Employees Have Voice In Working Conditions

By Cameron Pyle

This is the third year of operations for the FTU Staff Council, whose activities maintain a vital communication link between career service employees and the university administration.

Of primary concern to the council is the welfare of career employees and the university administration. It is their duty to entertain suggestions and questions regarding such things as worker benefits and working conditions, prior to making their recommendations to administration officials.

In council elections held last April, Dr. L. A. Mott, Staff Affairs Director, was named this year’s chairman.
The remaining nine members of the council are elected from among Student, Business, and Academic Affairs — three officers from each branch.
Those selected were: Bill Blundell and Pete Arnett of Computer Services; Bud Mann of Physical Plant Maintenance; Ralph Weitzel, VC, Centralized Supervision; Ron Negeen of Student Placement Services; Carleen Boyd, Secretary of Public Information; Sonja Circino of the Register’s Office; J. C. Kinsey of the University Libraries and Gertrude Adams, a lab technician from Biological Sciences.

Acting as liaison between the council and the student body is John P. Goree, Vice-President for Business Affairs.

In past years, the council has discussed such varied concerns as the implementation of active on-campus safety procedures, lowering the quarterly charge of parking decals for employees and pay increases, to keep pace with the rising cost of living.
The council maintains a Career Service Newsletter to periodically broadcast social functions, like its Annual Staff Awards Dinner, which was organized to honor and give official recognition to praiseworthy individuals among their ranks.

According to Johnston, more recent happenings within the council have been the establishment of a Safety Committee and the obtaining of administration approval for the placement of micro-wave ovens in the library lounge and Power Plant.

The council, safeguarding the opportunity to cook and reheat food, requested especially because of the somewhat prohibitive cost of prepared foods at FTU, which is another story in itself.

Meetings of the Council are held in the Library Conference Room every other Thursday at one o'clock.

Johnston stated that interested individuals not connected with career services are also welcome to attend.

Advisory Board Meets

By Deborah Whaley

The Publications Advisory Board (PAB) met this week to adopt a formal constitution. The PAB acts in an advisory capacity to the Publications staff.

The members of the PAB were appointed by Dr. Grasty last spring.

Dr. Grasty said that the formation of the PAB was a part of the implementation of a new, more efficient system for meeting the publishing demands of students and faculty.

An important point discussed at the meeting was how the editor is to be selected. In the past the editor was trained by the outgoing editor and confirmed by Dr. Grasty and President Malcomson.

In the future, students desiring to be editor will submit an application to an elections committee. Requirements concerning general experience and length of time at FTU must be met before an applicant can apply.

The editor is responsible for the editorial content of the paper, the layout of the front page and the editorial page of the paper.

The editor, in consultation with the FTU staff and handles all problems that arise.

Plans for the formation of a Committee on Accuracy and Fair Play were also discussed.

Dr. Fedler, chairman of the PAB said that similar systems are used by many universities with good success.

Electors Commission Invalidates Elections

By John Bridges

Results of the Student Government Senate elections were invalidated by the elections commission Tuesday, as the commission found "errors in procedure" concerning election statutes.

The problems concerning the election began this Friday when Senator candidate Bob Kroll was "deemed elected over the absence of 83 absentee ballots for Coop students.

According to Hunter Potts, SG President, the problem was the result of a tardy absentee ballot request. The request from Mr. Tad Hazle, Director of the Co-op Program, was addressed to Dr. L. A. Mott, President, and that request was not received by the time the deadline had expired.

"We received the request two days after the deadline," said Mr. Potts.

Johnston stated that interested individuals not connected with career services are also welcome to attend.

"Voting," he said, "can be filled by appointment."

Jeff Cepuran, commissioner of elections, said that he had only received 44 of the 83 candidates' reports as of Tuesday and that unless they were received by Wednesday, those candidates would not be permitted to run.

Cepuran said he was proud of the actions taken by the organization and that they indicated a positive approach towards the organization and that they indicated a positive approach towards the organization.

Hammond said he was proud of the actions taken by the organization and that they indicated a positive approach towards the organization.

According to Cepuran, the next elections will probably be held in November.

Only approximately 300 of the estimated 8,900 students eligible voted. The number of eligible voters was expanded to include part-time as well as full-time students.
Navy Recruits Student
For Nuclear Program

By Dana Eagles

Only seniors from non-NIOTC colleges are eligible. Candidates who must be between 19 and 26 at the time of commissioning, are eligible for interviewing no earlier than the summer preceding their senior year in school.

