NEW CONTRACT SECURED

Effective June 13, FTU will have a new food service contract and this year, the current contractor, will no longer be responsible for the food service.

The new FTU food service contract has been awarded to Sago Corporation, a California firm owned by Charles J. Sago, William Williams, Director of Administrative Services.

The meal plan under the new contract will include:

A. A 10-meal plan offering any 10 meals Monday through Friday at a cost of $206.25. This plan will replace the current daily plan that costs $250.25.
B. A 12-meal plan costing $212.50.
C. A 16-meal plan costing $255.60.
D. A 19-meal plan offering any meal for a cost of $224.75.
F. A 22-meal plan costing $277.50.

According to Paul F. Gregg, Director of Administrative Services, "The purpose of the things the council members are interested in is to block the hands of the administration. It is now students and their lobbyists who must make the decisions affecting their academic future...."

Stress was the importance of having a lobby working for students saying it is vital in a democracy that the legislature know what is on the minds of university students. Another indication of this is the large number of students who have signed the petition to the administration to block the passage of a bill from the Florida House of Representatives which says that any bill the legislature fails to act on becomes law.

CENTRAL Florida's First Foreign Language Festival, involving foreign clubs and hundreds of high school and junior college students from the area, will be held on the FTU campus April 25 and 26. The two day event is jointly sponsored by the University's Department of Foreign Languages, International Student Organization, and Village Center, with cooperation from the Florida High Schools Activities Association.

The scheduled activities fall into three main categories: performances, exhibits, and competitions.

The indoor portion of the slate commences at 10 a.m. in the VC multi-purpose room with the first district language competition. It is the first ever held for students in Russian, Spanish, French and German, with more than 30 high school and junior college teams from as many as six counties in the Central Florida area expected to participate.

The competition is divided into four levels and a junior college level, encompassing four categories: skills, recitations, extemporaneous speeches and the unusual, which includes music, song and dance.

Awards will be presented to winners in each of the various levels of competition.

Ceylon Engineer Grads at FTU
American Indian Group Planned

Nestled in an obscure section of woods five miles south of Overido lies a strange monolith of stone and brick. A strenuous climb up a winding staircase will bring the wary traveler to a famed Indian outpost. An arrow riddled "Fort Wehr" hangs above these historic headquarters. The commander is Dr. Paul Wehr, associate professor of history at Florida Technological University, and his present venture is the formation of an American Indian club.

"I'm just trying to get the Indians to identify themselves," Wehr explained. The organization will be dedicated to recognizing and preserving Native American heritage. Emphasis will be placed on self-enrichment and the education of others to the contributions and needs of Indians.

Wehr said the FTU American Indian Club will be similar to the American Indian Club of Florida. They meet once a month, sponsor cultural enrichment programs, seminars, and provide speakers for various functions.

Wehr said anyone with Indian blood could be considered an Indian for enrollment purposes. A percentage of non-Indian members could also be considered.

Anyone interested in forming an American Indian Club at FTU should contact Wehr and, "If we can get it, but we have to have an organization before the University will recognize us," Wehr said. I hope we can get organized by this fall.

A non-Indian member of the American Indian Club of Florida, Wehr added, "My idea is to get a club started, not to run it."

Staff Council Dinner Held

FTU's Staff Council held its third annual Awards Dinner on April 11, in the Village Center Multipurpose room. A plaque of appreciation was awarded to thirty-six of FTU's staff workers.

The awards dinner, sponsored by FTU's Staff Council, is held each year for staff members who have dedicated five years of service on FTU's campus. Present at the dinner was Florida Representative Dick Barth, a former FTU student who helped to distribute the awards. Invocation was given by Director of Campus Activities Gene Burns.

The guest speaker for the Awards Dinner was WKIE commentator Gere Goree. The Staff Council was formed three years ago in order to serve as a liaison between FTU's Career Service Staff and the Administration," said Goree.

According to Goree, if a staff member has a problem with wages or work hours he can voice his discontent to the administration through the Staff Council.

