EIFA Building Falls Behind

By Mike Myers

CONSTRUCTION of the FTU Humanities and Fine Arts Building has fallen behind schedule and according to university officials, the completion will require at least five months more than originally planned.

The building, which now exists as a skeletal structure on the northwestern edge of campus, is being constructed at a cost of $3.1 million. When the five-story facility is completed it will contain classrooms, practice rooms, offices and an auditorium.

Initial plans for the building called for it to be in use by April of 1974. Fred E. Clayton, university physical planning director, regards this date as no longer feasible. "We'll be lucky now," he said, "to have students in them by September.

CLAYTON attributes the delay to the experimental system of construction which is being used for the first time in this state.

Conventional construction practices provide for the designation of one firm as prime contractor. This company assumes full responsibility for the completion of the project. It, in turn, selects sub-contractors to handle specific areas of construction, such as carpentry and wiring. The prime contractor provides the overall supervision of the project.

The experimental system being used at FTU does not involve a prime contractor. As a result, according to Clayton, there is no effective force to supervise the efforts of the individual sub-contractors.

"ESSENTIALLY what we have with this system is nine prime contractors," said Clayton. "The lack of coordination has caused many problems," he continued.

He explained that the work is done in groups and that if one unit falls behind schedule, it affects the entire project.

Fred Vai Clu, a foreman for one of the project's sub-construction, agreed with Clayton. "The system doesn't work because no one has any control over anyone else," he said. "There's nobody to crack the whip," he added.

C. L. WILLIAMS, another foreman, expressed a similar attitude toward the new system.

"I think it is the most unbelievable thing anyone ever came up with," he said. Williams continued, "There is absolutely no control in the stages of construction.

Williams also cited the presence of both union and non-union labor on this project as a significant problem.

"For the sake of efficiency it is best not to mix union with open-shop," Williams explained. "If you bring in both on the same job, you immediately have a conflict of interest," he added.

The OTHER factor currently being constructed at FTU is the Science Building. It is to be located adjacent to the Science Building on the east side of campus.

Clayton spoke more confidently about the work on this project which began last month. "There is only one prime contractor on this job," he said.

Library Fines Axed

FTU students will not be charged fines for overdue books this year said Bernard L. Foy, assistant director of libraries for reader's services.

The FTU library is participating in a one year pilot project to determine the feasibility of abolishing library fines in the state University System.

Statistics will be checked carefully to determine whether or not there is an increase in overdue books. Foy said. "To make this project work, it will be up to the students to cooperate with the library staff to keep the overdue books at a minimum.

At the end of the school year the results of the project will be evaluated for consideration by other libraries in the state University System.

Snackbar Reopens With Beer

By Torrey Stewart

Beer was sold for the first time at FTU Monday in a newly remodeled snackbar costing approximately $9000, according to Director of Auxiliary Services James K. Eller.

FTU was the 7th state university to allow the campus sale of beer. One year and two weeks after the first liquor regulation was introduced on the Student Government Senate floor the sale of beer on campus became a reality.

Remodeling of the snackbar included dark beige tile floors, wood paneling, and cushioned chairs. Burnt orange and brown carpeting is planned and dark green drapes have been ordered.

Dean of Men Paul H. McQuilkin indicated that the sale of beer and the remodeling of the snackbar do not have a cause-effect relationship but are simply linked chronologically.

Extended snackbar hours will be observed this year. Monday through Thursday the snackbar will be open from 7 a.m. till 10 p.m.; and on Friday till midnight. Saturday and Sunday hours are 8 a.m. till midnight and noon till 10 p.m.

ACTING upon an ad hoc committee's report, Vice President for Business Affairs John F. Goree decided four weeks ago to extend the 21-meal plan option from the dorm residents' contracts.

Goree also announced food service concluded the 1973 fiscal year with a deficit of $11,291. The elimination of the meal plan is an attempt to move back into the black.

Goree blames increasing food cost, felt over the entire nation, for the large deficit but said "the greatest intruding factor was opening the cafeteria last September."

This included expenses for utilities, personnel, and predominantly food cost, without a major corresponding increase in volume of students. Florida does not provide any funds for food service operations.

Morrisons Cafeterias are contracted yearly by FTU for $2,100,000 to provide management services, to purchase food and to hire employees. Without the management contract Goree said FTU would have to pay another $100,000 a year to operate the cafeterias. FTU reimburses Morrisons for food and labor costs.

By eliminating the 21-meal plan Goree said "we can substantially reduce the labor force in the cafeterias."

