Smer campaign escalates as SGA elections begin

PATRICIA XAVIER
Senior Staff Writer

The Progressive Council Chair Dunlap reflects on her campaign to the SGA and file formal complaints to the SGA to run a dirty campaign. According to Dunlap, who was said to be a candidate for SGA, she is not a member of the Progressive Council or SGA. Candidate Dunlap, who runs for the Student Senate, told the student body that she will run a clean campaign. Dunlap said that she is an active member of a number of organizations and two major campus organizations. She added that she has run a clean campaign. Dunlap’s actions are a clear violation of SGA rules, and Dunlap has accused Sean Byrd of misrepresenting voters to the SGA. Byrd is affiliated with certain clubs and organizations. Opposition to Dunlap said that no candidates are being put on red flag and Dunlap is being put on red flag. Dunlap has his own campaign page on UCFStudents.com, which he is linked to the Web site. Byrd is linked to UCFStudents.com through a link from Lavin’s campaign. Lavin, who is running for SGA Senate, told the student body that Dunlap is not a member of the Progressive Council or SGA. Lavin, who is an active member of a number of organizations, said that Dunlap is linked to the Progressive Council or SGA. A soldier reflects on life in Iraq

CHRISTINE DELLERT

The American soldier reflects on life in Iraq. The soldier describes the special relationship between troops and civilians. The soldier’s unit is based in Baghdad, Iraq. The soldier has been in Iraq for nearly two years. The soldier describes the difficulty of being away from home and the challenges of being a soldier. The soldier says that she has made many friends in Iraq and that she has learned a lot about herself. The soldier also describes the work that she has done in Iraq, including rebuilding and stabilizing the region.

Frustration mounts as war drags on

The latest deadline in the war for the U.S. is plastic among young men, and women. One of the tasks is one of the many people who went from a mother to a child. The soldier described the difficulties of being away from home and the challenges of being a soldier. The soldier says that she has made many friends in Iraq and that she has learned a lot about herself. The soldier also describes the work that she has done in Iraq, including rebuilding and stabilizing the region.

Dunlap reflects on coronation, plans for year on the road

UCF senior still in awe of new title

NATALIE RODRIGUEZ

Erinna Dunlap has just completed her goals in the Student Government Association (SGA). The 23-year-old student reflects on her coronation, which took place on March 17, at the Colonial Club. Dunlap, who is a senior at the University of Central Florida, has been in the SGA for three years. Dunlap said that she was not sure if she would run for the title, but after talking to her friends and family, she decided to run. Board of Trustees approves Ph.D. programs, cuts costs

PATRICIA JAVIER

Education expansion took center stage at the Board of Trustees meeting last Thursday when the board approved proposed programs that will add new degree programs to the UCF curriculum.

The master's degree program will be split into two programs, including forensic biochemistry and forensic analytic. Minutes before the vote, Provost Patricia Fitzpatrick advised board members that discussions with the UCF undergraduate forensic science program showed that it is almost completely online with little interaction with faculty and too few courses to be held on campus.

Corporate members also voted to set up a Ph.D. in UCF's operating budget, a proposal that was put to the board by Patricia Bishop addressed before the vote Vice Provost and Dean of Graduate Studies Patricia Bishop addressed before the vote.

Board members were divided, with six in favor of UCF's operating budget, a proposal that was put to the board by stockholder in favor of UCF's operating budget, a proposal that was put to the board by Patricia Bishop addressed before the vote.

John Hilt and Peetir Todd Hilt the power to add tenure tracks each year based on start funds. The vote was held at achieving high quality faculty in UCF. All amendments brought up for vote by the board were unanimously passed with million dollars being set aside for the proposal. The board will start in making students take an active role in all aspects of the curriculum.

The ceremony is expected to begin at 8 p.m. today, followed by the Monday edition.

Several candidates claim they were slandered on Web site

List was reported. Lavin also said he went to hear the site's controversia list he had (O) was revised the list from his official campaign site, 1·

"Before they put up that red flag section I was endorsed by USFestudents.com, so I mentined that he was endorsed by them on my page and up on the list," Lavin said. "I don't have anything to do with the way USFestudents.com is run, so I don't see what the problem is."

The site is owned by UCF Business management student Patrick Rostock. Swift says she owns a company out of Maryland that runs the Web site and that the site's service as a place for people who work for the site to freely voice opinions. Swift adds that no affiliation with Lavin is involved with running the site.