FTU Debaters Sponsor Several New Programs

By Vicki Honisfield

Staff Writer

Now that this year’s rugged debate season is finally over, team members are considering their efforts toward sponsoring a series of FTU Forum Debates and coordinating a nationally based Bicentennial Youth Debate program.

The forum debates deal with current controversial issues, in an attempt to directly reach out to and involve the FTU student body.

The program format will include brief five minute speeches supporting both sides of an issue and rebuttals, followed by audience participation.

The controversial Women’s Lib issue was the topic of the initial session, which took place yesterday afternoon.

Jeff Butler, the debate coach and serial coordinator, explained the program’s purposes, “It not only gives our debaters exposure, but it allows interested students to participate in the discussion.”

The forum debates will be held on alternate Thursdays from twelve o’clock noon to one p.m. in GCB Room 103. All students are encouraged to attend and participate in the discussions.

Butler added, “The debaters have presented countless demonstrations debates in area schools and groups, and we’ve traveled all over the country representing FTU, in interscholastic competition, but we’ve previously lacked direct involvement with students on our own campus. It is hoped that the FTU Forum Debates will help bridge this existing void, as similar programs have at other colleges.

With regard to the Bicentennial Youth Debate program, Butler can serve as district coordinator for Central Florida. In addition to those efforts, he will supervise the numerous commitments within the district’s boundaries.

Butler stressed that FTU was selected over such noted established institutions as Rollins, Stetson, and the University of South Florida. He attributes this honor to “our active debate program that has distinguished us among Florida schools.”

The bicentennial program is designed to involve youth nationwide in a serious examination of American history and values. It offers every high school and college age youth the opportunity to participate in forensic events at the local level.

The program has progressive levels of competition, culminating with the national finals in June, 1976.

Butler commented, “Historic and patriotic issues will be debated, and the local competition is open to anyone, not just formal debaters. Scholarships will be awarded to winners.”

According to Butler, FTU’s active coordinating role in the program is significant for two reasons: (1) Our school will receive national publicity and (2) There is a possibility that FTU participants may consequently hold a slight edge in competition.

The optimistic coordinator hopes that the bicentennial celebration program will aid in attracting higher enrollment for FTU, as a result of scholarships and national recognition.

In retrospect, FTU can truly be proud of its debate team, which completed another highly successful season and missed qualifying for national competition for a single ballot at the district finals for the second year in a row.

Upping his appraisal of the season, Butler asserted, “Frankly, I think the reason for failure is neither lack of personnel nor lack of efforts. We have excellent debaters who research well, but our budget in the root of the problem.”

“We’re competing against schools that are financially able to send their teams to tournaments more frequently. Therefore, we fail to receive as much experience in debating. Unfortunately, unless we get more exposure, we’ll never make it to the national competition.”

H&FA Opens

“Fantastic!” was the word used most often by members of the local community to describe the open house of the Humanities and Fine Arts Building, Sunday, April 13th.

Although attendance was meager, the visitors who came were very impressed with the art displays and the music rehearsals.

There were many things to see including a student art exhibit, a faculty art exhibit, photography, a silk screen demonstration and a display by a visiting artist.

The visiting artist was Adrienne Anderson Hart, who teaches Art History at a university south of Birmingham. Hart said the reception for her exhibit was great. She also expressed a preference for the openness of the FTU campus.

The music department opened a crowd when they set up their rehearsal outside between the rehearsal hall and the H & F A building.

Many visitors expressed regret that there was such a small turnout for the open house. Some suggested the publicity for it was not as widespread as it should have been.

Most visitors said that they did not understand everything they saw (art displays) and that it would have been nice to have more students on hand to explain things to them.

Vice-President Student Gov.
Two related bills in the Florida Legislature may put long-awaited student representation on the Board of Regents.

One of the pieces of legislation in the House proposed by Rep. Jack Leon, R-Dade, would expand the membership of the Board to 10 members rather than the present nine, and provides that the new member be a full-time student in a state university to serve for one year term.

