Students Oppose Health Insurance

By Kerry Paeone

Students at Florida Technological University oppose having a health insurance that is not voluntary.

In a recent survey, nine out of ten students interviewed opposed FTU’s present insurance policy. A similar survey by the Sentinel Star revealed that 17 of 20 students were against a nonvoluntary plan.

Those who opposed the plan said they were covered by their own plans.

Nader Biglari, a sophomore electrical engineering major, said he was required to purchase health insurance before entering the United States. Biglari is a former exchange student.

Cam Pyle, a freshman journalism major, said a fee to support the health center is all right. He said he was against paying for an independent insurance he didn’t need.

A sophomore general studies major, Becky Melton, said the insurance fee was waived because she had her own policy. But when she was informed her classes would be canceled if she did not pay the fee, she said, “I don’t think it’s good for persons who think they are already covered.”

Mrs. Dagun said she had planned to take legal action until she learned attorneys’ fees could exceed $1,000.

But according to Hunter Potts, Student Government president, students are not required to buy health insurance; they are required to pay a health fee. The school is buying the insurance.

“I would say it is legal,” he said.

If a student fails to pay the $8 insurance fee, he said, the policy will be perfectly legitimate. Potts said full time students have always been covered by insurance. The money was taken from activities and service fees before universities were allowed to charge health fees.

“We would not be able to come near the cost for additional doctors and registred nurses,” Potts said. The insurance makes up for the health center’s deficiencies.

Potts said students had not been asked if they wanted the insurance because the program was initiated by the State Farm Bureau Insurance Agency before the University opened in 1968. He said the Student Government had not tried to change the program because there has never been any objection.

Mrs. Dagun noted that most students probably do not care if the insurance policy is legal or not. They do not want to get involved in a legal confrontation or chance being dismissed from the University.

Dave Gamas, a junior electronics engineering major, said he did not think the insurance was really legal. But $8 is not worth arguing about.

Ll. Smith said the Navy Command has discussed the insurance program with the administration. “FTU will not bond,” he said.

Smith said the Navy will probably not pursue the issue because $8 is not worth the trouble.

Potts said few persons have expressed any dissatisfaction with the health center or the insurance policy. The policy could be changed because one student opposes it. “We are in a position to serve the majority,” he said.

Potts urges anyone who strongly feels the insurance is illegal to take it to court.

The flowers are azaleas, and the girl is Ms. Ana Maile, an FTU junior majoring in anthropology. Ms. Maile captured the title “Queen of the Azalea Festival” in Palatka last weekend, and is also the reigning Miss College Park and Miss Tangerine Bowl.

Library Hours Shortened

Library hours have been shortened during the spring quarter. Beginning March 31, Director of Libraries Lynn Walker indicated the cut was necessary due to the shortage of other personnel (O.P.S.) funds needed for staffing the library. Walker expects that the cuts which have been made during the latter periods of library usage, will suffice for the entire quarter, but that additional cuts may become necessary.

Usual holiday hours will be observed during the spring break.

Opens at 2:00 p.m.

INVEST Program Re-funds

By John Bridges

FTU’s INVEST (Individual Volunteer Employment of Senior Citizens) project has been re-funded for another year, totaling $9.7 million dollars to be covered by a nationwide level.

The program is co-sponsored with the Orange County Adult Education Office, a “Job you want!” workshop at the Orlando Public Library auditorium next Thursday and Friday (20th and 21st) from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

The workshop will be repeated during the same hours on March 24th and 25th at the Webster Education Center, across from the Winter Park Mall. Residents to be covered include tips on the preparation of resumes, writing, and how to approach job hunting in a positive manner.

In addition, INVEST is providing further continuing education for senior citizen groups to turn a mechanism where retirees can be educated, trained, or redirected to help fill needed manpower shortages in either clerical or volunteer areas.

The program also will attempt to coordinate the needs of businesses and senior citizens with available older citizen talent.

INVEST officials hope to stimulate the future involvement of those persons for continuing mutual benefits.

