Four FTU Coeds Pursue Title

By Jerry Brooks

Joy Jones will give up her Miss Orlando crown to one of 18 hopefuls Nov. 10. Among the contestants are four FTU students: Lisa Malle, Roseanne Marruiz, Suzy O’Hara and Beth Sullivan. The Miss Orlando Scholarship Pageant is held in conjunction with the annual weekend Arts and Crafts Show at Eola Park. The winner of the pageant will go to the Miss Florida Pageant and the winner of that contest will represent Florida in the Miss America pageant.

The winner of the Miss Orlando Pageant will receive a $500 scholarship, a considerable drop from last year’s $5,000 award.

ACCORDING to Corb Barret, Orlando’s central business district president and manager of the pageant, the reduced scholarship award is the result of the legal situation of Glen Turner, who had donated the $5,000 scholarship for the past two years, but was unable to do so this year. Donations for the pageant are collected by the Miss Orlando Scholarship Association, a nonprofit organization.

“The $5,000 scholarship is what attracted me to the pageant,” said Suzy, “but when I learned the scholarship had been dropped to $500, I still wanted to be a part of it because it would give me an opportunity to do something new and different.”

She, 19, and a graduate of South Florida Central Catholic, is no stranger to beauty pageants, having been Orlando’s Junior Miss pageant at Cocoa Beach in 1970 and fast runner-up in the 1.7 mile race. “I learned the scholarship had been reduced to $500, I still wanted to be a part of it because it would give me an opportunity to do something new and different.”

Since 19, and a graduate of Edgewater High School, is a theater major in the process of switching her major to speech and public relations.

In addition to being a full-time student, she also works full time as a can-can dancer in the Diamond Horseshoe Review at Walt Disney World. “I enjoy working at Disney because I love to dance,” said Suzy, “but I really have the different there. Suzy is no stranger to beauty pageants, having been Orlando’s Junior Miss in 1970 and the runner up in the Florida Junior Miss Pageant.”

Reflections upon her experience in beauty pageants, Suzy said: “I find that among the contestants there is no rivalry, just a bunch of girls having fun and meeting new people.”

Beth Sullivan is another FTU contestant who is also in pre-law studies. Beth said she would like to go into communications and possibly radio and television. She also sings in the FTU choir.

In a takeoff from the mostl “South Pacific,” Beth will be dressed in a baggy sailor uniform as she imitates Natalie entertaining the troops at a USO show. She will sing a medley of songs from the musical while she dances.

BETH recently ended her reign as Miss Apopka. She was also Miss Central Florida Heart Fund Queen and was Homecoming Queen her senior year at Apopka High School.

Beth said she enjoys practicing the songs and comes home to brush her hair away from home.

When asked why she entered the Miss Orlando Pageant she said, it’s a great experience. I’ve met so many wonderful people that I feel I’ve already won something.”

ROSEANNE is another contestant who comes from Cocoa Beach. Majoring in English, with a minor in foreign languages, Roseanne speaks Hungarian, Portuguese, Spanish and French.

Roseanne was Miss Cocoa Beach in 1971 and placed in the Junior Miss pageant at Cocoa Beach. “Most people think girls who enter beauty pageants are a bunch of snobs. This is not true at all. I think of the best people I know I’ve met at pageants,” she said.

Starting with the talent portion of the Miss Orlando pageant Roseanne is in the latest portion of the guitar. She will sing a self composed song made up of The results of the Miss Orlando Pageant will be held at the Winter Garden Theatre Tuesday Nov. 10.

Wine Resolution Passes

By Steve Pulson

The Council of State Universities this week expressed its support for an amendment to the state Constitution which would allow the sale of wine on campus for individual consumption in a vote taken last Friday.

William "Bud" Brown, representing FTU, endorsed the measure which would leave the question of wine sales up to the president of each university.

FTU Student Government President Lee Constantine said Monday he will go to Tallahassee for the voting of university presidents in three weeks in case they decide to take action on the measure.

FTU BEGAN the sale of beer on campus this quarter after much debate over the issue. Last March FTU President Charles N. Milligan voted against allowing wine sales on campus because of the higher alcoholic content. The measure failed.

