, or carry a coin changer around, you’re out of luck.

These aren’t the only machines that are cursed. The vending machines are continuously failing, so much so that this is due to the large number of people using them. However, other places seem to manage, with just as many or as many people using them.

(1) The physical plant needs to be on campus. The vending machines are continuously failing, so much so that this is due to the large number of people using them. However, other places seem to manage, with just as many or as many people using them.

(2) The change machine should be set up some place with a lot of coins and change systems with auxiliary services; also, areas with several vending machines should have attendants to keep the machines stocked and to retrieve lost money (perhaps this would keep a janitor-type person employed).

Library Change Rule

Case Of Laziness?

Editor:

I feel it is necessary to complain about the current library policy concerning giving change to students. With the current policy of no change to be given, anyone wishing change (the case may be) to the second floor to the front desk.

Indeed, this is a sorry state of affairs when the people in charge of the library are that inconsiderate of the students of this university. Even if the coin-changer was working, it is not asking too much to have the library give change; they’re just lazy.

Morning Graduation Displeases Seniors

Editor:

I would like to let it be known that I have never written anything to a student newspaper during my four years in college either at University of South Florida or FTU, but I feel that I have an obligation to all who are graduating this June and write to express my feelings publicly.

Having read the comments in the June 2 news bulletin at 9 a.m., it is amusing. It doesn’t take into account those persons who have to work and would like to attend the graduation ceremonies of their friends and daughters or husbands and wife.

For people who have spent four years and an uncountable sum of money, I believe that this shortchanges us. It is almost as if the administration is trying to harry us through this ceremony, so that they can start their vacation.

I believe that the evening time of 6:30 is a lot more realistic for most people than 9 in the morning. How about the seniors, Mr. Millican??

Commencement Time

Unfair To Relatives

Editor:

I would like to protest the holding of graduation ceremonies on Friday, June 8, at 9 a.m. When setting this time, it seems to me someone did not take into full consideration the relatives of graduates who work.

It is impossible for me and my father-in-law to attend the graduation as we both work.

As a graduate’s wife, who has worked to support him so he could finish school, I feel it is a vast injustice to us.

Who do you expect to be more proud and want more to attend than spouses and parents of the graduates? Someone certainly is making it difficult. Someone is denying us a proud moment.

Neither have I suggested holding the ceremony at 9 a.m. on Saturday, June 9.

Of the dozen or so people I have spoken to (graduates) it also presents problems because of working relatives.

President Millican, what are you going to do?

Sincerely,

Elmer Sup.

Accusation of Apathy

Irks Diligent Student

Editor:

I am writing in reference to letters which have appeared in the editorial column on the subject of student apathy, especially those letters from our illustrious president, Mr. Constantine and a fellow student, Tom Risher.

First, I must confess that I am one of the apathetic students condemned so quickly by many on campus. I have never participated in any student election and do not plan to do so in the future, nor am I ashamed of this fact.

Neither have I joined any campus organizations nor attended any sport events. But despite these shortcomings (Continued on Page 7)
Residents Centers Save Time For Distant FTU-Students

Some FTU students may be able to save time and transportation costs by taking courses at one of six FTU resident centers. Resident centers offer many of the same courses which are offered on the main campus. The courses are taught by FTU professors and carry the same value as those on the main campus. The fee structure is also the same.

Students may concurrently attend day or night courses at both a resident center and the main campus.

Resident centers are located at Cocoa, Daytona Beach, Cape Canaveral, South Orlando, West Palm Beach and Patrick Air Force Base. There are now more than 800 students enrolled at these six resident centers.

The South Orlando Resident Center is in its first year of operation and is the newest addition to the campus-wide-from-campus system. The center is located near the entrance of South Orange Blossom Trail and the Beeline.

Harden explained course selection at the resident center is determined largely by student demand. He said a greater number of courses are planned for the future and it will be possible for a student to complete all his course work for a degree at the resident center.

Colleges presently represented at the center are business administration, education, natural sciences, social sciences and engineering.

Entry Forms Available For Boat Building Contest

Entry forms for the Mechanical Engineering and Aerospace Sciences Club's $10 boat building contest are now available in EN 113.

