Beer To Be Permitted In MPR, Cafeteria

By Michael Loichridge

Beer will be allowed in the Multi Purpose Room and the Cafeteria beginning April 1st. A per hour charge basis was postponed Monday at the Peninsular meeting of the Board of Regents at Chancellor Robert B. Mautz's request, according to BOH chairman Rex Brown.

“Beer will be permitted to be consumed in the Cafeteria and the Multi Purpose Room under certain circumstances and for a certain cost, and because the Regents Professor would be appointed for life and would receive an annual salary and funds supplied by the board,” Brown said.

Brown asked the VC program staff to recommend criteria for the program qualifications, saying he was looking for "some good substantial programs with specific, planned items." These criteria have not yet been established.

"Programming will have to be a major criterion for allowing beer in these two areas," Brown said, adding that the VC staff may be able to assist in program arrangements.

Jim Pierce, president of the VC Board, said he felt that operating a pub would be held in the Cafeteria with the same ability to allow beer to be brought in from the Snack Bar. A 18th Pub, featuring the Armstrong Brothers playing in the Cafeteria, beer was not allowed to be taken through the rollover doors from the Snack Bar. Beer will still only be dispensed from the Snack Bar.

Bill Brown, assistant vice president for student affairs, said that a program to be established before permission is granted to consume beer will "encourage more beer just than beer blasts and it will encourage more positive programming to utilize the university's educational facilities."

Rex Brown emphasized the need to maintain proper supervision of beer consumption outside the designated areas to prevent violation of the beer license. He suggested to the committee that the organizers or leaders of the groups sponsoring the programs be responsible for the arrangements.

Rex Brown also asked for advice from campus organizations and individuals for control methods and supervision of beer consumption.

Tuition Payment Change Possible

By Torrey Stewart

Action on possible changes in tuition rates for state university students was put on the agenda by chairman Brown last Thursday indicated that the plan would place unfair financial loads on their students be said.

Presidents of Florida State University, Florida A & M University, and the University of Florida objected to the plan.

Since students at these three universities tend to carry more hours per quarter than other state university students, the three universities may lose funds, according to Interim University of Florida President E. T. York.

In other action the BOR recommended approval for establishment of a second architecture program within the BUI. The board voted to establish a Regents Professor position, and granted permission to the University of Florida to Regents at residence hall rental rates from $5 to $50 per quarter.

The current shortage of professionally trained architects in the state could produce a need for over 900 architects within the next five years, according to Craver.

Adequate funds for establishment of the program are available, according Mautz. Time and place will be determined by the BOR.

Despite objections raised by spokesman for the American Federation of Teachers Kenneth Megli, the board passed a plan to establish a Regents Professor position, which former BOH chancellor and SUS presidents could fill.

The non-tenured position allows the employee to be assigned to teaching, research or other duties at a particular university with annual salary and funds supplied by the board.

Megli indicated the AFT opposed the adoption because of the cost, and because the Regents Professor would be appointed without reference to experts in the topic area which the appointment may be teaching. Megli pointed out that several university presidents have some academic background.

So many of your students are members of Greek organizations and they are paying for these services that they would have to pay more, Brown said. The plan would place unfair financial loads on their students.

The current shortage of professionally trained architects in the state could produce a need for over 900 architects within the next five years, according to Craver.

Adequate funds for establishment of the program are available, according Mautz. Time and place will be determined by the BOR.

Despite objections raised by spokesman for the American Federation of Teachers Kenneth Megli, the board passed a plan to establish a Regents Professor position, which former BOH chancellor and SUS presidents could fill.

The non-tenured position allows the employee to be assigned to teaching, research or other duties at a particular university with annual salary and funds supplied by the board.

Megli indicated the AFT opposed the adoption because of the cost, and because the Regents Professor would be appointed without reference to experts in the topic area which the appointment may be teaching. Megli pointed out that several university presidents have some academic background.

So many of your students are members of Greek organizations and they are paying for these services that they would have to pay more, Brown said. The plan would place unfair financial loads on their students.

Greek Housing Studied

By Jerry Brooks

Working together, FTU fraternities and sororities expect to raise enough money to make on-campus Greek housing a reality.

Co-chairman of a special fund raising committee, Tony Windsor and Linda Spencer, expect to have enough money by the end of a year to fund the first floor of a student-designed description of some 19 acres of university land set aside for Greek housing.

Since the university has designated no funds for such a survey, the Greeks have decided to raise the money themselves through the sale of coupon books. These books, according to Windsor, will consist of roughly 20 coupons that can be used when purchasing goods from area stores. The coupons in the books will allow the purchaser to realize a substantial savings while shopping in participating stores.

"Getting enough money to build it will be the first step that must be taken to get Greek housing on campus," said Windsor. "But I do expect to see some form of housing within five years, if the Greek organizations on campus and the administration can come to some mutual understanding concerning possible university regulations and restrictions put on the housing area."

Dorm Residents Witness Recent Streaking Incidents

By Marvin Cligg

A crowd ranging in size from 150 to 340 FTU students witnessed the "streaking" of nearly 15 nude and semi-nude men Wednesday night.

Accompanied by cheers and shouts of delight, the unidentified streakers appeared between the women's dorms and disappeared upon reaching men's dorm, according to Megli.

"I'd like to see it every weekend," one student said.

"It's hilarious," another student said.

"It's great," said a third.

These exclamations from various onlookers were ignored by more serious observers who pointed out that FTU might well be able to claim the record for the tallest streaker on U.S. soil.

Around 1 a.m. yesterday morning, a knife figure appeared from B Dorm at the urging of Fraternity President Brock, who had earlier said, "It's enough shock in one day for a middle-aged woman."

One of Brock's students, who claimed he had a "bird's-eye view," recalls hearing a "hollering and whooping" near the front of the auditorium shortly before two male streakers ran up the aisle with paper bags over their heads.

Brock said he took nearly 15 minutes to quiet the class.

When a policeman from the FTU Police Department was asked whether the Department had received any directives from the administration regarding streakers, the official stated that nothing on the subject would come from his lips. He said they had no orders to crack down on the activity.

An informed source said it was rumored Vice President for Student Affairs Rex Brown was asking for any information regarding the streakers. The source said Brown appeared to have a good supply of WTVF that 150 Rollins and FTU students were seen for a streaking incident this weekend.

Dorm Residents Witness Recent Streaking Incidents

By Marvin Cligg

A crowd ranging in size from 150 to 340 FTU students witnessed the "streaking" of nearly 15 nude and semi-nude men Wednesday night.

Accompanied by cheers and shouts of delight, the unidentified streakers appeared between the women's dorms and disappeared upon reaching men's dorm, according to Megli.

"I'd like to see it every weekend," one student said.

"It's hilarious," another student said.

"It's great," said a third.

These exclamations from various onlookers were ignored by more serious observers who pointed out that FTU might well be able to claim the record for the tallest streaker on U.S. soil.

Around 1 a.m. yesterday morning, a knife figure appeared from B Dorm at the urging of Fraternity President Brock, who had earlier said, "It's enough shock in one day for a middle-aged woman."

One of Brock's students, who claimed he had a "bird's-eye view," recalls hearing a "hollering and whooping" near the front of the auditorium shortly before two male streakers ran up the aisle with paper bags over their heads.

Brock said he took nearly 15 minutes to quiet the class.

When a policeman from the FTU Police Department was asked whether the Department had received any directives from the administration regarding streakers, the official stated that nothing on the subject would come from his lips. He said they had no orders to crack down on the activity.

An informed source said it was rumored Vice President for Student Affairs Rex Brown was asking for any information regarding the streakers. The source said Brown appeared to have a good supply of WTVF that 150 Rollins and FTU students were seen for a streaking incident this weekend.

Greek Housing Studied

By Jerry Brooks

Working together, FTU fraternities and sororities expect to raise enough money to make on-campus Greek housing a reality.

Co-chairman of a special fund raising committee, Tony Windsor and Linda Spencer, expect to have enough money by the end of a year to fund the first floor of a student-designed description of some 19 acres of university land set aside for Greek housing.

Since the university has designated no funds for such a survey, the Greeks have decided to raise the money themselves through the sale of coupon books. These books, according to Windsor, will consist of roughly 20 coupons that can be used when purchasing goods from area stores. The coupons in the books will allow the purchaser to realize a substantial savings while shopping in participating stores.

