Flags fly today

ROCK looks beyond SGA Senate and raises money on its own

BEN BARDET

After the UCF Senate denied its request for the money, a campus student group appealed to the university's Board of Trustees to receive an offer to display an American flag in all UCF classroom buildings.

The first of the banners will be hung this month, starting with the student group "Rockus." Pamela said the court classrooms had not been determined as of last week.

"We certainly didn't please the flags. It was an important issue," she said. UCF students have supported the flag project and were upset to learn that they were the last to add their voice.

At the same time, members of the student group Campus Peace Action distributed flyers throughout the Student Union that denounced Barks's views and his participation in making the decision about the flags.

Job experience lacking

Expectations and signing bonuses. 82 percent of students in the survey said they expect the job market to improve in 2003 and 2004, "millennials graduating in the summer of 2003 had more opportunities and more offers than candidates who graduated in the summer of 2002," Pollock said. "That was true for undergraduates as well as graduate students. I think it relates to the fact that employers continue to see students as a good source of leadership talent that they want to bring into their firms."

Some sources of employment: new greater growth than others.

"We did see the number of applicants and interviews in some areas decline this year," he said. "Some industries like oil on pretty strong or saw an increase and those industries included aerospace, defense companies and retail companies. Over the past couple of years we've seen a slow increase in industries such as manufacturing, pharmaceuticals and biotech."

Professor of economics Robert Pennington said students would find more job openings only if the economy improved. Like many national economists, Pennington said that trade and political stability are factors that can help stimulate economic growth. Most economists, including Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan, have said the biggest problem for the labor market recently has been lack of business optimism. Businesses have been leery about adding people because of uncertainty about the effect of instability in the Middle East.

Even many of the more optimistic experts don't think the slim gains are going to continue for long. Solitude Pennington, director of UCF's Career Resource Center, wanted to national and regional growth trends and that it takes time for different job markets to start bouncing around. "Overall, for college graduates there are some good trends," Parker said. "It's certainly hundreds were over it was a few years ago. But the best five years have been the worst job market I've ever seen for college graduates. Even in a good job market, so employers do not have to keep top dollars in order to attract students. Students are competing against other recent graduates and experienced people who have significant experience, and directly students are a disadvantage."

In Florida, the service order to strong and the manufacturing side is failing," Parker said. But locally and statewide, the job outlook is improving in fields such as accounting, education, retailing, financial services, and government and insurance. "While his research and his company's research shows the Internet is becoming a popular tool for job placements, Parker said there are more reliable approaches. Parker suggests that there are more secure resources when looking for employment. "The Internet and classifieds can be a black hole that students stick their time into," she said. "Recognize that your resume may not stand out among hundreds of thousands of other candidates. Over 70 percent of jobs are obtained through networking, references and directly contacting the person who has the power to hire you. Otherwise students should do research with their campus career center," Krysan said that registration for UCF career center helped her land a job a year before she graduated. Pennington said that it will take time before the job market and economy shifts. This cuts and high economic growth this quarter are beginning to be felt, but it could take months before the rate of economic growth begins to appear. "When high school and college graduates graduate in May or June, what do they do? They look for jobs. So measured unemployment rates in 2003," Pennington said. "It's no surprise. When schools start again in August and September, it goes down because many students are no longer looking for jobs."

"There are many things that do take to make themselves more attractive to potential employers," Parker said. Companies look for candidates who have good academic records, have been involved in leadership activities, who show an interest in doing the job and who display integrity. "Experience is now assumed to be part of the package," Parker said. National the trend is that nearly three-quarters of all graduating students have job experience. In a survey we did, we saw that our students participated in half that role, but that's a decent level for our students, because they are not necessarily getting the experience they need."

Even if students lack experience, there are steps they can take to help themselves," Pollock said. Students who give in, candidates during the fall market so well as the best market in that they really need to be prepared," Pollock said. "They need to think about what it is that they really want. From a job, research the company they are interviewing with, and be able to explain why they would love to be at that company."

Women's soccer edges Miami, remains unbeaten

ASHLEY BURNS

UCF women's soccer beat the Miami Hurricanes on Saturday, 1-0, at FAU Stadium. It's the Knights' second consecutive win in a similar defensive matchup.

Both teams displayed great defense throughout the game, but the Knights (5-1-3) finally broke the ice in the 109th minute by sophomore Courtney Faster. Prior to Faster's goal, freshman goalkeeper Alice Adams kept the Knights off the board.

While Adams put on a five-star defensive display against Miami (2-7), the day belonged to UCF's trio of goalkeepers: Adams, senior Emma Baines and sophomore Mackenzie Southam. The three combined to shut out the Hurricanes throughout the game, but Southam only had to make two saves on the day to record her first shutout as a Knight.

Despite her flawless performance, Baines admits the competitive ladoon was there.

"It was a reasonable amount," said Baines. "especially after our goal was scored, just keeping the score the way it was.

"It was definitely a relief, without a doubt," said Southam of last night's goal.

UCF Head Coach Amanda Coons called it a game of chance that ended in victory for the Knights.

Southam said, "We fought hard and it was a challenge at the end. We are really tired and we had to fight to keep the ball out of our net. We were pressing in our own end. We had some people step up big, I think Ju on had a great game.

Southam had a whole open scoring opportunity in the second half when defender Emma Black had a 10-yard-angle shot against Southam. Mack's shot sailed high and deflected off the crossbar.

"Coincidentally escaping with a big save pulls your whole team up," said Southam. "It's definitely a lift for everyone.