Individuals or organizations wishing to enter the boat race, which will begin 1 p.m. Sunday at Lake Claire, will find contest rules on the entry form.

Forms are to be returned to EN 113 by 5 p.m. today or may be brought to the race.

The entry requirement for the race is that cost of the boat does not exceed $10 in market value of materials. Entries will be appraised for value at noon Sunday at Lake Claire.

Some suggested building materials are Styrofoam, rubber, trash cans, plywood and sheets. The club is arranging for a band to perform during the race, and spectators are asked to bring their own refreshments.

Further information on the race may be obtained by calling Leo Broxman at ext. 5318 or Joan Ann Puglisi at ext. 2191.

Fraternity Sets Tourney

Chi Phi fraternity is sponsoring a softball tournament to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation. Various fraternities and independent teams have been asked to participate.

The games will be played at 1 p.m. with reports Sharon W. Mindal. Playing times are 1-8 p.m. tomorrow and 1:30-6 p.m. Sunday.

Sunday at 6:30 p.m. the first Place team will play the "unbeatable" DJs of WKT. Radio.

RHA Merger

Voters Okay

The Mun's Residence Association and Women's Residence Association have merged into one organization after overwhelmingly approval by residents who voted last Friday.

Of the 113 students voting on the adoption of the Residence Hall Association constitution, one hundred and fifty voted in favor of the merger while two voted against it.

Jennifer Roberts, president of the Women's Residence Association, commenting on the turnout, said, "It was pathetic. But considering the votes were cast on one day and with short warning, the voting was remarkably high and inevitably small."

Petitions of candidacy for RHA offices started yesterday and elections for president and vice president will be held Tuesday. Elections for the executive council will follow on Thursday.

According to the new constitution, future elections must take place with at least a week's interval between them.

Lynda Lott, advisor for the newly formed RHA, explained, "Elections must be held close together because spring quarter is a time when a lot of the students are on campus, so half of the membership will be decided. The rest will be filled out on an election during fall quarter."

Watergate Course Set

William H. Jervey, assistant professor of political science, announced recently two courses will be offered this summer which will focus on Watergate.

Jervey said the class was being offered in the interest of "making courses relevant to what is happening in America today." The other course, Congress and the Legislative Process, FCI 310, is a course designed to survey all of the American presidents, investigating some of the events surrounding each of their administrations.

The course will place special emphasis on the Nixon Administration and especially the Watergate incident.

The other course, Congress and the Legislative Process, FCI 310, will investigate the effects of Watergate upon Congress. In the course, students will take the roles of various members of Congress, introduce bills, speak and argue points just like the persons they are representing.

Many of the bills will be ones which might arise as a result of Watergate.
Boyer Baritone Recital Rescheduled

Dr. Horace Boyer's recital, originally planned for April 16, will take place in Engineering Auditorium Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. The baritone singer received his doctorate in music from the Eastman School of Music at the University of Rochester, New York, and now teaches voice at FTU.

The performances are subtle and finely detailed. For two or three hours, the audience will experience a mind-lifting cinematic experience. The performances are so well-rehearsed that even the most casual listener will be able to follow the storyline. The plots are complex, with many twists and turns. The dialogues are well-written, and the acting is top-notch. The performances are not to be missed.

BOYER BARITONE RECITAL

RESCHEDULED

Auditorium, Wednesday, April 16, at 8:30 p.m.

By Lea Ward

For heaven's sake don't tell the ending. Don't even mention the middle. The only thing that can be spoken of in uninitiated company is the incredibly fine beginning of "Sleuth.

Appropriately, the tale begins in a maze—one of those quaint English hedge gardens laid out like a puzzle. The greenery is deliciously symbolic of the chase led by the two men who relentlessly pursue their game. It's easy to understand why people are always drawn to these mysterious shrubbery-lined paths. The designs are so intricate that it's impossible to see the entire garden at once. The paths twist and turn, leading the viewer to think they've reached their destination only to find another pathway leading elsewhere. This continues throughout the play, creating a sense of mystery and intrigue.

Lord Olivier shows there is nothing sham about his reputation. When his grandiose character becomes malleable, the glitter of his black eyes carries more power than a thousand mansions or mansions. Caine has usually been considered a good actor, but here he matches Lord Olivier's restraint and inspiration.

