Name Change Here Again

By Marvin Clegg

AFTER LETTING the possible name change for FTU rest this past summer, President Charles Millican reopened discussion on the matter Tuesday in a meeting with various university interest groups.

After nearly two hours of discussion, Millican appointed a special committee to recommend any action that may be taken on the name change.

The purpose of this committee, according to Chairman William Young, is "to try to get effective and general response to the proposal for a name change."

IN ORDER for any survey to be effective, Young said he plans to contact faculty members limited in survey research to assist any organization attempting one.

Specifying the requirements for surveys, President Millican said, "If any group decides to conduct a survey asking whether or not those responding feel the name should be changed, they must get that survey out with the name to include for those who respond with a "yes" answer, a requirement that they suggest an alternative. This also applies to any group deciding to recommend that the name be changed.

Outlining the criteria for new name suggestions, Millican stated, "We must have a name that is acceptable to the majority of the university community; the community at large, including alumni and the Chancellor, the Board of Regents, and the State Cabinet. From our experience last spring and following personal visits I have had with some members of the Board within the last month, it is crystal clear to me that the following criteria must be met if we again attempt to change the name."

Projected Enrollment Cuts Funds

By Steve Paulson

BECAUSE of a projected drop in full fee-paying students, the budget for activity and service fees have been severely cut said Dr. Charles Brown, assistant vice president of student affairs.

The projected number of full fee-paying students is down from 5,090 in 1973-74 to 5,125 in 1974-75. FTU receives $34,50 for each full fee-paying student for the purpose of activities and services.

FTU Self-Study Goals Outline Future Plans

By Dick Lochridge

OUTLINED in an eight-page booklet, the Self-Study Steering Committee has compiled with President Charles Millican's request for "concrete" plans for the future of FTU and has compiled university goals.

These goals are directions for what Millican called in a Sept. 21 memo to faculty members "a solid basis for the decision making of FTU."

The goals have been laid out by the Steering Committee, headed by Dr. Carl P. Rautenstrauch, working from questionnaires put to a 50-member panel of "experts" from the faculty, student body, Board of Regents and members of the community. Choices for the panel were based on expertise and higher education and what Rautenstrauch referred to as "basic services.

THE STEERING COMMITTEE began work last fall.

A sub-committee sent out goal statements to receive a rating from the members of the panel on importance and timeliness. The panel worked individually.

Using a "looped" questionnaire, two surveys were done; one last fall and one in February. The results were evaluated by the sub-committee.

The second survey contained the identical material as the first but gave panel members a chance to change their opinions or make further comments.

The sub-committee then proposed a set of goals to the Steering Committee, which combined last winter's student survey and the faculty survey and put together the set of goals.

12-Acre Site Approved For Greek Housing

THE NEXT "bundle" in the administration's steps to develop the Fraternity-Sorority Lodge Park by Lake Lee is "to come up with $5,000 for a topography survey and obtain a legal description for the area," said W. Rex Brown, vice president for Student Affairs.

Development of the 12-acre site was approved by President Charles Millican on Aug. 17. After the topography survey and legal description are made, the plan will have to be approved by the Board of Regents.

Brown said he does not know when these two steps will be taken because he does not have the necessary $5,000.

The TOPOGRAPHY survey will examine ecological aspects, natural resources and drainage. The legal description will pinpoint the site in the way a blueprint depicts a house. This will be done by contracting firms and lawyers.

The Lodge location is on university property, 300 feet north of Lake Lee and just west of the campus intramural sports fields. Brown forwarded for approval results of an informal committee study on the proposal of developing the lodges. Brown said the main factor was the project would occupy land which might be needed in 10 years.

PHYSICAL PLANT personnel looked at the area and made a suggested drawing for the fraternity and sorority lodges.

Under the proposed plan one acre will be available to each fraternity, while the sorority will have a two-acre plot with one lodge to house all sororities. A two-acre plot will be left open for expansion by other fraternities or sororities.

The social organizations will lease the property from FTU on a total lease that, according to Dr. Rudolph Blankenship, president of Lambda Chi fraternity, will be between $10,000 and $30,000.

PAM BROWNING, acting assistant advisor for student development, said the sorority is consulting the national Panhellean chapter for financial information and are also coordinating some ideas for the design of the lodge.

Brown said it was

INCLUDED in these fees are the budgets for student health services, Student Government (SG), Village Center, Philadelphia intramurals and publications.

FTU last year received over $550,000 for student activities and services from the state based on a three quarter average of 4,977 full fee-paying students, not counting outside incomes such as advertising. This was down from the projected revenue of 6,080 full fee-paying students and forced severe cutbacks last spring.

“We have to make these projections in March on how many full fee-paying students we’ll have for the following school year and if we have fewer students than we think we’ll have, we get less money,” said Brown.

“If we underestimate the number of students we’ll receive funds for we’ve all right, but if we overestimate we’ll have less money than we expected which necessitates cutbacks,” Brown added.