All candidates must have successfully completed 90 semester-hours or 135-quarter hours and be within ten months of graduation when ordered to active duty. Required subjects or eligibility include at least one year of integral calculus and one year of physics.

Those selected by the Director of the Division of Naval Reactors will be enlisted in the Naval Reserve and will attend a short indoctrination course in Washington, D.C.

Upon completion of the course, they will be ordered to the Naval Reserve location nearest their home for duty purposes while they complete their college education, receiving full "E-3" pay and allowances, which are subject to the restriction of a maximum of two dependents, unless waivers are granted for cases such as child support or alimony from previous marriages.

Candidates are also subject to physical requirements of the "Unrestricted Line."

After graduation, candidates are immediately assigned to the first available Officers' Candidate School class at Newport.

Grasty, FTU Vice President for Community Relations, with a check for $125 for the purchase of a portable microfiche reader to be made available to students who are handicapped in their mobility. Students receiving the reader also will receive from the FTU Library a complete set of library listings on microfiche which will be updated every quarter of the year. The reader will be assigned to a student as long as he is enrolled at FTU, permitting him to select reading material from his home. (FTU Official Photo.)

Rights are a funny thing. When a person obtains rights he may seldom use them. When that same person doesn't have rights he wants them. When America was still a colony, it fought England to have representation in government. America's Founding Fathers decided that a few people decide who will represent them from the local and state level, right up to the white house. Yet, there are many people who feel the same way. Many people are quick to judge and condemn when any elected official turns out to do a job, or does not represent his constituents in the manner they want them to.

After America became a nation, the Founding Fathers set about establishing a government. The government was supposed to be the people, and the people were supposed to be the government. This was a time when the people who were running for office really worked to get down votes. The liquor ran freely, and the speech was eloquent at election time. The voter expected to be treated by the office seeker to liquor, free lodging or food. It was a time when the voter felt that the office seeker should be voted for on the chance that the voter felt that voting was a privilege to be highly regarded.

Today, there are no requirements to vote except residency and citizenship laws. Yet, when property requirements were in effect in early America, it was against the law not to vote at all possible. Voting was the way Americans wanted the system to work, and voting was used.

When Student Government holds elections, ads are placed in the \textit{Forum}. Stories are run about elections and candidates. Posters are placed all over the school by office seekers who want the vote of the students. Yet the majority of the students seem oblivious to the announcements. And the ones who do know that there is an election do not see it as something that they need to do.

Out of thousands of FTU students, 330 showed up to vote at the SG elections last week. Thank goodness there is another opportunity for each voter to reconsider his apathy. SG elections were contested and will be rescheduled in the near future. It is important that each person remember his privilege and even his duty to vote. It is the way America was founded and built. One vote on the basis of voting, America will either grow or die.

\textbf{Student Complain of SG Elections}

Editors, I really don't feel like doing anything. It's the weather. I'm suffocating from a fever in early fall. It's a bad time to feel this way because I've got exams to study for and cartooning to do and a column to write. Maybe I just don't want to do it. I have a bell of a time finding things to write about anyway. Nobody cares about what I'm writing.

The reason of the staff is having the same problem. Our news editor has to dig to find stories to assign to our crack reporters. The photo editor sends in a story about the weather. There was an obvious communication gap during the elections. The problem seems to be that the Student Government isn't making a name for itself among the students. It seems to be too tied up with the administration and worrying if its rules are phrased correctly. Also, when it does sponsor events, it just doesn't get the coverage it deserves. And what the Student Government is sponsoring the event. I think "What has the Student Government done for me?" is the attitude too many students take. I wonder how many of them would answer negatively or say nothing.

Don't take my word for it. Investigate. Take an opinion poll or something. There are many vocal students who feel that the SG is not a real organization but a club of professors we probably will do something of in the middle of the "feeling". He didn't know exactly what it was a statue of, however. So we sat around trying to decide what he would be most appropriate. We finally agreed upon a fat cherub, balanced on the toes of one foot, spouting water from puckered lips. But there really wasn't a story in that.

Another reporter suggested that I do a column about one of the lecherous (well, one in particular, actually) professors we have here at swinging Tech. He probably will do something of that sort in the future, but it will have to wait until I have the time to do a little investigating.

Kathy (our editor) told me there is going to be a 10 per cent hike in the price of something...I forget what. I guess I don't remember because I'm really not surprised at a 10 per cent hike in the price of anything. Besides, I've already done a column about 10 per cent hikes.