Constantine said he hopes the measure will come up again, either at the meeting of university presidents or the meeting of the Board of Regents because he believes the measure now has a chance of passing.

"The situation has changed since the vote last March and 18-year-olds have proved they can handle themselves," said Constantine. "I think it’s only a matter of time before the Board of Regents changes its policy."

This MEASURE enroled last week by the council was proposed Sept. 4 in Miami by the University of South Florida at a meeting of student government presidents.

"We, the state Council of Student Government Presidents respectfully request that permission be granted to each of the nine universities at the option of the university president for the sale and consumption of wine on state university campuses in the appropriate facilities set forth by university policies."

A copy of the measure was sent to all university campuses in Florida.

CONSTANTINE said the good points of the measure far outweigh the negative aspects. The arguments against allowing the sale of wine involve the higher alcoholic content and possible community complaints.

The positive aspects involve the success of 18-year-old rights, the success of beer on campus, a controlled university situation, increased budgetary sales and educational aspects, Constantine said.

Constantine predicted several south Florida universities would take advantage of the measure as soon as it was passed. At FTU it would at least open a consideration of wine on campus, he said.

New Rentention Effort Accents Individual

By Barbara Roshel

In an effort to make "Accent on the Individual" a reality, two FTU administrations have devised a new, personalized re-recruitment policy.

Their effort is geared to FTU students who did not register for fall quarter although they were eligible and invited to return to FTU this term.

To implement the new policy, the deans have a personal letter written to each student personally, but not currently, enrolled in their respective colleges. Every letter expresses an interest in the student’s educational development and bears the handwritten signature of a faculty member of the dean or director of that college.

“Our motives are solely designed to benefit the student, said Ed Knight, director of records. “It is hoped that we will upgrade our image as we upgrade our service to the student.”

Knight developed this new approach to university-student communications with the help of Rob Silsboek, a graduate student working toward a master's in public relations.

Knight recognized the need for this type of student contact after he examined fall registration statistics. Approximately 6,000 invitations were sent out prior to this past registration period, Knight said. Of the 6,000 FTU students contacted, only 3,000 actually registered.

Evaluating the discrepancy Knight classified about 3,000 of the non-returners as graduates.

"The difference between being successful and doing a good job is a matter of degree," said Knight. "And I know we've done a good job.

Shenkopf said there is no readmission for charged students who have good academic standing at FTU. But this administrative allowance has never been tempered with such aggressive action. "This is the best effort we've ever made to retain students," Knight said.

Donating their time to organize the project as well as stuff envelopes, Knights and Shenkipf kept the total cost down to $300. They received considerable help from James Couch, a communications professor, and Sam Boone, admissions officer.

Feedback is expected during registration for winter quarter in the form of returning non-returners or written acknowledgements of the personal letters sent out by FTU. However, no predictions have been made regarding the response.

Shenkopf said he hopes the project becomes a university policy which will be reintroduced annually every fall quarter.

Knight emphasized recruitment and retention of students should concern everybody at FTU. He said students, as well as the faculty and administration, should maintain an interest in the educational goals of their peers.

This retention effort came from a recommendation from the University of Florida (UF) in Gainesville, Knight said. UF has engaged in a similar project, with an emphasis on questionnaires asking eligible non-returners why they are not attending school.

LISA chose a medley of songs from the 1920's to play on the organ as her talent offering in the pageant. She also has made a "charade" outfit to wear during her performance in keeping with her 1920's theme. Following in the Miss Orlando Pageant is divided into swimsuit, evening gown and talent competition. The three categories give the judges a good overall view of each contestant. The judges are able to see the girls walk and how they carry themselves and how their talent performances fit their individual likes and dislikes.

Miss Orlando is deeply involved with the city public relations department. She opens new buildings, visits hospitals and works on telethons as just a few of her activities.

FTU students organize a pageant which was opened to the public.

FTU students, administrators and faculty members will take part in the pageant.

The pageant will be open to the public, and the university will be providing transportation to the event.

The tour of television studios is just one of the places I will visit during the year, said Dr. Thomas Morgan. "When I was in school," he added, "I had a special interest in television." For the midday Impeach Nixon Rally last November 2nd, the 17th president of the United States, after Lincoln was shot, he drew no parallel to the present situation.