‘Lenny’ Joins The Greats

All the truly great movies, it seems, have been in black and white. From "The Jazz Singer" starring Al Jolson, to such classics as "Casablanca" with Humphrey Bogart, to current movies as "The Last Picture Show" directed by Peter Bogdanovich. It seems as though black and white films have somehow transmitted an aura of importance. The latest addition to the greats is "Lenny," directed by Bob Fosse. ‘Lenny’ is a film about Lenny Bruce, a comedian who said what he wanted to say. His philosophy was that an obscene word would not be offensive if it was repeated until it was no longer noticed. Lenny started as a two-bit comic in small clubs until he let loose one evening with a few offensive gags. He was arrested numerous times on obscenity charges and convicted in most cases. Lenny died of a drug overdose in 1966.

Dustin Hoffman outacts himself as Lenny. He portrays Lenny the comic, Lenny the father, Lenny the lawyer, all with an enthusiasm which makes one want to believe he is watching the original Lenny Bruce. Valerie Perrine is Honey Bruce, Lenny's stripper wife. Ms. Perrine is given a chance to shine more than just a pretty face in this movie and grasp at it. She plays Honey Bruce with a wide range of emotions and feelings about Lenny.

This movie is unique not only in its performances by the stars and its subject matter, but also in the scripting.

Spirit Awards

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics Wednesday presented "Spirit Awards" to Chi Phi, a fraternity, and Tye's, a sorority, as best supporters for the basketball team during their 1974-75 season. The reason to the size of the microfiche. It is a transparent card four by six inches in size. It has a reduction of 42 to one. This means there are about 350 frames on each card.

Foy estimates that the FTU library has over 130,000 items on microfiche.

The largest part of the collection is the Educational Resources Information Center (ERIC) Collection. This is used primarily by the students in the College of Education.

Foy said the purpose of this particular program is to acquire abstract and index educational resources so that the educational community is aware of what is happening and to provide an inexpensive but efficient method of publishing full-size documents for dissemination.

Microfiche is a system of ever greater efficiency, it is possible with the standard microfilm. A 35 mm to one reduction makes it possible to put more than 3,000 pages on a four by six sheet of fiche.

Another microform is the aperture card. This is a 3% to 7% data processing card with a cutout for holding a microfilm. Aside from the most obvious advantage of microfiches, more information in a smaller space, they also last longer paper.

Recent developments in film means that it will last as long as 100 percent rag stock paper. Ragstock paper is claimed to last a life of hundreds of years.

The name microfiche comes from the French word 'fiche' meaning index card.

The microfilm is usually 16 or 35 mm and is on microfiche. The microfilm is usually 16 or 35 mm and is on microfiches, and the microfiche is usually 16 or 35 mm and is on microfiches.
Dr. Ed Wycoff teaching Business Communication, once joked that students could use anything from elephants to dancing girls if it tied in with their presentation. Tom Ashlock took him seriously, and Wednesday brought in a 1600 pound Brahma bull to "class." His pitch? To sell his classmates on the idea of raising prize bulls. (Photo by Fred Sommers).

AD HOC COMMITTEE FORMED

An Ad Hoc Committee for Mobility Impaired and Handicapped Students has been created on campus, to identify the needs of handicapped students attending FTU, and to recommend ways in which the University can facilitate those needs. The committee, chaired by Dr. Robert Laird of the College of Natural Sciences, is charged with the responsibilities of submitting an outline of the University's responsibilities, recommending action, and locating sources of assistance for such students.

EUROPEAN ART TOUR ORGANIZED

Mr. William Orr is organizing a summer tour of Europe primarily for art students, to leave Orlando June 16 and to return sometime between July 8 and July 31.

Orr, who is organizing the tour through the Department of Art, describes the expedition as a "circle tour," hitting the major museums and contemporary galleries in Amsterdam, Antwerp, Paris, Madrid, Rome, Florence and Venice. There will also be an option to return to England at the end of the tour for the remaining three weeks.

Cost for the tour will range from $1050 to $1290, depending on accommodations.

Orr is available for information at 339-8457.

