Regents Consider Mandatory Summer

Enrollment Rule

By Glenn Padgett

Contributing News Editor

The Board of Regents (BOR) will be considering plans to equalize enrollments during the four quarters of the year, at the nine universities in the state university system.

One of the items on the agenda for the April 25 meeting of the BOR is a Request for consider- ation of guidelines for mandatory enrollment during the summer quarter.

This request contains three alternative proposals which would, in the opinion of the writers of the proposals, "help equalize enrollments during the four quarters to achieve year-round utilization of university plants."

The three alternative proposals are:

1. "No student may enroll in a state university during the two summer quarters unless he or she has been enrolled in at least one-half the four quarters preceding the second fall term.

2. "Effective September 1, 1975, and thereafter, all entering, transfer, and graduate students must attend at least one summer quarter at a university in the state university system prior to graduation with a baccalaureate degree."

3. "All state universities will limit enrollment in the fall quarter to students enrolled in the enrollment in all other quarters."

Potts stated that a closer look ought to be taken at the reasons that students do not attend the fall quarter rather than just requiring attendance. He added that the close reason of not attending the fall quarter attendance was the same reasons for poor summer quarter attendance.

Potts concluded with the statement that the positive aspects of attending a summer quarter would be played up and made more attractive to the students.

Potts mentioned that he felt that it would be a good idea, if the job would not be as crowded in other quarters as it is during the summer quarter, that the students who took their break at some other time should be encouraged to find it as difficult to get a job.

OPENING OF THE TEMPORARY INFORMATION BOOTH has been delayed until next week. John Goree, Vice President for Business Affairs, said signs would be erected directing visitors to the booth. When funds become a permanent structure will be built.

BSU Presents Major Talent April 7 - 14

A complete program of events to inform non-blacks about black culture is planned for next week. "Black Awareness Week," sponsored by the Black Student Union (BSU), is scheduled for April 7 - 14, 1975.

According to BSU advisor Bill Jennings, the events planned constitute the first black awareness week of this type at FTU. He indicated that past black awareness weeks have not had the planned and organized activities offered by this one.

Jennings said that the week would be open to everyone and said that it is trying to improve communication between racial groups on the FTU campus.

Secondly, he mentioned that it was an attempt to introduce a different type of black culture to the University.

Jennings pointed out that these purposes were tied in with the theme of the week which is Awareness and Understanding through Appreciation.

Jennings mentioned that this program is not political in any way and that every event was basically cultural in nature.

Headliners for the week's events will be Nikki Giovanni, known as "the Black princess of poetry," who will appear at 8 p.m. Friday, April 11, in the FTU Village Center assembly room; VACB and the Ramsey Lewis Trio, performing at 8:30 p.m. April 14, in the VCAH.

The week's celebration will open with events of The Rev. Nelson Pinder, well-known orator, and a performance by the Valencia Community College Black Student Union Choir at noon April 7 in the Village Center green. That evening at 8 p.m. in the FTU Science Auditorium, there will be an African Jazz Concert.

On Tuesday, April 8, members of Omega Psi Phi University will host a noon luncheon for all FTU fraternities. That evening, Seminole Junior College players will present Langford Wilson's "The Kingham Dog," at 8 p.m. in the Science Auditorium.

The Walt Disney World Steel Band will entertain on the FTU Village Green at noon April 9. The Science Auditorium will again be the focal point at 8 p.m. that evening, when the movie "From "Montgomery to Memphis" will be shown.

Orlando's Jones high school chorus will present a program at noon Thursday, April 10 on the Village Green.

On Friday, in addition to the evening appearance by Nikki Giovanni, V&U's Delta Sigma Theta sorority will host a luncheon with honored guest Nikki Giovanni, regional director for the national organization. All area alumni members of the sorority have been invited to attend.

The Monday evening per­ formance by Ramsey Lewis, who is being sponsored by the Village Center Performing Arts committee, will be the only ac­ tivity during Black Awareness Week for which there will be a charge. General admission will be $2 at the door for everyone but FTU students.

Jennings emphasized that seating was limited for the two "headliner's events". Nikki Giovanni and The Ramsey Lewis Trio. Seating capacity in the VCAH is limited to 850 with standing capacity for 200 ad­ ditional persons.

Jennings also stated that the event was open to everyone and encouraged attendance by members of the non-black community.

The two buildings affected are:

1. A new central receiving building, to be built near the present water tower. This building would house the operations which are at present shared with the Library and Bookstore receiving offices, under the Loaning Resources building.