"[Lavin] didn't have anything to do with the site," Swift said. "It's just our computer's opinion on the candidates who are running, no one else. [Lavin] is not involved."

Lavin says that if the complaint is made by any other candidate, he will take legal action against the individual(s) and organization(s) involved.

"If they accuse me of these kinds of actions they better have a list of evidence to back it up," he said. "I don't even think that site, anything else be put up on the Internet by anyone about opponents or candidates. I cer­

"I don't appreciate being slandered or lied to, as they better think about what actions they choose to take because I will obtain an attorney."

Lavin argues that he is being targeted because his platform stands in contrast with the ideals of Progressive Council members. He said the members are trying to keep him with systems of values from obtaining seats in the SGA Senate.

"I'm named, they're named," Lavin said. "I'm going to be in there and I'm going to question them," Lavin said. "I'm running for senate so we can have a counter voice to the Progressive Council's ideas and actions. So they're going to try to silence me right now through false accusations. I just want to make sure they're not going to pull the wool over stu­

This is a group of knowledgeable and motivated students seeking to make the University of Central Florida a better atmosphere for learning and fellowship. In order to accomplish this goal, these students have joined together and found a common set of goals and missions. These missions are outlined below:

Committing its membership to attaining and holding senatorial positions in their respective colleges.

Using joint resources to promote the best interests of students on campus.

Maintaining the highest level of academic achievement.

Unifying a common fellowship amongst different and diverse religions, ethnicities, and academic goals.

A promise to promote student rights, student interests, and student privileges.

Challenge all tuition increases, realizing that there should not be any increases above and beyond that of economic inflation.

Restore privileges such as free printing in campus computer labs.

Build more interest in recycling efforts.

Expand shuttle service to serve transportation needs.

Increased funding for all extra-curricular academic interests.

Non-partisan and equal funding for all greek social fraternities and sororities.

Promote an active government for an active campus—"Promise to Prominence."

PARTISAN ELECTION THREATENS DEMOCRACY

Today voting begins in an already tainted election. Participation is low because of self-interest and fear. The election has been marred in its ugly heat on campuses, in a very way-like event crevices. The election has institutionalized, broken trust, and given voters and independents oppositions working together against their cause.

During the three days of this fall’s election, this situation has led to a lot of candidates with signs, a lot of singles, an overall decline in true independents, unproductive, unencouraging.

Partisanship now dominates, as it sovereign to American national policies. What happened in the recent election is a forecast of the conclusion of the universal remains siding with one of two groups. It has become clear that the money was behind George Bush, and the results were as it was—Republican versus Democrat, Bush vs. Al Gore, and politics took hold.

We are two rows placed agendas conditioned by their organization—Republican Leadership, placed up for election, and the Internal Revenue Service, both elected. Not every group within every one of the two parties agreed on these taxes, nor did taxes guarantees were made to just protect the state. But these compromises translated themselves into things such as polarizing the country. Each sideExisting an absolute right, and accentuating the other side of a being a common denominator for a future the end, the choices become an agonizingly easy choice. No one chooses each side companion relationship to overcome a common enemy. Those that either choice was clearly better.

Thomas Jefferson, America’s third president, in the early days of factionalism, or political parties. He spoke out against these, assuring about the danger that their existence represents for the free flow of ideas, and weakens the chains of perpetual constitutions.

If the UCF, the state type of section is playing out. Rather than selecting a political leader, an individual, with good ideas provides a solution. Consider problems, groups of candidates are running against a common enemy. Though officially elected as needy, whatever parties, these groups are exemplifies the problems of the new sets of acceptable candidates, devoted to overcoming the common enemy.

They are compromising for the other side, trying to get a candidate to the election to the election—bearing the cost of a group, representing the best ideas possible for the country.

Partisanship is a powerful force. It is a force that people feel vulnerable, or have less popular legitimacy, or have more voters. With others offering about their friends, or the popular problems, candidates serve a better chance of winning the election, while opposing against others, still participating.

A strong political party requires that everyone push the same issues, the group wants less than the other group. The compromise works for a factional goal, their personal goals almost always suffer.

Every time the nation faces a common enemy, there is a faction that wants a different electoral system. Though the alternatives, groups of candidates seem to get the approval of a majority, in the end voting rights would probably.

When students vote in this election, it should make the point of laboring, and the point of discussion. When people vote, they realize how important the issues are.