SEMINAR PLANNED

Problem drinking and drug use at all levels of society will be examined March 24-25 during a seminar at FTU co-sponsored by the National Committee for the Prevention of Alcoholism and Drug Abuse.

The annual program, which will consist of study groups and general sessions, is designed for concerned citizens in the professions and any others interested in community improvement through treatment and rehabilitation of those afflicted with alcoholism and drug addiction.

Dr. Charles M. Unkovic, Sociology Chairman and co-director of the seminar, announced a full slate of speakers from government, education, religion, medicine and law enforcement, who will provide insights and offer solutions to drug and drinking problems in the home, at school and on the job.

Members of the community who are interested in attending the seminar may get information on registration by contacting FTU's Office of Educational Conferences, phone 275-2123.

It is high time that the FTU student is told just what he is paying for. When he pays an $8 health fee each quarter. by now, most students have become aware that $3.30 of this quarter's payment is used to purchase a health insurance plan for that student. What he doesn't know is just what the plan covers and how effective it is.

The complaint most frequently heard is insurance claim said that a number of students are either misinformed or not informed about the insurance. This is the fault of the administration. The FTU has never been able to get too much straight talk about the insurance plan. Let's look at it in operation.

I personally had a doctor bill including office visits, x-rays and laboratory tests which totalled $216.00 for my private physician and then went to file the claim. I received a $3 check. This was because I failed to realize that in order to get any more than $15 for any one items, you are required to first go to the health center (unless it is a$140.00) and be referred. The doctor in the Health Service must treat you if he is able if not, you may be referred to a private physician. Take that to mean that there is not much of a chance to see the doctor free. If there is not a prescription of mine. she wrote to the insurance company as was asked if she could calculate the necessary prescription by making her. I even if she did she was unable to recover most of the money she had put out in bills.

If this is true enough the insurance plan does not necessarily cover a lot of important and expensive costs such as medications and operation. The real problem seems to be that no one is sure what just what it will cover. Apparently the original brochure that was sent out to the students last September is not a complete and all encompassing list. Only the Health Center can answer individual question.

Can we be done? Student Government President, Hunter Potts, has urged student to take this matter to court. A petition, which a high percentage of the student body has signed, is to be sent to the government in order to have the plan cancelled. However, it would be a lot of work of you may not know of the details.

The Board met last week the University of West Florida and from what I understand, it was quite a circus. Several students spoke against the increase (tacitly approve from the audience), but the Board approved the proposal anyway (among boos and hisses) by a vote of 7-2.

This vote is by no means final. It still has to be approved by the legislature and the governor. If it does receive that approval it would be effective immediately. Students would therefore be paying $1.50 more an hour.

The decrease of health insurance cost was $2.00 more per hour for treatments. $2.00 more for juniors and seniors, and $1.00 more for graduate students and $5.50 more for graduate thesis or dissertation.

This graduated scale is the Board's attempt to forces students for 30 percent of their cost of their education. So they figure it out twice as much to educate upper level students as lower level, 3 times as much to educate graduate students, etc.

As for out of state students, the Board wants to increase their tuition over a period of a couple of years until they are paying 10 percent of the cost of their education! This could be anywhere from $15 less per quarter to $156 more.

Another recent economic move which may affect the university in Governor Askew's budget proposal. In one part of the proposal, Askew calls for the elimination of 1,500 positions in areas other than government departments, mainly through a cut in the corrections division. It is very likely that some of these 1,500 positions will come from education primarily university faculty members.

Now, according to Vice President of Business Affairs, John Greve, we are discussing a system which would be a '9 for 9' ratio. Every person that is included in the budget, within the line items, needs to be counted.

As for the senate education committee, they reported that State fund education is not the same for upper level students as lower level. The difference is that the upper level students are paying $250 more than the lower level students.

If you disagree with any of these proposals, I would urge you to write to me expressing your thoughts. The BOR isn't really answerable to voters, but politicians are.

Can She Sell?

Editor:

"Can I sell?" your broker asks in the March 7 solicitation for Future advertising representatives.