GOREE has advised persons who contracted for the 15-meal plan that refunds are being made for the difference between the 15-meal plan and the 21-meal plan. He said at the time of cancellation only 15 or 20 percent had signed up for the 21-meal plan.

The 21-meal plan provided food service seven days a week, three meals a day. A 15-meal plan provides only three meals a day, Monday through Friday.

The ad hoc committee, headed by Chairman John R. Williams, director of Administrative Planning, found in an analysis of weekend cafeteria operation that "just to open the doors" on any typical weekend day would cost $292. THIS AD hoc committee, said Williams, has plans to make an extended study in fall management, to study Morrisons way of operation and to look into the feasibility of using students in the serving part of the service.

Williams also mentioned the idea of a 10-meal plan contract as an alternative to the 15-meal plan.

ALMOST TWO years have passed since the idea that beer should be sold on campus was introduced in the Student Government Senate. Widespread controversy followed. What may seem to be a hard fought victory at this time, in the future may become an insignificant part of a largely apathetic commuter university.

THE LONG awaited accomplishment is an illustration of how hard work within the system can result in complete, or nearly complete, change. It cannot be refuted that working within any given system may yield fast results. The beer issue can serve as an example to demonstrate that things can be changed at FTU.

The new addition to FTU extracurricular activities (i.e. drinking beer) resulted in the snack bar being crowded continuously.

FROM A business aspect, this innovation may bring dollars for Auxiliary Services.

The constant crowding of the snack bar and the lack of an aisle between tables may constitute a fire hazard. I SUGGEST that the Fire Marshall investigate the matter.

HIDDEN THOUGHTS

By William Lee Hidden

"Where is the chairman of this committee? We can't start without our chairman."

"And I was just full of good ideas," the eager, young senator exclaimed. The members waited until late that day for the chairman but he never showed up. Meanwhile, outside the government committee, various committees because of Senator Senile's seniority. We wonder why our Congress members spend most of their time procrastinating on the sacred grounds of Congress itself.

You think this is an extreme example? Maybe, but our government is run by the old men, just like our imaginary Senate, who rule the various committees because of seniority. We wonder why our Congress is so slow when the members spend most of their time waiting up the chairman or peering under his oxygen tent to see if he's still with them.

Chairmen are chosen in Congress from those who have been on particular committees the longest. Because of this some rich farmer from Nebraska stays because he has little opposition in elections and a big city politician holds office because he has the support of the big business. The farm states, one-party districts and politicians with the support of the big city machinery hold most of the committee chairmanships in Congress today.

Meanwhile, that young, energetic senator can only wait patiently until he has the power and seniority to get him that. When that happens, of course, he'll be older and grayer and might not even remember those great ideas he had long ago.

We have been hearing up and down Capital Hill from Congress that presidential powers have far exceeded those given in the Constitution and are even protruding on the sacred grounds of Congress itself.

Yet, when you have a Congress that is slow and archaic you have no one else to turn to for quick action. It's good to have a balance of experience and energetic political thinking, but the overabundance of influence from the experienced lead them to hold fast to their ways and old political ideology.

Why can't the committees pick their own chairmen? As the chairmen are from the majority party, why don't they form a party caucus to pick the chairmen?

Because a faster moving Congress is needed, there is no reason why committees could not be made up of equal members from both houses. That would make it possible for a proposed bill to go through one committee and then to both houses at the same time, instead of waiting for years and forth for various changes.

Even an age limit on holding office isn't really too far-fetched (though 65 might be a little low from the average age of Congress being around 55). If Congress is ever to regain its dwindling power it must change with the times. Congress has only itself to blame for the increasing power of the executive branch.

Legal Protection

Editor:

As a student in the College of Education I have often asked what the student teacher's legal status is while interning. The answer has been that we are protected by the same law which protects regular teachers.

As a state officer of the Florida Student Education Association, I asked our legal counsel to prepare a copy of the law as it pertains to the student teacher.

Even as late as the middle of the academic year, the student teacher as it does to the regular teacher. The student teacher is therefore liable, with the classroom teacher, for misconduct of the students (tights) as well as the child's general welfare.

It is therefore advisable for ALL education majors to join their local chapter of the FSEA for the protection granted through their liability policy which also includes legal fees. Do not let yourself be fooled by people telling you that you are covered by the schools insurance.

The school protects itself. One student teacher in Tampa believed he was covered by the school - his case is still in court and he is footing his own bill.

