Bargaining Allowed

The American Association of University Professors has announced that it will begin soliciting authorization cards from state university faculty in Florida in an attempt to become their collective bargaining agent. A law was recently passed in Florida which for the first time permits professors and other state employees to engage in collective bargaining.

The announcement was made in Tallahassee by Professor Robert Fisher, President of the AAUP at Florida State University. Fisher indicated that the new state law, which for the first time permits professors and other state employees to engage in collective bargaining, the next step in the process of organizing the state universities.

Fisher said that the AAUP will begin circulating authorization cards throughout the state to determine if a majority of the faculty would like the AAUP to represent them in negotiations with the state.
Forensic Science: The Art Of Telling Truths

Anyone who's watched television is familiar with the tense courtroom drama and the appearance of the expert witness who wraps up the case with his appraisal of evidence. Only it's not as simple as it may look. An expert is just what the name implies, and the path to the witness chair is becoming more difficult to tread.

A case in point is the just-approved bachelor's degree program in Forensic Science at Florida Technological University. One of the very few in the U.S. eager to turn out graduates steeped in the procedures of a profession that's woefully shorthanded.

Blueprints for the FTU program were drawn two years ago, when Dr. Bill McGee, a member of the chemistry department, felt the need to push for a science-related curriculum designed to help fill the lack of well-qualified expert witnesses who know their way around a laboratory as well as a courtroom.

"A forensic scientist must be an expert in both areas," said McGee, who almost single-handedly took up the battle to woo few enforcement agencies and educators to his side. The results can be seen in a 5,000-square-foot teaching laboratory located at the nearby Sanford Airport.

In criminal court, where a frenzy of activity is commonplace in preparation for the start of classes this September.

Aided by Seminole County Sheriff John Pohl, Sanford Crime Lab Director Pete Ragsdale and others who helped get the ear of grant agencies at the federal, state and local levels, McGee's efforts have been rewarded more than $400,000 in Federal and State Funds for the establishment of the program. Within the four walls of the one-time parachute loft, the first students will find completely equipped facilities on par with some of the finest crime detection centers in the country. An indication of the importance placed on science is that graduates will be required to take nearly two-thirds of the 180 hours needed to get a degree in science courses.

The FTU Forensic Science program is McGee's project. McGee has traveled coast-to-coast over the past years, seeking advice and picking brains in leading forensic science laboratories. From his experiences, McGee has developed a unique program with features that are just as new as the Sanford teaching lab.

First of all, the student will have a choice of going on two ways, concentrating either on criminalistics or civilides. It's the latter, McGee said, a student could continue on toward a degree in chemistry or a related field. "And things like that do happen," he explained.

Many of the degree programs now being offered at other colleges are in "criminalistics," and usually fall within sociology or criminology departments. While, the FTU program will be associated with the University's criminal justice and allied legal services programs, the emphasis will be on science, pure and not so simple, McGee declared.

There's no guarantee that a graduate with a degree in Forensic Science will be an expert witness. That classification is granted by a court and not a college which is in primary reason why McGee and FTU are stressing the quality of their program. "We don't want to play the numbers game and turn out people not really prepared for the task. Your first mistake as an expert forensics is not getting a last in this profession," McGee emphasized.

Information about the new FTU program is available by contacting McGee at 275-2746, or the Department of Chemistry at Florida Tech, 273-2259.

Welcome to the end of the first week of classes, the first issue of the Future for 1974-75 and my first column. I hope you'll like the column. If not, please let me know! I have to do three columns a week for the next 11 weeks. I'm a little bit nervous, but I feel that I'll do okay if I keep my eye on the ball but not too close.

Calendar containing all Fall quarter campus activities are obtainable from the Village Center Main Desk or from any of the new Village Center distribution stands. These stands are located in the Cafeteria, the Library Lobby by the elevator, the Engineering Building Lobby by the elevator, and in the General Classroom Building, second floor lobby by the elevator. Look for these new distribution stands to see what's happening on the campus.

Football fans are therefore you were away this summer, the World Football League came to town. Orlando came up with the Florida Blazers franchise. Poor attendance and lack of interest in a town with no football tradition, have the team on the verge of moving. The Orlando area needs this sort of enterprise. If we ever get more than a "bush league" town.