"Getting enough money to build it will be the first step that must be taken to get Greek housing on campus," said Windsor. "But I do expect to see some form of housing within five years, if the Greek organizations on campus and the administration can come to some mutual understanding concerning possible university regulations and restrictions put on the housing area."
Student Editors Discuss Papers

By Torrey Stewart

State university student editors met in Pensacola last week in an effort to discuss prospective student director editorial papers and goals, initiated by President Marvin Clegg.

Deluged with requests for meetings, university presidents and student body presidents contacted representative for the Deputy Attorney General Baya Harrison.

Fifteen student newspaper representatives from the University of Florida, the State University of Florida, Atlantic University, and University of Florida discussed the idea of forming a conference to discuss collective bargaining

Student Directory

The feasibility of having a separate director of student publications was investigated as a result of comments made last fall by the Director of Student Publications James T. Simmons, which were reported in last week's issue of the Future.

The article included a statement by Simmons attributing the delay of publication to distribution and to delays which occurred in the computer center.

"Our end of the delay was at most 10 days," said Director of Communication Services Bill D. Morris. He explained the delay in detail, indicating that most of the delay occurred because of the direction which was given to the printing firm.

The printer, located in Lubbock, Texas, handles directories and publications, according to Morris, that he is unable to establish priorities and print the directories on a first come, first serve basis. Norris declared that publication of student directories on a quarterly basis would not present any great problems for his staff. The biggest problem, he said, would be the time element because immediately after registration is being time for the computer center.

The four-month delay in distribution of the 1974 campus directory prompted the following comments by state university president, Marvin Clegg, vice president for Student Affairs. "I favor a student director of publications because it will be out, hopefully, within six weeks after the beginning of the fall quarter of each academic year." Brown made it clear however, that he does not favor a separate student director. He favors a director that was published promptly every year. He said, "I don't know how we can publish four directories a year. Maybe a directory for three quarters, and a separate one for the summer quarter.

The possibility exists, according to a source in the administration, that because of a financial loss suffered by the present publisher, he will not produce the campus directory for the next semester.

One of the things FTU could do "very easily," according to Brown, is have the Future publish one issue with "Everybody's" name and address included. He indicated that students who did not want their names to appear could have them deleted.

"The amount used to publish it (the directory) would be added to the Future budget," be said for a separate publication of the Future that would be paid for by the Future.

Brown indicated that publication in the Future would not be the final answer but that the issue that could be checked into.

Simmons' original comments raised the possibility of Student Government controlling its own separate student directory. However, Lee Constantine, SC president, indicated that this would not be the function of Student Government.

"We have this Director of Publications whose entire duty this year has been to oversee the Future," Constantine said. He indicated that in the past the Director of Publications has been responsible for both the newspaper and the yearbook, but since the yearbook was discontinued the Director of Publications has only one responsibility.

"The Director of Publications," Constantine said, "is, for the salary he is getting and the little amount of classroom instruction he is doing, should have more than one thing to be the Director of Publications."

"Who better could handle it (the student directory) than the Director of Publications?" was the question posed by Constantine.

Both Constantine and Morris indicated that the primary reason for all of the inaccuracies contained in the primary reason for all of the inaccuracies contained in the college minutes of the present directory was that students do not inform the school of their current address and phone number when changes occur.

Students are required to notify the school immediately when a change occurs in their address, according to the Student Handbook. The Robertson's Handbook.

Constantine and Morris said they felt that if students would do this then needless inaccuracies would not occur in the directories. Change of address forms are available in the Registrar's office, they indicated.

Constantine said "the student directory should be a natural thing that somebody does every year.

The only question remaining unanswered is "Who?"

BIRTH CONTROL INFORMATION

FREE counseling and Referral for related problems.

Contraception testing

OPEN 9am - 6pm. Mon. - Fri.

INTERSTATE FLORIDA BIRTH CONTROL SERVICES

45 W. Central 455-5514

CHOOSE YOUR NEW HOME AT SEMINOLE TERRACE

3 bedroom - 2 bath

Choice of interior & exterior

5 % DOWN - NO CLOSING COST

If you live at Seminole Terrace, you'd be home in 2 minutes.

State university newspaper editor listen after dinner to Deputy Attorney General Baya Harrison (upper left) as he discusses the position of the student press. (Photo by Marvin Clegg)

Greek Housing Fund (from page 1)

According to W. Ben Brown, vice president for Student Affairs, his office has set up no provisions concerning consumption of alcoholic beverages, violation regulations or any other rules that must be considered. That is needed at this time is the money, perhaps $5000, for the topographical study and legal definition of the property," said Brown. "Then as the arrangements are made we can consider the Greek Housing Ordinance that would be subject to.

"I think that the Greeks will get any money to anyone unless they go along with the possible restrictions the university may impose on the housing area," said Windsor. "As far as the regulations are concerned, it is correct that the Greeks will be serving milk and cookies at their social functions, and student policies should be somewhat more liberal than the dorms.

Brown maintain that alcoholic beverages are presently served at the Greek House and lake Claire, and said he feels that the consumption of alcohol in the Greek housing area should not be anything different from the Greeks.

Windsor wonders, "Why should the Greeks have to run across the campus to purchase a beer at such high prices when it would be much simpler to drink a beer at the fraternity or sorority house?"

"There are going to be some companies working out in all areas," said Windsor, "but I doubt that the Greeks are going to provide any money to get the project under way before they sit down with representatives from the administration and discuss some of the problems that the Greeks may come up against."
Student WATS Line Expected

In the near future, students will probably be able to make toll free telephone calls from this campus to any location in the state, according to Student Government (SG) President Lee Constantine. This is going to be made possible through an SG program which will provide individual students with the exclusive use of a WATS line.

The bill, which allocates funds for the program, has been passed by the SG Senate and signed by both Constantine and W. Rex Brown, vice president for Student Affairs. A purchase order for the SG WATS line expenditure is now being processed by the State University of Florida and Tallahassee. If approved, the line will be installed immediately.

The SG WATS line, which stands for wide area telephone service, is an ordinary phone which is specific to students. As well as being a convenience, it is of financial benefit to students who believe the billing is done on a flat rate basis rather than charging for each call. WATS lines are in wide use today by both commercial firms and governmental agencies.

The red phone will be located in the lounge of the CU V, Lounge, which is open to students between 7 a.m. and 11 p.m. every day. If there are people waiting to use the phone, the number of people in the line always seems to be tied up, therefore the strategy employed is that the line was being used for unauthorized purposes by students who had access to the university phones. Constantine said he hopes the student line will help alleviate this problem.

At an informal survey taken by the SG Secretary, it was shown that there is considerable support for the program. Only one person gave an opinion to service and activity fees being spent on a WATS line. Particularly popular among the resident students and those who commute daily from such locations as Daytona Beach and Merritt Island. They said it would be an important service which would enable them to make toll free calls to their homes.

Constantine said he feels the program should be expanded by the student body. He explained that during the hours of peak usage, there are too many lines waiting to use the phone. He said there is enough beer in the snack bar, there will probably be a rush at first to use the WATS line. "As well as being a convenience, it is an ordinary phone which is specific to students," he said.

FAC Member Candidate For Titusville Council

The coordinator of FTU's Criminal Justice Program, Jefferson S. Duffy, announced his candidacy for councilman-at-large in Titusville last night. His decision to run was made after last minute, he said. His concern about the state of criminal justice system was one of the factors in his decision.

"If I don't hear any positive statements concerning the Titusville government," Duffy said. "This candidate wants a new type of government for Titusville. Duffy said he will continue to support the strengths of a five-man city council. The council is made up of four councilmen and the mayor. Before moving to Titusville in 1971, he joined the faculty at FTU, Duffy was employed by Dade County for 13 years, serving in a variety of capacities. He is a former staff member of the Institute of Government at the University of Florida and has served as a faculty member at three universities.

He is currently completing a three-year term as the elected governor of the American Society for Public Administration, and is a member of the "Public Administration Review."

The graduate of the University of Miami, Duffy holds a Master's degree in Public Administration from Florida Atlantic University, and recently completed his doctoral work in Justice Administration at the University of Georgia.

Duffy said he feels it is time for public servants to take the "practice where they preach," and to become committed to public office. As an environmentalist, Duffy wants to protect the Titusville shoreline and other natural resources. Duffy said his campaign is an attempt to answer the question, "Could I make the community?"

The father of two children, Duffy also looks forward to developing the needs of the community. Duffy said he hopes the entire Titusville, especially FTU students from that city, will vote for his ballot to vote on Tuesday, March 15.