This year’s projected income, including outside sources of revenue, totaled $692,935 for the Activity and Service Fee budgets, which meant many of the 17 organizations submitting requests had their budgets trimmed.

Hardest hit was the PROBUS yearbook which was discontinued so its $17,000 budget could be diverted. Other organizations suffering from the drop include student health services, which had its request pared from $110,000 to $106,000; SG which went from $116,000 to $110,000; and the Activity and Service Fee which was pared from $102,000 to $98,000.

BROWN said the school only gets paid for a three quarter average of full fee-paying students and 40 per cent for summer students. He declined to speculate whether another third cutback might be in the making.

STAFF salaries are not affected by the budget cutbacks, Brown said, because of the university’s commitment to the employee.

As the motion neared the voting stage, Dr. K. Phillip Taylor, representing the Faculty Senate, moved to table the motion to allow the various group representatives to contact their members and seek recommendations.

WHEN this motion failed, an informal vote was taken on Dean Wilson’s proposal, and although it passed by a narrow margin, Millican turned the matter over to the ad hoc committee for further consideration.

Appointed to the committee were Taylor, Faculty Senate, Lee Constantine, Student Government, Dotts Scott, Staff Council; Dean Wilson, Administration and Professional; William R. Davis, FTU Foundation; Steve Rose, Alumni, and Dr. Jack Knox, Chairman’s Council.

Recommendations from any group were encouraged by Millican, who requested they be delivered in writing to his office no later than noon Oct. 23.

FTU charter graduate Steve Rose requested any interested alumni to phone him at 253-5894 for details about an Oct. 20 meeting at FTU to discuss the name change.

which were endorsed in early September by Millican.

Rautenstrauch said Millican made specific his terminology with the word “endorsed” instead of “approved,” because as Rautenstrauch put it, to approve something means to just OK it. When the goals were endorsed, Millican has promised to work with and for the goals.

THE GOALS had to be approved by the executive council, but Rautenstrauch said neither they nor the president made any major alterations of the goals.

The major topics on the goals are education and research, academic affairs, business affairs and student affairs.

Because of the length of the self-study findings, the entire report could not be reprinted here. However, Dr. Rautenstrauch invites anyone interested to read the report in his office, AD 125.

Beer On Campus Poses No Problem

By Mike Myers

Having beer at school is going to be wild!

That was the reaction of some students when it was first announced that beer would be available on campus this fall.

Many of the people who are against a Club Juana at FTU. They overindulgence and disorderly conduct on the part of students.

HOWEVER, this has not been the case. Initial indications are the beer has absolutely no effect on the consumption of beer by students.

"They have really been great," claimed Mike Myers. "We haven't had one incident yet."

ELLER, who supervises much of the beer himself, reported that some people who were not of age had tried to buy it.

"But that's not really a problem because I know most of the regulars," he said. "When I see a new face, I check them out and send them home."

The only difficulty encountered so far has been the new item's popularity.

Regulations prohibit the removal of beer from the snackbar and this has resulted in frequent overcrowding. Often it is a task for a person to make his way through the number of people crammed inside the small room. Finding a vacant seat is usually impossible.

ELLER said he is pleased with these conditions. "If it were larger," he explained, "it would be more convenient."

"Besides, there is no possibility for expansion anyway," Eller added. "We have made use of all the existing space," he continued.

In answer to compliants, Eller said the snackbar will no longer be cleaned by a half dozen for cleaning. The new procedure involves cleaning one section at a time while the other sections remain open for business.

A MISUNDERSTANDING last week regarding the grand opening of the new item has been clarified. It was originally reported that the opening was cancelled because it has been merely postponed.

According to Vice President for Student Affairs, Dr. Bobby Johnson, the program was officially scheduled to start the first week in October.

"We are so busy during this period," Brown said, "that I thought it would be better to wait until we got organized."

BROWN said he and Student Government President, Mike Constandine definitely intend to have a grand opening, but it is still in the planning stage.

FTU Offers New Degree

By Jerry Brooks

FTU will be the first university to offer a four year degree in allied legal services. The degree program will satisfy the need for specialized and para-professionals in the legal services field.

Dr. William W. Young, FTU's chairman of political science and the man credited with drafting the new program, said the number of bar members in Florida is expected to grow from 14,000 to 20,000 by 1975.

This is an indication of the future demand for degree specialists. Members of the Florida bar expressed interest in the program.

The program will have three educations:

1) It will enable students interested in law to enroll in skeleton credit courses while pursuing a different degree.
2) It will provide instruction for students who wish to pursue careers in the allied legal professions.
3) Students who are majoring in public administration, finance, real estate or criminal justice will be offered insight into the role and contribution of attorneys.

The allied legal services degree is an extension of activities in areas such as judicial administration which includes corrections, court administration and law enforcement and pre-law courses in political science, history and business administration.

The new legal services program is expected to draw students, transfers from junior colleges and persons in the Orlando area presently employed by public and private legal agencies and law offices.