Just let me prove it. Why, all I ask is that the Future give me the chance to prove I'm a real hustler with definite "sales ability." I'm sure I could "exhibit sufficient ability" to "make contacts in the business community" and I have even had experience laying out display ads.

I'm sure that both you and your organization could "gain valuable experience" from the arrangement and I'll just have the chance to "make money in my spare time." Why, an $800 commission is more than I could make in a fortnight.

Thank you, thank you so much for showing me and the rest of the female population where our true talents lie (or are laid). We who have scorned the Mr. for madam thank you for once again laying to rest the myth that even in responsible publications women are no more than sex objects. From the bottom of our little feet to the top of our little know-nothings heads, we salute you for once again realizing women are better at some things than men.

Affectionately yours,

Melanie Bowman

Gratiss II Makes Debut

By Vicki Blaschfield

Greatest satisfaction from making others miserable. At the conclusion of the slightly drawn out presentation, the three laughingly come to the realization that, "hell is just other people." Combination excerpts from Ray Bradbury's works form the basis for the next portion of Gratiss II, entitled "The Unlimited Future," under the direction of Pat Flanagan. This play is a Baghdad Theatre, where the mood and thrust of the entire production is achieved solely by the author's performance. No scenery is involved. The audience views a somewhat abstract presentation of the future, where the consequences of space travel and machine-dominated households are common. A cry for the future preservation of mankind is apparently the ultimate theme of the production. The talented singing and guitar playing of director Pat Flanagan is the highlight of the presentation, providing an excellent transitional music within the play itself.

The final segment of the night's entertainment is "Passion Poem and Petrifaction," featuring Bernard Shaw's satirical picture of passion and murder in 1965. The comedy is directed by Marilyn Cox, with exceptional performances received from stage veteran Mary Monroe and Duch Atkin, who portray lovers whose affair is suddenly snuffed out when her villainous husband jealously poison his competitor. However, he soon develops second thoughts after the deadly drug is administered, and in an effort to regain his wife's devotion, seeks to find a suitable anesthetic for the poison. The ensuing escapades provide pleasant entertainment for theatregoers, as vain attempts are made to preserve the victim's life, and a recurrent barbershop quartet melody adds humor to the production.

Brian Lommo projects himself extremely well as the jealous husband, in his PTU stage premieres. Curtain time for Gratiss II is 8:30 tonight and Saturday night, in the Science Auditorium and admission is free.

ART ASSOCIATION
ORGANIZED

A new organization, the FTU Art Association (SATRA), has been formed to promote interest in the fine arts. Recently recognized as a campus organization by the Student Government, SATRA plans to promote exchanging art exhibits with other universities, guest speakers and a calendar listing art exhibits and activities of art centers in and around Orlando. Long range plans include obtaining samples from all art mediums and possibly a scholarship fund. A spring art show for PTU students is also being considered. Currently, there are 20 active members in SATRA. Anyone interested in art may join. There are no eligibility requirements or dues to pay.

Meetings are held every other Thursday at noon in the Drawing Studio on the third floor of the Humanities and Fine Arts building. Further information may be obtained by contacting Donna Volland at 108-3426.

The current exhibit in the lobby of the FTU library was prepared by those staff members and former students of FTU.

The Fantasy Art portion of the exhibit was done by Eleonore Hernandez. They are watercolors, pen and ink and scratchboard. The drawings are takeoffs from fairy tales. Hernandez graduated from FTU in graphic design. Hernandez has also been a student assistant before graduation in the Instructional Media department where she is now employed full time. She has been drawing for about a year.

David Retherford did the wood sculpture of a mushroom. He is an aspiring book illustrator. Retherford has been a part time Art instructor at Lake Sumter Community College for the past two years. He received his B.A. in Art Education and is currently working on an MAE.

The wood sculpture of a mushroom was done by John Findell, who is also an employee of the Instructional Media.

Findell was a student assistant for two years. He received his B.A. in Art in June, 1973. Findell works in the photo lab and said he was “dabbled in just about everything on campus.”

Findell’s photos are of Cypress trees.