Birth Control Book Ready

"To Kind Your Friends," a birth control and venereal disease guidebook published by FTU's Student Government (SG), was made available to students this past week during pre-registration.

The 700 pamphlets will be distributed by the United Campus Ministry, Deans of Men and Women, Student Health Services, and other places on campus, free of charge.

The document, edited by SG President Lee Constantine and SG Secretary Barry Milstead, was written in cooperation with FTU Student Health Services. The pamphlet is the result of approximately one year's work on the part of the SG office.

The publication is a compilation of basic information on birth control, abortion and venereal disease (venereal disease), said Constantine.

Dr. W. Rex Brown, vice president for student affairs and Dean of Carolen Wilson, provided the document and suggested changes in the "choice of words, impressions and convenience of understanding."

According to Constantine, the book was written "so that every individual could understand," and did not delve deeply into the subjects covered, but gave basic information.

Constantine said he feels the two most important parts of the brochure are the sections on birth control and venereal disease.

The drawing on the publication's cover drew comments from viewers. "I love it," one student said when first coming over, it looked great, I really do like it," another student said, and one suggested that they draw a couple of lines on the cover, as well. "I really can't remember," said one.

"It would be a good idea, but I feel that it is," said another.

The carpool efforts of FTU's faculty, staff and students are paying off by conserving valuable fuel and money, according to Associate Professor in the Energy Conservation Department.

"In spite of the price of gasoline, carpooling is the only homemade solution that seems to work," said Colandonato.

"People are using this program to cut down on their expenses," he said. "A carpool, not only saves money, but it also saves on the diving time for the two or three people.""
The help ya get nowadays is so undependable... give 'em an exam or two and the just STREAK off into the sunset.

This Space Normally EDITORIAL CARTOON

By Mike Hall

An aide of opinion based on selectively perceived information presented in a manner designed to persuade you to think like you do.

For those of you who aren't aware of the fact, there is a new one on the block. It is called streaking, and quite frankly, I don't think that it is what streaking is supposed to be. Simple.

You take off all of your clothes, folding them neatly in a chair, of course, go outside and sprint around for a little while, and then come back in (putting your clothes back on has been decisively simple enough.) Your clothes are then "in a chair, of course, go outside and sprint around for a little while, and then come back in (putting your clothes back on has been decisively simple enough.)"

The administration is not planning to loosen restrictions at any time for fear of creating a casual atmosphere. As the Panhellenic Council will get together, decide where they want to go, and make this known to the right people.

The Greeks have apparently undertaken to raise approximately $6,000 for a land study which the administration "couldn't find the money for." Although college authorities, it seems, are not in the habit of asking for something about which you know almost nothing. What will happen, I am asked, is that these collections be lifted or eased? What buildings will be allowed to?

The point we're making is that if Greeks really want help, they should do something drastic. Let the Panhellenic Council get together, decide where they want to go, and make this known to the right people.

The survey was administered to Greeks in 1971 and finished in 1973. A 12-acre site was approved for possible Greek use in 1973. As stated by Millican five years ago. Where are we now? A thfa Chicago, he finds as much as he objecting to the recording of a word in the French dictionary, and which seems to be moving at a snail's pace.

The administration is not planning to loosen restrictions at any time for fear of creating a casual atmosphere. As the Panhellenic Council will get together, decide where they want to go, and make this known to the right people.

The survey was administered to Greeks in 1971 and finished in 1973. A 12-acre site was approved for possible Greek use in 1973. As stated by Millican five years ago. Where are we now? A thfa Chicago, he finds as much as he objecting to the recording of a word in the French dictionary, and which seems to be moving at a snail's pace.

The administration is not planning to loosen restrictions at any time for fear of creating a casual atmosphere. As the Panhellenic Council will get together, decide where they want to go, and make this known to the right people.

The survey was administered to Greeks in 1971 and finished in 1973. A 12-acre site was approved for possible Greek use in 1973. As stated by Millican five years ago. Where are we now? A thfa Chicago, he finds as much as he objecting to the recording of a word in the French dictionary, and which seems to be moving at a snail's pace.

The administration is not planning to loosen restrictions at any time for fear of creating a casual atmosphere. As the Panhellenic Council will get together, decide where they want to go, and make this known to the right people.

The survey was administered to Greeks in 1971 and finished in 1973. A 12-acre site was approved for possible Greek use in 1973. As stated by Millican five years ago. Where are we now? A thfa Chicago, he finds as much as he objecting to the recording of a word in the French dictionary, and which seems to be moving at a snail's pace.

LETTERS

(Sten Letter From Pg. 4)

be made of their proceedings.

The Faculty Senate of FTU is a duly constituted, self-governing body involved in the governance of the university. As with any such body it must be accorded the respect of being asked for a grant of special privileges. Guest can record meetings of the Senate only at the discretion of the Senate. Thus, my unwillingness to have the meeting tape recorded was due to the FTU's not seeking the body for permission to record its meetings. I, for one, would support such a request if it were made to the body of the Senate. I certainly hope this letter class es the questions which have arisen in this matter. Please feel free to speak with me if you feel there are any points left unresolved.

Thank you for your consideration.

Mark Stern
Assistant Professor
Dept. of Political Science

Co-Op Program Beneficial (From Page 4)

full time in my field with other people depending on what I do. The maturity I gained has no set value.

Now that I am graduating, I realize I had a complete education: knowledge with the experience of applying that knowledge to a job. I don't think I could have done it as well without Co-Op.

Merlin L. Kindt

Extra FuTures Generate Litter Problems

Editor:

Since the beginning of this quarter I have noticed the extra FuTure papers that are left lying around each week. The papers remain at their distribution points until the next week's paper comes out. I have observed some of the problems this has created.

When doors open they cause a draft which spreads the papers all over the floor. As people walk around corners they bump into the neat stack also causing them to be scattered all over the floor. At the week's end on people continue to walk all over the papers and this creates a litter problem.

Secondly, it seems like a waste of paper. Besides suffering from a variety of other problems, our country is facing a paper shortage and people should recycle old paper. What is done with all the extra copies of the FuTure when they are recycled?

I suggest that you either print less papers each week or recycle all the extra copies that are printed. I hope something will be done about this problem, and soon.

Thank you,

FTU Student
(Name Withheld)

---

Elections Statute To Be Modified

By Mike Myers

The Student Government (SG) Senate is currently considering a bill which would provide for major changes in the SG elections statute. It was brought before the senate for first reading last Thursday, and was voted on at yesterday's meeting.

The present statute is 21 pages long and is very specific in nature. According to SG Pres. Constantine, the 11-page revised edition is basically a generalized incorporation of the original. He said the shortened length was a result of the fact that much of the responsibility for details was delegated to the SG Elections Commission rather than spelled out in the statute.

Within the proposed statute there are three major changes, two of which deal with the presidential election.

In the past, the president and vice president were elected by a plurality of the votes cast. This simply meant that the candidate with the most votes won, regardless of the percentage.

The revised statute requires a candidate to receive a majority of the votes to be elected. In most instances this will make a non-official election necessary, which will be held the following week. Also, in previous presidential elections, individual campaign spending of each candidate was allowed.

The three changes involve the fall senate elections. The new statute will allow a student to vote in all five races within his college's jurisdiction, rather than just for his class representatives.

Constantine said that in terms of long range significance, the new elections statute is a foremost article of legislation. He added that the bill will be one of the most important of the year.

Candidate registration for the presidential and vice presidential races will be on April 7, with a campaign following immediately. Election day will be April 18.

March 8, 1974 FuTUre-Page 5
Students Suffer Gasless Plight

By Heather Henry

FTU students are finding their on and off campus activities curtailed because of the gasoline shortage.

Skipping classes has become routine for junior Bob Judson, of Deltona. Judson's transportation problems are compounded by daily trips to Ormond Beach, where he owns a theater. He said he makes the trip to FTU only for classes where attendance is important.

Senior David Cook, who does construction work in Seminole County, lives in Oviedo, but he feels the trek to campus would be too far to go for just one class.

"It isn't affecting me much now," said David Foster, a junior. If the problem gets much worse, Foster said, he may not be able to come to school.

Aeward gasoline station hours pose a problem for the average student, according to Foster. Many stations are open from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., and some students are usually in class at that time, purchasing gasoline becomes difficult, he said.

Vernon Cramer, a senior, said, "The main thing for me is to get out here for classes Monday through Friday." Cramer, who recently appeared in "Kin Me Kate," said that practices for the play were hard to get to, especially on the weekends. In fact, said, Cramer, he had to "ride his thumb" to get to rehearsal the weekend before the show.