Dr. Higgins, president of the Young Democrats, then presented reasons why Nixon should be impeached. Higgins said that the president tried to place himself above the law when he refused to hand the tapes over to Judge Sirica. He said that since he fired Archibalx, former special prosecutor, Nixon is investigating himself.

"Tapes," he added, "are the only good tough,康" explained another. "They're good for showing the world that Nixon is a crook."

"We're going to prove that Nixon is guilty of a high crime, and it's going to be a hard job," said Ted Rajchel, and Steve Rose, Chairman of FTU's Co-op Council. "We're going to prove that the president is guilty of a high crime, and it's going to be a hard job," said Ted Rajchel, and Steve Rose, Chairman of FTU's Co-op Council.

The rally, which was attended by Country Joe and the Fish, was estimated to be more than 60 people. There was no overflow. The Fish, however, was disappointed, however, with the turnout at the rally.

"At least we made people aware that a number of people at FTU do not approve of what President Nixon has done," he said.

There is an atmosphere of intolerance on this campus, Higgins said, and students are afraid to express their views.

When Nixon came to speak at the June graduation here, Higgins said that there was no demonstration at the ceremonies outside of the graduating seniors and upper students who went to the graduation ceremony.

The club also had resignations and impeachment petitions to be signed before and after the rally.

FTU Co-op, SG Sponsor JA Firm

This year, FTU Co-op Council and Student Government will again sponsor a Junior Achievement (JA) company which will be called Fairtime Unlimited. Fairtime Unlimited is one of the few companies in the nation to sponsor a JA business venture.

Fairtime Unlimited is an actual cooperation, charted and run by 24 central Florida high school students and provides them with actual business experiences.

The million-dollar union of their board of directors and officers, said Ted Rajchel, director of cooperative education, and the students make up the work force and sales staff, choose a product, sell stock, keep records and share the profits, some of which goes into scholarship funds.

The business is run from beginning to end by the students, according to Rajchel, and the adults advise and provide benefit of their experience to the teenage executives who operate the companies.

Members of the FTU Co-op Council are the adult advisors to Fairtime Unlimited, Derick Deutsch, chairman of the council, is head advisor; other council members are Fred Haddad, Bob Glotfelty and Marvin Tucker.

According to Rajchel, the company is "a real money maker for FTU, with a spin off advantage of recruitment, not only of new students, but also of more open opportunities for FTU students. Last year's university sponsored JABEX won first runner-up as "Company of the Year" in the Annual Report Contest." The company also won the "Best Company Attendance" award, and JABEX vice president in charge of personnel, John Holsak, was the "Officer of the Year."
We are challenging YOU, the reader. Whether a member of the student body, faculty, staff or administration, we are challenging you to express your opinions concerning this university, this newspaper or anything of concern to you.

It is very easy for anyone including the FuTUre to criticize university policies and operations without offering viable alternatives or suggestions.

Yet, if we are to seek any sort of change in university policies, it will take more patience, courage and determination to go through the proper channels than to resort to vicious, scandalous or sensationalistic tactics.

We live in an age where social responsibility of the media has almost become a cliché. This is not to say that the exercise of social responsibility may or may not be overlooked. However, who and what become the determinants of responsibility play a great part in the final product.

The responsibility of the media is therefore subject to wide latitudes of individual interpretations. What are the responsibilities of this newspaper?

We will always strive to present as accurately as we possibly can the feelings and attitudes of the entire university community. We will publish all viewpoints and comments, as long as space requirements and limitations will allow.

No matter how we are harassed or attacked by any sector or special interest group within the university community, we will not resort to violent, scandalous or sensationalistic reporting or editorial policy.

It is very easy for a newspaper to achieve notoriety overnight by calling the grounds of someone's soul. Already one campus newspaper in Florida has resorted the harshness of scandalism and sensationalism.

Faculty Chief Corrects Fault
I wish to correct a statement erroneously attributed to me in the October 26 issue of the FU T URE. During the recent meeting of the special committee on the name change, I, as Faculty Senate Chairman, did not report that "the majority of the faculty polled favored changing the name.

I did report that 62% of the faculty who responded to the survey favored a change to a new name. This is not to say the FuT ure should receive everyone's benediction when it is obviously in the wrong. We merely ask the administration, faculty and students to consider the merits of changing the name and support President Millican by the special committee.