The student would have to be appointed by the governor, approved by the cabinet and confirmed by the senate. With the rotation of the current representation provided by the legislation, Florida Tech would be eligible to have one of its students as a BOR member during the 1974-75 academic year.

The measure's generous counterpart in the senate proposed by Sen. Jack Gordon would put three student representatives on the Board, increasing its total membership to twelve members. The bill mandates that at least one of the students be an undergraduate, and restricts the selection so that no two students from the same state university could not be represented in succession, consecutively.

The senate bill would institute the same selection process. If either of the acts, which have been referred to their respective policy committees, get favorable action, finance committees are proposed to sponsor representation on the Board of Regents would become a reality by September of this year.

Naturally we favor the senate's version, by placing three student members on the board, the thousands of enrollees in the state university would have the benefit of one of constant physical and verbal presence in proceedings of the regents,

The need for such representation is obvious: the student bodies across the state whose administer body at the state level has been often, if not in all of its request. The select if the representation of objective and fair, qualified students will serve to represent the student's point of view, but in light of present realities, both economic and educational.

The debate on this bill too, marks an important opportunity for the newly-formed Florida Student Lobby, which FTU and other universities supported through student senate approval. The student lobby, whose directors are registered lobbyists in the state capital, together with the promise of student opportunity, and the board members, could be a voice in university administration at the state-wide level.

East-West Must Note FTU Computer

Reports have been getting ground that FTU students will be connected to the new national computer terminal at Stanford. The high-speed terminal, which links FTU among 130 other universities on the west-side of Orlando and points in between, is apparently being money from the Defense Department for approximately $4,400 per day because of its size. The fee, which will amount to 30 cents an hour, has not met the amount of $1 an hour, and the fee is based on 24 hours a day.

The expressway, it seems to us, joining both Palmetto Expressway at any point west of it faster than the roads that run parallel to it at a nominal cost. For many a harried cross-town commuter, the highway was a virtual gift from the Department of Transportation.

The paradox of driving down a stretch of superhighway in America that is almost 400 miles long, to find that the worst occurs in conditions, mostly lack of education about the highway's benefits as expressway only. Effective Authority Executive Director has pointed out that the new highway is an opportunity for students to drive home to campus, they should at least be aware of the facts that tolls are necessary to make the road a financial success.

Unfortunately, like some other community efforts that don't make a good economic showing, like the Florida Blizzards who left the Sunshine State for the West with old jerseys, the expressway will earn no money for the state. The idea of a discount rate to drivers would present a special reduced toll charge. SO officials now state that the idea is probably feasible.

One of the main dilemma's concerning students is that too much time is spent doing things he has to do (reading, paper research) to allow sufficient time for things he'd like to do or should do such as casting a ballot for 1974-75 Student Government President and Vice-President.

No one can really help this average student in scheduling his time to vote. As a matter of fact FTU has been breeding more and more average students who can't manage their time.

36.8 percent of eligible voters casting ballots in 1972 to 1973 to a little less than 15 percent last year was not a good record. It does look like the elite are controlling our political process.

Take Time To Vote

By Michelle McBurney

‘Future’ editor

An assortment of problems plague the average college student. One of the most frustrating is the scheduling of time needed to accomplish the many things that must be done.

One of the main dilemma's concerning students is that too much time is spent doing things he has to do (reading, term paper research) to allow sufficient time for things he'd like to do or should do such as casting a ballot for 1974-75 Student Government President and Vice-President.

One cannot really help this average student in scheduling his time to vote. As a matter of fact FTU has been breeding more and more average students who can't manage their time.

36.8 percent of eligible voters casting ballots in 1972 to 1973 to a little less than 15 percent last year was not a good record. It does look like the elite are controlling our Student government.

This year will be different if the average FTU student becomes the average voter. More students will vote in this year's election because they are concerned that a minority will establish policies for the majority and degrade every democratic idea (freedom of choice, speech, and press) that students have fought to keep on this campus.

Several bills have been introduced, which change granting voting privileges to all students regardless of their class load or other factors. Each student should have the opportunity to vote.