Commuters in out-of-the-way places have an extra problem — no one to car pool with. Donna Vincent, a sociology major, said she is the only FTU student living in Zellwood (a small town north of Apopka) and has take the two-hour round trip alone each day.

However, she said the feels fortunate driving a 26-miles-per-gallon car.

Thomas Endel, a junior, said he is contemplating moving closer to campus. "If I can't find an apartment, I may have to drop out," he said.

Marilyn Chasteen drives to campus from Cocoa with the family car. As a result of the present shortage, she intends to transfer to FTU's Brevard Resident Center until she completes courses there that are applicable toward her degree.

Titusville senior Allen Killip owns a Toyota, but because it is broken down, he is having to use the family station wagon for the coast-to-campus trip. Killip, a radio-television major, said he could gladly transfer to the Brevard Resident Center in order to lower his $120 a month gasoline bill, but the center does not offer courses in broadcasting.

Many students are finding themselves out of jobs or working less hours because of the energy crunch. "I was laid off at United Parcel Services," said Jim Cutting, a sophomore. "They had to cut corners to get bread for gas. I was a corner, so they cut me."

Senior Chuck Miller said, "Sales have gone down at the family station in hopes of purchasing gasoline before closing time. Since most gas stations close before 3 p.m., many FTU students have difficulty obtaining gas."

however, he does less driving now than before. "The only time I do drive is to go home, and that's rare because it's hard to get gas at home to make the trip back to Orlando."

However, for Bob Watson for Fort Myers, living on campus has been a disadvantage. "I don't have that much time between classes and going to work (at a College Print bank) to get gas. I had to make a special trip of 15 miles just to get gas."

Watson also complained that he is not able to go home as often as he used to because of the crisis.

The present shortage was the final straw for FTU student Tom Michener of St. Cloud. "I can't stand to see a lot of money going into the gas tank," he explained. Gas shortage blues have ended for Melcher, and in order to spend even less time in gas station lines, he carries a "five gallon G.I. Can" along for company whenever he heads for the pumps.

Another FTU student has sold his car, and retains a bicycle as his sole means of transportation. Glenn Padgett, a freshman, cites the money shortage as well as the gas shortage as reasons for "gutting rid of his car."

ENTERTAINMENT SUBSIDY PROGRAM

'GREASE', March 11 Municipal Auditorium
TICKETS AVAILABLE IN — VC 205

Movie Tickets - VC 216
Wometco Theatres
Florida State Theatres
University - Suburban Drive - in

SUNOCO

TICKETS AVAILABLE IN — VC 205

Wometco Theatres
Florida State Theatres
University - Suburban Drive - in

LOCALS

TICKETS AVAILABLE IN — VC 205

Wometco Theatres
Florida State Theatres
University - Suburban Drive - in any questions, contact Gabriel Yanni, VC 205

Horses Pooled To Save Fuel

By Krista Storey

Margaret and Fred Wimberly have found what they believe to be a solution to the energy crisis—horse pools. Margaret employed by the FTU Library, and her husband, a fresh water ecologist, came up with the idea of forming a horse pool.

The Wimberlys live approximately four miles from the university, own three horses. They would like to be able to use their horses as a means of transportation at the university.

"If we're serious about this, because I'm afraid that the gas situation will get worse. For people who already have horses, this would be a very economical means of transportation," said Margaret Wimberly.

The Wimberlys have located a survey which will test six people. However, before they purchase the survey they would like to determine whether others are interested injoining them in their horse pool.

Margaret has spoken to John P. Corrae, vice president of business affairs, about the probability of bringing a horse on campus. He told her that before the permission can be given to the problem there must be more than just a handful of interested people. Before horses could be brought onto campus, a cost for some type of holding facility would have to be provided, and would therefore involve some community.

Margaret and Fred are very cautious of the problems involved in bringing horses on campus.

One problem is that of providing a holding area for the animals as well as the riding equipment. As Fred stated, "Strange horses will fight." A stable-like building might be the answer. The riding equipment as well as the horses themselves represent a large financial investment. Their security would be an important factor.

The horse's droppings would pose another problem as well as the damage to the cultivated areas of the campus. Horses might also damage areas of grass on campus.

A system of watering for the horses would have to be provided.

Persons bringing their horses on campus would have to be assured that their animals would not be exposed to diseased animals. Horses are susceptible to a highly-contagious disease known as "whitew fever." The Wimberlys said that before a horse could be allowed on campus it should have negative certification of Coccidia (ewaan fever) as well as a vaccination against encephalitis (another disease affecting horses). One horse carrying "whitew fever" would infect all other horses with which it came into contact. There is no cure for the disease, the Wimberlys stated. A horse either dies as a result of it, or it lives. It becomes a carrier.

The Wimberlys also feel that speed limit would have to be set for the horses. "You couldn't have people galloping their horses on campus, the Wimberlys aid. "Signs would have to be erected prohibiting excessive use of horses.

Margaret Wimberly also stated "Drivers would have to be educated if horses were around. The person on the horse has the right-of-way.

Persons who make excessive noise often frighten a horse. If a horse is frightened and this results in damage either to the rider or to the horse, the person responsible for the noise is liable.

The Wimberlys said they feel the horse pool would provide a means of combating the gas shortage. "To get three dollars worth of gas, I had to wait in line all afternoon, but I have yet to wait in line at the feed stores," Fred stated.

He estimated that they spend approximately $1,000 per year on these three horses. This figure included feed, medical supplies and the leasing of a pasture.

The couple has a growing interest in using horses for pleasure. Horses provide a very good means of exercise, as well as an alternative for transportation, they indicated.

Before anything else can develop the couple must determine how many people would truly be interested in riding their horses to the university or in riding with the Wimberlys in a survey. The couple would be willing to pick up riders along the way to FTU.

Students interested in joining the Wimberlys in their horse pool are requested to contact Margaret Wimberly in the Library at 275-2621.

Bicyclists Request Pathway

A recent poll of FTU students living along Alafaya Trail shows that the majority favor construction of bike paths in the FTU area.

While a very small group already rides bicycles, the poll indicates that more students are becoming interested in riding bikes to school.

Bike riders indicated that they would welcome bike paths because it would eliminate the need to ride in the heavy rush hour traffic.

A small group of non-riders said they would start riding if the bike paths were available. The majority indicated that even though they would not start riding, the paths would be welcome for use as sidewalks.

Briarwood Stable

Complete facilities for English riding
Boarding-Instructions - Trail Rides
Only five minutes from Campus.

Come see us during the break

2518 Rouse Road Phone 273-0822

Century 21

10 MINUTES FROM CAMPUS

A TOTALLY NEW LIFE JUST 10 MINUTES FROM CAMPUS Including:

Volleyball - Basketball - Handball
4 tennis courts free pool tables
Heated Whirlpool Steambath 3 pools
Mirrored exercise room with universal gym

Studio - One & Two Bedroom Apts.
6 Month Lease $850 Deposit

Address of the Future!!

Library Hours Revised

During the period March 14, 1974 through March 24, 1974 the University Library will observe a shortened schedule of hours as follows:

Thursday, March 14 - 7:45 a.m. - 7 p.m.
Friday, March 15 - Closed
Saturday, March 16 - Closed
Sunday, March 17 - Closed
March 18-24 - Closed
Monday-Friday - 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Monday, March 25 - Resume Regular Hours

Library Sign Returned

The stolen FTU directional sign, valued at $250, was returned last Friday morning and erected the same day by Michael Spinello, according to Michael Spinello, physical plant engineer.

No action was taken against the fraternity involved. The cost of replacing the sign was approximately $50.

Library Hours Revised

During the period March 14, 1974 through March 24, 1974 the University Library will observe a shortened schedule of hours as follows:

Thursday, March 14 - 7:45 a.m. - 7 p.m.
Friday, March 15 - Closed
Saturday, March 16 - Closed
Sunday, March 17 - Closed
March 18-24 - Closed
Monday-Friday - 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Monday, March 25 - Resume Regular Hours
Nine Co-Op Students Placed Out Of State

Nine FTU students will be working out-of-state spring quarter on Cooperative Education assignments while maintaining full-time student status at the university.

The opportunities range from locations such as Atlanta, Ga., and Louisville, Ky., to Dover, N. J., and vary in positions from accounting and industrial management to computer science.