Having attended all but one of the home games, I feel that the Blazers are a fine team with strong potential. The whole WFL has potential and are worthy of your support, especially since FTU has no team and more in sight.

By now it may be too late, but if you were not in attendance at the nation's first professional games last night, attend team officials that they have your support by writing or phoning. Make every effort to attend the last two home games.

If Orlando keeps losing such worthy efforts and out-sized hoodlums, pretty soon we can all just sell our cars and sit in living rooms, watching everything else doing something on television.

Resident Center Library

DID YOU KNOW? HAVE YOU HEARD? Each Resident Center has its own library! Space may be limited and collection incomplete but "we offer all the services that the main campus library offers." In the Resident Center Library you will find the entire card catalog on microfiche. This means that if you wanted to find a book by author, title, or subject, all you do is consult the microfiche, place your book request with the student assistant, and in a few days the book of it's available will be checked out to you. We do need your name and social security number. When you're finished with the book, return to the Resident Center Library and they will be returned to the main campus.

A "Serials Holding List" which lists the magazines the FTU Library has is also in each library.

Interlibrary loans are also available to both students and faculty in the Resident Centers. Books or journals not available at FTU can be obtained from other libraries. Obtain the proper forms from Mrs. Elba Grovdahl in the Reference Department of the Main Library.

Greek

Nationally, the fraternity is experiencing a growth unprecedented in the history of the American university system. The Greek system at Florida State University is experiencing this growth in a dynamic and irreversible way, as evidenced by the interest shown in fraternities among the student body.

Fraternity rush continues this weekend with the opening of the fall rush period. Stories from each fraternity and sorority should be submitted to the FTU office before 12 noon Monday. Stories should contain information of interest to other Greeks, the administration and non-Greek students. For more information contact Walt Morris at 650-8511 or in the FTU office.

New Courses

A new evening program offering a master's degree in mechanical science and computer science is available at FTU this fall.

The program, which will provide advanced training in the combined areas of math, statistics and computer science, is designed specifically for professionals, with the emphasis on teaching and research in computer science.

The five courses which are offered for fall quarter cover all three areas. Included are advanced calculus, techniques of complex variables, applied probability, scientific applications concepts and software concepts.

Admission to the program was given on the basis of undergraduate grades, Graduate scores, letters of recommendation and employment experience. Senior students who are planning to seek employment with an FTU firm, are eligible for undergraduate work.

Students who have made some achievement, or have done something of interest to the FTU this new column. Anyone having information concerning students may submit written stories to the about any students who receive scholarships or who have in some way excelled.

for the job. Waddell is an actuary at FTU, majoring in political science and history. This Development Center Has Much To Offer

John Bridges

The FTU Development Center has pronounced the availability of campus encounter groups in different dormitory areas for the Fall quarter. Formation of the groups is expected to continue for the next two weeks and is free of charge.

Dr. Tom Berry will continue his Gestalt Growth group after the recent success of one particular group last year. The Gestalt group will be concerned with interpersonal and inner-personal awareness. Students will analyze themselves, gaining insight into their own feelings and actions, and will be provided with feedback from others in the group regarding their success in relating to them. Dr. Jack McIntyre of the Psychology department will direct the group.

The two remaining groups will be under the direction of the center’s assistant director, Dr. Sue Wilton. One group will meet as the “Rational” or “Growth through Rejection,” and will identify and change submerged beliefs that interfere with the enjoyment of life and personal growth. The second group will be organized as a Career Planning workshop, designed to assist those in need of counseling or additional information regarding their major or future vocational plans. The center’s collection of vocational files and tests will be available to these students, an insight will be provide about the flexibility required in the rapidly changing careers of the occupational world.

Students may register for these groups or obtain additional information by visiting the center, located in Residence Dorm A, or by calling 275-3811. Besides these encounter groups, the center provides services in the areas of vocational counseling, reading and study skills, study habits, and have clinicians available for speech and hearing disorders. In upcoming issues, the FTU-Cure will provide further information about each of the services offered.