Many other benefits are available to members of the FSEA. I urge all education majors to check with your local chapter, Phi Delta Pi, and join your professional organization.

Inner-View of Very Interesting Persons

Can you imagine what it would be like to visit with one of your favorite contemporary singers 15 years from today? It is a strange feeling to talk to "something" in the form of "somebody" out of your past. When I was living in a college dorm during the 1950s, Fabian was a voice blaring from many a radio.

I caught Fabian in his appearance at "Once Upon a Stage," a delightful Victorian dinner theater that up to now has offered very light comedies and a fantastic buffet.

"The Tender Trap" was perhaps the most frivolous of these. Fabian, with his pleasantly low projected voice, and the rest of the cast members made the show very enjoyable.

As I watched my past perform before my eyes, my curiosity was aroused as to how Fabian felt about his past, his future. Because of this Fabian is giving the impression that the screaming, grabbing audiences may have become a thing of the past. Although he has not done any records since his teenage days, Fabian hopes to cut an album when he returns to California. It seems just to stay in the business will be interesting to see if his recent centerfold photos in "Play Girl" magazine will foster new interest or dampen enthusiasm for Fabian's future in "show biz."

Watergate Survey Reveals Opinion

In a recent survey administered to 168 FTU students, faculty, and staff, this summer 74 per cent indicated that they felt Nixon knew about the Watergate cover-up. The same percentage felt that his staff was, actively involved in the cover-up.

The majority of the sample participants indicated agreement with the statement: "Activities in the White House prior to the 1972 Presidential campaign exemplify activities which have occurred in other administrations." A total of 91 per cent of those polled felt that "there have been other acoust investigation units in other administrations."

When asked to rate their response to "the Republicans in the 1972 Presidential campaign committed acts just like the Democrats have done in their campaigns," the majority strongly agreed or agreed.

The average time spent a day in finding out the latest Watergate developments ranged from "as little as possible" to over four hours. Forty per cent in the survey spent 15 minutes or less per day.

According to the responses, the percentage of those expressing a great interest in Watergate, (on a scale of great, average, or small,) was 30 per cent higher than those expressing a general interest in politics.

According to the survey data collected at FTU at the beginning of summer by graduate student Jim Cherepow, Nixon's average credibility rating was 3.3 on a seven point semantic differential scale. Freshmen, he found, on an average gave Nixon the highest sample credibility ratings, with sophomores, juniors, graduate students, seniors, and the composite group of faculty and staff each giving progressively lower total credibility rating averages.

Lovebugs Pests Despite Name

By Deit Thompson

DOES the name "Plodia nearctica" mean anything to you? How about "Bioloid Fly"? These are two scientific names given an insect Florida natives are twice a year, much to their despair.

The lovebug is the insect and it is now in the middle of its spring flight. Lovebugs are small black flies which have flights twice a year — in May and September.

These flights last about four-weeks, with September usually having the largest number. During the flights, which are mating periods, female lovebugs will mate three to five times during their life time.

Lovebugs are harmless and do not bite or sting. According to the Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences, located at University of Florida in Gainesville, the insect feed on nectar and pollen of various flowers, especially goldenrod and clover.

The problem with lovebugs is that they splatter and stick to the windshields of trucks as they travel along roads and highways during daylight hours. The insects obstruct vision, damage automobile paint and are just plain messy.

Insecticidal control of lovebugs is impractical because they cover such a vast area. Lovebugs are native to Florida and other states and countries bordering the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean Sea.

They appear to have no known natural predators or parasites that significantly reduce their population. Dr. Philip Callahan of the U.S. Agriculture Department Insect Laboratory at Gainesville and Dr. Lewis Kujak of the University of Florida entomology department and Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences office both working on the lovebug problem.

In an interview Callahan said most of what is known about lovebugs is only guesswork. He said the insects have two life cycles a year and are influenced by light and temperature.

Twice a year in May and September, the conditions of sunlight and temperature are just right for lovebugs to hatch and take flight.

Callahan added the insects are steadily moving southward down the state and seem to be following the highway system.

Callahan said lovebugs are attracted to roads by the reflection of ultraviolet sunlight off hydrocarbons in automobile exhaust fumes. He said the light off the hydrocarbons has the same attraction as decoy grass and manure.

Lovebugs lay their eggs in cut grass and manure, which make well kept roadsides a perfect breeding ground.

"About the only way to keep the insects away from auto windshields is to clean up the pollution pouring out of exhaust pipes," Callahan said.