Shelby Hjelm, a management major, will be working at the Naval Ammunition Depot in Louisville, Ky., in a Industrial Management position. Typical work assignments will be to furnish technical information and assistance on maintenance and operations, and to conduct surveys of industrial plants to evaluate capacity and potential for production.

An opportunity in Crane, Ind., at the Naval Ammunition Depot, has been offered to Charles McMillon. His position is in Supply Management, which will involve setting up and revising stock levels, maintaining authorized stock levels of publications and searching for management data on items of supply.

The Bureau of Medicine and Surgery will employ accounting student William Feger at the Washington, D. C. office, while Margo Henderson will be in Charleston, S. C., at the Naval Medical Center.

Both opportunities are for accounting majors and require work in that field, such as maintaining complete general ledger and subsidiary ledgers.

Charleston will also be the setting for Ken Marten in a Finance Management position at the Naval Shipyard. He will be delegated responsibilities in computing and comparing statistical data, drawing up budget sheets and compiling budget estimates.

Barbara Rajchel, a journalism major, is to be stationed at the Peninsular Arsenal in Dover, N. J., to work in the Technical Management position. She is coordinating her Co-Op assignment with an internship, and will earn nine credits spring quarter.

Charles Canady, administrative assistant to Sen. Lawton Chiles, has arranged for Stephanie DeCosta, a political science and pre-law major, to be in the middle of governmental operations, by running the Senate elevator and working in Chiles' office.

The Southern Railway System in Atlanta, Ga., has hired Larry Henderson, a civil engineering student, to work in its Maintenance Of Way Department, which is responsible for all construction, inspection and maintenance of tracks and adjoining right of way.

Pay scales range from $550 to $625 per month with an Education-Study Grant bonus of from $150 to $250 when returning to school.

Jeffrey Deirmann, a Computer Science major, will be working with the Fleet Combat Direction Systems Support Activity in Virginia Beach, Va., in connection with his major field.

Pay scales for all government job opportunities provided by Co-Op is $3.46/hour for juniors and $3.87/hour for seniors.

For further information, contact the Co-Op office in ADM 118 or call 275-2314.

---

Blood Drive Held Over

Held over for an extra blood-filled day, the Orlando Rotary Bloodmobile scored 136 pints of blood in donations for the FTU Blood Bank Reserve.

Scheduled for Jan. 26 and 27, the mobile unit remained on campus Jan. 28 to receive donations from persons still waiting when the unit closed at 9 a.m.

Donations to the FTU Reserve, which provides blood for members of the university community and their immediate families, ranges from 1-2 pints from members of the staff and administration, 5 pints from faculty members and 110 pints from students.

Of the total student

Copier Bids Received

FTU has received three bids on new copy machines, according to Leslie M. Gross, director of purchasing. Xerox, IBM, and Electrographics each submitted a bid for the same plain bond paper copiers.

Each of the companies submitted either two or three machines based on the use of 500,000 prints of 20,000 and 21,000 prints of 10,000 machines, according to Gross.

One company submitted its bid at 5.0 cents per copy, with the stipulation that it would furnish all paper and chemicals, but the other bids were approximately 3 cents per copy with FTU furnishing all paper and chemicals, Gross said.

He said he was pleased with the response to the request for bids. They will now be sent to Tallahassee with Gross’ recommendation and the final decision will be made, Gross said.

Gross was unable to say when the new machines would actually go into use, but indicated that as soon as a decision comes from Tallahassee, he will have the new machines installed.

Gross said the new machines will be better because copiers will not fade out or turn black with age.

---

Dr. C. B. Gambrell, vice president for academic affairs, escorts a group of Co-Op students who will soon begin leaving the state for work experience. Left to right are Shep Hjelm, Larry Henderson, Barbara Rajchel, Stephanie DeCosta, Ken Marten, Margo Henderson and Charles McMillon. (Photo by Alan Geeslin)
Streaker 'Craze' Began Monday

Streaking, the newest craze to hit the nation's universities, finally reached FTU Monday night when approximately right unidentified males donned their clothing and ran from restrooms outside the Snack Bar across campus to a parking lot.

Witnesses to the 10 p.m. incident report that the streakers sprinted across campus, a few wearing hats and tennis shoes, and one wearing a skirt.

According to the cry of "Streakers!" and "Bravo!" from the women's dorms, once the nude group had dashed across campus, it did not happen. It is not known whether the men carried their clothing with them or not.

For the uninitiated, streaking is basically a nighttime activity occurring on college campuses across the country. The rules simply require participants to divest themselves of any clothing, although in some areas hats and shoes, ties, shiki masks, and paper bags are used, and to run naked along any route of the participants' choosing.

Streaking is not confined to males, however. Incidences of streaking such as Sunday’s band of 500 nude University of South Carolina men and women have been reported.

The major drawback to streaking is a possible arrest for indecent exposure and it constitutes a misdemeanor. Two Memphis State football players face a 10-day sentence in the "workhouse" if caught in additional "obscene behavior," according to a Memphis City court judge.

A spokesman for the FTU Police Department reported no knowledge of the campus incident.

Nancy Layne

PROFESSIONAL & CAREER APPAREL

BUTLER PLAHA, CASSELLBERRY HWY 436 & BOWELL BRANCH RD.

QUALITY CLOTHING FOR THE PROFESSIONAL WOMEN & MEN

Shoes - hose - suptذهh Caps - Aprons

Separates

Maternity uniforms & Pint suits

Denim jeans & pants

Volunteer uniforms

Lab coats

Career apparel

10% DISCOUNT WITH STUDENT ID

NOB HILL FIGHTS

The Energy Crunch

10 minutes from FTU close to all shopping

The Money Crunch

lowest rents in town discounts for FTU students

The Ecology Crunch

plant your own garden

beautiful landscaping

The Recreation Crunch

tennis, pools, saunas

gorgeous clubhouse with fireplaces, game room, kitchen

full social program

NOB HILL - Aloma & Semoran

671-4001
Brel's Best Played By "Alive Company"

By Weber Ivy

Shashi Mosco, a bass singer with "The Alive Company," was another New York actor who auditioned for the group as an April Fool's joke. He cannot read music, but the show's producers took his vocal talents seriously enough to include him in the winning portion of "Jacques Brel is Alive and Well and Living in Paris." In its two "FTU" performances last Thursday and Friday, "The Alive Company" gave a polished, vital presentation of 25 of Jacques Brel's best songs, proving that the entire group deserves a serious heartland style.

As the audience came in and sat down, "The Alive Company" seemed to be a ragtag collection of musos and formally opened with "Mamouth," an innuendo of the dance marathon era. Then they moved into "Alison," and somehow accomplished the mood shift from low to reflective. Masterful mood changes, effective delivery, and sound musicianship were the three outstanding characteristics of the performance.

The group displayed a strong comic bent in songs like "Gids and Dogs" which was a musical case for the superiority of dogs as faithful companions. At one point in "Gids and Dogs," pianist Bob Christianson took off and swept up and down the keyboard, completely ignoring the vocalist. When he finally ground to a halt, the singer looked back at him for a moment and tickled the audience with a sly toss of her head.

Dede Washburn, the only woman in "The Alive Company," sang her "a wishful part about aging and the passing of time." Washburn also did well in funny songs like "Brelmen," where she described with great relish how her grandparents, who once lived in "dilicious sin," now prayed for her virginity. One of thievery's sharpest numbers was "Pтенchen Tango," which is supposed to be a theme song for all of those disenfranchised friends who show up at one's funeral with crocodile tears streaming down their cheeks.

"Jacques Brel, Alive, Well and Living in Paris" is both humorous and serious as presented by The Alive Company, who performed 25 of Jacques Brel's compositions in their two Village Center concerts last week. (Photo by Pete Wilcox)

Orchestra Concert Scheduled

The works of Beethoven, Bach, Beethoven's First and Rossini will be played by the FTU Philharmonic Orchestra in a concert at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Village Center Assembly Room. Aarpald Rommers will conduct the orchestra. Featured soloists include violinist Sabina Miscelli, oboist Pat Sieber and pianists Arless Wroblicky and Susan Bookhout.

The program will open with Beethoven's Overture to Conolone and Bach's Concerto No. 1 in C minor for violin and oboe. Following intermission, the orchestra will perform "Old Mass for Dance," by Benjamin Britten and Rossini's Second Suite of 5 Movements. The final number will be the world premiere of "A Carnival of the Animals." No admission will be charged.