Many students are not aware of what is at stake in the election because they are not registered to vote. It is up to each student to educate himself about what is at stake in the election because they are not registered to vote. It is up to each student to educate himself about what is at stake in the election. This is perhaps an old topic for Florida Tech, which has been referred to its respective educational bodies across the state whose administering body is subject to strict regulation, TV, radio stations, telephone companies, garbage collection, and other public utilities where competition does not exist, just to mention a few examples.

It is really too outrageous to ask the university to ensure student access to textbooks at reasonable prices? in the real world it is called consumer protection.

A book store investigation committee has been set up by student government to keep on bookstores policies.

Several errors appeared in last week's story on the Foreign Language Festival to be held April 25 and 26. Ramsey Lewis Charms Audience

By Arlo Fikus

VOC Nailer

It was April 14th. A cool rainy Monday night when 500 people crowded into the Village Center Assembly Room in anticipation of the evening event. A spotlight filled the stage as a lone musician climbed to the top to take his place among his instruments.

Slowly he began to play his drums as a second musician, a guitarist, arrived.

The two artists were quickly joined by a flute and drums player. As the three continued playing, their instruments blending into one, the fourth musician and last arrived star suffered and quickly slipped behind the keyboard.

The musician, a combination of rock and soul, until it reached a crescendo and finally a conclusion.

The audience responded immediately and the star, Ramsey Lewis, flashed a friendly smile and introduced the next song, "Betcha By Golly Wow," a love song by the Stylistics.

Ramsey moved to the grand piano for that number, and for the remainder of the evening, he alternated star arrived and usually slipped behind the keyboard.

Ramsey's fingers flew up and down the scale rapidly, effortlessly, finally, exhausting the keyboard and tumbling off the piano to the delight of his audience.

Then Ramsey introduced the members of his trio, now a quartet with the addition of a virtuoso flute player named Rick, and a new guitarist, Tils Palmer.

The group moved into another instrumental piece, this time jazz to make the people laugh, smile and marvel at the endless talent and variety in Ramsey Lewis.

Ramsey left the stage for a few minutes to the sole use of his percussional Morris Jennings. Morris fired drums, then cymbals, bells, castanets and tambourine and a variety of other unfamiliar percussion instruments entertained unceasingly making the audience cheer, laugh and shout at his antics.

Ramsey and the others returned and launched into familiar and not.

A classical piano piece segued into jazz and then soul and finally rock as the high sweet notes of the flute pierced the damp spring night air.

Then Rick abandoned his melodic flute for a short bongo-like drum which he fastened about his waistline like a belt. Pounding the drum in time to the rhythm, Rick hopped off the stage into the mass of people and continued his beat.

Rick returned to the stage, where Ramsey opened with the final number, a Stevie Wonder song, "Living For The City."

With the concert completed, Ramsey thanked the audience and said good-by. He flashed his warm smile once more and left the stage.

Next the guitarist left, then the drum player followed him off stage. "More, more, more," cried the audience as Rick continued on his flute.

Finally Rick put down the instrument and joined the others as he beamed good-by to the audience.

Foot still stomped and hands clapped but no one returned to fill the dark cold stage.

Membership in the lobby can be acquired by any state continuing student by paying a $10 fee to become a supporting member. Two other categories of membership are subscribing and sponsoring members. The latter form enable the members to gain positions on the board of directors.

Besides FTU, five other universities are all active members in the lobby, the University of West Florida, Florida State Univ., Univ. of South Florida, Univ. of Florida and Florida Atlantic Univ.
David Outlaw, a presidential candidate, is a junior majoring in political science.

Outlaw's goals for student government are to establish unity within the university between the individual colleges and to increase the visibility of the university in the community. Service organizations on campus should concentrate more on the service aspect of their club and less on the social aspect, says Outlaw asking, "What FTU fraternities took part in the recent community pledge?"

Outlaw feels that university representation on the state level is desperately needed because "our political system is arranged like this."

Having served one year as finance commissioner for the city of Winter Springs, Outlaw feels he is qualified to hold office and express concern in "working strongly with the electorate." Outlaw answered questions 1, 4 and 5.