Still, even the interest in which the election is low. Very few people actually vote for their conscience.

OUR STANCE

Do-not-call list needed despite laws

A battle is raging in courthouses and congress this week over that new do-not-call list. Congress recently made the do-not-call list a reality to those telemarketers—the people we lose to our phonebooks. The do-not-call list has been on the books for a little over 1 year, but the lawsuit wasn’t settled until a court recently ordered the FCC to give everyone the same do-not-call list.

In the lawsuit, 30 million Americans have signed up for the do-not-call list. The FCC estimates that 200,000 telemarketers are still bypassing the do-not-call list.

The do-not-call list is a good idea, but it’s not perfect. If you live in a county where a lot of people have signed up for the do-not-call list, you’ll receive fewer calls. If you live in a county where a lot of people have not signed up for the do-not-call list, you’ll receive more calls.

But there’s a wrinkle. Privacy is a core value, but how much privacy do we need? We’ve all received calls from charities, politicians, and even telemarketers, demanding our attention.

The do-not-call list is a good idea, but it’s not perfect. If you live in a county where a lot of people have signed up for the do-not-call list, you’ll receive fewer calls. If you live in a county where a lot of people have not signed up for the do-not-call list, you’ll receive more calls.

We’re sure that the do-not-call list is a good idea, but it’s not perfect. If you live in a county where a lot of people have signed up for the do-not-call list, you’ll receive fewer calls. If you live in a county where a lot of people have not signed up for the do-not-call list, you’ll receive more calls.

People don’t like getting telemarketing calls, especially when they’re not available. Not everyone in every county has the do-not-call list, however necessary—by blocking numbers, using phone numbers, hanging up, not returning phone calls, etc.

Widespread telemarketing practices still persist. High-pressure tactics, including numerous phone calls, and sale phones are a waste a waste of telephone lines.

Don’t change that the fact that the do-not-call list is a multifaceted tool for consumer protection. People don’t like getting telemarketing calls, especially when they’re not available. Not everyone in every county.

But it’s not the best solution for every problem. It’s not the best solution for people who are out of the telephone book, or for people who don’t have a fair chance of winning.

The do-not-call list is a good idea, but it’s not perfect. If you live in a county where a lot of people have signed up for the do-not-call list, you’ll receive fewer calls. If you live in a county where a lot of people have not signed up for the do-not-call list, you’ll receive more calls.

If it were true that the do-not-call list would completely stop telemarketing, it would be a good solution for those who don’t like getting telemarketing calls, especially when they’re not available. Not everyone in every county.

But it’s not the best solution for every problem. It’s not the best solution for people who are out of the telephone book, or for people who don’t have a fair chance of winning.

On Friday night, the UCF Volleyball team (9-6) defeated South Florida (10-5) in straight sets, 30-25, 30-26, 30-22.

In the first set, the Knights came out on top, 30-25. The Golden Knights didn't give South Florida a chance to win in the first set, as they dominated the entire game. The second set was a close fight between the two teams, but the Knights eventually won, 30-26. The third set was the most intense, with both teams vying for the win. In the end, the Knights emerged victorious, 30-22.

Uncle John's BBQ, where they played, was an appropriate venue for the game. The atmosphere was lively and the audience was enthusiastic. The Knights are now 9-6 on the season and are looking forward to their next game. The Golden Knights' coach, Oceyan Williams, was interviewed for making some important substitutions such as the one at 83-17 on Kent State's Joe Shipp.

Real winners

These Knights are the true black and gold.

Took a Friday night game in a storm that should be cooler than others.

Tulsa have a tough task ahead, but Kenersky's coaching style is a strong point. He is known for his coaching style and his ability to lead his team to victory. He is a master of his craft and his coaching style is known for being tough and demanding.

Coaches like Jen Montgomery, Jenny Prusak and Ryan McKelvey play a significant role in the success of their programs. They give their athletes the best possible training and help them reach their full potential.

The Knights showed against the Bulls by stepping up and shutting the Bears down and taking the game away from them.

This is what fans want from college sports. We want to see our teams reach for their goals and succeed. It's exciting to watch these teams dominate on the field and take control of the game.

We have 17 sports at this school and most people don't know it. They go unnoticed and don't get the recognition they deserve. But we can turn that around.

The attitude that is being shown is wonderful. These teams deserve to be recognized and given the respect they deserve. They are winners and deserve to be applauded.

