The Sub

Larry R. Hudson Ph.D.
University of Central Florida

Find similar works at: https://stars.library.ucf.edu/jhoe
University of Central Florida Libraries http://library.ucf.edu

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by STARS. It has been accepted for inclusion in Journal of Health Occupations Education by an authorized editor of STARS. For more information, please contact STARS@ucf.edu.

Recommended Citation
Available at: https://stars.library.ucf.edu/jhoe/vol15/iss2/8
The Sub.

Whether by choice or need;
this is the work I do.
You are the teacher and I--
I am the Sub.

When you are absent I am called;
late in the evening or early in the morning.
My day is on hold until the call;
then I’m either the Sub or some other role in my life.

Upon arrival at the school I check in and am asked;
“Are you the Sub?” “Yes, I’m the Sub.”
“Here’s the keys; room is down the hall, third door on left.”
I think to myself, “It’s always down the hall, third door on the left.”

Entering the classroom I know what the day will be like;
just by your preparation of the students.
Of course they will test me, as they always do.
I go through that every time; it comes as no surprise.
But, your planning and notes make my day.
Do you consider me a teacher or just someone to sit the class?
I know which by the plans left for me to use.

The day can be pleasant or difficult.
Sometimes, I want to come back to “my” students.
At other times I go home, admiring your stamina and patience.
I think of having your job, yet that may never happen.
Because of choice or need I must remember, that when the call comes, it is time for me to be the Sub.

Excerpt from:
Because I care: prose about teaching.