1. Outlaw stated that he was strongly in favor of the health fee but opposed to the insurance fee. He added that he felt outside huge beds for the coverage should be gathered.

2. Outlaw said he felt that SG could use a computer system to find out student input and wants in order to be able to respond to them.

3. Outlaw stated that a majority of the funds presently go to sports. He concluded that, "We need more diversification and school pride." He also favored a referendum on allocation for fees needed to operate the activities and programs the students want.

4. "Communication must be set up, all student government officers must be filled and all students must be represented," said Outlaw outlining his presidential goals.

Collegiate spirit must be boosted, insists Anderson proposing individual class projects and a victory bell on the Village Center Green to foster an encompassing spirit and pride in the university.

Anderson disagrees with the Board of Regents tuition fee increase and calls for a cap on the fees so students will not be discouraged from carrying a larger than average class load. The university facilities should be utilized year-round, but a mandatory summer quarter should be avoided. It is a ridiculous, says Anderson. "I investigate the reasons why people don't go to school in the summer."

"Communication with the student body and collegiate spirit are my primary goals," said Anderson.

Anderson responded to questions 1, 4 and 5, with the following answers:

1. Anderson stated that he felt it was wrong for students who already have insurance to be served.

4. He replied that he felt it was adequate as long as the optional medical coverage was available.

5. In reference to legislation before the state legislature to separate student service fees and return control of service fees to the control of the university administration, Anderson stated that he felt they should be together and not separated.

Gary Anderson, Presidential Candidate

The Student Government is not being utilized to its fullest potential," complained Anderson, adding, "the president is not actively going to the students."

"Communication with the student body and collegiate spirit are my primary goals," said Anderson outlining his presidential goals.

Each candidate was given two minutes to make any introductory remarks that they desired prior to the start of the questioning by the members of the Future Staff. Members of the audience were also invited to ask any questions they might have. Questions asked are indicated in the box on this page. The individual candidates' responses to the questions appear under their picture with related background information.

Background interviews were also held with participating candidates last week, and the available biographical information is also provided. The candidates for the office of president of the student body are: Gary N. Anderson, Jim Davis, and David H. Outlaw; for vice president, Catherine A. Kane, Mary Ellen Leon, Rob Vezina, and Rick Walsh.

we can go on into the community," says Vezina.

"The executive cabinet should be reduced to a more closely knit group," said Vezina.

Vezina said he would be working more closely with student senators if elected, adding, "In a senate workshop I would show the attitude a senator should take. How to behave themselves and how they should do their jobs.

"We would like to expand accounts of money spent to benefit large portions of the students," said Vezina adding, "I would be a very liberal spender.

"I've been on the cabinet for one year and actively involved with Student Government," explained Vezina adding, "I can approach the job with the best attitude.

Vezina stated that he was running on a ticket with Jim Davis because of the good working relationship they already have.

Vezina answered questions 3 and 4.

3. Vezina stated that he couldn't take an official position right now without some additional student input. But he added, "Personally, I do favor the health fee.

4. He stated that he felt SG wanted and appreciated the input from students. He added that, "Well do anything we can to a help them. Be aware what the students want.

Mary Ellen Leon, VP Candidate

Mary Ellen Leon, candidate for vice-president feels that the Senate hasn't met its full potential. She favors the conducting of leadership clinics after the Senate elections in the fall.

Leon answered questions 2, 4, and 6 at the press conference.

2. She stated that the insurance plan, according to the brochure published is not mandatory for students taking less than nine hours. A slight controversy arose concerning the nature of the program, and so the question was restated and became number 4.

4. She stated that she felt students should be able to decide and that she was opposed to mandatory coverage.

6. Leon stated that the senate is the major allocator of fees and that not enough students were going to their student representatives. She added that not enough emphasis has been placed on this facet of SG in the past.

V Walsh has also been working with Republican and Democratic committees in Orange County in efforts to bring United States Presidential hopefuls to FTU.