The third performance is that of the director. It would have been so easy to let this show get out of hand, but the direction never lets anything go too far. The incredibly ornate set is, perhaps, indicative of the whole production. There is almost too much to take in, yet there is always room for the action and, somehow, every item plays its part without being obscured. Each part fits together to give a thrilling, heart-stopping, mind-lifting cinematic experience.

"Sleuth" is now playing at the Parkwood Cinema on West Colonial Drive.

The Florida Review will be available free of charge to students at various locations on campus during the rest of this quarter and in the English department office during the following year. Bob Lindonow is poetry editor and Chuck Collins is fiction editor. John Stroever serves as copy editor and Renee Cooley and Darlene Williams are assistant editors. Lawrence Wyatt, faculty advisor and managing editor, was pleased with the results of the 1973 edition.

"The work of the students has improved and the overall consistency of the magazine is better," he said.

Music students of the flute, piano and guitar will be presented in an 11 a.m. recital in the Engineering Auditorium Tuesday. The performers are students of George Marks, guitar instructor, and Linda Threate, flute instructor.

Classical guitarist Greg McManus will begin his concert with Ferdinando Carulli's "Prerose No. 9" and Matteo Carcassi's "Oroz No. 25." Penny Proehle will perform Francis Poulenc's "Barcarolle" and "Nocturne" from "Suite Napolii" for the piano.

Flute, Piano, Guitar Recital Slated

The Village Center will be bringing "The Ray Stevens Show" to campus Thursday at 8 p.m. in the VC Assembly Room. Tickets for FTU students, staff and faculty are $3 and will be available at the VC main desk between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. General admission tickets for $3 will be available only at the door.

Stevens began his music career at five years of age when he began learning piano.

While still in high school, Stevens and a few friends formed a small group and began performing at local functions. He also worked weekends for a radio station, becoming one of the youngest disc jockeys ever at the age of 15.

After being graduated from high school, Stevens attended Georgia State University, majoring in music theory and composition. Soon afterward, he signed with Capitol Records, but achieved very little commercial success.

In 1963 came a change of direction. He recorded his first novelty song, "Jeremiah was a Bullfrog," which catapulted him to national fame. He followed with "Lonely Together," "Gilaanam" and "Along Came Jones." In summer 1970, he released his recording of "Everything Is Pink," from Poulenc's "Tres Pieces."

Tootie Shales will play Chopin's piano composition, "Beauce," flavored by the French-Polish composer's brilliant harmonic imagination. Melissa Bullock and Cathy Huntsman will perform two piano duets of Spanish dances, "Spa nische Tanz" and "Bolero" by another Polish composer, Maurice Moszkowski.

Flutist Katie Nielson will be accompanied by Mim Shales in "Sonata for flute and piano" by Poulenc. Arthur Henegger, a Swiss composer and student of Indry, wrote "Dame de la Choue," which means "Dance of the Goat," a flute composition which will be performed by Karen Tucker.

Senior music major Janie W. George will conclude the recital with Ludwig van Beethoven's "Sonata No. 5 in F Major" for piano.

The recital is open to the FTU community free of charge.

Space Center

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has notified the FTU Co-op office of a job opening for an engineering student.

The position is in the Earth Resources Area of the John F. Kennedy Space Center Data Analysis and Interpretation Program. According to Walter H. Rock, project manager, the Co-op would be expected to familiarize himself with the operation of all optical and electronic equipment in order to assist project leaders and investigators using the facility for analysis of data on individual projects.

Pay for his first year: freshmen - $3.25 per hour; sophomores - $3.50 per hour, juniors - $3.75 per hour; and seniors - $4.10 per hour.

Students interested in this opening should inquire at the FTU Co-op office in the Administration Building.

NEIL SIMON’S musical comedy, “Little Me,” will tickle anyone who has ever come down with a chronic movie star biography that confined him to an armchair for two weeks and left him weak with debility for another six.

The organism, which causes this particular strain of movie star madness, one Belle Poltrine of the silver screen, is highly visible to the naked eye due to the presence of two large nodules on the upper torso (hence the surname), and she transmits her eccentricities to the unsuspecting dime novel addict by means of the printed page.