Hernandez said she is a aspiring book illustrator. She is currently doing the drawings for a book entitled “The Birth of Mary” written by Laura Lee Hines.

Retherford has been a part time Art instructor at Lake Sumter Community College for the past two years.

NO PIZZA? – Engrossed in booklets about La Dolce Vida, the FTU students hope they can accompany Dr. Anthony V. Cervone to Urbino, Italy in June, for a 7-week study-travel tour. Enjoying the wishful thinking are (from left) Sal Godinho, Roberta Wellman, Liana and Andria Ioffredo, and Chuck Fazio. Dr. Cervone asks that any student interested in the summer study trip contact him in foreign languages department for details.

Jury Study Conducted
By Comm. Department

The FTU Communication department is conducting a study to determine if instructions read to jurors by the judge are clearly understood.

According to Judge David Straw of the 15th Judicial circuit, many judges and lawyers agree that jurors probably do not fully understand the content of these instructions. The language tends to be highly technical.

Dr. Raymond Buchanan, Dr. Albert Pryor and Dr. K. Phillip Taylor are working with Straw to determine where problems exist. The ultimate goal is to improve the instructions.

Buchanan said he has been attending court sessions and interviewing potential jurors to gather information for the questionnaire used in the study. The experiment consists of playing a video tape of Straw reading jury instructions as he would in a court session to potential jurors. A control group that does not hear the instructions is also selected. Then a comprehension test is administered to both groups and the results are compared.

The subjects for the interview and experiment are selected on Fridays when it is not possible for them to serve on a jury.

Buchanan said the purpose of the study is to improve communication between the judge and the jury. If the present instructions prove to be difficult to understand it may be necessary to reduce the amount of material, give written instructions to the jurors or rewrite them in simpler language.

Hard luck has struck Mike Shivers. The senior heavyweight was a six-time Colorado 167-pound champion, a four-time national plebe, and an All-American last season. The 167-pound titling event was a close one for the Florida State Wonderful. Mike couldn't hold on to the lead when they meet for another shot at national supremacy.

The bucks, led by a left-handed wrestler with a classic style, turned the tables on Shivers in the final moments of the match. Shivers, who had established a 3-2 lead in the opening round, saw his advantage slip away in the closing seconds. The outcome was a testament to the competitive nature of wrestling, where every minute counts.

Despite the loss, Shivers maintained his poise and composure. He acknowledged the importance of each match, stating, "Every match is crucial. Winning this battle can set the stage for future contests." His dedication to the sport was evident in his preparation and approach, which he believed contributed to his success.

For the remainder of the season, Shivers will focus on recovering and regrouping. He plans to attend various tournaments and work closely with his coaching staff to identify areas for improvement. "I'm looking forward to the next matches," he said, "and I believe I can make a strong comeback."
Netters Hit Slump Drop 7-2 Decisions

By Joe De Salvo

"Sappy tennis"? That's how FTU tennis coach Lex Wood describes type of tennis his Knights are presently performing. FTU coming off an easy 9-2 win over FAU, did a complete 180 turn about this week as it dropped identical 7-2 decisions to Appalachian State and Pennsylvania International University (UPI) at home.

The Knights, trying to shake off the early season slump, played like yesterday in Gainesville and traveled to the state's capital to face FTU today. The Knights will be humbled tomorrow at 3 pm against Duke.

Wood can't understand the reason why his team is playing the way it is. "Everybody is so tight that they're trying too hard. Nobody is playing half as well as he is capable of playing." Against last year's Southern Conference champions, FTU lost any chance of taking the dual decision with all six of the six single matches.

Freshman Doug Hull continued his supremacy at No. 1 defeating Randy Bernard 6-3, 6-4, 6-1. Wood said, "Hull is the only one who has control of himself.

Junior Trevor Graham and Deuceen Lucci managed their usual aces as they defeated Dupuis and Beliah 6-3, 6-4. Unfortunately, Olds and 1st-year freshman Stuart Tello was never in his match against Hull, 6-1.