Relief from lovebugs can be very expensive. Balwin Jones, director of planning industries for the Florida Department of Agriculture, told local government officials it would cost more than $1 million a year to protect the 2,000 miles of state highways in Florida from lovebugs; the protection would be accomplished by extensive use of pesticides.

There is still no scientific method to control lovebugs. A spokesman for the Orange Agriculture Center summed up the lovebug problem by saying, "at present there is no control, and breeding areas are so common it appears control measures, if necessary, will be difficult to develop."

Death And Dying Revived

FTU is again offering a course where students are required to write their own obituaries and are given one year to live. The instructor, Lawrence Wyatt, considers the course an exercise in setting personal priorities.

"Death and Dying" is being taught on Monday, Wednesday and Friday noon to 12:50 p.m.

When granted the hypothetical year to live, students are required to sit down in writing what they intend to do with their remaining days.

This course received international notoriety last spring when a wire service story on the class appeared in newspapers from coast to coast and overseas. Since then Wyatt, an assistant professor of English, has received countless letters, telegrams and cables of advice reactions.

Lady Luck Aids Chapman

University Registrar Dan Chapman suffered one broken and two cracked vertebrae when his motorcycle struck a washout near Highway 434 on Labor Day. To avoid being sandwiched between two cars, Chapman pulled off onto the shoulder of SR 434 where a rain gully caused his bike to fall from beneath him.

Chapman was able to walk away from the accident which injured vertebrae controlling movement in his legs. The registrar has been riding a bike for many years and has had only one accident prior to this.

Chapman recently returned to his office and said he feels fine, although he admonishes bike riders to ride defensively and to watch out for cars.
A series of recent drawings by art department chairman Steve Lotz is on display through Sunday at Orlando's Loch Haven Art Center.

The exhibit expresses Lotz's involvement in transcendental motifs such as "mystical weddings and cosmic portals, spirals and generation."

Serving as a focal point for the exhibit is a large, three-part image which, according to Lotz, celebrates "the ritual of spiritual and psychological union."

Lotz's wife Gretchen has contributed a sculptural image to the exhibit, and in a separate gallery at Loch Haven, George Pappas, art department chairman of University of South Florida, has displayed some of his paintings and sculptures. The Lotz and Pappas exhibits will remain on view until Sunday at Loch Haven on North Mills Street (U.S. 17-92 in Orlando. The art center is open 10 a.m.-5 p.m. today and tomorrow, and 2-5 p.m. Sunday.

NEW LOOK ON CAMPUS - FTU's first policewoman, JANE D. FINKBOHNER, is no stranger to the university. The 23-year-old from Altamonte Springs graduated with a degree in criminal justice last March, and is one of the few disstaff members of campus security forces in the State University System. Campus Police Force Adds Feminine Touch

By Steve Paulson

FORMER Altamonte Springs police cadet and city employee has become FTU’s first full-time police officer, on a 19-member force.

“Jane Finkbohner was my choice and by far the best qualified,” said University Police Superintendent John Smith. “She is intelligent, has a good personality and she’ll get the same consideration as the 18 men on my force,” he added.

“That’s just the way I want it,” said Officer Finkbohner, who spent two years as a jail matron and desk clerk for the Altamonte Springs police department.

OFFICER FINKBOHNER, said her biggest complaint about small city police departments is that qualified women police officers are not allowed to do the work make police officers do. She said she knew a woman police sergeant in Altamonte Springs who was assigned to desk duty because the mayor taught a woman’s place was in the home. Officer Finkbohner said that was not for her.

Officer Finkbohner, who was assigned to desk duty because the mayor taught a woman’s place was in the home. Officer Finkbohner said that was not for her.

Officer Finkbohner applied for a job with the campus police and was accepted a week later.

“I think if a woman is qualified she should have an equal chance to apply for a job as a police officer,” she said. “I know some women who can handle the job and some who can’t, but,” she added.

IN FACT, said Officer Finkbohner, women police have an edge over their male counterparts.

“There’s a certain shock value when a policewoman goes up to a man and tells him he’s under arrest,” Officer Finkbohner said. Sometimes that split second it takes the man to decide whether or not to strike a woman is all he needs to make the arrest,” she

PARKING FEES

Campus police will begin enforcing the parking sticker requirements Monday and will begin handing out tickets this week, a spokesman for the department said.

The fine for not having a sticker is $2. Violations such as parking in the wrong lot have a fine of $3.