City Manager

City managers from ten Central Florida communities met September 5 in Winter Park as a prelude to a pilot program in small city management to be sponsored by Florida Tech University and the International City Management Association (ICMA).

The initial meeting was devoted to orientation and organization of the group, according to Warren (Peter) Knowles, Sanford city manager, who was instrumental in establishing the session along with Dr. William W. Young, FTU chairman of political science.

Cities represented at this meeting at Winter Park’s Longford hotel by city managers and their alternates include Sanford, Winter Park, Midland, Casselberry, Kissimmee, Deland, Leesburg, Groveland, Clermont, and Titusville.

FTU’s interest in municipal administration stems from its public administration program, a spin-off of political science. A number of political science program have moved into city management positions in Florida in the short while the program has been in existence, said Dr. Young.

Danforth Scholarship Offered

Applications are due in all political science departments under 35 years of age, who have serious interest in careers of teaching and/or administration in colleges and universities, and who plan to study for a Ph.D. in any field of study common to the undergraduate liberal arts curriculum in the United States. Applicants may not have undertaken any graduate or professional study beyond the baccalaureate. Persons must be nominated by Dr. Ellis by November 20, 1974. Approximately 100 Fellowships will be awarded nation-wide before March 1.

The award is for one year, and is normally renewable until completion of the degree or for a maximum total of four years of graduate study. Fellowships are limited in individual need, but may not exceed $2000 for single Fellows and $3000 for married Fellows for the academic year, plus travel expenses for children and required tuition and fees.

Other fellowships may be held concurrently with a Danforth Fellowship, except for those administered through other programs of the Danforth Foundation. Income from other awards will be taken into consideration in determining supplementary living expenses if the amount received is less than the Danforth Foundation maximum, and if the student so desires to allow this.

The Danforth Foundation was created in 1927 by the late Mr. and Mrs. William H. Danforth as a philanthropy devoted to giving aid and encouragement to persons, to emphasize the humane values that come from a religious and democratic heritage, and to strengthening the essential quality of education.
Library Uses New System

"It's your money," is a sign students often see around campus when being cautioned about using University property or supplies to excuse, and nothing could hit home harder than being fined with a bill for a lost or damaged book.

Loss of library materials compounded with the fact that PTU's library last year had twice as many books stolen in three years ago - nearly 150 last year, compared with 300 books overall in the last four years - created a need for tighter checkout security: "Tattle Tape," according to Library Director Lynn Walker, is designed to eliminate theft of books that range in price up to $84 per volume, some of which can't be replaced, and most of which are the most-wanted books on campus. Manufactured by the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company (3M), the system operates through each volume in the library being chemically treated so that it activates on contact at the checkout counter if not "desensitized" through proper checkout processing. The volume is then resensitized upon processing when being returned to the library.

Coupled with a gate that locks in the holder of an unprocessed book, the system has library officials hoping for a big reduction in library theft.

"The main thing I want the students to understand is that this is not an 'Harrassment,'" explains Walker. "I would prefer to have everything free and open, but the loss of books deprives the great majority of students of their use. The security system leaves books available for the majority's use. Librarians indicated the Tattle Tape has been tested and has no effect on heart pacemakers, but may have some effect on hearing aids if not properly tuned.

Series Offered

Pat Murray

The PTU Personnel Services Department is offering its Personnel Enrichment Series beginning October 1. The sessions are held over brown-bag lunches in the conference room in Adm. Bldg. 3st.

The series, in its second year of operation, is designed to give university employees insight into their jobs, themselves, and gives them an opportunity to meet some of their campus coworkers.

Director of Personnel Services, Tom Simmons conducts the informal sessions which will include the films "Why Men Create" and "Future Shock." Simmons is aided by Ed Moloney, Assistant Personnel Services Director.

Simmons is aided by Ed Moloney, Assistant Personnel Services Director. Moloney is a certified instructor in transactional analysis, one of the many topics to be covered during the series.

New Orientation Used For Fall

Some 800 freshmen who strated at PTU this fall were welcomed to campus in a unique summer orientation designed to fully prepare them for the leap into college life.