FTU's Michael Berman recently became the state representative for the American College Union (ACLU), a union which provides legal counsel for those maintaining Constitutional rights free of charge to anyone who needs it. Berman, the campus FTCU's handbook, "Student Rights and Responsibilities," believes there are many FTU rules which violate Constitutional rights.

Berman commented on one of the test's issues regarding group disturbances.

"ACCORDING to the test, the precise location and boundaries and the number of students in a picket line, demonstration, or parade may be limited at the discretion of the university," the handbook says.

"So, how effective could a demonstration by a half dozen persons at the soccer field be?"

Berman asked.

"I believe people are much less fair to the privacy of student rooms on campus. He believes students who live on campus might be surprised to learn how many persons have access to their rooms without their permission."

Berman believes there are many FTU rules which violate Constitutional rights.

Berman commented on one of the test's issues regarding group disturbances.

According to Berman, the only difficulty in adjusting to campus life is the difficulty may be curbing girl watching because his family is also on campus.

MAA PERKINS

Perkins Now Receives Credit For FTU Studies

By Ron Stewart

The change from a POW in North Vietnam to a student at FTU is not as different as Maj. Glen Perkins had imagined. The difference is Perkins will earn college credit for his studies.

According to FTU's new POW information, "Glen Perkins does not compare POW life to his new college life. His wife and son Ed are also students have at FTU."

Perkins said the POW's were taught classes from other prisoners strictly from memory. Perkins has had classes, in his words, German, French, journalism, history, English literature, photography, Catholicism, Christianity, Judaism, meat cutting and even in university traffic regulations. He said he and Student Government President, Mike Constandine definitely intend to have a grand opening, but it is still in the planning stage.

The allied legal services degree is an extension of activities in areas such as judicial administration which includes corrections, court administration, and law enforcement and pre-law courses in political science, history and business administration.

The new legal services program is expected to draw students, transfers from junior colleges and persons in the Orlando area presently employed by public and private legal agencies and law offices.

Employment opportunities for those graduating with an ALS degree would be in legal offices, consumer protection agencies, zoning administration, social control, legal assistance agencies and charity commissioners.

According to Young, the ALS program will probably require the law of the university to coordinate the legal services curriculum. Robert Boyer, presently a colonel in the Army's Judge Advocate General's Corps, is under consideration.

MILICAN Satisfied

Last summer's speculation that FTU President Charles N. Millican was the prime candidate for the presidency of the University of Florida was denied after a faculty assembly meeting on Sept. 24.

After the faculty assembly meeting, Massman told reporter that he was "quite satisfied at FTU."

He added, "I am not interested in any university, except the University of Florida."

Massman then present at the FTU meeting said, "We don't recall seeing Dr. Millican's name among the 60 or 70 names being considered for the position."

According to Massman, the composition of the Faculty Assembly was satisfied with the recommendations to fill the post at the December meeting.

1) the director of physical plant, 2) modern physical workers, 9) the director of security, 10) the assistant for student development.

Berman said he feels students volunteer police contact Debbie Whealy or Kathy Caravana at the VC or call 276-2633.

A MEETING to discuss student rights and responsibilities has been scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Students are invited to express their views.

Interested students in the ACLU should call Neighborhood Law Office at 422-5003 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. or call ACLU President Dr. James Durant at 423-5788, or Berman at 365-5516.

Name Change

IS FTU's NAME change really an impossible dream? Maybe, but the next few weeks or months will determine the immediate future of Florida Technological University (at least as far as the name of the university goes).

Any desire to change the present name will have to be accompanied by "sensible alternatives." If FTU's name is altered in any way, it must meet criteria which will be acceptable to the Florida Cabinet, the Board of Regents, the community at large and a majority of the university community.

THE CRITERIA which must be met (see story on page 1) to create an "acceptable alternative" name places barrier upon barrier in the way of change. Thus, an almost insurmountable crossword puzzle is created for anyone favoring a new name.

There is no hope, however, that with strong convictions about a change will take the time and expend the energy to bring forth their views. Here is where apathy will take its toll.

There is no need to be discouraged. Whatever decision is made on our university's name will follow careful study and deliberation.

PRESIDENT MILLCAN should be recognized and applauded for trying to make the decision on any name change involves as many concerned individuals as possible.

The ad hoc committee appointed by President Millican will bear the responsibility of assessing any recommendations first hand.

It is quite possible that any attempt to change our university's name now might not be a completely waste of time. We have to face the fact that in the near future the State of Florida is bound to win up and institute a uniform method of naming all state educational institutions.

Until a uniform naming system is adopted in Florida; this university will not and should not be judged solely by its name. We, the students, bear the responsibility of "placing FTU on the map."

So if we stop to think about the situation at hand and to analyze the limitations which have been put on the university by the Regents, the Cabinet, and soon we can reasonably conclude that a name change may not last long!

It is probable that until the newer state universities voice their objections to their inaccurate names in union, no move will be made to revamp the system.

So there are effective ways to promote FTU without changing the name. A greater emphasis on intercollegiate activities will go far in building a reputation beyond the state lines.