UCF's defense was even stronger than expected in the return to the Sunshine State. But this time, it was the Hurricanes who were scoring goals. It was a great deal of pressure and for us to come away with a victory, it's incredible.

Losing 3-0 of 4 to the Gators, the Florida State-based team will be looking to bounce back this week against the UCF Knights.

Knights stumble

Lose 3 of 4 in volleyball tournament

MATTHEW DEKUMBA

For Jenny Pruck and Kelly Klinkenberg, their return home to the Continental Coastal was not arranged to a juncture against the Hurricanes. However, for the two Colorado natives and the rest of the UCF Volleyball team, it was anything but lonesome.

The weekend saw the Knights struggle with a 1-4 mark to open the season at the University of Miami Invitational. UCF finished in fifth place scored, the only team with a losing mark for the tournament.

On Friday UCF got off to a slow start against Denver and Colorado at the Miami Invitational. The Knights dropped both matches, three goals to none.

In the afternoon match against the Pioneers (7-10) 24-20, 26-24, 25-23) junior Tory Harner led the way with 19 kills. Junior Amanda Snaman had 14 kills and senior Brooke Dillman's second-place finish was 12 kills.

Amanda Dillman's second-place finish was 12 kills.

The home crowd, excitable and boisterous, boisteroused the Hurricane defenders.

"It's always a great way to start off the season," said Dillman. "I was so impressed each time I watched the players and the fans that I was getting ready to play the players and the coaches.

Knights falter offensively in opener

The Knights men's soccer team traveled south and weather conditions were not favorable for play in the Big East last year. Midfielder Mike Cuse recorded its second goal of the Eastern Conference season against the Knights in the second half and scored the only goal in the 2-0 win.

The game was a classic of the Knights' first half, which included a 3-0 shutout of Kent State in their first game of the season. The Knights registered 15 shots and controlled the ball for most of the game, but was unable to score.

The game was a showcase of the Knights' ability to dominate the midfield and control the tempo of the game. However, the Knights were unable to convert their chances into goals and were held to a 0-0 draw by the Huskies.

On Sept. 27, the Knights played their first home game of the season against the Kent State Golden Knights, which upset then-No. 14 Tennessee in the 45th time. The Knights faltered offensively in opener and were outplayed and outran by the Huskies.

Knights open season with a 3-0 loss to the Kent State Golden Knights. The Knights scored the first goal of the season, but was unable to convert their lead into a win and was defeated by the Huskies.

The Knights will play their next home game on Oct. 11 against the Kent State Golden Knights. The game will be played at 7 p.m. at the UCF Soccer Stadium.
Flag display tainted by ignoring SGA

Our stance

"What's your view on ROCK finding funds for the flags elsewhere?"

Fallowing a two-month controversy, the U.S. Senate recently tried to end a quest by a group providing Confederate flags in all UCF classrooms. The Senate voted down a bill to give $142 million to the political group Tennessee-based Conservative Concerns, Inc., to purchase and display the flags. The same day, political and loud radio talk-show host Shannon Burke raised the issue through discussions in invitations. The flags first appeared at UCF Thursday. ROCK walked the flags through the Student Union, a regularly scheduled event.

As officials of ROCK's Physical Plant pointed out, the flags will be transferred for free. Expect to see some flags today in the classrooms as a test run.

Despite the best efforts of the Student Government, students, and September 2003 UCF seniors, the Senate still rejected the funding bill. When the Senate voted, 7 senators clearly were students. When senators voted, low student opposition. Senate rejected the funding and this flag issue took over the classrooms, and this flag issue took over the Senate meeting, let students vote on the issue.

The idea is simple, easy, and effective. The students will be affected by the facts. If students are affected by the facts, they will take action and call someone on the issue we are retardates, when in actually we're nothing wrong. Deadlines start with the word information, especially of this magnitude and impact, should become household necessities. We recognize you as an educated and intelligent group of people so it is you all at the Future that make absolutely certain that you know the truth.

ROCK win not worth the cost

On Sept. 4, Shannon Burke offered a traditional U.S. flag to ROCK on UCF's campus. Several television stations were there to cover the event and they reported that the Student Senate's rejection of the flag request. Flags would be going to the classrooms after all.

ROCK will try to overcome the objections of the Student Senate and many students and faculty will see a 'repressive victory.' (A victory gained at the cost of a good cause). The cost of these flags is not just one that is much more; it will not cost us in terms of mutual trust as people and it will not cost us in our money, since we have a lot of money in arbitrary late fees, I could see the waste of time in our efforts to do this. It will not cost us in our ability to have a meaningful dialogue, which is something that is obvious because officially sanctioned flags will be dropping the entire flag as a political statement this month, the Ripon paper says this is happening.

It will cost us not to have students participating in activities by doing an end-run around the Senate meeting, it seems to have accomplished its goal already; I don't mess up. You have to have a student voice, and I don't have any student opposition. Even more surprising, though, is that UCF continues to support this idea. When the Senator rejected the finding the report, senators clearly were students. When senators voted, low student opposition. Senate rejected the funding and this flag issue took over the classrooms, and this flag issue took over the Senate meeting, let students vote on the issue.

ADHD affects about 4% of the adult population. In other words, you're not alone.

People with ADHD often have symptoms such as:

- feelings of restlessness or impatience
- procrastinating or disorganized
- bored easily
- difficulty paying attention

If any of these symptoms sound familiar, you may qualify for a medical research study involving an investigational medication. Call for immediate evaluation. Eligible participants will receive a comprehensive psychiatric evaluation and compensation. Appointments always available.