2. New shop and office space for the Plant and Maintenance Division, which would be built near the present offices of the division.

According to an article in the March 19 Sentinel Star, Vice­ President for Business Affairs, said signs would be erected directing visitors to the booth. When funds become a permanent structure will be built.

Carpenters Present Program

The Carpenters will be appearing at the Lakeland Civic Center Arena April 16. From their first hit "Close to You," to the recent "Only Yesterday," Karen and Richard Carpenter have sold 25 million singles and albums, have won three Grammy awards, 15 gold records, and have packed concert halls throughout America, Europe and Asia.

Rolling Stone described Karen's onstage sound as "...soulful, with a sensuous, unassuming grace..." as on record, expressing a perfection of pitch with much warmth, youth and wisdom.

Richard, while adding his voice to the group's vocal mix, is the Carpenters' dominant musical intelligence. Choice (and often composition) of material, arrangements, and production are supervised by him.

Richard said his music is influenced by the Beach Boys, the Beatles, and Bart Bachrach. This year's repertory includes material from Bachrach's Pat McGarrity expressing admiration for the Carpenter's sound.

Tickets for the Carpenter's concert are on sale at the Civic Center Box Office and are priced at $7.50 and $9.50, all seats must be reserved.

The Future Readers Give Improvement Ideas

A survey of the Future readership by marketing research classes using reliable sampling techniques has provided some valuable information concerning future improvement.

The project sampled some 400 Future undergraduates, graduates, faculty, staff and administration, in proportion to their total representation in the university population.

The results confirmed many of the ideas and estimations we had heard or who comprises the Future's readership, what they want from their campus newspaper, and the direction we need to take both in the present and in the future.

But we were also surprised at some things the survey revealed.

Nearly three percent of the FTU community it appears, reads the Future at least in part. The readership is interested most in news and editorials, and regards social news as the least important part of each week's issue. The public tends to rate the paper in the "good to average" range. A surprising number of those questioned believed that the paper is in some way censored, and some believe the journal is biased.

What our readers recommend is to broaden the horizons of the Future and to give it a more professional appearance and content. They specifically are looking for, among other things, more entertainment news and more coverage of women's sports.

As significant as the marketing appraisal is, it is only one part of a larger effort now underway to examine the Future, find out what parts are relevant to its readers and what parts need improvement, and to reorganize it as a better, more responsive, and more professional publication.

The Future holds a unique position among campus organizations; as the official paper of FTU it has an obligation to cover the news of the university; and it is partially funded by the student body, the public has an economic as well as informational interest in the paper. As a journalistic enterprise, it works to publish the finest product it can.

We want to examine ways on how to make the Future more relevant, because we can only do a good job through becoming the campus newspaper you want us to be.

The Future readership is interested most in news and editorials, as the Future's readership, what they want from their campus newspaper, and the direction we need to take both in the present and in the future.

Bor Proposal Wrong Road To Utilization

We have no standing obligation to blast the Board of Regents, as it may have appeared in recent editions.

Yet there seems to be no end to the long line of lunacy that emanates from that distinguished body.

This week's humbug is the latest proposal, that is to require attendance at state universities of at least two previous summer quarters to be admitted again in the fall.

The social impact of such a measure would include limiting the opportunities of vacations and family responsibilities, putting the university student out of sequence with the rest of academia. The restriction might also have detrimental effects on those students who work at jobs available only during the summer months to support at least in part their college education during the academic year.

Under present regulations, a student who does not attend during a quarter other than summer has to go through the admission process to be enrolled in the university.

We, like SG President Potts, find no fault in urging year-round classes within the facilities. If summer programs are made attractive enough, more students will enroll on their own. But any mandatory restrictions would be blindly unfair.

Editor: During the past few months, there has been some concern by a few students over our Student Health Program and more specifically the student accident and health insurance.

I would like to first clarify any misconceptions regarding the headlines and article in your March 14 issue on this subject.

By Mike Hall

All faithful followers and fans, and all who believe that Futures should abandon the tasteless call of fuses and placed in public facilities...be advised that an era is coming to a close. The column you are presently reading is the last one I shall write for the Future.

At least that's the way it looks at this point: I am, however, reserving the option of bringing my academic pursuits at the university to a close and to issue of overwhelming implication arises. My graphic contributions to the editorial page will also cease to appear on a regular basis.

The editor finally wound up and caught me, you say? As conclu diversion...I have been given a promotion! My very own opportunity to improve the Flowery Magazine. And here is how it happened...