From within the university, strengthening and maintaining our "Accent on the Individual" and "Accent on Excellence," will further our efforts to bring new students to FTU from all over the nation.

Letters To The Editor

Reader Blasts Degree Lettering

Editor:

Not content to make graduation complicated enough to warrant a four hour course in Procedures for Graduation, the administration, as per the registrar's office, has added a final, meaningless kink in the pants to the graduates of FTU.

To all of you who are majoring in social welfare, journalism, biology or whatever, I imagine that you would like the degree that you are going to hang in your office, den, etc., to reflect your specialty. Too bad to those of you who are putting out the additional effort required to do double major, and might have enough justification to want all those who see your degree to know it, tough.

Physic majors: Do you distinguish yourself from medical technology majors? I hope so, because your degree doesn't reflect any distinction.

As of summer quarter "39 (as far as I can determine, the procedure being initiated rather quietly), this university now issues "General" degrees, Diplomas now read: "B.S., College of Natural Sciences," or "B.A., College of Social Sciences," period. You figure your out (it's not very hard).

Do you double major across colleges? You will be permitted to choose one college to appear on your 'skin. Keep reading, it gets better.

When queried as to the rationale behind this exercise in vacuity, one member of the registrar's staff explained it: "IT's (the listing of a major or majors) too much work and there's too much chances for error because the colleges offer so many majors. Besides, your major appears on your transcript."

How many of you plan to frame your transcript for your wall? It seems that four years of a student's time is not worthy of five additional minutes, if that, of a staff member's time in the registrar's office. I submit that man does not live by transcript alone.

Be the subject parking lots or degrees, the policy of this university's administration is blatantly obvious. "Accent on the individual" refers to individuals employed by the administration. We have only assumed that it referred to the individual student. No comment.

Hidden Thoughts

By William Lee Haddon

It was in a dire moment that I went to see my psychiatrist. I had to know that I was about to stumble into one of the greatest stories since Averys Comice exclusive interview with God. Except I didn't think I was seeing a psychiatrist. When I got to my Psyche he was talking to the wall and feeding the seagulls in the painting. As far as I could tell it was the start of another normal session.

"How was I to know that I was about to stumble into one of the greatest stories since Averys Comice exclusive interview with God. Except I didn't think I was seeing a psychiatrist."

"THE LORD, you say? The one up there?"

I think he meant by a Jesus freak. Not only that but they put a tail on HIM. The first one kept after HIM for about three blocks. Apparently my shrink didn't see the humor.

"I'm not usually break confidence between you and I think he meant by a Jesus freak. Not only that but they put a tail on HIM. The first one kept after HIM for about three blocks. Apparently my shrink didn't see the humor.

Deadline Today For SG Senatorial Candidacy

TODAY is the last day for FTU students to declare their candidates for a Student Government (SG) senator. Students wishing to sign a declaration of candidacy should do so before 4:30 p.m. in VC 226. Official declarations will be accepted after this deadline date.

Elections for SG positions in the senate are scheduled Oct. 18 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Oct. 19 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Kink Village Center and University Center.

In order to qualify as a SG senator, a student must have an overall GPA of 2.0, be enrolled in the college and class be representative when assuming office and be taking a minimum of 9 quarter hrs.

"This year FTU students will have a choice of three polling places, instead of the usual one," said FTU SG President Ted Constantine.

FTU's procedure of electing SG senator is unique among state universities in that each student only votes for candidates in his class and college.

Each class college is allocated a specific number of senate seats based on its individual enrollment. This year, however, the number of senatorial seats open has not been designated because of the delay in the release of enrollment figures.

"We hope for an anticipate a larger voter turnout by having three polling places and by advertising the elections," said Constantine.

STUDENTS wishing to cast their votes for the candidate of their choice must present their student identification card at the proper voting places. Any student trying to vote at more than one polling place will be fined accordingly.

Students who will be away from campus on election days may submit a request for an absentee ballot to Commissioner of Elections Thom Costa no later than Monday. All requests must be accompanied by the student's identification card.

FTU Students Study In Spain

By Melanie Bowman

The opportunity to earn college credits while spending a summer in Spain is being offered by FTU in a program titled Hispanic Culture and Civilization.

The program, already in its third year, is open to Spanish and non-Spanish majors, whether graduate or undergraduate students. Up to 16 quarter hours credit may be elected from such topics as contemporary Spanish theatre, language and civilization, history and art.

Non-Spanish majors may take elementary or intermediate Spanish, depending on their language background. According to Armando Payas, director of the summer study program, students are usually able to learn the language much more rapidly when taught in the native environment.

Students of anthropology, art, music and related areas are encouraged to conduct independent studies in their fields of interest. Those who plan to do research will be free to travel Spain in order to carry out their studies.

In order to take advantage of the "two completely different atmospheres...and very different cultures" of northern and southern Spain, the program is divided into two parts. The first portion of the summer is spent north of Madrid, where four weeks of classes are taught at the 400-year-old University of Oviedo. From there students move south to Seville, where classes resume.