Even if he has the stamina to slog through an endless soup of marinated memories and political lovers, the reader usually succumbs to the notion that movie stars are usually charmed and charmed.

“S.O.T.,” said Neil Simon, who provided the script for the latest stage production by the Village Center and music department. “Through actors, directors and backstage workers, I will show you how it really happened.”

Lee Constantine, SG president-elect, said, “There weren’t any plans made for the picnic this year.

Neil also mentioned the possibility of a concert being held at the Lake Claire facility after the 18-year-old rights bill goes into effect July 1.

Lake Claire Picnic Canceled

The annual FTU spring picnic at Lake Claire will not be held this year due to lack of money and complaints about Student Government’s use of picnic funds last year.

Rev. Adamski, SG president, canceled the picnic, saying, “We just can’t afford it this year, and since there was a $15,000 cutback in 5G funds, if we had a picnic we would have to charge the students.”

Last year’s picnic cost about $10,000, Adamski said, and complaints about the use of the money made the picnic idea “a handle.”

Lee Constantine, SG president-elect, said, “There aren’t any plans made for the picnic this year.

Constantine mentioned the possibility of a concert being held at the Lake Claire facility after the 18-year-old rights bill goes into effect July 1.

STUDENTS GET INVOLVED.....BECOME INTERESTED

Cops’ Topics

Responsibility on many occasions can be likened to being on a bucking bronco. It can be an awesome ride. If you accept the challenge, your ride will be a smooth and a happy one. If not, you’ll be kicking yourself up out of the dust, only to have to try again.

Those of you who are 18 and not yet reached your 21st birthday, will have the vote of that honor placed in your hands on July 1, 1973. Get a good hold. Accept the responsibility, we’re all behind you. CONGRATULATIONS.

before moving on. The experience "got a lot of things out of my system," he said.

As a result of a 3-month backpacking trip, he said he feels "our society is much more materialistic than many European countries." He said he feels Americans lack a real joy of life, "which they have not yet discovered or have lost through so many physical possessions.

Father Hagan speaks French and German, and can "get by" in Italian and Spanish and reads Greek and Hebrew.

Noting that most persons think religion is something people do, Father Hagan said he feels it is something people are.

A major problem facing Americans, he continued, is a sense of rootlessness. To overcome this, he tries to reinforce it through his teaching and counseling.

This rootlessness leads to what Father Hagan said he feels is an American disease—the idea that people either "conquer you or destroy you," this, he said is one of America's greatestills.

CONCERT FACILITY

Discussion concerning the legality of a concert facility in Bethel has been tabled until next week by the Orange County Commissioners.

Bill Mater, attorney for Orange County, will review the proposal in order to determine what stipulations must accompany the proposed agreement.

If approved, the 115-acre concert facility will host a number of different types of entertainment shows.
For five years, Frank Rohter has been the top man in FTU's athletic department. But not until he resigned the athletic director's post last Friday did he begin working on the true goals he has been seeking in physical education education.

"There has been a tremendous need for someone to develop drug learning," explained Rohter. "I gained background in that area studying under Dr. Chester Hyman at the University of Southern California. He had a great influence on my life."

"I also, F.T.U. should supervise the very competencies students are going to need. I have to do in graduate studies. And I hope to develop further a course in the fall--the 'actualization of physical potential in contemporary living'--which will help students assess their athletic potential through cardiovascular testing."

Rohter's other goal will be to develop a drug abuse through drug education program.

"There is a need for drug education research," stated Rohter. "And alcohol is included in the drug education, not drug rehabilitation, is what we need to emphasize. Drug rehabilitation has developed faster, but the prevention aspect is what we have to work on."

Rohter was director of the exercise physiology lab at Florida State University, but decided to come to FTU in 1968 after Dr. C.C. Miller, dean of the College of Education, told him about the new school during a visit to F.S.U.

"Dr. Miller asked me if I could recommend anybody for the athletic director, Rohter recalled, and it sounded so good that I recommended myself."