That's about the extent of what is happening. But just you watch, the minute I turn this in to be proofread and set in type there will be a massive strike through the third floor of the administration building.

Hey...that's an idea!

\textbf{We Need Some Policy}

By Dana Eagles

Pardon-plagued Gerald Ford and his troops of economy-plagued advisors have at last revealed the long-awaited plan to restore order to fiscal chaos, hold unemployment at its present level, cut the rate of inflation by early next year, return the spirit of resourcefulness and thrift, lighten everyone's belt, and secure a balanced budget by 1981.

It became apparent to many that Ford wasn't shooting to kill, but that the poison dart had backfired and was heading directly for Middle America. Those returning to the scene of the crimes were disappointed by the media's spin doctors and established the motive as political stop-gapping rather than malice.
Vegetarism Suggested

The practice of eating animals is causing suffering and death to animals, to us through meat-related disease, to the planet through the accumulation of insecticides, and to the twenty million who will starve to death this year.

Vegetarians Leonardo Da Vinci, Leo Tolstoy, G. B. Shaw, Francis of Assisi, Gandhi, Thoreau, and millions of others have refrained from eating meat because it is an innocent slaughtered animal, unjustly raised only to be butchered and eaten. Ethical vegetarians believe that the eating of meat violates reverence for life, nonviolence, and the spark of soul in everything that creeps and crawls.

Every pound of meat represents twenty-one pounds of grain and grass fed to the animal. Cows, pigs, and sheep are protein factories in reverse. Henry Kissinger, Edward Kennedy, Hubert Humphrey, The New York Times, The Washington Post, and churches everywhere are asking Americans to cut down or meat out of the concept of feed the hungry. The world has only twenty-seven days of grain stored.

The American Cancer Society has labeled meat the No. one cause of intestinal cancer. The American Heart Association has linked animal fat to America's soaring rate of cardiovascular disease, since meat eaters' heartbeats are 72 per minute on average, while vegetarians are at 60. Vegetarians get life insurance from their Life Insurance companies.

We are a 24,000 member group with no paid employees. If you can help as a vegetarian organizer, or if you are interested in free information on the ethics, ecology, or health of meatlessness, write Box 5484.

Sincerely,

Patterson Shriver, Laman, Tults, Klein, Post, Yost, Adams, Woddford, etc.

FTU Republicans Elect New President

By John Bridges

PTU College Republicans have elected Rob Vieira president of the organization for the upcoming year. Vieira succeeds Monte Shoemaker, who served as interim president through the summer.

Also elected to office were John Kelley, vice president and Susan Karrick, correspondence secretary.

The new president said the organization's purpose is to get students involved in helping the Republican party and local candidates and inform voters in general.

Vieira added that the last figures he saw indicated 27 percent of registered voters were Republican and that there is "no better time for young Republicans to assert themselves." The Republicans hold regular weekly meetings and members are open to students with the only charge being $1 per quarter.

The FTU Republicans this past weekend hosted the Florida College Republican Federation Executive Board and Committee meetings.

Co-Op Program Provides Benefits

by Marcy Muramatsu

The Cooperative Education (Co-Op) program at FTU is a balanced, educational program enabling the student to "blend theory and practice." Students participating in the program combine periods of study with periods of on-the-job training in positions that relate as closely as possible to his studies and interests.

The Co-Op program at FTU is directed by T. F. "Ted" Boydel, with Frank Simmons acting as assistant project director.

Simmons said, "We have students all over the United States. Currently, about 250 students from FTU are connected with our program." Since its beginnings in the fall of 1969, Simmons continued, "the program has grossed over $1 million.

Salaries are set by the individual companies and concerns cooperating. The financial assistance which results can be of great help to the expenses of a college education—it is often these funds which make the education possible.

The Co-Op program benefits both the student and to the employer. Students gain on-the-job experience, personal and professional growth, a wider job choice and better salary offers upon graduation.

Flu Shot Offered

By Pat Strange

Have you had your flu shot?

Safety and Health officer James K. Eller, FTU medical director Dr. Stoner are concerned about the number of students who have not taken advantage of the flu shots which they have already paid for.

Faculty and staff members should also take advantage of the vaccine available at the Health Center. The cost to them is $2. When obtained from a private doctor, the cost can be as high as $10.