The teaching staff is comprised of three professors from the University of Oviedo, a professor from New York and FTU's Dr. Payas. In addition, six Spanish university students will be available as tutors.

Classroom work will be broken up with field trips to various historic and artistic points of interest such as the Cuenca de Asturias and the Cantabria del Mar. Activities such as romerías, concerts and fiestas vaqueras will also be part of the itinerary.

Additional details are available from Dr. Payas in the language department.

Handicapped FTU Student Gets Commitment From Navy

By Heather Henry

"You could have knocked me over with a feather!" said Peter Wolcott, a FTU sophomore, when asked who Elmo R. Zumwalt, Chief of U.S. Naval Operations, came up and spoke to him in the new senate office building hallway.

Wolcott, a political science major, handicapped at birth by cerebral palsy, had approached Zumwalt over a year and a half before while still a high school sophomore.

"You said positive things," said Zumwalt, who was at that time a Navy appointee to the House Armed Services Committee. "I thought you were very helpful and encouraging," said Wolcott. A regular correspondence was kept between Zumwalt and Payas.

During his Sept. 15 stay in the capital, Pete visited many senators and military personnel who helped in the pursuit of his ambition.

Between the time of his chance meeting with Zumwalt and his Friday appointment with him, Wolcott received national radio, television and newspaper coverage.

During a 20-minute meeting, Wolcott was told it would be against Congressional regulations to put him in uniform, so he was at that time "very encouraging!," said Pete. During the meeting, Pete had been corresponding with influential people in the Navy, receiving mostly negative replies.

Congressman Lou Fey, R-Winter Park, was..."very helpful and encouraging." said Wolcott. A regular correspondence was kept between Zumwalt and Payas.

Between the time of his chance meeting with Zumwalt and his Friday appointment with him, Wolcott received national radio, television and newspaper coverage.

During a 20-minute meeting, Wolcott was told it would be against Congressional regulations to put him in uniform, so he was at that time "very encouraging!" said Pete. During the meeting, Pete had been corresponding with influential people in the Navy, receiving mostly negative replies.

During his Sept. 15 stay in the capital, Pete visited many senators and military personnel who helped in the pursuit of his ambition.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT has added a babysitting referral service, VIP car passes to Cape Kennedy and outing equipment to their current student services.

“We’ve added these new projects in accordance to our campaign promises and will continue to carry on projects like the book exchange and subsidy ticket programs,” said Student Government President Lee Constantine.

Today marks the first day FTU students can sign up as babysitters for the SG referral service.

FURTHER information is available in VC room 216 or 206, by calling 275-2191 or by contacting SG Director of Community Affairs Susan Carrick.

“The SG babysitting referral service does exactly what it says,” said Carrick. “We gather names of interested students, find out available hours, price and the age group they would like to sit. Then students, find babysitters for the Center (VC) or babysitters for the Community (VC) and set up appointments.”

“I can’t say enough about the service,” said Constantine. “We gather names of interested students, find out available hours, price and the age group they would like to sit. Then students, find babysitters for the Center (VC) or babysitters for the Community (VC) and set up appointments.”

According to Constantine, this service will be provided in accordance with the Child Care Center. He said he hopes to continue the referral service after the Child Care Center is built, coordinating the two projects.

THE CAMPING equipment now available in the Village Center (VC) is the product of a SG bill passed last spring.

After three quarters of debate whether money should be allocated for outing equipment, SG bill 2-20 was passed by an overwhelming majority of the senate.

Students wishing to obtain equipment, which includes an eight-man tent, 10 sleeping bags, six back-packs and other camping equipment, may do so through the VC Game Room by presenting their student identification card.

VIP car passes to the Skylab IV launch are now available on a limited basis in VC 216.

“We only have about 10 VIP passes left and we will give them to students on a first come first serve basis,” said Constantine.

Another project of SG is the ticket subsidy program. SG is offering tickets to the Suburban University Drive-In, Colony, Beacham and Colonial Rocking Chair theaters at a reduced price of $1 for students and $1.25 for members of the faculty and administration.

TICKETS valued at $5 a book are available to students for $3.50 and faculty and administration for $4 to the Women’s Theater.

“We hope to get reduced tickets to other area theaters and even to local restaurants,” said SG Vice President Hunter Potts.

OKLAHOMA IS OK!

By Fran Elliot

Rodger and Hammurstein may seem hokey, melodramatic, and silly today but in a marvelous old fashioned way.

Their music, lyrics and script always show a touch of genius as in the classic "Oklahoma," now playing at Sebastian’s Dinner Theatre. Applauded as one of the composers’ early greats, the show should never grow completely outdated as long as romance and humor exist. It is one of the first shows to integrate a true balletic comedy.

Although the Sebastian cast does an overall nice job, this show saw not up to their usual excellence.

The costumes are well coordinated, nicely designed and colorful, except for the modern belts and bluejeans. With a few more bales of hay to hide the unfinished bottom edge of the backdrop, the set would have been more than just functional.