The four 3-day sessions planned were held July 15-16, 18-19, 22-23, and 25-26. The new students spent two days and one night living on campus.

All received academic advisement, registered for classes, took part in PTU's Student Life program in planned social activities. A variety of groups on campus were involved in the orientation. Included are Student Government, the Interfraternity Council and Panhel Family United Campus Ministry and faculty from PTU's six colleges and general studies program.

Each of the 300-member groups were divided into 10-12 students, who, in turn, had the opportunity to meet personally with faculty advisors, staff, upperclassmen and fellow classmates. During the personalized sessions, the groups also were introduced to factors of leadership, career choices, goal-setting, and other elements calculated to make the transition from high school to college much easier.

A similar program was planned for Transfer students in August.

The Air Force ROTC College Program has 3 things to offer that other college programs don't.

1. Scholarships.
2. $100 monthly allowance.
3. Flying lessons leading to jet training.

Enroll in Air Force ROTC.

Real Estate Course

Now Offered

Prospective real estate salesmen who are interested in preparing for the state license exam are invited to enroll in courses to be offered this fall by FTU Center for Real Estate and Urban Studies. The twice-weekly courses, Principles and Practices, and Real Estate Law, will be six weeks and four weeks in duration, respectively. Five of the six classes offered will be in the evening. All but one class are being held at FTU's main campus. The exceptions are one section of Principles and Practices, to be held at FTU's South Orlando Resident Center, in Orlando Center Plaza.

Principles and Practices is required by the Florida Real Estate Commission, The Real Estate Law, course is necessary for preparing for the state license examination. The next starting date for Principles and Practices is October 8, from 2 to 5 p.m. Real Estate Law classes will begin October 8 at 8:30 p.m.

Additional information about the courses may be obtained by contacting the FTU Center for Real Estate and Urban Studies phone 2123.

VC FILM SCHEDULE

The Village Center film schedule is offering "Sleuth" September 27 and 28 at 8:30 p.m. in the Engineering Auditorium. "Paper Moon" will be shown October 2 at 4:00 and 8:30 p.m. and October 4 at 3:30 p.m. in the Village Center Assembly Room.

Admission to all Village Center movies is free to F.T.U. students presenting I.D. cards. F.T.U. faculty, staff and alumni are admitted free upon presentation of an Activity card.

ACTIVITY FEE CARD

The Village Center is making available to all F.T.U. faculty, staff and alumni an activity card on a quarterly basis. The $5.00 card entitles the holder to unlimited free admission into (VC) sponsored activities that students are admitted free to. The $5.00 service and activity fee card is available only to faculty, staff and alumni and does not include members of their immediate family.

Enrollment Errors Virtually Eliminated

Chancellor Robert Mautz says he is pleased that the Auditor General had concluded that errors made by the universities in reporting enrollment dates "were not of such a nature nor of such a magnitude as to indicate deliberate manipulation of material consequence of student enrollment data."

The Chancellor made the statement in commenting upon a report of the Auditor General regarding a special audit of enrollment data of the state universities for 1973-74 made at the request of the House Appropriations Committee.

"We have made strenuous efforts to insure the integrity of our enrollment data," Mautz said. "The comments made by the Auditor General reinforce the conclusions drawn by my staff in a special audit conducted by the University System earlier this year."

Mautz said the actions taken and planned by the Board of Regents, in combination with actions by the 1974 Legislature would virtually eliminate any chances for error in reporting university enrollment data for funding purposes.

Pageant Applications Available

Now is the time to enter the Miss Orlando Pageant, says Marion Finnell, president of the Miss Orlando Scholarship Pageant. The deadline for applying is today. Applications are available at Camelot Studios in Winter Park. Susan Joyce, a student at P.T.U. last year, is the reigning Miss Orlando. Five other P.T.U. students qualified for the 1974 Miss Orlando Scholarship Pageant.

To qualify, a young lady must be between the ages of 18 and 26, be an undergraduate student at P.T.U., have made a record of academic success, and be an outstanding example of feminine beauty and poise. Prize money and opportunities for the winner are: 1st place, $2000; 2nd place, $1500; 3rd place, $1000; 4th place, $750.