During the first week of classes officers distributed courtesy citations warning car owners to get their parking stickers. Beginning Monday, however, they will be giving regular tickets to persons who have not met the requirement.

Student parking stickers are $10 each, staff stickers are $12, faculty registration is $20, and reserved spaces are $60. Motorcycle stickers are $8, but bicycles can park for free.

Stickers may be obtained from the campus police department.

SG Gives Welcome

Dear Students,

On behalf of Student Government (SG) and the student body, I extend a sincere welcome to the new members of the FTU community and a welcome back to those students returning this fall.

SG serves as the representative voice of the student at all levels of the university system, both statewide and here at FTU. You, the student, are responsible for the success that SG enjoys. You are encouraged to express your viewpoints at anytime so that we may better serve you.

For the first time since FTU has been opened, beer will be served at the snackbar. You should be aware that the snackbar and Lake Claire are the only areas in which beer is allowed.

Other programs in which you might be interested are the movie ticket subsidy program, the student book exchange, which opened Monday, and cocurricular activities, which is scheduled for Oct.

For any additional information concerning SG, please contact us in the VC Building or phone 275-2101.

FTU Faces JU In Opener
By Larry McCorkle

FTU’S YOUNG soccer team begins Saturday when Coach Jim Rudy optimistically refers to it as a “competitive season” as they open 2 p.m. at home against one of the nation’s top teams in Class A.

“It’s going to be a tough match,” said the enthusiastic Rudy, who is often mistaken for one of his young looking players. “They have one of the best teams in the south, ranked 11th and an ambitious schedule to match,” said Rudy.

Included in that schedule are Harvard (ranked second in the nation), Baltimore (ranked fifth), Duke, North Carolina and Florida State.

“We still have a young team,” said Rudy. “Stages were scheduled with our schedule I’m shooting for a 500 season. Eighty per cent of FTU’s team are sophomores or freshmen.

Last week FTU was defeated in an exhibition game 0-0 by Miami-Dade South but improved greatly in their next exhibition match despite losing, 2-0, to the Winter Park Reds.

The following is a list of tentative starters for Saturday’s game with comments on each player from Rudy.

WINSTON DUBOIS, goalie, freshman, tall (6-3). “The best goalie in the state now.” Second team All-State from Trinity Prep. “He would have been first team had he played in Miami.”

In this regard, member institutions. National Collegiate Athletic Association policies, guidelines and eligibility requirements will be accepted as the foundation for competition in all conference competition.

In regard, member universities should be either associate members or members of the NCAA. (Only FTU and South Florida are presently full-fledged members. West Florida is an associate member, lacking the required number of sports for full membership.)

”I’m very optimistic about FTU soccer,” said Rudy. “I’ll be very exciting soccer, and most important, we’ll enjoy playing,” he added.

Saturday’s encounter will be played on the athletic fields behind the Physical Education Building.

On Tuesday, FTU will play Florida Atlantic 3:30 p.m.
Athletic directors from six of the state's universities, including FTU's Dr. John Powell, met on campus Sept. 13 to discuss forming a state athletic conference. All were receptive to the idea and scheduled another meeting at Florida International University on Dec. 6. They are (l. to r.) Dr. Paul Hartman, FTU, Dr. Luther Schweick, University of West Florida; Herb Long, FTU; Dr. Robert Ireland, Florida Atlantic University; Dr. Powell; and Dr. Jack Netherton, University of North Florida. ### Cage Recruits Aid Returning Starters

By Larry McCorkle

IT WILL be the old and new when the FTU Knights open the 1973 basketball season later this fall against South Florida.

For Coach Eugene (Tory) Clark, the "old" consists of returning starters Arnett Hall, John Smith and Pete Hans.

Hall, a 6-3 guard with great leaping ability to complement a deadly outside shot, was last year's leading scorer with a 20.2 average.

HALL was the leading scorer in 16 of the 26 games, but it was not until the latter part of the season that Hall began to show signs of quarterbacking the club.

Clark has high hopes that Hall will provide the team with offensive scoring as well as running the team's offense.

Smith did it all last year. As a 4-6 forward, he constantly battled larger men on the boards and consistently came out ahead.

THE LIKEABLE Smith, sports who aon-out-court glare that would probably make George Foreman think twice, led the team with a rebound average of 10.9 and scored in double figures 21 out of 35 games.

Haas, according to Clark, should come into his own this year. As a sophomore last year, Haas gained one year of experience playing against Jacksonville's Butch Taylor and Memphis State's Larry Kenan.