The musicians were lively and performed well but drowned out the performers during some musical numbers. The choreographed group numbers were by far the outstanding part of the show and the enthusiastic "Oklahoma" finale made a visit to the theatre worthwhile.

Lynda Laurin as Laurey was an admirably attractive young Oklahoma bride with a lovely voice to match her stage presence.

Neom Riggins as Curly comes on strong vocally, but he could not seem to sustain that needed strength. He lacks the characteristics of a real cowboy of the West.

Patti Hubler and Dan Verre as the wide eyed Ado Annie and her beau Will come across appealingly. But it was very disappointing to hear Patti sing I can’t instead of I Cain’t Say No.”

The entire cast and staff worked hard at producing the feeling and mood necessary for this delightful show and although it is slow at the start, one can not help but with the entire "population" of "Oklahoma" a successful future.

TODAY IS THE LAST DAY TO DECLARE CANDIDACY for STUDENT GOVERNMENT SENATE ELECTIONS

COME TO VC 216 or 205 ELECTIONS WILL BE OCT. 18-19

Students interested in a Judicial Position may fill out application forms in VC 216

CONCIE PASTER as Aunt Eller has the right amount of sincerity. Jerry Covington as the villainous Jud Fry has a great voice but appears ill at ease on stage.

However, it was Leonard Corner in the "ner do well" role of Ali Hakim and Benjamine Dehner as "Gertie" that grabbed the fancy of the audience.

Today marks the first day of elections. Student Government will need all assistance to make this the best election ever.

Sororities
Rush

FTU's four sororities - Alpha Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Theta and Gamma Tau Alpha - have high hopes of increasing their membership during fall rush. The organizations hope to add to their list of community services, scholastic achievements and social progress.

The purpose of fall rush is to acquaint FTU women with sorority life, but rushers are in no way obligated to pledge a sorority.

Fall rush provides an excellent way to meet girls already in sororities and girls who are also going through rush.

"I remember when I went through rush and had every minute of the excitement and enthusiasm that fall rush brought," said Panhellenic President Liza Young.

Though the four sororities have some identical objectives, each tries to display its particular philosophy during rush.

"We feel we are a vital part of a very active group which has a lot to contribute to university living and still we retain our individuality," said Miss Young. Other sorority women said the friendships, academic standing and extracurricular activities which go with sorority life are major contributing factors in the selection of a sorority.

Some of the community service activities in which sororities have played a major role include a two-day fund raising for the Florida State University Orchestra, which collected more than $3,000, and the drive over the top, a 50-mile hike for the March of Dimes, visits to St. John's Children's Hospital for "adopted" children, working as runners and tabulators during the annual Central Florida Cerebral Palsy Telethon, visits to Simler Correctional Institution for dinner with inmates and working with juveniles and their families.

Frat Recruit New Members

Fraternity Rush

Learn about brotherhood in the Greek sense of the word.

"Deciding to rush a fraternity is an important decision, but it is more important to choose one that is right for you," said Lambda Chi Alpha's Rush Chairman Joseph DelSol.

Recognizing this, FTU's 10 fraternities plan to acquaint the male population with their philosophies and activities at this weekend's rush parties.

Tomorrow is the first full day. The 24 members of Chi Phi will hold a cookout at their frat house located at 2666 Arkansas at 8:30 p.m.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA will stage its part at the Century 21 club house at 8 p.m., with a live band playing at 9 p.m. An emphasis on "boom, boots and brotherhood" (the three B's) is supplemented by the ATO hazing service at 677-9263.

Sorority Rush

All rushers can obtain details, including maps showing party locations, at the K (the booth surrounded by bulletin boards). You can sign up for rush there too, until 3 p.m. today.

Dr. Thomas Borowy is now determining if there is a need for a marriage counseling service at FTU. Through a survey of married students, Borowy hopes to find if there is a need for the service and if people want it.

The Developmental Center also has a complete vocational counseling department, which includes current and future job market projections, tools to determine individual job interests and a complete occupational library.

Borowy, who is also a general counselor at the Developmental Center, said the marriage counseling service is not necessarily concerned with couples in trouble but also provides assistance for those who wish to have a better married life.

Similar programs have had success at other universities says Borowy.

Marshman 'Imaginative'

By Weber Ivy

Here I sit in the Village Center Art Gallery, alone with the mute and curious brains of children of the artist Robert Marshman. Although they refuse to yield any particular meaning, they do portray Marshman's personal synthesis of traditional and contemporary art in their combinations of photographic and impressionistic images, canvas and plastic. Several of the "paintings" are actual double images of the same woman seen first in a monochrome photograph and then brought to life in intense painted colors. Sometimes Marshman's placement of figures, dots and stripes cleverly thwart's instant perception of a subject whose visual class suddenly snap together into a coherent pattern. The echoes of impressionism peck in the sequence of fishermen. Going from left to right, the three drawings zoom in on the men and the fish, becoming brighter and more substantial, yet still vaguely defined, with the fish as a focal point of blank paper contained within a suggestive shape.