Shipp To Speak At Winter Graduation

John Shipp, State Associate Commissioner for Education, will be the main speaker during Commencement for 320 FTU students March 15 at the Orlando Naval Training Center. Diplomas will be awarded to 270 undergraduates, and 50 graduate students who will receive master's degrees.

All persons attending the graduation ceremony are asked to use the entrance on General Reese Road.

1973-74 Albums Reviewed

By Ike Harrison

With the mass of live recordings hitting the market, it is often hard to judge quality simply by a New York actor's or even a repertory of established musicians. "Live at Keystone" is one remarkable album that proves the ability of its all-star cast. Jerry Garcia, vocals and guitar, takes complete control of the pace as he builds in his distant "Grateful Dead" style.

Merce Saunders, showing more power in his voice than previous albums, teams up with Garcia on the keyboards to polish the album into one of today's best.

Even the most dedicated aficionados of rock and roll will find it necessary to slow down for a minute and listen to "Court and Spark," one of the most musically tremendous albums today. Accented by a melo instrumental arrangement, Joni sings her ballads in her characteristically high voice.

Those who have never been great Joni Mitchell fans will find this two-record collection a truly fantastic experience in good music.

Another winner in a long line of successful cuts, "Tales From Topographic Oceans" once again proclaims that "Yes" is definitely one of rock's best talents in music of this time. Continually unsurpassed in the leading keyboard player, Rick Wakeman, a musical genius at the age of 20. Uses his technical ability to enhance a style of music which will be remembered.

Complementing Wakeman on keyboards is a very capable lead guitarist, Jon Anderson. Jon carries his share of the load in displaying great versatility in his own instrument, high tenor of guitar slang.

"Little Feat" represents a somewhat amusing hero in the field of rock and roll music. Following up a good album with a fantastic one, "Dixie Chicken," entails distant rock and roll music with a touch of class supplied by a deliberate arrangement. Fans will find a class and precision form. Paul Barrere, guitar and vocals, leads the arrangement in fast chords and a good voice.

With the addition of a synthesizer and a variety of percussion, "Dixie Chicken" wins my vote as one of today's best rivals in hot music.

Employ Your Imagination

At Walt Disney World there are excellent employment opportunities. Perform during the week and weekends, with additional positions available for spring break and summer vacation. For complete information, visit the Walt Disney World Career Center Building... or call 380-1516. Days Mayor through Saturday from 9 AM until 3 PM.
Bicentennial Recalls 18th Century

The Bicentennial Commission of Florida will present a comedy-drama by the Theatre Department, on the period by noted historians, and a special program of colonial music. All performances will be at 8:30 p.m. in the FTU Science Auditorium. General admission is $1.50 at the door.

The program on Frontier Florida, which will be held March 22-23 in the Science Auditorium, will be the third annual symposium, in a series in cooperation with the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission.

Dr. Jerrell Shournder, history department chairman and coordinator of the program, indicated that the program will consist of study groups and discussions, lectures and a special program presented by the Black Art Players.

The event will be held at Eckerd College in St. Petersburg and is open to the public without charge.

An unidentified female streaker (above) escaped from a pursuing male photographer early Thursday morning. This incident followed an earlier episode by approximately 15 male streakers. See Streak story on Page 1. (Photos by Marvin Clear)

BULLETIN

A male streaker who raced across the library ramp clad only in tennis shoes and a pulled-on mustache and goatee was released by campus police yesterday morning.

After hopping out of a car by the library's southeast book drop, the streaker raced to his getaway vehicle which, by then, was waiting at the other book drop. No charges were filed.

The Staff and management of WFTU would like to wish you a safe and happy spring break.

We will return next quarter with more exciting music and programming.

From your music leader WFTU
The area of campus marked by white igloo-like structures served as the site for a 48-hour art marathon last week.

The event, sponsored by FTU's art department, began at noon on Thursday and ended at noon on Saturday.

According to Dr. Walter Gaudnek, one of the producers of the event, an art marathon is a group effort in creativity in which people can come together to observe other artists working in different media, as well as to create their own works.

Gaudnek described the reason for the marathon as escapism. "People spend too much time running. At school students are always running from class to class. The marathon provides an opportunity for students to get away from the clock," he said.

Participating were art students from FTU, some high school art students and local artists. Artistic media most represented were painting and sculpture, with participation in other media including pottery, print making, photography and advanced design.

The idea of the marathon was born when Gaudnek, a former research assistant to psychologist George Bach, compared notes with Steven D. Lotz, chairman of the art department, who has had experience with group therapy and encounter groups.

Participants provided their own meals and worked or rested at will. On Friday afternoon, the FTU woodwind quintet entertained with selections of Beethoven and Haydn. A bonfire burned through the night.

Gaudnek said, "Ideally, we should have one every quarter, but will probably start out with two a year. According to Lotz, a marathon is tentatively planned for May using floating objects similar to those displayed by FTU at the Munich Olympic games. Although more marathons are planned, Lotz was quick to voice his objections to regularity and said that regular scheduling would defeat the purpose of a marathon.

Gaudnek also asserted his belief that the creation of art is not served within the confines of regularity. "I enjoy change. During a three-hour class session I feel I must change. Sometimes I change into a robe or a wig. The element of surprise is helpful in keeping them on their toes," he said.

Gaudnek continued by saying he likes the marathon because it provides him with an opportunity to create while teaching and drawing from the energy of youth. He said, "We are trying to channel the excess energy of youth into creative pursuits. Lotz added facetiously, "Yeah, we're keeping them off the streets."
Solzhenitsyn History Revealed

Russia is a country that has been under the control of a totalitarian form of government since the days of Peter the Great. The people of Russia to this day continue to risk their lives for the sake of freedom. But in the context of a Soviet prison in 1945, Alexander Solzhenitsyn was exposed to the concept of democracy and his belief in the doctrines of Marx and Lenin disintegrated into a thought, the thought that man is not an animal, that he can think and speak, and should be put in chains around these possessions, he shall return to the state of man.

Solzhenitsyn did not really set out in his life to become a writer. He was a mathematics professor by occupation. During World War II he served with the Red Army as an officer, and wound up in an artillery position stationed at what the Germans then called the Eastern Front. In 1943, he was captured by the Germans making some uncomplimentary remarks about Stalin in a letter written to a friend which was intercepted by the authorities.

The concentration camp was the unproclaimed spokesman for the dissident "democratic" movement that was the majority of Soviet intellectuals. The Brezhnev era, the surface of underground intellectual movement, bailed publication of works, the cleaning out of the Lenin Society, the press, which once praised the author, began to attack him.

But his books continued to circulate in the Soviet Union in the form of carbon copies or mimeographed copies, a method known as samizdat or self publishing. Struggled out of the USSR, his books were published abroad and became best-sellers, and in 1970 Solzhenitsyn was awarded the Nobel Prize for Literature.

The novel "Ghastly Ward" is concerned with a special Soviet hospital designed to deal with cancer victims. Solzhenitsyn spent some time in a hospital suffering from a form of cancer which was successfully cured. The novel is basically a microcosm of the Soviet Union; the symbol of it becomes fairly obvious.

Another novel, "The First Circle," is about a special type of concentration camp located just outside Moscow that was converted from a country estate into a scientific experimental institute. The camp was manned by prisoners who were specially skilled scientists studying various projects. The institute pioneered studies into voice identification.

Solzhenitsyn's most recent and popular work, "A Daring Archipelago," is a non-fiction work, providing a detailed account of how Soviet concentration camps came into existence, and an expose of the prisoners who inhabited those camps during Stalin's reign of terror.

Life in the Soviet Union today is characterized by internal government control and censorship.

When a Soviet communist died in 1967, students at Moscow University listened to Voice of America news reports about the tragedy. Though the news was eventually published in the Soviet Union, the students listen to the Voice of America because they do not trust the news services in Russia.

The process reproducing materials at a Soviet library comes under close scrutiny. Materials considered to be "sensitive" or contrary to party doctrine are not allowed to be copied. Some students are aware of the lack of freedom in the Soviet Union, while others remain unaware.

Students Trapped By Broken Elevators

Malfunctioning elevators in the library have been a source of consternation for faculty and staff members recently as exemplified when one student was trapped for a short time.

According to a PTU police spokesman, the trapped student escaped before officers arrived on the scene. This type of incident doesn't occur frequently, but it has happened more than once, the spokesman said.

Another member of the force stated that the law now know how to get into the elevators when they are stuck.

A library official said the elevators are out of order, at least weekly, and said usually only one out of the three is working.