Adm-Fae News

The new assistant comptroller for FTU is Linda Bonte. Mrs. Bonte was promoted from her position as supervisory accountant for Finance and Accounting. She is a graduate of the University of Florida.

The College of Natural Sciences at Florida Technological University has announced the appointment of two acting department chairmen, effective with the start of the quarter. Dr. Ernest J. Lytle, Jr., will become acting chairman of the Department of Biological Sciences, while Dr. David H. Vickers will assume a similar position in the Department of Mathematics.

Larry P. Matthews, who formerly was coordinator of FTU's Veterans Affairs Office, has been appointed Director of the Office of Community Relations at the University. In his new capacity, Matthews will be responsible for the organization and direction of activities aimed at reaching prospective students with information on FTU's many academic programs. He also will continue to work closely with community colleges in the state.

Beginning in the issue of the FuTUre, a new column designed to inform interested persons of news from the faculty, administration and staff will appear. Items of interest including publications, speaking engagements or other stories may be submitted to the FuTUre office on or before Monday of each week. Please submit written material to ensure the usage of the article.

Student Musical

The Village Center has discussed the possibilities of funding a Student Musical. Dr. Lawson led a discussion of the educational opportunity for a student written play and a decision should be made this fall.

In national competition there is a $300.00 price for a musical. Last year's musical of four performances brought an attendance of 331 and $367.90 in income. The production cost was $355.00 with 38-40 students participating.

Creation '74 Planned

Central Floridians are being invited to join students, staff and faculty at Florida Tech University November 12-15 in the annual campus art festival, CREATIONS '74.

The 4-day event, which will be held at FTU's Village Center green, will feature arts and crafts, both for display and for sale.

A daily feature of CREATIONS '74 will be the appearance of a well-known artist. This year, the featured artist will be Fred McGerthy, syndicated humorist and cartoonist who was the originator of the "Brother Juniper" series.

FTU closed its Patrick AFB Resident Center in June, but will continue to offer courses there on a limited basis upon request.

The FTU Center, which opened as a graduate program for Florida State University in 1964, became the responsibility of FTU in 1971 when the Board of Regents transferred the program.

The graduate program originally offered a MS in Management, predominantly to government and contract engineers and military personnel involved in aerospace projects at KSC and PAFB. The program was later redesigned to include a Master of Business Administration degree. In the past ten years, 360 students have earned either the MS or MBA through the Center.

Responsibility for the Patrick Center programs shifted to FTU’s Brevard Resident Center, located on the main BCC campus in Cocoa. Information on undergraduate and graduate studies offered through the Brevard Center may be obtained by calling 632-4377.

WFTU Radio Station Begins Another Year

By Alan Cross

This fall Dave Wright took the helm at WFTU as the station turns 24 years old. “I plan on taking WFTU to start off another year of music and service to the community.”

According to Wright, more people are needed to build up the staff to program level. Wright said disc jockeys, news people and production people are still needed before the station even begins operations on Monday, October 7.

WFTU is an AM station at 640 kilocycles sending its sound via a 60-kilowatt transmitter in the downtown area. Wright said the station is “progressive” in the afternoon with weekday programs at night such as classical, jazz, etc.

When asked if radio drama are scheduled, Wright said, “Hopefully we will put right now we need people just to work” (the music programs). And, as usual, the “old pros” of the station will be happy to teach inexperienced people interested in working for the station. Wright said most students work the first time simply as a learning-working experience and will later an independent study for credit once they become a part of the radio program studio and station operations. "Some people are on the air for as little as one hour a week while others choose to work several hours on one day or an hour each night,” said Wright.

WFTU’s long-term goal of going FM is quickly coming to a climax. According to Dr. Thomas O. Morgan, WFTU faculty advisor, the application for a construction permit has been signed by campus officials and is presently in the hands of the Federal Communications Commission. Morgan said the university has received notice from the commission of their intention to act on the proposal. “Unless there’s a technical error on our form (application for construction permit), there is no reason to assume we’ll not be approved,” said Morgan.