On May second Walsh is conducting a voter registration drive on the FTU campus in conjunction with Orange County Supervisor of Elections Diane Barrer.

When discussing student health insurance Walsh vows that "Students have been paying all along and that the problems lies in the health center.

Either keep the entire health program or totally abolish it, states Walsh.

"The university should be made, more of an intellectual center," said Walsh and firmly, "Appley must be overcome."

Walsh honored questions 3 and 6:

3. He stated that he felt it should be left up to the students to decide whether or not they need the coverage.

6. Walsh felt that not enough activities had been provided, for commuters and suggested that activities should be scheduled when commuters can utilize them. He also suggested using the Future as a type of watchdog for SG.
THIS ONE DIDN'T GET AWAY, but he almost got the occupants of the shark cage in Cornel Wilde's new thriller, "Shark's Treasure".

By Cameron Pyle
Feature Columnist

Cornel Wilde, film producer-director, was in the Orlando area last week for a promotional screening of his motion picture "Shark's Treasure." This film is the latest in a string of successful Wilde productions that include "Beach Red," "No Blade of Grass," and the critically acclaimed "The Naked Prey.

In keeping with Wilde's personal concept of film as a "medium of action and movement," "Shark's Treasure" is gratifyingly free of trendy film format and has no profound "message" for the viewer. It comes across on the screen as pure entertainment.

Most of the film showcases spectacular underwater photography on location on the isle of Bonaire in the Caribbean and in the Coral Sea, where all of the shark scenes were made.

"Shark's Treasure" is entirely the creation of Cornel Wilde, who stars in the film along with Yaphet Kotto, John Nettles and David Canary. They make up the treasure-hunting crew of Wilde's boat, the Moby I, who must fend off tons of sharks in their quest for sunken gold.

The scenes of this territorial right with the sharks were particularly dangerous as nothing was staged. No fake or drugged sharks were there; they were real and in a feeding frenzy, doing their best to make Wilde and company their next meal.

At one point, when Wilde was reloading his spear-gun, one of the larger sharks took a run at him from behind, "bumped" him in the shoulder, and sped off. There was no reason in the world why this shark didn't take Wilde's arm with him but fortunately this never happened.

As action and not acting was the focal point of "Shark's Treasure," personal performances played down a lot except in the case of Cliff Osmond, whom I thought gave an inspired performance as the leader for a band of escaped convicts. The escapes, of course, cannot resist the lure of treasure, unwillingly supplied by Wilde and crew, and they proceed to cause even more trouble than the sharks.

Here the film takes on added depth of characterization by portraying the convicts not as the total antithesis of all that's good but as real people with real emotions and feelings. It continues as they achieve their original goal of freedom in the form of Wilde's boat and shows how they trade it for destruction when overcome by a lust for Spanish gold.

"Shark's Treasure" will make a statewide debut this Friday when it opens at 116 Florida theatres.

Wijeratne First From Ceylon To Attend FTU

By Kerry Franco
Staff Writer

Ceylon is a country about the size of West Virginia, located 20 miles off the coast of India. The terrain varies from sandy beaches to hilly plateaus and tropical mountain rain forests. Watered throughout the mountains are the tea and rubber plantations for which Ceylon is famous. From the rich soil of the lowlands is grown the rice and vegetables that comprise the Ceylonese diet.

Responsible for harnessing Ceylon's unpredictable climate are environmental engineers such as Kolonne A. Wijeratne.

Wijeratne is at Florida Technological University (FTU) studying for a master's degree in environmental engineering. The first from his country to attend FTU, he was chosen to receive a fellowship grant sponsored by the World Health Organization. The World Health Organization is an alliance with the United Nations, designed to improve health facilities of member nations. Wijeratne said Florida was selected as the location for his studies because the climate in Florida is similar to that of his home country.

Even though his country lies near the equator, sea breezes keep the temperature down to about 80 degrees. The mild climate and careful irrigation have resulted in Ceylon becoming the world's second largest producer of tea. Born in an average sized farming village, Wijeratne has lived in rural Ceylon most of his life. Learning forward in his vinyl upholstered easy chair, he confided, "I think that's why I love my country so much."