You may or may not have heard of F, but a previous editor had to give up her position last quarter to do her internship for her degree. This, obviously, created a vacancy on the staff which had to be filled. So, in

Potts Defends Insurance

Editor: Being very familiar with the health insurance issue, I feel that our program is definitely in order. But any individual who does not agree, always has the option to seek court action. I was not in any way "wriggly said..."

Before the University officially began classes in 1962, it was decided to provide health service for the students. This purpose was best accomplished by a combination of the student health center and a supplemental insurance program purchased by the University from American Service fees.

We did not at that time, nor our current since then, have the funds necessary to upgrade the health center from its present out-patient clinic.

New Buildings Delayed

By John Goree

President for Business Affairs

The president for Business Affairs, John Goree, said that the project was not of critical importance and “we have lived without it up until now.” Goree indicated that the division could make do with the present facilities until the buildings are completed, even considering the unplanned delay in construction.

Goree explained that the two buildings have nothing to do with the new air-conditioning plant which is presently under construction. He did mention that the reason for the higher temperatures in the buildings on campus during the warmer parts of the day was because the air-conditioning plant construction had been delayed some fifteen months ago.

He added that it would be “into May” before the building was ready to be tied into the present air-conditioning system. According to Goree, the opening of the new Biological Sciences building, the approaching higher summer temperatures, and the breakdown of one of the presently available units all contributed to the present situation of the temperatures increasing in the classrooms at the day goes on.

Goree added that overnight the unit does not have the capacity to keep up with the demand.
Win Streak Hits 11,
Knights Roar To 21-4

By Fred Gay

Eleven straight wins including a 21-4 drubbing of the University of Tampa over Southeastern Conference power Tennessee March 27, assured the 'Canes of an ultra-successful spring break schedule for FTU's baseball team.

As of Tuesday, the Knights stood 11-4 and apparently in good contention for a post-season tournament appearance. The strong pitching of Holtquist has been aiming toward that goal since FTU's recruiting of several of this season's stars FTU's final 10 games, all against Florida colleges, will probably make or break their hopes.

Holtquist's main concern is the soundness of his pitching staff - an ironic situation in that the Knights came through the heaviest part of their schedule eight games in eight days with flying colors. They did so despite little work from Sam Elbe (dislocated elbow) and Harry Johnson (arm soreness).

Regular right-hander Sonny Wise and Tim Ogilby both responded with good performances in their absence. Ogilby, actually won two games in as many starts with a pair of shutouts (6, 9, 0) against Massachusetts Maritime March 28. Although the remaining team games figure to be much tougher, all three will be better able to handle the burden of now overworked FTU hurlers.

The strong right arm of junior Sam Swanger is the big story of the season for the 'Canes, strongest ever for an FTU varsity team.

Against Tennessee, the Vols wiped out an early 1-0 deficit with a three-run sixth, FTU got back with a pair of singles and pinch hitter Sonny Wise singled knocking out reliever Jimmy Gaylor with a 3-2 count and 1-2 earned run average. The team as a whole also featured the same sparkling (2) ERA Tuesday's game.

Leading the FTU hurlers that have been on the mound thus far have been shortstop Jim Horvath, who began the week hitting .350 with three game winning (2) ERA Tuesday's game. Holquist admitted he was "never expected" prior to the season. It also marked the fourth time in five games that FTU had come back in late or extra innings to win.

A pair of wins over Brandeis, behind the moundwork of Wise and Ogilby, wrapped up the long week. Edge pitched the final two innings of Saturday's 214 win for his first appearance in a month. He looked surprisingly sharp, allowing only one baserunner and striking out two in his brief stint.

Tuesday's scheduled doubleheader against Colby No. 1 College turned into one five-inning contest in which Swanger hurled an abbreviated six-inning win, highlighted by a 3-and-2 strikeout with a 3-0 triumph. Lefty reliever at Sanford Stadium forced cancellation of the rest of the twinbill. FTU face Milligan (Tenn.) College, another doubleheader Wednesday at Tinker Field.

Tomorrow's doubleheader against Florida Bible in Miami, will determine the stage for the dramatic finale.

'Superstar' Battle Approaching Fast

"FTU Superstars to Come"

By Joe DeSalvo

O.J. Simpson beware! The second annual FTU "Superstars" competition, sponsored by Intramurals, is rapidly approaching.

The competition, highly successful in its first year last spring, will once again consist of ten events for both men and women. The only difference in the two categories will be in the free throw event for the women in place of the men's weightlifting category.

Here are the remaining events to take place: bowling, golf, obstacle course, tennis, weightlifting, swimming, track, track, distance, discus, bike race and one, an volleyball will be on the agenda. The events are spread out between Apr. 16-May 17.