Fred E. Clayton, director of Physical Planning, when asked about the incident said, "You're telling me things I didn't know about. You're implying that I'm not listening to the director of the new Russian Areas, a professor of Russian and French; William Dovhey, reads latest information concerning the fate of exiled Russian writer Alexander Solzhenitsyn. Dovhey is also the director of the new Russian Areas Study program.

(Photoby Jerry Brooks)

Newell Named Director of Continuing Education

Dr. Ronald A. Newell, who joined PTU in July 1974, as coordinator of educational services, has been appointed director of Continuing Education at the university.

Continuing Education, which offers credit courses off campus and a variety of programs both on and off campus, is tied closely to the community as a service to citizens. A primary emphasis of such programs is to provide educational and intellectual opportunities for members of the community who have no formal association with PTU.

"In meeting that responsibility," Newell declared, "we are troubled with expanding the library's most pressing problem is time, we had six writers working at the same time to the end of the summer and fall. We will need to find a way to work more efficiently and in a more organized way, in order to complete the job in a timely manner."
FTU Matmen Bow Early in Division I
Nationals

By Fred Cay

FTU's first stab at national glory in a varsity sport was admitted somewhat "disappointing." Even the two FTU wrestlers and head Coach Gerry Goegley admitted the experience of competing in the national Division I championships at the University of California at Fullerton last weekend and could only look back at the three by the time next year passes.

Hammons, the 150-pound state collegiate champ, was the main beneficiary of his four matches and earned enough team points to place FTU in the 57th in the team field. Overall winner was dominant Cal Poly San Luis Obispo, who took every one of his seven years in a row now.

The day before, the Miami games, FTU defeated Florida 6-3, 7-6, 6-4, which included the win over Miami the remainder of the game.

In what FTU baseball coach Doug Holmquist called his "greatest victory, pro of college," the Knights defeated Florida in "The Impossible Dream" in defeating Miami University, the fifth-ranked team in the nation, 7-3 in the second game of a doubleheader played in Miami.

The day before, FTU's fifth and sixth straight games of the season sweeping a doubleheader from Florida State. However on Saturday, FTU's win streak came to an end losing a players though they should have fifth-ranked team in the nation, over into the next game resulting in the fifth in the first and two runs in the second on the strength of two errors, a fielder's choice and a single. Stan Edger, Steve Harp and Pete McCaughn shut out Miami the remainder of the game. FTU played well but according to Holmquist, "we had the opportunity- left men on base, but just didn't capitalize."

Holmquist doubts that FTU will be ranked next despite knocking off the fifth-ranked Hurricanes simply because of a lack of exposure. However, Holmquist does feel that FTU's record is representative and if they continue winning FTU might get ranked next season.

The day before the Miami games, FTU defeated Florida 6-3, 7-6, 6-4, which included the win over Miami the remainder of the game.

In what FTU baseball coach Doug Holmquist called his "greatest victory, pro of college," the Knights defeated Florida in "The Impossible Dream" in defeating Miami University, the fifth-ranked team in the nation, 7-3 in the second game of a doubleheader played in Miami.

The day before, FTU's fifth and sixth straight games of the season sweeping a doubleheader from Florida State. However on Saturday, FTU's win streak came to an end losing a players though they should have fifth-ranked team in the nation, over into the next game resulting in the fifth in the first and two runs in the second on the strength of two errors, a fielder's choice and a single. Stan Edger, Steve Harp and Pete McCaughn shut out Miami the remainder of the game. FTU played well but according to Holmquist, "we had the opportunity- left men on base, but just didn't capitalize."

Holmquist doubts that FTU will be ranked next despite knocking off the fifth-ranked Hurricanes simply because of a lack of exposure. However, Holmquist does feel that FTU's record is representative and if they continue winning FTU might get ranked next season.

The day before the Miami games, FTU defeated Florida 6-3, 7-6, 6-4, which included the win over Miami the remainder of the game.

In what FTU baseball coach Doug Holmquist called his "greatest victory, pro of college," the Knights defeated Florida in "The Impossible Dream" in defeating Miami University, the fifth-ranked team in the nation, 7-3 in the second game of a doubleheader played in Miami.

The day before, FTU's fifth and sixth straight games of the season sweeping a doubleheader from Florida State. However on Saturday, FTU's win streak came to an end losing a players though they should have fifth-ranked team in the nation, over into the next game resulting in the fifth in the first and two runs in the second on the strength of two errors, a fielder's choice and a single. Stan Edger, Steve Harp and Pete McCaughn shut out Miami the remainder of the game. FTU played well but according to Holmquist, "we had the opportunity- left men on base, but just didn't capitalize."

Holmquist doubts that FTU will be ranked next despite knocking off the fifth-ranked Hurricanes simply because of a lack of exposure. However, Holmquist does feel that FTU's record is representative and if they continue winning FTU might get ranked next season.

The day before the Miami games, FTU defeated Florida 6-3, 7-6, 6-4, which included the win over Miami the remainder of the game.

In what FTU baseball coach Doug Holmquist called his "greatest victory, pro of college," the Knights defeated Florida in "The Impossible Dream" in defeating Miami University, the fifth-ranked team in the nation, 7-3 in the second game of a doubleheader played in Miami.

The day before, FTU's fifth and sixth straight games of the season sweeping a doubleheader from Florida State. However on Saturday, FTU's win streak came to an end losing a players though they should have fifth-ranked team in the nation, over into the next game resulting in the fifth in the first and two runs in the second on the strength of two errors, a fielder's choice and a single. Stan Edger, Steve Harp and Pete McCaughn shut out Miami the remainder of the game. FTU played well but according to Holmquist, "we had the opportunity- left men on base, but just didn't capitalize."

Holmquist doubts that FTU will be ranked next despite knocking off the fifth-ranked Hurricanes simply because of a lack of exposure. However, Holmquist does feel that FTU's record is representative and if they continue winning FTU might get ranked next season.

The day before the Miami games, FTU defeated Florida 6-3, 7-6, 6-4, which included the win over Miami the remainder of the game.

In what FTU baseball coach Doug Holmquist called his "greatest victory, pro of college," the Knights defeated Florida in "The Impossible Dream" in defeating Miami University, the fifth-ranked team in the nation, 7-3 in the second game of a doubleheader played in Miami.

The day before, FTU's fifth and sixth straight games of the season sweeping a doubleheader from Florida State. However on Saturday, FTU's win streak came to an end losing a players though they should have fifth-ranked team in the nation, over into the next game resulting in the fifth in the first and two runs in the second on the strength of two errors, a fielder's choice and a single. Stan Edger, Steve Harp and Pete McCaughn shut out Miami the remainder of the game. FTU played well but according to Holmquist, "we had the opportunity- left men on base, but just didn't capitalize."

Holmquist doubts that FTU will be ranked next despite knocking off the fifth-ranked Hurricanes simply because of a lack of exposure. However, Holmquist does feel that FTU's record is representative and if they continue winning FTU might get ranked next season.

The day before the Miami games, FTU defeated Florida 6-3, 7-6, 6-4, which included the win over Miami the remainder of the game.

In what FTU baseball coach Doug Holmquist called his "greatest victory, pro of college," the Knights defeated Florida in "The Impossible Dream" in defeating Miami University, the fifth-ranked team in the nation, 7-3 in the second game of a doubleheader played in Miami.

The day before, FTU's fifth and sixth straight games of the season sweeping a doubleheader from Florida State. However on Saturday, FTU's win streak came to an end losing a players though they should have fifth-ranked team in the nation, over into the next game resulting in the fifth in the first and two runs in the second on the strength of two errors, a fielder's choice and a single. Stan Edger, Steve Harp and Pete McCaughn shut out Miami the remainder of the game. FTU played well but according to Holmquist, "we had the opportunity- left men on base, but just didn't capitalize."

Holmquist doubts that FTU will be ranked next despite knocking off the fifth-ranked Hurricanes simply because of a lack of exposure. However, Holmquist does feel that FTU's record is representative and if they continue winning FTU might get ranked next season.

The day before the Miami games, FTU defeated Florida 6-3, 7-6, 6-4, which included the win over Miami the remainder of the game.

In what FTU baseball coach Doug Holmquist called his "greatest victory, pro of college," the Knights defeated Florida in "The Impossible Dream" in defeating Miami University, the fifth-ranked team in the nation, 7-3 in the second game of a doubleheader played in Miami.