Rohter, a native of Chicago and a graduate of the University of Southern California, the likes of a basketball university, and was impressed by the administration. The receptive way athletics has been accepted by the administration and its total support has to be one of my best memories of the job," Rohter said, reflecting on his years.

"Also, we've been able to get some really outstanding coaches. I've learned the most important thing in sports--that people admitted they could never break completely from university work. I love university life-working with young people who are so enthusiastic and the administrators could never do anything else."

"This is a tremendous challenge, and I accept it with that realization."

This is how Dr. John W. Powell will approach his newly appointed positions of chairman of physical education and director of athletics at FTU. Powell is not being thrown into an unfamiliar situation. He will take over the physical education department of Broward County for three years. He views those three years as valuable administrative experience.

BEFORE his position in Ft. Lauderdale, Powell taught and coached at two different places in Ohio. Powell earned his bachelor's degree from the University of Alabama.

Powell is indeed approaching his new duties cautiously. "I've got to sit down and make a careful appraisal of our program. It's going to be a real learning experience the next few months," he said.

"Most athletes at FTU have come a long way," said Powell. "Dr. Rohter should be congratulated for a great job.Just look at the quality of coaches and athletes at FTU. Every team at FTU this year had a winning season. And it looks like we'll be even better next year," added Powell.

FTU is very concerned about getting the campus population to accept the athletic teams.

"One of the things I want to work hard on is to make athletes more acceptable to the students," Powell said. "It's important to build the students' pride and confidence in the school team," Powell added.

"We need more support from the students, faculty and the local citizenry," be emphasized. "We've got to be their school, even if we're not our school."

POWELL mentioned that on-campus facilities would make the competition much easier. "The purpose of athletics is to provide a rallying point for the school. What we need is a place to rally," he said.

Perhaps the greatest tribute of Powell's abilities comes from Rohter, the man he will succeed.

"Athletics need academic respectability and I think this is an excellent stepping stone," Rohter said. He has a outstanding basketball in his own career."

5-5 Mike McDaniel Signs With FTU

Terry Clark's growing list of freshman basketball recruits gained another impressive addition this week.

Mike McDaniel, a 6-6 forward from "one of the best schools in the nation for producing basketball talent," is the latest find. He was the leading scorer for St. Catherine High in Green Bay, Wis. The most famous contribution to the one school from St. Catherine is Jim Grooms, former star center of Wisconsin's Marquette University, now with the New York Nets of the ABA.

"He's a tall, lanky kid with a good outside shot," said Clark, who recruited McDaniel for FTU.

Summer Wrestling Clinic Scheduled, June 18

A summer wrestling camp, to be directed by FTU varsity head coach Gerry Gregery, will be held on campus next month, covering all aspects of wrestling and available to anyone over age 15.

Gregory will be aided by his assistant coach, John Rose, and Ron Brandt--a former star at the University of Buffalo. Together with members of the Knights' successful varsity squad they will comprise Gregery's staff.

The camp, which will include instruction in areas such as swimming, boating, and softball, is to be held June 19-22.

The fee for those who plan to live on campus is $50. This includes three meals a day plus lodging. For commuters the price is $35 with lunch included. Team rates are also available with six or more wrestlers admitted at a $5 reduction per man.

Summer Wrestling Clinic Scheduled, June 18

Family members will also receive the $5 reduction per person.

Check-in time is Monday, June 18 between 11 a.m. and noon, and checkout is the following Saturday morning. Entry forms can be obtained from Gregery in his office in the Physical Education building. Parents must sign the forms if the participant's under 18 years of age.
Goldsox Lose Twin-Bill
But Winners On Season

By Fred Goy

A double loss could never be considered an enjoyable way to win a season, but since the twin-bill was against nationally 13th-ranked Miami, it wasn’t altogether unexpected, either.

The FTU Goldsox were thumped decisively by 6-0 and 10-1 margins and were no-hit by Miami’s Rich Patrylo in the first game.

"With the exception of the losses, it was a good way to end the season," remarked head coach Doug Holmquist. "They really do things up big down there."

The crowd of about 1,000 saw presentations made to graduating seniors, leading performances—even down to the statistics—before the games, and also the last regular-season contests for the ‘Canes.