This distinction is an important one because faculty opinion of the name issue actually favored some kind of change. The complete results of the survey were: 27% recommended the University name remain Florida Technological University, 35% recommended the University name be changed to reflect a common name for all state universities in Florida, 18% recommended the University name be changed to University of East Florida, and the remaining 20% recommended other names.

Class Offered Saving Energy
Editor:

Regarding the article by Mr. Anderson ("Energy Class Light Br connected") in last week's FuT ure, Mr. Anderson states that "few of the people on the college scene have any better understanding (of the energy crisis)." I would like to point out that the FTU College of Engineering offers a course, Energy and Man, ENGR 486, which is designed for the non-specialist and which (we hope) poses our energy problem in perspective. The course is being given this fall and will be offered again winter quarter. Drop in and see what all the noise is about!

Public Relations Club Surveys Community

Results of a telephone survey conducted Oct. 9-15 concerning FTU, have been released by the FTU Public Relations Club.

The questions and statistics were compiled and evaluated by the FTU Public Relations Club and its faculty advisor, Ken Shinkopf.

Statistics on the survey were turned over to the same change committee for study on the possibility of renaming the institution.

Dr. Young, who was chairman of the name change committee, asked the Public Relations Club and Shinkopf to conduct a survey for the committee's use and study.

The questions and results:
1. Do you know the name of the four year STATE university in Orlando?
   16.6% Yes, answered correctly
   32.2% Yes, but said FTU or Florida Technological
   35.0% No, don't know the name
   16.2% Gave wrong answer
2. Do you know the types of courses offered at Florida Technological University?
   44.2% No, don't know what is offered
   21.4% Think technological engineering, space, etc. courses only
   21.0% Think technological and liberal arts type courses
   6.6% Think liberal arts type courses only
   2.3% Other responses
   4.5% No answer
3. Have you, or any members of your family, ever attended FTU's "parking" problem.
   85.8% Never been near the bookstore.
   14.2% Close to the bookstore, in a 5 minute walk.
   99.9% No answer
4. Do you think FTU's "parking" problem is enough to prevent students from attending FTU?
   50.0% No
   50.0% Yes
5. Do you think FTU's "parking" problem is enough to prevent students from returning to FTU?
   50.0% No
   50.0% Yes
6. Do you think FTU's "parking" problem is enough to prevent students from staying at FTU?
   50.0% No
   50.0% Yes

The FTU Public Relations Club conducted the survey in order to find out the students' view of the "parking" problem in their school. The questionnaire was designed to determine the usefulness of the current parking situation and the possibility of renaming the university.

Don't let the price of a college education stop you.

The price of a college education is skyrocketing. Fortunately the Air Force has done something to catch up with it. For the first time, the 6500 Air Force ROTC Scholarships include the 2-year program, for both men and women.

If you can qualify, the Air Force will pay for the remainder of your college education. Not only do ROTC 2-year college scholarships cover full tuition, but reimbursement for textbooks, lab and incidental fees, as well as a tax-free monthly allowance of $100.

To cash in on all this just apply, qualify, and enroll in the Air Force ROTC. For information, phone toll free, (800) 645-1234 or write, EUROPEAN MEDICAL Students Placement Service, Inc. 170 Old Country Road Mineola, N.Y. 11501

EuroMed may offer RX via overseas training

For the session starting Fall, 1974, the European Medical Students Placement Service, Inc. will assist qualified American students in gaining admission to recognized overseas medical schools.

And that's just the beginning.

Since the language barrier constitutes the principal difficulty in locating a resident training program at a foreign school, the program provides a 12 week medical and conversational language intensive orientation course. All students, free hours daily, the course is given in the country where the student will attend medical school.

In addition, the European Medical Students Placement Service provides students with a 12 week intensive cultural orientation course, with American students now studying medicine in that particular country serving as counselors.

Senior or graduate students currently enrolled in an American university are eligible to participate in the EuroMed program.

FTU Marketing Major Awarded Scholarship

Marlene Shaver, a senior majoring in marketing, has won a full scholarship to the Collegiate Direct Mail Institute for seniors to be held Nov. 4-9 at the Kellogg Center of Michigan State University.