The 6-7 junior from Appleton, Wis., averaged eight points and 6.4 rebounds a game.

Willy Bellette, a 6-7 sophomore, obtained valuable playing time last year as a freshman. Bellette averaged six points and 6.4 rebounds despite a lack of playing time. It was Bellette's play in the season's finale against North Carolina's Asheville that rallied FTU to its 19th win of the season.

Bo Boren, a 6-6 forward who got a slow start because of an injury, will return to provide Clark with necessary depth in addition to 6-9 guard Angela Callins, 6-2 Jeff Kneerahan, 5-8 Don Siewer, and 6-1 Steve Armantita.

The new, of course, includes, Ted Donovan, a 6-11 center from Wisconsin. Donovan's size alone will intimidate FTU opponents' defensively, but the word is that the big man from DePere, Wis., has a soft touch around the blocks.

Mike McCaulley, a 6-6 forward from the same high school that produced Jim Chonis, reputed a good outside shot.

FTU WILL field a David Thompson of its own this year. This Thompson, a guard who played at Atlanta Baptist against FTU, liked what he saw of the Orlando school and transferred when Baptist dropped basketball from its intercollegiate sports.

Two Orlando area guards were picked up by Clark this past summer. Calvin Lingelbach, who's becoming as well known for his put-putting as well as his basketball talents, played high school ball for Evans while Ben Weedon, a 5-9 guard, played for cross town rival Winter Park.

At last, but certainly not least, is H. L. Coleman (H.L.) Coleman, a 6-3 forward who led the state junior college circuit in rebounding last year while at Broward Community College.

Cheerleader Tryouts Set

A meeting for all students, male or female, interested in trying out for FTU's cheerleading squad is set for Tuesday at 11 a.m. in CB 103.

The official cheerleading clinic put on by last year's squad information should contact Pam Leaper who led the state junior college program.

Girls, Boys V-Ball Teams Organized

With the addition of some international experience, FTU's women's volleyball team rate as one of the top teams in the state.

The international experience comes in a new package by the name of Shaila Khounart. Shaila, born on Christmas in 1945, played on several of Iran and Tehran national basketball, volleyball and track and field teams. She expects to participate in the Asian Olympics in the spring of 1974.

Shaila will participate on the volleyball team as both a setter and spiker. Other spikers on the team include, Judy Hall, June Fortney, Karen Matthews and Char Roush. Setter includes Shaila, Kay Berry and Jan Shiflett. Pam Burke returns as coach.

The women's volleyball team opens the season on Oct. 7, at a tournament at Rollins.

All men interested in participating should come to the organizational meeting of the "Spikers" set for Thursday, Oct. 14 at 11:00 a.m. in VB 200. Membership of the "Spikers" team will still be eligible for intramural play.

A list of all the extramural sports are still

Enthusiastic Spuller Tackles FTU Golf Job

By Fred Cay

YOUTHFUL, enthusiastic Jim Spuller is a person who enjoys a challenge, which is the main reason he accepted the job as FTU golf coach.

"I definitely feel it offers a challenge," said the 31-year-old assistant pro at Cypress Creek Country Club. "One of my main goals is to make golf a family sport at FTU. Florida's a great state for golf and it would be a great way to get more publicity for FTU."

Despite his age, Spuller has been assistant pro at Cypress Creek since April 1973 and has organized a golf program for 10-to-17-year-olds called the Orlando-Lake Junior Golf Association.

He is also an apprentice Professional Golf (PGA) member and could be the youngest full-fledged PGA member in the state in a year or so.

In addition to these activities, he finds time to compete in local professional events and has set up golf clinics in Winter Haven and Orlando.

"Once you've lost your enthusiasm, you've lost everything," explained the tall, slender Spuller. "Anyone you can help promote golf it's good not only for golf but it's good for your own satisfaction," he said.

Spuller readily admitted he would like to aim for the rich and prestigious pro tour. "Sure it's every golfer's goal to be the best player anywhere, unfortunately there were just too many Jack Nicklaus and Jack Canfield for any Jim Spullers to break in," he said with a grin.

"However, I've always felt that I'd like to teach and communicate, and golf is the field that I'm really qualified in," Spuller said.

The sandy-haired Polk Community College graduate is a firm believer in "positive thinking" and applying an inscription on a little slip of paper he carries at all times for his positive outlook.

"I want to be the most productive individual golf pro in the Florida Section of the PGA," begins the typewriter message giving four criteria for reaching that goal.