Wijeratne said it has always been his ambition to work with water management and conservation. "I want to serve my Country."

Wijeratne's major concern is pollution. "Water engineering goes back 2,000 years," said the Ceylonese. "In Ceylon, we did it in the morning, work hard all day, and hit the sack, sleep-deprived, and then the sun has disappeared." He said there were no more water pollution treatments. But for those who are up late at night, there may be a new hope.

When Wijeratne returns to Ceylon next year, he will work for the Water Plant Drainage Board, trying to keep the water of Ceylon unpolluted and usable by all.

The FTU crew team finished an overall second place in a field composed of 13 teams, six of which were varsity teams. Saturday at the Governor's Cup Regatta held at Melbourne, Florida. The College of Technology FTU finished as the overall winner.

The race was set up on a dual four-man start with each racing distance run race with each team racing in their division in a dual head to head competition. Each women's race was 500 meters long while the men raced 1000 meters. The total points were awarded to each team for all the races, to determine the overall winner.

In the men's varsity division FTU grabbed a second place overall out of the field of four teams losing to JU the event. In the individual races the FTU varsity rowed a Rolling team who had defeated them by seven seconds last week in Miami, FTU in their head to head race against FIT, lost by a margin of 14 seconds. The FTU varsity defeated Samson by two-lengths open in their race.

FITU Coach Donna Kamrad commented that FIT squad "in the team to beat" in the men's varsity as well as for the all men's state championship competition. FIT is presently the defending state champion in this event that the other crews are vying for the top spot.

In the Junior Varsity eight event the FTU squad finished in a field of six crews. FIT was the overall winner in this event also. About the FTU vs FIT JV race, Kamrad said, "We got a good race but in the body of the race FIT just rode too well. Our JV squad rode well but they are better." In the coxed four men's varsity division the FTU squad finished last in a field of three crews. Kamrad said that the squad performed credibly well." Kamrad added he was pleased with their performance. He said, "We just did not have the level of experience in this event that the other crews had." In the men's varsity division FTU finished an overall second out of six teams. "Disappointment" according to Kamrad was left by the FTU women's squad. He added that the squad did not perform as well as they did in Miami last week. "We lost to three teams that we beat in Miami," Kamrad said.

In the women's coxed four event, FITU came back with what Kamrad termed it a "gratifying win." FITU defeated the favorite Tampa squad. Kamrad said, "This was the first win by a Florida team over Tamps in this event this year." Saturday, April 19, the FTU women's team will be competing in the State Race at Disney World. Kamrad said that the "FIT squad has an excellent chance of winning." Kamrad termed the FTU squad's attitude as the "best and realistic." Kamrad added, "The women are realizing their potential and they are competing as it is all about." The races will be held at Bay Lake at Disney World. Kamrad said there will be 13 events. FTU is entering five. The races will begin at 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. with the varsity racing at 2 p.m.

However, even a well-stocked pitching staff needs an "ace," that one big man who usually drives the best teams and oups opposing pitchers. Among Knights' pitchers, the distinction belongs to junior Sam Swanger. And by any yardstick, the 1975 pre-season "pitcher of the year" should be considered the dominant pitcher in the Sun Belt. He has a good fast ball and good hard curve," explained head Coach Doug Holmquist. "Sam is giving us his best stuff and if he doesn't put men on base in the first inning we're in trouble." From the ample physical attributes of the strong 6'1 190-pounder, he possesses an additional equally important virtue, "He's got a great spirit," pointed out the coach. "His mental toughness is outstanding."

This quality was most evident as Swanger won three games in a six-day span (March 20-27), pitching an 11-inning 2-1 win over Western Chester (Pa.), State, five frameless no-hit win over Indiana (5-3) in-bitting decision over Widener (Pa.) and an exciting 3-2 victory over Pennsylvania State, a 1-0 frameless win over the Pennsylvanians. The last victory, in the 10th inning, featured FITU in appearances, games started, complete games and innings pitched in addition to being leading winner with an 8-2 mark with a sparkling 1.55 earned run average.