After the vaccine is administered, it sometimes takes weeks before an individual becomes immune. As the flu season is not far away, said Eller, the shots should be taken as soon as possible.

Eller said students are taking a big chance if they do not get the shots. With the flu you can easily lose two weeks of classes, which would put you so far behind, you could never catch up.

Eller said, “Suppose a senior who is to graduate this quarter should get the flu and have to drop out of classes because of time lost. He might have a job waiting for him at $150 per week. If he loses 10 weeks (one quarter) that’s $1,500 he’s lost.”

The best time to get the shots is between one p.m. and 11 p.m.

The vaccine, known as Fluzone, is effective on type B, representative of type A, Port Chalmers and Hong Kong strains of flu, Eller said.

According to Eller, an outbreak of flu approaching epidemic proportions, has been reported in the state of Georgia. “Anything that gets as far south as Georgia,” said Eller, “comes to Florida on vacation.”

Eller said students are taking a big chance if they do not get the shots.

Hundreds of students have already taken advantage of the free shots, but Eller and Dr. Stoner would like to see each student at FTU get them before the flu season strikes.

Record Reviews

By Mike Berman

It's sure good to be back in the south again. Never realized how much I missed the warmth of the south.

Now that I'm fond of the weirdness that this part of the state has to offer, you can see why.

It was a bit cloudy, but I still went out for a walk.

The fact that the south supports the leading sounds in music today brings this area its recognition.

From Elvis to Little Richard, the south has been seen as a major influence on music eras.

Money is a security measure against crime.

An Anthology Vol. 11 Duane Allman

There's no way I could write an un-biased review on the balls of Duane Allman, I pretend to.

There has never been before a more dynamic, involving guitarist. From his early days at Daytona Beach with the Allman Brothers Band to his death, he was the epitome of the south.

Duane's shone through as a master on furious lead riffs as well as his wailing slide solo.

The album includes a lot of great blues with Arno Franklin, Otis Rush and Wilson Pickard's "Born To Be Wild."

Duane handles vocals on two cuts from the double album, (I wasn't exactly his specialty) and there are four songs with all of the Brothers: "Midnight Rider," "Dimples," (one of Duane's vocals), "Leave My Baby At Home" and "Done Somebody Wrong," off of their classic live album, "Fillmore East."

On October 29, 1971, Duane turned on his head and fell out of his car, which turned into front on him. He died three hours later in emergency surgery.

The hand held together behind the genius of the Duane - influenced Dickey Betts and are still connected by lots of the southern tradition.

Facts Don't Fail Me Now Little Feat

Warner Brothers BSK2704

The second album of the rockin' country group known as "Little Feat" should be accepted as readily as their debut album of 1971.

The simple, southern lyrics of the group bring out its mellowness, but can still really move in such cuts as "Rock and Roll Doctor."

Bill Payne continues to set the pace in dynamic piano runs.

The album is filled with brilliantly arranged percussion by Sam Clayton and a lead bass player, Ken Gradney.

The second side of the LP includes the title cut and chances for Richie Hayward to come through on drum solos.

The album remains simple, presenting a collection of some good, lazy listening music, and some moving country rock.

Let It Flow Elvin Bishop Captain Crocken Records CP 0134

Let It Flow shows great progress and development in a truly country rock sound. Elvin Bishop supplies lead vocals and alternates between electric acoustic and slide guitar with Johnny Vernazza.

Side one turns into an involving album, with "Honeysuckle" a cut of pounding piano riffs.

Then Elvin Bishop really reaches down south, straining his vocal wires to reach a low country drawl.

Watermelon's starts off with a furious exchange of lead guitar, then develops into solos of alternating slide guitar and piano.

The group adds another layer of instruments, with Mike Berman.

Pink Floyd Reviewed

By Mike Cerni

Pink Floyd is a unique group of musicians. Their style is hardly defined and the majority of their music has no actual cohesive element. It is more of a reflection of man's primal instincts and modes.

They do not labor themselves with the more traditional process of music making, but then again can not be classified as jazz artists. Their music is what the "over 40" generation might label "acid rock".

Instead of turning sound into music, they take sound and turn it into emotion. (Or no,se, depending on which generation you belong to.)

In concert, Pink Floyd has to be experienced to be realized. Their tour of the United States last year following the release of their highly successful (and still very popular) album, "Dark Side of the Moon", left even the most veteran of concert goers in a wide-eyed stupor.

Their quadrupedic speaker arrangement and the artful use of synthesizers, sound effects and lights, made their "22 hour" one of the most talked about in recent years.