In the remaining singles, No. 2 Deuceen lost to Kristian Coo, 6-4, 6-2. With no singles point for the season the team had against the No. 6 doubles would be the only win, as Hull and Smith dropped No. 3, 6-3, 6-0.

Summing up the team's performance, Wood exclaimed, "We're just playing the New York Mets." He added, "We're taking a good country whipping."

In the No. 4 doubles, DeJauregu and昙 lost to Sharkey and Richardson 6-3, 6-3. At No. 5, Lucci and Graham dropped a 5-4 tie-breaker in their second set with Cooper and Babb in losing 7-5, 7-6.

FTU continued to play "sappy tennis" against AU. Once again, the match was lost in the singles competitions as the Sunflowers took five of the six matches.

Wood, in an attempt to get something going in a positive direction, moved Smith to No. 1, while Lucci played at No. 3, 6-1. However, he was defeated by Price and Graham 6-4.

At the No. 3 doubles, Lucci managed to pull out a singles win while he and Graham captured the team's only other victory in the No. 2 doubles.

Lucci, team captain, used three sets, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3, to defeat Chip Spallan with Dejauregu.

In these double matches, Lucci and Graham for once had a relatively easy time in winning, 6-4, 6-2 over Squiter and Gason Tello.

In the second game, Lucci and Graham for once had a relatively easy time in winning, 6-4, 6-2 over Spitter and Gason Tello.

In the remaining singles, No. 2 DeJauregu lost to Kristian Coo, 6-4, 6-0. Moon noted that this was a more successful debut at No. 1, losing a tough three-set match to Steve Tempel 7-6, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, Smith lost a 5-2 lead in the second set through his lapses.

Graham, at No. 3, lost in three sets, 6-7, 6-2, 6-4. At No. 5, Lucci lost to second-singled in the season, a 7-5, 6-2 verdict to Tom Redig.

Graham lost in straight sets at No. 3, 6-6, 6-4 to Juan Martinez. In the No. 1 doubles, Smith and DeJauregu were outplayed by Temple and Coo, 6-4, 6-2. At No. 3 doubles, Watson and Martinez found Hull and Graham their first doubles defeat 7-6, 6-4.

Summing up the team's performance, Wood exclaimed, "We're just playing the New York Mets." He added, "We're taking a good country whipping."

"Best part of Hull's game, both player and coach agree, is his backhand across court which is a very strong shot in his repertoire." His overhead also ranges among his best.

Improvement is needed in "his service and volley game," Hull said. "Also I'm not as consistent as I used to be." Hull was impressive in winning, 6-2, 6-4, 6-0.

According to Wood, though, the long-haired youngster has no real weaknesses in his game. "He has fantastic potential. If he develops more mental toughness, he could be great." Hull is generally a vocal player on court, not afraid to voice opinions or let his feelings out. He has provided a bench call.

"He's a good team competitor," offered Wood. "He will stand up for his rights on court. If it's a typical American behavior, really, similar to Jimmy Connors and many of the top players." Hull was quick to add, "I like Doug. I find him to be a very penetrable player. He's a good boy." Hull and twin brother, Jeff, both headed south to college with Jeff winding up at the University of South Carolina and Doug at Florida State University. They will be a formidable team.

The team, coached by Wayne Mondel, includes Terry Kirby, Roger Amick, Mike Bradley, Larry Semura, Mike Deal and Allen Howell.

The FTU tennis team, off a strong 3-1 start, will be in Port Malabar this weekend to compete in the Collegiate Tournament which will have 30 teams involved.

The three-day tournament will take place at the Port Malabar Country Club, located just south of and across the Indian River Lagoon. The teams will be divided into five flights, each containing three teams. The tournament is scheduled for March 21, with matches starting at 9:30 am. The six winners will advance to the semifinals on March 22, with the final winners and runners-up being determined on March 23.

The tournament is open to men's and women's teams, with a maximum of 30 teams entering. The registration fee is $200 per team, and the tournament is sponsored by the Port Malabar Country Club and the Indian River County Chamber of Commerce. For more information, contact the Port Malabar Country Club at 321-783-1234.