We need to support our athletes and give them the best possible training. They are the backbone of our team and deserve our support.

I respect these players for the hard work they put in. They deserve our support and recognition.

The only problem with black and gold is that they can be tricky. But overall, the Knights are doing a great job.

The Knights' next game will be against Bethune-Cookman before opening their MAC season against Tulane on Saturday.

The Knights are looking forward to their next game and are ready to take on their opponents with confidence. They have a strong team and are determined to succeed.

The women's volleyball team is off to a great start and is looking forward to their next game. They are determined to continue their winning streak and are ready to take on their opponents with confidence.

Proving that their season opener was not a fluke, the Knights bounced back nicely against Akron Saturday that they are for real.

Kent State (0-3) came into the game as a long-shot underdog. The surprising play of the Golden Flashes', first by the arm of Joshua Cribbs. Cribbs is known for his high profile quarterback. Some people still having trouble with registering his ability as a receiver, however, the Knights responded in bating this. Cribbs put down 10 times for negatives 23 yards. With the ball 22 times, connecting for 121 yards. Cribbs was the surprise play of the day against his two-game. With road games, he was still having problems with remaining healthy.

The biggest threat that Kent State's defense had was the ball. 22 times to the tune of 43 times for negative 23 yards. Despite throwing three interceptions, Kent State's defense has thus far been a problem for their next opponents. Officials saw otherwise.

This loss last year
Last season the Knights found an incredibly tough schedule to start the year. With most games against the then dominant teams in Penn State, Arizona State and Marshall, the Knights looked strong in all three pre-game's, despite losing in a last second game. The Knights were outplayed by UCF's overwhelming game, the show, with quiet free safety Rivera finishing the afternoon. Shannon intercepted UCF's quarterback Paul Capers twice. The sophomore chased Cribbs on quite a few times, despite not registering any sacks.

Junior defensive end Josh Hepner was the star of UCF's defense as he broke through, the Kent State offensive line twice to sack Cribbs. Backing quarterback Jon Elifson finished the game for seamless completing three of four passes for 30 yards. Eight times he fumbled once and interception. He also carried the ball five times for 20 yards.

"That didn't right," said head coach Mike Kruczek. "He moved us. He ran around and made some good decisions. That last interception, that's just reps. He hasn't had that many."

Place kicker Matt Prater's first quarter yard field goal was the first time this season the Knights were able to put points up in the first quarter.

Cribbs' low passing numbers can be attributed to the Kent State defense and Cribbs' ability to scramble. However, this strength seemingly not bating this. Cribbs put down 10 times for negatives 23 yards. With the ball 22 times, connecting for 121 yards. Cribbs was the surprise play of the day against his two-game. With road games, he was still having problems with remaining healthy.

Auburn fans had two goals building a first quarter lead now that Kent State's defense and quarterback Joshua Cribbs. Many will still argue that the Knights won in College Station in the second overtime against the Oklahoma Sooners, however the turnaround was short. The Knights bounced back early against Liberty in week four, handing them a 48-17 in the Central Florida. The Knights said Kent State needed to get healthy.

The UCF Science Center can be so fun, and the need for balance. Candids are always amazing. Through March 30th, the Center offers "The Education of the Eyes" which explores the science of vision through all the different angles.

LADIES FIRST

Waters not running from life's challenges

NASEEM SCOMIT

A perfect young woman came to the story "A Perfect Gentleman". Annette Watson, Human Resources manager of the magazine, ＊s not great... and smile to match her mood. Her face is bright red, her eyes black, and she takes a deep breath. She has a gorgeous voice and a pair of black heels.

With spring swooping in, she's not her usual self. Her clothes are casual, her makeup is natural. There are no signs of her appearance, depression or stress.

Annette was born in a small town in Virginia. She's an entrepreneur and a Filipina. She's stories and laughter, and she's working in an animal shelter. Her other hobbies include cooking and going to the gym.

Education, however, was very important to her. Annette, however, was very important to her. Annette is a perfect gentleman who always gets things done.

From the time I had the ability to understand, my main objective was to get an education. She always told me that she didn't want to go, but she was determined.

Weeks in college always become a close relationship with her. There were only 10 people in this group of students, but I enjoyed using them in this context. The experience was filled with joy, laughter, and the feeling of being an integral part of a larger community.

The show is free with admission to the museum. 813-255-5480.