If they could do what they did on stage, just think what they could do with a full length motion picture.

Well, even the greatest artists have their limitations, and Pink Floyd, I'm afraid to say, has theirs.

Pink Floyd is the type of group one goes to hear instead of to see. Their music stirs the imagination of their limitations, and needs to be realized. (If you belong to.)

Musicians.

Their music is what the public image.

Instead of transforming the music into a visual art, which should have been a creatively easy thing to do considering the variety and inventiveness of the music, the band around the camera at itself, and in an apparently egotistic manner, performs the music.

The movie second more of a public relations effort, or even more, like an hour of a half message to their fans, complete with candid shots of the stars eating dinner. "If I have another slice I'll throw the crust" and dubbing tracks on cuts from "Dark Side of the Moon" ("I'm not too loud is it?")

Most of the music was performed in an ancient amphitheater. (Fortunately, if I'm not mistaken) and the recording was a decent.

Of course the soundtrack was mixed down into mono which was a major drawback.

If Pink Floyd decides to make another movie, I hope it isn't another mini-concert. I didn't exactly relish the idea of paying three bills to see a remake of something I had paid six to see previously.

It would be interesting to see a film with a bit more creativity and imagination, something that I'm sure Pink Floyd is not short of.

FTU President Charles N. Millican accepts $50 check for the FTU scholarship fund from Wayne T. Hardy, Consul for the local chapter of Sigma Chi fraternity. The chapter received the check from the Sigma Chi Foundation in recognition of its top ranking nationally, in educational programs, objectives and results. Along with the money was the Peterson Significant Chapter Award for the chapter’s programs and activities. It marked the first time a first year chapter has been so honored. Watching the presentation is Dr. Henry Kennedy, FTU chapter advisor.

FTU President Charles N. Millican right, presents the “Grand High Alpha Award” to Joe DeSalvo, president of the local chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha. The FTU chapter was named one of the top three chapters in the nation. The award is given annually to chapters that have at least three years of continuous excellence. The FTU chapter is the youngest chapter to win the award. Joining the two presidents for the presentation is Larry Matthews, FTU chapter advisor.

Last week was a busy one for the Sigs. On Friday night everyone had a great time at Rollins College when they had a social with the Phi Mu’s. A number of brothers and little sisters got together for a beach party at New Smyrna on Sunday afternoon. Their first pledge meeting was held Sunday night. The brothers greeted 18. Their football team was busy with games with Chi Phi and TKE. Tonight they will be getting together with the TYES for a social at the Melody Skating Rock. The annual Halloween Party will be on Oct. 26th.

Kappa Sigma

Kappa Sigma held its first pledging ceremony of the fall quarter Sunday night. Pledges and brothers will be working together towards a hopeful initiation after the pledge period. Chapter consultant Tom Damico recently spent four days observing chapter activities and offering helpful advice. Tom spent an enjoyable last night in Orlando at Kappa Sig’s spaghetti dinner.

The chapter won third prize in the “Blazer Banner Night” at the Blazer-Philadelphia Ball game. The prize winning entry was a replica of the Blazer’s insignia.

Videotape Made By Cutcher

By Marcia Muramatsu

What thoughts run through the mind of a dying man? Laurence Wyatt, who teaches the English course “Death and Dying” at FTU recorded a one-hour videotape this summer of the thoughts and emotions of terminally ill faculty member Leonard Cutcher.

Cutcher, of the College of Business Administration’s Accountability Department, died Oct. 5 of cancer of the throat and lungs.

Wyatt said he and Cutcher met as a result of a call from one of Cutcher’s colleagues. Cutcher had heard about the “Death and Dying” class and in essence “put himself at my disposal,” Wyatt said.

As for the history, Cutcher underwent an annual physical, and complained of a sore throat, Wyatt said. He was referred to a specialist, who informed him that he had inoperable cancer of the throat and lungs. He was told that he had a maximum of 18 months to live.

“Even his first reaction was not one of escape,” Wyatt continued. “He immediately began to put his affairs in order. He took care of everything—the insurance, even his own funeral arrangements.”

He was fully ready to die—then realized that maybe he was putting death off. Wyatt said. Although he knew death was inevitable he began struggling to stretch the time span. The only thing he gave up was mowing the lawn.

“He continued to be intellectually vigorous,” said Wyatt. “I was most impressed by his honesty. He didn’t deny what was happening—he was an exceptional man.”