The institute is held under the auspices of the Direct Mail Educational Foundation. The seminar was created by a collection of business firms using direct mail for advertising and marketing. Designed to familiarize students with direct mailing, the program helps them obtain interviews leading to related employment.

Dr. Gordon McAlear, who recommended Miss Shaver for the scholarship, said he is pleased an FTU student was selected as one of the 30 winners. The scholarship is offered to most of the colleges and universities in the country.

Kid's Halloween Party Hosted By Residents

Fifteen children from Oviedo's Loch Haven Lutheran Home enjoyed a tour Tuesday night when the Resident Housing Association (RHA) sponsored a "House of Horrors" at FTU.

An FTU bus brought the children on campus at 8:30 with several RHA members aboard. After receiving name tags, the children were taken through the library, where they heard echoes. They then went to the Administration Building, where they were shown various specters and spooks. (Photo by Ike Spinos)

Deans Award Merit Grants

Each of the six college deans at FTU has been allocated $1,000 from the FTU Foundation to distribute as merit scholarships within his college this year.

A dean's scholarship may be awarded in a $1,000 lump sum or divided into lesser amounts and distributed as a number of scholarships at the discretion of the dean.

It is emphasized that these scholarships are awarded solely on the basis of merit. Selection criteria for awarding the scholarships vary slightly among the colleges. Interested students with high grade point averages may contact their dean's office for further information.

ID CARDS

Two hundred FTU students have not picked up their ID cards yet, according to the registrar's office. These cards are used as identification by the university and no student may register for the winter quarter without a card. Only students holding ID cards may check books out of the library.

Various student organizations also use the ID cards. During recent Student Government elections only those students with cards were eligible to vote. Students who have not yet picked up their cards may do so through the registrar's office located on the first floor of the Administration Building.

The FTU University Theater has opened its current season with "The Miracle Worker", a play about the desperately loving light bearer who made meaning down in the darkness for young Helen Keller. Fittingly enough, William Gibson's play begins in the night with a high fever that spares the infant Helen's life. A fever that steals the light from her eyes and wraps her tightly in a cloak of silence. Not seeing or hearing, Helen creeps through, gropes at, smells, tastes, and tries to communicate with the world around her. She seemed destined to grow into an animal-like travesty of a woman, utterly without language and blinded robbed of human potential.

The big plays may not have been in the game plan, but they nevertheless were the difference for Tau Kappa Epsilon in its league-title-clinching 13-0 win over Lambda Chi Alpha Monday.

TKE's big play turned out to be a Mark Denno-to-Larry McCorkle bomb which provided a 150-TKE lead midway through the second half. TKE was able to absorb a long scoring pass from John Hinman for the victory.

ALTHOUGH SOMEWHAT luck was involved in that bomb, the Alpha Tau Omega-TKE rivalry of the previous week, Monday's battle was a low-scoring defensive struggle with sloppiness marred the performances of both teams.

"We had too many mistakes," observed Rodney Blankenship, captain and defensive back for LXA. "The dropped touchdown pass and all the penalties really hurt. Our defense played as well as could be expected against an offense like TKE's, but our offense should have used more short passing, though."

TKE scored on its first possession although the drive took up 12 plays, a five-yard flip from Denno to Richard Walter setting the score.

EARLIER, ON just the third play from scrimmage in the game, a rare touchdown pass was dropped and LXA's best scoring chance of the first half wasted in the process.

TKE took the second half kickoff and drove inside LXA ground. Denno then threw long down to the middle to McCorkle and the receiver outran the ball to make a tumbling, fingertip grab. The extra split flip to Mike Murdock made it 13-0.

Soon after, following a Jay Blankenship interception in the end zone, Hinman hit a wide-open Kersey who raced in for a 60-yard score.

TKE then took over, and although the offense had the ball for all but two plays, they ran the rest of the way. Biggest play in that series was a Denno completion to Murdock for 45 yards when TKE was pinned back deep in its own territory.

"It wasn't our game plan to throw those long passes," Denno explained. "But they wouldn't give us the short ones-so we tried the bomb when we needed to."

Although another Rucker interception with 15 seconds left turned it over to LXA's offense, Rod Rodriguez' second interception saved up the hard-earned win.