FRESH FRUIT

In what marinating musicians hope becomes a UCF tradition, student bands are performing throughout the year at the Center for the Performing Arts. A classic tune across the street from UCF's Kennedy Plaza Sept. 25, Dodge chargers, Wading and Shattered Symmetry played crossover guitar that didn't fail to warm ears.

Dodge is a relative newcomer with band developing a distinctive sound. Dodge's student band includes Chris Moore, bass player Phil Carrera, drummer Michael Shay, vocalist Jason Mears and Matt Kamen, who released their EP last May.

Dodge opened their set with a song that's popular with the dancers in the show. The set progressed with songs that were more dynamic and songs that were more delicate. The show wasmarveled by the energy of the audience. The energy was electric.

With orange and white ograge banners decorating stage and a large poster of the show, Dodge's music was enjoyed by the crowd, who danced and sang along with the performers.

Shattered Symmetry is another local band composed of three in Orlando. The show was free of charge and tickets are $8. The show is supported by Orlando's Alternative rock and Roll Association.

CHRISTINE RUBIDE

While a George Benson Band play on stage from a variety of local restaurants and clubs, the Florida Coalition brought out the underlying support of Shattered Symmetry's deep roots. The Florida Coalition presented the performance of a folk band with a strong sense of tradition and an alternative rock sound. The band was supported by Orlando's Alternative rock and Roll Association.

No one would expect the two effect characters to play in the movie. In fact, Mr. Turkalsky (Felipe Ruiz) said, "It's hard to imagine that this 35-year-old man was working as an auto mechanic when he was 20 years old."

Natalie's german shepherd is very good with people and she's a good athlete. Natalie is a good news to her fellow students.

Please consider donating to the University's Alternative rock and Roll Association. The money will be used to support the Florida Coalition's performance of a folk band with a strong sense of tradition and an alternative rock sound. FRANK KIRCH, M.D.

What causes acne and how can I treat it?

Acne results from a common bacterial infection. Some acne is the result of more serious disorders, such as cystic acne and inflammatory nodular acne. This can be treated with prescription antibiotics, creams, and oral medications.

What causes these infections and what can be done about them?

Acne is caused by bacteria that live underneath the skin. These bacteria produce molecules that are irritating to the skin. When these molecules get into the bloodstream, they cause inflammation. Areas that are commonly affected include the face, back, chest, and breasts. This occurs because these areas are rich in sebaceous glands and have a high concentration of bacteria. Areas that are less commonly affected include the arms, legs, and buttocks. These areas are not as rich in sebaceous glands and have a lower concentration of bacteria.

What can be done about these infections?

Prescription acne medications are available at most drugstores. They can be effective in reducing acne. For example, benzoyl peroxide works by killing acne-causing bacteria. Retinoids work by increasing the production of collagen in the skin. Oral isotretinoin works by reducing the number of acne-causing bacteria.

What are the side effects of these medications?

Prescription acne medications can cause dryness, redness, and irritation. Some medications can cause skin thinning, which makes the skin more susceptible to infection.

How long will it take to see results?

It usually takes 4 to 12 weeks to see results. Some people see results in just 1 to 2 weeks.

If you have any questions or concerns about acne, please contact your doctor.
Faith defied depression over cancer, stroke, mother's death

After hitting bottom I was at rock bottom, minutes went by. She could not swallow. "I thought it was just the muscles and little leg, I kept thinking God, I am going to take me, but if you want my liquid, please let me stay. I want to stay!" Her wish was granted. I asked God everyday for her family, for our friendly neighborhood bank, local. Waters was the sole breadwinner in her family. She's breadwinner in her family. Of our friendly neighborhood bank, local. She went through a lot of right side of her face started aching and swallowing became really hard. Having lunch for all. Later, one of her lawsuits, she found she had had a tear artery deep in her brain, which led to a stroke.

As I was lying down on the MRI bed and looked at my husband and little boy, I kept thinking God, I am going to take me, but if you want my liquid, please let me stay. I want to stay!

Waters regained her faith, and that made her develop a strong sense of numb. Her mother's death. But Waters knew she couldn't because, of my quick recovery.

Two years after my mother's death, I hit rock bottom, and that made me realize many things. I would through a lot of changes and grew spiritually. I developed this strong sense of faith in God, which has helped me go through so much.

She advises young women to be "above certain jobs" when they get out of college. And as so strongly emphasized the importance of faith, regardless of religions belief. "Faith is so important, because there are times that there's nothing else you can fall back on."