The competitive 23 year old feels he is pitching "as well or better than ever before."

"I'm throwing harder than I ever have before and don't have to rely on the breaking pitches as I did last year," Swanger's record fell to 3-6 last season at Seminole after an outstanding 9-2 mark as a freshman. His other pitches are a curve and straight and change. "The changeup really helped against Tennessee," I got four pop ups on that ball," he said.

Swanger chose FITU over Pittsburgh, Purdue, Michigan, and Auburn among others "because I knew I would get a chance to pitch here. I also wanted to stay in the area."

The right-hander hopes for a possible pro career and according to Holmquist, the 1975 pitcher only "needs more pitch" to realize his goal. Swanger's nickname? "Cobra." He has been recruited by the Central Florida Amateur Football League. The program will offer scholarships to players, utilize skills, and develop a coaching staff and coaching program. The Fordham grad will be the assemblage of a "pitching corps" that distinction belongs to junior Sam Swanger. Freshmen Steve Bryant and Doug Hull might be at the bottom of the FTU tennis team's lineup at No. 5 and No. 6 respectively, but last Wednesday afternoon, the dynamic duo stood tall on the court as they won the No. 3 doubles match to give the Knights a hard-fought 5-4 win over South Florida.

The 15-16 Knights, now winners of their last eight matches, received their biggest obstacle of their win streak when they hosted a powerful Miami squad this past Wednesday.

FTU will close its most successful campaign on the road with crosstown rival Rollins, next Wednesday 2:30 p.m. The Knights have never beaten the Tars on the tennis court.

Trevor Graham continued to play steady tennis as he defeated Griff Lamkin 6-4, 6-4. The Golden Brahmans started to stir up some dust for a comeback in the doubles as Lamkin and Falinski defeated Lucci and Graham in straight sets 6-3, 6-4, in the No. 2 doubles. FTU's lead temporarily was erased as DeZeeuw and Smith lost to Olen and Alvardo got by 6-4, 6-4.

Match Point: Smith's match with Olen was halted for a half-hour when Smith disagreed on Olen's match point call. After confering with the two coaches, Smith double-faulted to end the match. Lucci also had trouble with Falinski on line calls, with Bryant winning at No. 5. Graham has been responding with a winning touch at No. 6. Bryant's getting the better of the American's softer tennis ball. Bryant's brown socks worn in last match with Falinski on line calls... with Florida's. Bryant turned in another strong performance to beat Carlos Alvarado 6-2, 7-6 at No. 1.

Bryant's brown socks worn in USF match was a riot to teammate Marc Gunther, craved once again with a good part of it at the end... match took over four and a half hours...Knights already getting psyched up for the Rollins' clash.

There was no love-lost in the No. 2 match between Nate Smith and Oscar Olaa. Time after time, the match was halted due to questionable calls by Olen, Smith, hampered by interruptions, couldn't get his momentum as he lost 6-2, 6-4. Team captain Joe Lucci used straight sets to dispose George Falinski 7-6, 6-4 in his No. 3 match. Lucci has now won ten of his last 11 singles matches.

In the remaining singles, Mike Bryant surprisingly admitted he wasn't playing well right now but it's my confidence that is winning the matches for me.

Book 1-Year Program

The FTU Foundation has announced a "Book in a Year" program that will establish a memorial to a family member, friend or business associate, and answer an educational need as well.

The new program is based upon an initial contribution of at least $250, according to Dr. William K. Grady, executive director of the Foundation. The money is invested and interest is used to purchase at least one book annually for the FTU Library.

Each of the books will contain a bookplate indicating the name of the person in whose name the memorial is established. Grady said the fund can purchase books in that person’s particular field of interest, such as history, engineering, biology, religion and so forth. Under the conditions of the program, the annual memorial books will be presented to the Library "forever," said Grady.

Information on the Book in a Year program may be obtained by contacting the FTU Foundation T.D. Box 2000 Orlando or by calling 275-2389.