There are possible references to Marshman's childhood in the photographs of a boy with a fish, blocked off by pencil drawings of random scenes.

The causes of Marshman's obvious devotion to human subjects and their imaginative treatment remain hidden. For this observer, at least, although the superficial question "What is it?" was usually answered, the deeper question, "What does it mean?" seemed to have no solution.

Until other critics can pit their powers of perception successfully against this calculated puzzle, the Marshman exhibit will maintain an interesting combination of styles, materials and images.

Poll Shows Aikido Choice

A poll taken by the Village Center (VC) to determine what leisure classes to offer revealed that Aikido, a Japanese form of unarmed self-defense, was preferred by most of the students polled.

Other topics selected by students in order of preference were consumer protection, the American Indian, open marriage, dishonesty in government and sexuality.

The majority of students questioned would like to see the VC offer photography classes. Plans are now being formulated for such a class.

Other student choices of leisure classes, in order of preference, were guitar, ceramics, billiards, candle making, and tempeh and oil painting.

The VC will offer candle making this quarter and ceramics in winter quarter. Registration for candle classes begins October 22.

The VC board welcomes any and all suggestions from students and invites them to attend committee meetings listed in the activity calendar.

WFTU-FM In Future

Campus radio station WFTU, 640 on your dormitory dial, is on its way to becoming an FM stereo station.

Although actual FM broadcasting is in the near future, station manager John Weyrick said the first steps have been taken. These steps will fill out required federal forms and paperwork.

Until the big day arrives the key words at WFTU Station personnel will be trained toward programming not found elsewhere. Already the syndicated Wolfman Jack programs are being aired. When WOLF-2 is not broadcasting WBJW-FM is rebroadcast so station life is not missed. Radio news will also take a different turn with in-depth reporting of the reporting whys and hows of campus events. The special programming stressed News Director Gayle Prince, will be aimed at the students.

Prince and Weyrick voiced great expectations for the burgeoning WFTU and expressed a hope more students become involved and take advantage of the program.

RHA To Fill Posts

THE RESIDENCE HOUSING ASSOCIATION (RHA), a self-governing body which serves as the representative voice of FTU's 400 dormitory residents, is looking for residents interested in filling vacancies on the executive and judicial boards.

The RHA, under the leadership of president Elmer Seifer, replaces the once separate Men and Women Housing Associations.

The executive board consists of the president and vice president and three men and three women from the upper classes, who were elected last spring.

One freshman male and female will be elected to the board during the next few weeks. Petitions for freshmen interested in running for a post on the executive board will be available soon.

The judicial board is composed of nine persons appointed by the president and approved by the executive board. Three opening positions will be filled through appropriate application, with the most qualified people being selected.

Seifer said a number of committees need people to serve on them. The RHA like any organization, is dependent upon the support and involvement of its members in order to function effectively.

THE TENTATIVE meeting time is Thursday at 6 p.m. in the B dorm lounge.

Two other executive board positions are also vacant. Vice President Linda Smart and board member Mike Tortorella were elected last spring.

“The hours of operation of the RHA are 2 p.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Friday. The hours of operation will be determined by the membership.”

THE RHA hopes to alleviate the problem by providing bus service on weekends.

Members of the RHA voted Sept. 26 on the violation policy. The passage of any policy required a two-thirds vote of all residents. Some possibilities are A) parties, movies, demonstrations and lectures. A self defense demonstration and opportunities for eventual classes are planned.

Activities during the day on weekends are also being changed. RHA president Linda Smart has announced that an newsletter will be published to notify residents of these events.

The RHA has also been working with an organization which plans to have Saturday nights set from 2 p.m. - 11 p.m.

The project list.

RHA's main function is to serve as the unified representative of its members in order to function effectively.

The passage of any policy required a two-thirds vote of all residents. The maximum violation policy was passed by just 20 votes. Approximately 100 members did cast ballots.

A FALL program is now in order on the executive and judicial boards. The fall election will start Thursday, Oct. 4, at the RHA meeting.

Be an active member of the RHA and attend the meetings. The meetings are held at 6 p.m. in the B dorm lounge every Thursday. The date differs from the state legislature and the date differs from the date listed in the bulletin.

FTU Defeats Flagler, 4-2, Following JU Loss

By Larry McCorkle

FTU’S SOCCER team seems to be in a FTU mix-up. Last Saturday they played a great game but lost. This Tuesday, they played “poorly” and won Figure that one out.

Perhaps it sounds a little more feasible when the entire story is told. Jacksonville, ranked 11th in the South, defeated FTU 3-0, while little Flagler of St. Augustine, about as meddlesome as you can get, eventually succumbed to a better FTU squad, 4-2.

A CROWD of about 200 people including President Charles Holmquist and Assistant Director John Powell witnessed Jacksonville jump off to a 2-0 halftime lead with both goals on penalty kicks by Tim Worringer.