Wyatt also emphasized Cutcher’s great sense of humor. Cutcher said some people were embarrassed when confronted by the knowledge of his death, but Wyatt said he even joked about it to out people at a time. “Cutcher loved teaching—he always wanted to help students in any way he could. That’s why he wanted to make the tape,” Wyatt explained. “The only stipulation the tape was made under was that it would never be used commercially.”

The tape which has not been shown publicly yet will soon be reviewed by Wyatt’s “Death and Dying” class.

Wyatt said Cutcher answered all the questions put to him honestly and openly. Cutcher said he did not believe in life after death, and wasn’t afraid of what lay ahead.

“I believe he wasn’t afraid, because of the way he answered the questions,” Wyatt said. In reference to Cutcher’s sense of humor, Wyatt said, “If I didn’t use the tape only for academic use, Cutcher swore he’d be back to haunt me.”

The following is a letter to Hunter Pati, Student President of the FTU Elections Commission, forwarded to the FTU Student Senate.

Dear Hunter,

We the Elections Commission would like to explain to you and the students of FTU our reasons for retaining the Fall Senate elections. We have carefully examined the operation of the election, and have discovered numerous problem areas. In our judgement the election did not meet the standards which the students can rightfully expect.

The statutory violations have already been outlined in our official report. But certain other areas, while not clear violations of the elections statutes, were important causes of the problems encountered. The Elections Commission was not instituted until late in the organization of the election. This made it impossible to follow the schedule called for by that statute, since the commission was not made up of all members of the Student Government cabinet. They were involved in other Student Government activities, and found it difficult to keep close watch over the election procedures.

Some, before learning of their appointment to the commission had been actively involved in promoting individual candidates. Finally, the statute was being used for the first time and there was a lack of understanding of its meaning.

We would like to make it very clear that we have found no evidence that these violations were purposeful. There were simply errors made in a good faith effort to operate an election under difficult circumstances. In light of this we would like to recommend improvements in procedure which will produce a more legitimate election.

A new Elections Commission should be created including some individuals not currently involved in Student Government. All statutory provisions should be adhered to. The slate was to be made up of student Senators whose activities are more heavily trafficked by students. In the future, the Student Senate should amend its statutes to avoid misunderstanding and confusion. In future elections the Elections Commission should be appointed well in advance of the election.

We hope that all students will understand that this action represents a positive attempt by members of Student Government to provide the kind of representation which the students of the university deserve and urgently require.

Winless Week For FTU Soccer

Knights Lose To FIU; Tie Georgia Tech

by Pete Haas

FTU met Florida International University last Thursday afternoon in the first of three games. FTU found itself in a tough position when they lost the first game of the season, but they showed some signs of a tempo of the game early. The FTU goalie, Winston DuBose, made several saves and showed some good goalkeeping skills. However, FIU was able to score on FTU's goalies, with Eddie Perez scoring the first goal of the game.

FIU continued their attack and scored several goals in the first half. Although FTU was able to score two goals in the second half, they were not able to overcome the 3-0 lead taken by FIU. The game was a hard-fought battle, with both teams displaying excellent defense. However, FIU was able to take home the victory.

By Pat Murray

Although they outplayed the Sunblazers on a goal by FIU, the FTU soccer team had to settle for a 1-1 tie. The Knights held their own against the powerful Sunblazers, with FTU's goalie, Winston DuBose, making several saves.

The tie left FTU's season in doubt, but they are actively seeking new opponents to ensure they have a successful season. FTU's coaching staff is working hard to improve the team's performance, with the hope of winning ten games this season.

Flying Boleto

Winston DuBose, FTU’s “Flying Boleto”

If you happen to pass by the soccer field some afternoon and you hear the noise from the Cliff, it’s Winston DuBose, known as the “Flying Boleto,” practicing his juggling and throwing skills.

DuBose is a talented athlete who has been a part of the FTU soccer team for several years. He has displayed quickness and form that are essential for a soccer goalie. DuBose attributes his success to the fine play of all his teammates, the coaching of Rudy, and several drills used to improve his technique.

DuBose feels that quickness and form are two essentials for success as a soccer goalie. He believes that his quickness will develop with time and that his technique is the key to success.

The Knights play a tough schedule this fall, with opponents such as Florida International and Florida Tech. However, DuBose is confident that the team can improve with time and effort.

If you're out by the soccer field this fall, take in his act. It's far from a circus.