Plan continues with a portion of the radio station complex already set aside as the FM control room. If approved, the future FM station will utilize a portion of the education fund of the FM dial and broadcast to listeners off campus.

The unique classes, which will carry no credit, and no charge, will meet each Tuesday evening at the FTU Village Center, starting October 1. Teaching the evening course will be Mary Greer, a member of the FTU staff, who has a sound background in the subject. A graduate of University of South Florida, she currently is working on a master’s degree in English at FTU.

Tarot (pronounced Tareh) cards have been used since the 16th Century, according to Ms. Greer. “Strange things happen which can often be explained with Tarot, providing a person knows what to look for,” she declared.

“We can learn much about ourselves and others in the process.”

Additional information about the new course, which is being offered as part of FTU’s program of improvement-interest classes, may be obtained by contacting the Director, FTU Brevard Resident Center, phone: (305) 632-4127.

Give Your Future A Whole New Direction

U.S. ARMY

Where’s your future headed for the next couple of years? Will it be a satisfying, interesting job you’ve always wanted to do? Or will it be in Europe, working and living in places most people just read about? If the answer is “no way” to either of these questions here’s something you might be interested in knowing. Under the Army’s two-year travel or training program, you can have your choice of over 400 jobs or an initial assignment to Europe or a job of the Army’s choice. In some cases you could wind up getting both the job and the traveling. Talk it over with your local Army representative (the one you met at FTU) or sign up for in-person informational meetings.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS SCHEDULE 1974-1975

Sports

Men's Football

Lady's Volley;

Next Month

By Joe DeSalvo

Men's flag football and women's volleyball competition gets this fall's interfraternity intramural action underway which includes a new sports being offered.

TKE fraternity will try to defend their flag football title when the season starts on Monday, October 7. The entry deadline for the intramural teams is October 2. While the men are on the football field, the women will be battling on the volleyball courts as Tyes sorority will try to make it two championships in a row as their season starts on October 14 with the entry deadline on October 9.

The remaining events scheduled for men include flag football doubles with an October 16 entry deadline. The cross country meet is scheduled for October 23.

Men's volleyball is slated for November 4 with its entry deadline on October 26.

Roundballers will be starting this fall in two-man volleyball which has an November 10 entry deadline.

Rounding out the women's schedule, singles tennis league competition gets started with the entry deadline on October 16. The woman's cross country meet is the same day as the men.

Finally, powerpuff football takes over the action on November 11 with the entry deadline on November 8.

There are two coed sports taking place this fall. A bowling meet is on tap for October 26. Also, coed volleyball has a November 27 deadline.

Any questions along with team entries can be taken to the intramural office, VC 200 or call exchange 3680.

Tough Soccer Year In Store For Knights

Doug Storin

It's already underway, but soccer fans will have their first close look at F.T.U.'s 1974 edition of Knights soccer this September when Coach Jim Rudy's squad takes on Florida Southern behind the post at 3:30 p.m.

The Knights have already faced Flagler and Eckerd Colleges in this week's beginning, which in Rudy's view, "will be a very tough but good year." His optimism stretches across the outlook of the upcoming year and this year's old one-time soccer co. of Daytona College, feels that with a new maturity shown by a still young team, last season's 7-4 record should improve.

"We have the quality to be a winner," he declares. "All it takes is a lot of hard work, fewer mistakes than the other team, and the ability not to run out of gas..."

This year's schedule should find the answer to several questionable issues in the book of F.T.U. soccer follower's minds. With opponents like the University of South Florida, 11th in the nation and Howard University ranked 24th, D.C.A, N.C.A.A champions, few soccer fans, as well as Florida International University and Eckerd College the 4th and 11th ranked teams south of the Mean.

Newly Surfaced Courts

Now Befitting A Winner!

By Joe DeSalvo

The newly organized FTU bowling team, according to David Murphy, is the only first-year efforts in the state that were made from start to finish.

The league was organized this past summer, the purpose and Murphy, is to help the FTU faculty and staff members get to know each other.

This season's league was composed of 10 teams with four members each. The season lasted for 10 weeks.

The first place team members were: David Murphy, computer services; Tege Frasier, payroll; Mary Parent, French, student, and Charlie Young.