Fullback Bray Arndt’s attempted tackle was ruled by the referee illegal resulting in a violation and the first penalty shot. Worringer shot the ball in the left corner of the goal just out of the outstretched hands of FTU goalie Winston Dubose. A heads violation later in the inside penalty box resulted in another penalty kick and an ace score. Dubose finished with 11 saves and earned the plaudits of the Jacksonville coach that he was of all-American caliber. The JU coach also cited FTU’s freshman fullback Don Brown for outstanding play. After the game, an exuberant Coach Jim Rudy exclaimed, "If JU’s No. 11 in the south, we’re right behind. As soon as we start hitting the nets, we’ll start rolling,” he added.

BESIDES Dubose and Brown, Rudy said that Bob Steadman turned in a fine performance.

It was a similar story against Flagler. FTU blew repeated chances at scoring until Dean Andreasd tripled the lead via a FTU fullback flaggers and scored 9:25 New Depth Adds Punch To Squad.

STEVIE HARGISST, a pitcher from Huntington, Long Island, was drafted last Spring by the Cincinnati Reds but decided to play college ball, much to the delight of Holmquist. He is a 6-2, 170-pound sophomore.

TOM PARISH, a 6-2, 175 lb. transfer from Valentine was his team’s leading hitter at .325 and can play any infield position.

CRAG BUTLER, was invited to Community College’s (CC) ledger hitting this last two years is an outstanding defensive outfielder.

MIKE FOLLING is a southpaw pitcher from Seminole Junior College. The 6-0, 170-pounder reputedly has a good curve and keeps the ball down.

STEVE CRUTCHER, a second baseman, from Valencia, has hit over .300 the past two seasons batting in the leadoff spot.

TOM SMITH, an infielder from Sarasota, has already earned plaudits from Holmquist after only one game in the new league. “I’ve been greatly impressed,” said Holmquist, “especially since he’s only a freshman. He makes all the plays at the plate.”

CALVIN LINDGEBACH, who is at FTU on a basketball scholarship, could also wind up in a line as a pitcher. He is 6-1, 150 lb. Rogers High grad is batting for the shortstop position.

LUW ESCOBAR, a 18-year-old second baseman-outfielder is a native of Columbia and was the most valuable player the 1973 Pan-American games, hitting two home runs against the United States team. Escobar went to Eastern Kentucky University two years and has “surprising power,” according to Holmquist.

MIKE D’AMICO, a 6-1, 150 lb. freshman from Fort Lauderdale, is an outfield prospect.

GARY HORSLEY from Hillsab is also a freshman vying for the second-base job.

CHARLIE HORNOR of Winter Park High, a 6-0, 195-pounder, will back up Gattis behind the plate.

GREG LANDRUM, a 6-2, 185-pounder from Jupiter, is an outfielder-infielder.

SCOTT McCLEAN from Broward CC is a pitcher, primarily a second baseman.

ALAN MIEKLER, a 6-2, 185 lb. first baseman. From Valencia, is an outstanding hitter,” said Holmquist.

DARIEL PAYNE is a first baseman and outfielder from Seminole.

GORDON DUKIE, a freshman from Redick, Cal., is a prospect at shortstop.

The only pitchers returning from last year are Pete McManus, Bill Larson and Greg Fesch who comprised last season’s starting staff, and reliever Dave Draper.

The only catchers expected to return from the ‘73 team are freshmen Dave Mainsch, Bill Larson and Greg Fesch who comprised last season’s starting staff, and reliever Dave Draper.

TKE, LXA Rate As Top Frat League Challengers

A recent survey by the Interfraternity Council has rated TKE and LXA as the top two independent teams in the nation. This is the first time the two teams have been ranked in the top two positions.

ATO

BY FRED CAY

THE PERENNIAL top two fraternal order, ATO, will be among the three teams returning to the conference this year. The team has finished 1-2 the past two years in the conference and is predicted to remain one of the top teams in the nation. ATO is currently led by president Tim Batchelor, who is expected to lead the team to another successful season.

THE HONOR

ONE OF ATO’s new additions will be the return of star receiver Charlie Acker. Acker, who missed the entire 1973 season, is expected to be a key player for the team this year. His return will give ATO a strong offensive line to work with.

THE PRACTICE

ATO’s defense will be led by returning linemen John Johnson and Gary Powers. The defense is expected to be one of the best in the nation, with Johnson and Powers leading the way.

THE ROSTERS

On offense, ATO has returned only three starters from last year’s team. However, the team has brought in several new players who are expected to make an immediate impact.

THE SEASON

ATO’s schedule features several tough games, including a home game against the defending national champions, Lambda Chi Omega. The team is expected to be competitive in all of their games and is predicted to do well in the conference.

THE COACHES

ATO’s head coach, Bill Smith, is expected to lead the team to another successful season. Smith, who has been coaching at ATO for 10 years, is widely respected in the fraternity community and has led ATO to many successful seasons in the past.

THE FUTURE

ATO is expected to be a strong team for the next several years, with many top players returning and a strong recruiting class incoming. The team has high expectations for the upcoming season and is looking to continue their success.