"It was a great experience playing on that field—that green carpentered Holmquist. "That’s the first time we’ve played on anything like it. As they did furnish us with soccer shoes down there, too."

Last week, Holmquist had expressed concern about the lack of shoes for the artificial surface.

And they did furnish us with no-hitter, incidentally, was the second of the season for Patrylo, who also threw a gem against Florida State earlier.

"If they don’t get an NCAA tournament bid, I just won’t believe it," said Holmquist of the Miami team that defeated his club three times this season.

So the Goldsox, although finishing with a six-game losing streak, are winners on the year with a 16-15 mark—just better than Holmquist’s pre-season goal of a 500 record. Included was an impressive win over South Florida and narrow losses to the titans of Jacksonville and Eckerd.

And of course there were six tie and 1-0 heartbreaking loss to cross-town rival Rollins. So FTU is not too awfully far away from some of the state’s best in baseball.

Mike Forreil, who continued his torrid hitting right to the end (doubling in his last at bat of the year), finished with a .374 average to take team honors with Pat McCarty with seven.

Dave Stringer took the RBI honors with 21, one better than Forreil.

TKE Wins League; Mafia Stuns Seniors

The Kappa Epsilon won the fraternity league softball league crown Tuesday with a 6-5 win over Lambda Chi Alpha, taking a big step towards the all-sports trophy in the process.

And Mafia, a team that had its first three without being noticed, surprised everybody Monday with a 24-16 whipping of the Seniors, prompting new leader in the independent Black League.

There were the two biggest developments in men’s intramural softball this week, the last full week of the regular schedule.

TKE won another closer Monday, just as it had over Alpha Tau Omega a week earlier. At the start, though, it looked to be more of an impending rout.

A TKE four-run first stood up until the fourth. Mike Murdock, who walked, scored, the first run on Jim Nicholas’ hit. Nicholas in turn came home on a double by Howie Vandewater, “our most valuable player,” according to TKE coach Mark Denno. Subsequent hits by Eddie Barke and Joe Gose drove in the other two runs.

LXA scored twice in the fourth on Dave Hudnick’s hit and a pair of errors and eventually tied in the sixth on Lewis Jones’ two-run single.

However, in TKE’s half of the skeleton, and had set the stage for the clincher, pitcher Steve Jackson’s RM single. The other run scored when the throw-in was misplated.

So TKE, 7-6, will now play the independent champ in the campus championship, tentatively set for next Wednesday. A defense which tightened in the big games was the deciding factor but there was no lack of hitting on the fortunates.

Vandewater led his squad with a 6x4 average and handled 30 fly balls flawlessly in left field, leading to Denno’s MVP selection as a whole. batted a solid .453 and scored 30 runs, including one for tying the record—or a two-on-per-ratio run.

Mafia, 4-0, scored in every inning to shock the Seniors, 5-3. The nine-run margin is even more amazing when you consider that Mafia had won its first three by the combined total of 20 runs.

The Mafia must now win its final game Monday against Faculty-Staff and Students—not easy task. As a comparative example, FAU rolled over God’s Children, 10-1, while Mafia won only an 11-7 decision over GC. If Mafia wins, they will battle the winner of yesterday’s 23-Cavaliers match-up next Tuesday. A loss could force a playoff with Seniors, which would set the championships back a day.

Fin-Freaks, 4-0, won the women’s water polo title with a championship over Rollins which placed second, and six strokes better than Jacksonville and FTU which both finished at 313 for third.

---

Student-Staff scored all three players scored in the 70’s. The match was much closer than the scores indicated because of any of the top three teams which trailed the Mustangs for much of the way.

John Hall from Rollins was the individual gross score leader in the tournament, shot a 72 at Reverse Murray from Jacksonville shot a 73 and tied for second with FTU’s Tony Kinsey.

"I've never taught a class before," said Powell of his three years at Rollins. "But I had a great opportunity to learn what it means to teach as a coach and teacher at both the secondary and university levels." Powell graduated from Rollins in 1958 and has been a coach and teacher at both secondary and university levels, most recently as a professor of education at the Florida Atlantic University at Boca Raton.

"I'm a little more surprised than I am excited," said Powell of his selection.