In case there are more than the limit 16 sponsored individuals for the competition, the best 16 total times for the following qualifying events will determine the participants into 10 yard dash, 100 yard swim, obstacle course, and bike race. They will take place Apr. 16.

Each athlete must be spon- sored by a FTU club, fraternity or sorority on campus. An entry fee of $2.00 will be assessed to defray the cost of administering the program including golf and bowling fees and awards.

All entries are due no later than Apr. 11 in the intramural office, VC 291. Any questions can be taken to the office or by calling X247.

A detailed rules pamphlet is available at the pamphlet designed and written by Intra Program Coordinator Bill Weeks. Includes all the rules for each event in the competition.

Crew Eyes Elite Miami Regatta

By Joe DeSalvo

There could be rough waters ahead for the FTU crew team in Miami tomorrow as it will challenge in the Miami In- vitational Regatta.

The big race will include such elite teams as the Vesper and Potomac boat clubs along with the Antwerp club and has brought a 4-1 varsity record for over a month.

With state powerhouse Rollins and Oklahoma in the horizon, the FTU tennis team couldn't pick a better tune to their recently frozen engine back into fourth gear.

The Knights, who could only muster up one win during one streak of six straight matches, have shown signs of a strong resurgence.

In their last 12 matches, the Knights have taken nine victories. The latest win came at the expense of the University of Connecticut, 7-0 on Monday. FTU now 12-10 for the year.

Kamrad had a bright smile in explaining his team's earlier play. "We've been in every match but at times we are trying just too hard." Wood is looking towards Mike DeZeeuw to bolster up the FTU attack. "Mike needs to control his tightness," explained Wood. "We definitely need a strong DeZeeuw." K. "We need to beat Rollins, South Florida and Miami."

Overall, Wood praised his team for its hustle and good character during the recent hard times. Wood feels "everybody is playing hard especially Trevor Graham and Nate Smith."

A bright spot in the Knight's early season has been newly acquired freshman Steve Bryant. Bryant, who's been in the country only two weeks from South Africa, has netted four straight singles wins in as many matches.

The Knights will be home today at 2 p.m. when they host Jacksonville University. The Gators and the Knights battle to a 4-4 last fall when darkness prevented the finish.

FTU will be up in Poland against Seattle tomorrow before coming home to face USF on Wednesday. Their big test will come on Apr. 16 at home against the Hurricanes and when they go on the road against the Spartans on Apr 25 to end the 1975 season.

By Joe DeSalvo

In the Scranton whitewash, No. 1 Smith took care of Bill Canning 6-2, 6-2. No. 2 Joe Lucci had two identical 6-3 wins over John Cobb. At No. 3, DeZeeuw humbled Ed Magan 6-0, 6-1.

Bryant, moving up to No. 4, easily defeated Tom Donnelly 6-2. Gail Graham at No. 5 beat George Lemon 6-4, 6-1 and Marc Gunderson took care of Joe O'Connor 6-1, 6-1.

FTU continued its dominance in the doubles as No. 1 Doug Hull and Bryant defeated Canning and Magan 6-2, 6-1. At No. 2, Lucci and Gunderson beat Cobb and Donnelly 6-0, 6-3.

Santos and LXA advanced to the finals with penalty kick victories over Iran and Tau Nupe Epsilon respectively. LXA jumped to a 1-0 lead against Santos midway in the first half. Henry Wall drove a Jaime Valencia pass by Santos goalie.

goalie John Perent. Santos' first score came in the second half off a volley of shots. Carlos Medina finally scored past LXA goalie Rodney Blankenship. LXA again went to its offense, the strongest in the fraternity league, to pull out a victory; however, the Santos defense, led by twins Bob and Rich Baird, was able to drive the ball back and control Valle, Wahl and Randy Blankenship.

Santos went ahead for good with 1:39 remaining in the game. Pablo Garcia picked up a long pass, evaded LXA defenderman Jay Rucker and scored over Blankenship's fingers.

LXA's last hope of gaining a tie came with 25 seconds remaining. Valle chipped a corner kick to the middle of the goal, but headers by Rucker and Blankenship were off the mark.

Santos downed LXA 5-4 on penalty kicks to reach the finals. The score was knotted after two halves and two overtime periods. LXA beat TKE 3-2 on penalty kicks to gain the other finals berth. TKE's hope of winning faded when goalie Russ Lewey's shot was wide. LXA goalie Blankenship then扑ed a shot by Lewey for the victory.