"WHAT WE tried on offense for most of the game didn't really work," said TKE coach Johnny Johnson, speaking particularly of running the option. "Our plays that worked (the long passes) we really didn't plan on."

"Our defense really pulled it out for us, though," he added. "As it did in the ATO game. I got a little apathetic when we were leading 13-0, but I think we finally found out what we were made of there."

So TKE, with a perfect final mark of 7-2, will battle the winner of Monday's Mafia-Jumpers independent title game on Saturday at 4:30.

Steve Russell is at quarterback for the Mafia, easily the class of a weak league. Receivers are Dennis Argo, Jack Miller and Bill Howard along with guard Jay Adams. This outfit has scored 72 points in its first three games and will now allow 15. The basis of playing the tougher schedule, the nod would have to go the explosive Bombers, led by Mike Thomas, and Allan Lemon.

Byers Phelps simply "ran a smarter race" to win the Oct. 25 intramural cross country meet and make up the one yard he lacked last year.

In so doing Phelps led his fraternity, Tau Kappa Epsilon, to win the top six, while second overall and make up the one yard he needed for the Alpha Tau Omega, Tau Kappa Epsilon and Faculty-Staff and Students, which placed third.

The conference, which placed third.

In last year's race, Phelps "ran fast to the finish," as he was held back to pack. This year, however, he "ran a smart race. He was with me all the way until I kicked; he set the pace more than anybody else." Phelps did express one disappointment, though. That was not getting a chance to beat the man who beat him last year, Tom Hobbs, who decided not to make the run this time.

Winter of the women's race (one-mile course) was J. J. Eller from 196 and Linda Mitchell second. Tyress won the team title with 20 points while ATO Little Sisters were runners-up with 24.

There are both qualified faculty and student members to help teach beginners how to fly single-engine airplanes.

Hartman said club records show it takes as little as two weeks for some and as much as two years for others to get a primary private pilot's license. These are extreme cases, Hartman said because it usually takes two quarters (20 weeks) for most people.

TO BI eligible for a primary private pilot's license one must have 40 to 50 flight hours, including dual and solo flights. A pilot must then pass four tests - a final flight test, a physical exam and a written and oral test. The physical exam is conducted by a special flight surgeon.

The primary license allows one to fly only in fair weather. For those who do not want to wait for fair weather to go flying, there is the instrumental license.

With the instrumental license, a pilot can not only fly his plane is bad weather but in places where even the airlines cannot fly. But one must have the primary license first.

THE CLUB'S joining fee is $10, with monthly dues of 50 cents. However, Hartman said, the joining fee is put in an escrow fund so when members leave the club (membership can only be extended up to two years after one graduates from the university), $15 is refunded to them.

Once a quarter the Pegasus Pilots get together for a "Fly-In." The Pilots have visited the Piper factory in Vero Beach, where single-engine planes are constructed; the Heron Traffic Control Center in Jax, the air traffic control center for the entire Southeast; the Kalamazoo and Sanford Air Shows; Curtis Pitts' Fly-In, a showing of experimental planes to Cedar Creek on the West Coast for picnics.

Guests are allowed to go on these Flights. They receive discount rates (same price as club members) to fly with the club.

STUDENTS, faculty and staff interested in joining the Pegasus Pilots should contact Tom Hartman at 273-9794 or Herbert Long at 273-2396, or come to the club meetings, which are held at 11 a.m. in ENG 153 every other Thursday. Thursday, Oct. 25.

A newly forming campus association of veterans will hold its first meeting Nov. 14 at 11 a.m. in the Village Center Multi Purpose Room. The meeting is open to all interested student veterans.

Larry Matthews, coordinator of Veterans' Affairs, said, "I think a good veterans' group on campus will really augment what this office is trying to do."

Dr. Roger B. Handberg, a political science professor, will serve as faculty advisor, and Ken Kennedy, Veterans' Affairs counselor, will serve as staff advisor.

Officers elected at the Oct. 18 meeting held in the Village Center include Gordon Eddins, president; Donald Ethridge,vice-president; Jack Flanders as he travels through North Africa in search of the good life. "Moon over Morocco" is heard every day at 4:00 on WFTU radio, 640 AM.