The day before, FTU's fifth and sixth straight games of the season sweeping a doubleheader from Florida State. However on Saturday, FTU's win streak came to an end losing a players though they should have fifth-ranked team in the nation, over into the next game resulting in the fifth in the first and two runs in the second on the strength of two errors, a fielder's choice and a single. Stan Edger, Steve Harp and Pete McCaughn shut out Miami the remainder of the game. FTU played well but according to Holmquist, "we had the opportunity- left men on base, but just didn't capitalize."

Holmquist doubts that FTU will be ranked next despite knocking off the fifth-ranked Hurricanes simply because of a lack of exposure. However, Holmquist does feel that FTU's record is representative and if they continue winning FTU might get ranked next season.

The day before the Miami games, FTU defeated Florida 6-3, 7-6, 6-4, which included the win over Miami the remainder of the game.

In what FTU baseball coach Doug Holmquist called his "greatest victory, pro of college," the Knights defeated Florida in "The Impossible Dream" in defeating Miami University, the fifth-ranked team in the nation, 7-3 in the second game of a doubleheader played in Miami.

The day before, FTU's fifth and sixth straight games of the season sweeping a doubleheader from Florida State. However on Saturday, FTU's win streak came to an end losing a players though they should have fifth-ranked team in the nation, over into the next game resulting in the fifth in the first and two runs in the second on the strength of two errors, a fielder's choice and a single. Stan Edger, Steve Harp and Pete McCaughn shut out Miami the remainder of the game. FTU played well but according to Holmquist, "we had the opportunity- left men on base, but just didn't capitalize."

Holmquist doubts that FTU will be ranked next despite knocking off the fifth-ranked Hurricanes simply because of a lack of exposure. However, Holmquist does feel that FTU's record is representative and if they continue winning FTU might get ranked next season.
The following is a report on one reporter's opinion—with help from many of the top performers in each league—for the just-completed season.

(After more than seven thousand hours of work, I can see that the National College tennis archives are still missing.)

The team, which plays five singles and two doubles in a team match, according to Mrs. Bondurant, "has a core good to work with."

The girls will have practical practices on Thursday afternoons and they practice whenever they can get together on their own free time.

Akers Title Quest Reaches Final 8
Doug Akers, an FTU student who has been a top player in both the intramural and campus tennis programs, has been invited to play in the national championships for men's intercollegiate tennis.

Akers lost in final round against Vlaamrist, 21-15, 21-19, after winning his opening two matches.

At a result of his rise to national recognition, Akers caught the eye of University of Texas head coach Pete Tyson and starting next year will attend Texas and play for the team, probably with financial aid.

Akers, a junior, will therefore have two years eligibility remaining and likely two more cracks at the national title the next two years. And of all goes well, a professional career in the fast-growing sport is not out of the question.

The national competition was a good learning opportunity according to Akers.

"I got a lot of experience this year. I feel like I could have beaten the guy I lost to but he just played a better game at that particular time." Akers said. "I waited for most observors to be the best Adrian and DeZeeuw that provided the championship in men's tennis in Miami. The first set was quick, 6-2, 6-0, and the second set was 6-3, 7-5. In the semifinals of last week's Super-East regionals, made it to the finals and played for the national title before being defeated 7-6, 6-4.

Akers, a junior, will therefore have two years eligibility remaining and likely two more cracks at the national title the next two years. And of all goes well, a professional career in the fast-growing sport is not out of the question.

The national competition was a good learning opportunity according to Akers.

"I got a lot of experience this year. I feel like I could have beaten the guy I lost to but he just played a better game at that particular time." Akers said. "I waited for most observors to be the best Adrian and DeZeeuw that provided the championship in men's tennis in Miami. The first set was quick, 6-2, 6-0, and the second set was 6-3, 7-5. In the semifinals of last week's Super-East regionals, made it to the finals and played for the national title before being defeated 7-6, 6-4.

Akers, a junior, will therefore have two years eligibility remaining and likely two more cracks at the national title the next two years. And of all goes well, a professional career in the fast-growing sport is not out of the question.

The national competition was a good learning opportunity according to Akers.

"I got a lot of experience this year. I feel like I could have beaten the guy I lost to but he just played a better game at that particular time." Akers said. "I waited for most observors to be the best Adrian and DeZeeuw that provided the championship in men's tennis in Miami. The first set was quick, 6-2, 6-0, and the second set was 6-3, 7-5. In the semifinals of last week's Super-East regionals, made it to the finals and played for the national title before being defeated 7-6, 6-4.
By Joe DeSalvo

The FTU tennis team is very lucky to have Joe Lucci.

It was in the summer of 1972 that Mike DeZeeuw met Lucci while playing tennis in Lucci's hometown, Youngstown, Ohio. DeZeeuw got Lucci to meet FTU's coach, Dr. Lee Wood. By that fall quarter, Joe Lucci was a member of the FTU tennis team.

Last year, Lucci was number three on the team for the majority of the season. This season, Lucci started as No. 5, then played in the No. 2 position against Tampa. For the first time in his FTU career, Lucci played as No. 1 in the Knights' match at Tampa, last Saturday and promptly beat his opponent, 6-2, 6-1. The history and pre-law major said, "You can't worry about your position, you have to worry about your game." Lucci added that he was "confident and excited" before his first match at number two.

Wood thinks very highly of Lucci. "Joe embodies the talents of a Florida State University student," Wood said. "He's a fine specimen of a student-athlete," Lucci, who was No. 1 on the Youngstown State University tennis team in his freshman year, practices at least five days a week. That includes mandatory team practices of three hours a day for three days a week.

About the day of a match, Lucci said, "I don't do anything a whole lot different. I just get mentally prepared."

Lucci loves to play tennis in Florida. He said, "The weather gives a better opportunity to play all year round. There are a lot more good players down here to help you with your game."

Lucci thinks very highly of Wood. "He's an excellent coach. He has a great understanding of the game since he has played under different situations. His emphasis is what you are able to do. He knows your strengths and works on your weaknesses. He makes you analyze your opponent's game."

Lucci, in addition to playing for FTU, competes in several tournaments around the state. Last fall, he and teammate DeZeeuw won the doubles tournament at the Cocoa Beach Invitational. Last summer he won the Youngstown Invitational.

One match that stands out in Lucci's mind is last year's second meeting with the University of South Florida. In the first meeting, Lucci lost a tough match as did the FTU team. But in the second meeting, Lucci came back to beat the same man and the Knights came back to take the match from a tough Brigham team.

This year, Lucci's best performance was against Tampa, beating his opponent in straight sets. But Lucci will be looking for tough matches against Rollins, Kalamazoo, USF, FSU, and Northwest Missouri. Tomorrow's match against Presbyterian College, of South Carolina, according to Lucci, should be "very tough." Presbyterian was No. 2 last year in the NAIA.

Lucci, who has a hard serve as part of his overall game, said, "FTU has a good team. It's a great feeling when you have support."

Joe Lucci, who has no definite plans for the future, says right now I'm concentrating on my game and studies. "FTU can't ask for anything more."

FIU 'Classical Clang' Has Bozo As Member

By Alan Crouse

Who's the man who plays the hot dog on TV in a different form? The man is Alan Rock, writer/producer/performer of Channel 9's Bozo program, and he plays the French horn for FTU's symphony orchestra.

Rock, Orlando's clown about town, has a musical background reaching back to his high school days. There he learned to band with enough virtuosity to land himself a musical scholarship at the University of Miami. Other instruments Rock claims he can play at least "Mary Had a Little Lamb" on include the flute, piano, saxophone and trumpet.

How Rock came to join FTU's classical clan, a composite of apartment dwellers and half local citizens, he described this way: "I had really laid off playing for about six or seven years when I was asked to do it with the Florida Symphony Orchestra as Bozo. My ego was running ahead of my brain, so I accepted. Then, after all that practice, I hated to give it up again. I started to ask around to find out whether there were any amateur orchestras in the community and I eventually heard about the one at FTU."

After the University of Miami, where Rock was also a junior journalist with the campus newspaper, he became a disc jockey in Miami, specializing in jazz music. While working with several stations featuring jazz, rhythm and blues, he became active in the production of concerts around southern Florida.

Rock was instrumental in bringing together musicians for Miami's first Newport-style jazz festival. Some of the notables he helped bring to southern Florida include Dizzy Gillespie, Herbie Mann, Louie Bellson, and Stan Kenton. Rock also helped establish several jazz workshops where local music students learned techniques from professionals.

Rock, who has an extensive personal record collection, said he has no single type of music he enjoys. Quoting Duke Ellington, he said, "There are only two types of music - good and bad."