Second place team members were: Karen Porterfield, ROTC; Tom Porterfield; Ronnie Wood, ROTC; and Bob Moist, engineering.

BCC Tops Harriers

The new P.T.T.U. cross-country team started the season last week with a dual meet against Brevard C.A. The Harriers were led by freshman Dean Noggle who finished third in the race with a time of 24:32. Rick Ball, Bob Kohles and Bob Smith supported Noggle in the four mile run.

Despite the encouraging time, Brevard won 14-8. The P.T.T.U. club coach advisor, Dr. Howard Kennedy, said the Harriers' depth as a weakness of the squad.

All male or female students who are interested in joining the B.C.C. Track and Cross-Country Club are invited to report for training at four pm each day by the swimming pool. The first practice of the season is scheduled for Oct. 11 against Flagler C.J. Home meet.

European Travel

Some low cost student air fares to Europe are still in effect. Youth fares being sold in Creede and Mexico, low cost flights out of New York and Newark (Bahama Islands near Florida) and continued use of school charter flights all make Europe still very much available to travel minded college students. Even in the face of ever increasing international air fares. As always, students living in the eastern and southern states have less to pay than students at western schools.

Also, lower winter rates offer skiers and other winter resort visitors inexpensive trips to Austria and Switzerland.

General American tourist to Europe was off somewhat this past summer. As a result, many European resorts are dropping their rates for the winter ski crowd. This steady climb of the U.S. dollar against European currencies further decreases the cost of a trip to Europe.

For students staying in Europe longer than two to three week tour, temporary paying jobs are available. Jobs are given out on a non-profit basis to any student. Most jobs are in restaurants, hotels, and ski resorts, and no experience is required. Standard wages are paid, which is an opportunity to cash back most of the trip costs, but the big saving is the free room and board that goes with each job.

Interested students may obtain student travel information, job descriptions and listings and application forms by sending their name, address, educational institution, and $1 for postage, printing and handling only to $50, Box 1176, Santa Barbara, Calif. 93108. Job processing can be speeded up by obtaining and holding passport photos and a letter of recommendation from a teacher or school official.

Travel of alcoholics is like preventing the sale of illegal drugs. As for the Florida Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, George Clarke, field program admin­istrator, said for the year, noted that prevention and control are to the answers to this problem which then controls the individuals' use.

Clarke, on campus for the 12th Annual Florida School of Alcohol Studies, told more than 300 students registered for the week-long sessions that alcohol is the nation's number one killer drug.

The recognition of alcoholism as a villain that must be treated as well as prevented is evident, said Clarke, in the Florida budget for such services in the past few years. From a 1971-72 figure of $25,000 allotted to the fight, the most recent funding shows a jump to $93.5 million. Added to that total are funds from the federal government to communities, plus money net made by communities themselves.

Clarke added that Florida is among the first states to incorporate a program to give to the continual battle, by virtue of the Myron Act. The Act which on Jan. 1, 1971, imposes "decriminalization" of the procedures that formerly sent public to the city "tank," will provide a system by which treatment can be tied to prevention and control. On that date, persons arrested for public drunkenness only will receive a Primary Care Facility for diagnosis.

Fight Alcohol

Primary Care Facility for diagnosis.

The Centers, which will be located in both the Apalachicola area in Florida, will be staffed with qualified nursing personnel and para-professionals equipped to determine the correct action to any individual's case. Local police, meanwhile, will be prepared to keep a person picked up on such a charge for 12 hours of protective custody. There will be no arrest recorded, however.

"The point that should be made in reference to the Myers Act and its rehabilitative services for alcoholics is that in some help on the way," said Clarke. He noted that under the former system, where a person arrested for public drunkenness was booked and locked up, "they could spend half their lives in jail."

He said there were those where alcoholics who were repeatedly arrested had spent more time in jail than persons convicted of first degree murder.

The 12th Annual School for Alcohol Studies, which is sponsored by Florida Technological University and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, offers students from a vast array of communities a chance to update themselves and others on recent methods and means used in the treatment, control and prevention of the illness. This year marks the sixth consecutive year since the school has met at Ft. FLU.
