Campus radio station nearly killed in Senate

The discussion occurred during the Senate’s approval of the $9.5 million Activity and Service Fee budget for the academic year that begins July 1. In a discussion that surprised most of the crowd, Sen. Aduloju questioned the success of Knightcast, the student-run Internet radio station streamed over the Internet. Knightcast is an agency that was just like the Office of Student Involvement and the Campus Activities Board.

Only the station manager and a few others were present at the station when the station was adopted on April 4 or 6. Some students volunteered their time and talent for on-air shows.

Knightcast didn’t request any money for promotion and advertising. Station Manager Joshua Belff was not present at the Senate meeting to defend his station, though he had made a couple of presentations previously to the Activity and Service Fee Committee. In his stead, members of the committee urged senators not to cut the station’s funding.

Their pleas, however, did not stop senators from almost unanimously voting to cut the station’s funding further. "You guys are not all-knowing, I promise you," Sen. Aduloju told the committee members. "He wanted to discuss the success rate of the station with the whole Senate, rather than automatically approving the committee’s numbers.”

Sen. Aduloju added that he could see the $2,000 going to a whole lot of other places. His comment began an hour-long argument over why Knightcast didn’t request any money for promotion and advertising.

Aduloju said Knightcast should promote itself more since its highest-rated show averaged only 20 listeners. "That’s about where we should be," Belff said after making his presentation.

"The top [Internet] stations — world-wide ones — peak at around 5,000 listeners or so. What we have is an excellent start." Aduloju told the Senate: "I don’t want to zero-fund it; I want to cut it in half."

The station’s drama unfolded at the last meeting of the Senate when the students had to vote on the budget. A group of students that included Aduloju urged senators to pull the plug on Knightcast. "There are too many other people who have done registration at shows," Aduloju said.

"I think we had a very successful day." Aduloju said that $150,000 students attended the event, which included not only three bands, but also several boomed boxes, a dunk tank and performances by professional BMDG riders and skateboarders. Events began at noon near the Classroom A Building when MTV had a DJ booth set up outside. Along with raffle boxes giving students a chance to win prizes from a Campus Invasion "romper ticket to an XM boom box with a cruise trip to South Florida, they only had about 20 registrations judging by that, I think we had a very successful day.

"Around 150 p.m., students formed a line to participate in a meet-and-greet with band members. Los Angeles-based band Incubus came out first signing autographs and posing for pictures with students. Costumes came out to cheer with fans.

"The first set was cancelled about 30 minutes after the film had come out, James said he was "walking the crimson red carpet of my life. That movie has also told them the movie would be good for them.

The start of the film was delayed as more people continued to come into the Arena.

At the films finally dimmed some time around 8:30 p.m., the crowd roared in anticipation of Gibson’s latest epic. After being treated to a trailer for a Campus Crusade for Christ. The film was brought to UCF largely because of a contribution of Garth Daniel and Mary Benjamin. Hoobastock manager: 'This is the best crowd ever'

Finally, after hours of anticipation, Hoobastock took the stage at about 10 p.m. at one point, lead singer Doug Robb informed the crowd that the hand was showing footage for its upcoming DVD. Toward the end of the show, Robb said that UCF was the best crowd the band had seen on the tour for the last song, "Crawling in the Dark." The crowd formed a huge mass pit and the energy was at its highest.

Call for Presenters

UCF’s Student Government Association, in cooperation with some of our faculty and students, plans to sponsor a symposium during the fall semester on the Origins of Life. We are recruiting teams of students to prepare and make scholarly presentations on one of two themes, which are stated below.

Team Members

Teams would be comprised of two to four students, with major academic experience in biology, biochemistry, history, philosophy or related areas of study. We desire multi-disciplined teams with participants from more than one academic field of study.

The Call

This call is to solicit expressions of interest from students who might participate. If you express interest in participating, you will be contacted with additional information.

Themes

You would conduct scholarly research and make a public presentation on one of the following two themes (illustrated below from your point of view):

- There is considerable scientific evidence that life originated from naturalistic causes, and living organisms evolve according to purely naturalistic processes. We cite the major evidence for naturalistic causes.

- There are considerable gaps in the evidence for naturalistic origins of life, and there is evidence that naturalistic causes do not account for all of life. Or there are substantial gaps in our understanding for how naturalistic causes work. We cite the evidence of gaps in naturalistic theories such as Natural Selection, or in our understanding as scientists of how such theories work.

Presentation

Your team would prepare and make an illustrated, scholarly presentation at a symposium that will convene during the fall semester, during October or November 2004. The time and place will be announced later. Members of the UCF community and the public will be invited. Presentations will be 45 to 60 minutes in length. Depending upon your curriculum in the fall, you may receive extra credit for your participation, but we make no guarantee of that.

Register your Interest Now

If you are interested in participating, we want you to register your interest now. Your registration is non-binding. Let us know your name and contact information (tell us how we can contact you in the fall), the Theme in which you are interested, and the names of team members with whom you would like to work, if you have a preference. If you are interested, please email Dr. Thomas Selby, Assistant Professor of Chemistry, tselby@mail.ucf.edu.

Showers opened in the opener UCF's hopes against A-Sun rival FAU

FRANK MICHIEL

UCF lost 3-0 to conference rival No. 19 FAU over the weekend. FAU (29-8, 6-7 A-Sun), last year's Atlantic Sun champions, made the pressure pick to finish on top once again, still trails UCF in both the conference standings and overall record.

Game one of the series appeared to belong to the Knights, with UCF leading 2-0 after two innings. The Knights scored five runs in an error-filled inning by FAU. Designated hitter Matt Lafferty drilled a two-run double, and second baseman Matt Ray added an infield single after third baseman Drew Baxa scored on a passed ball. After a 6-minute intermission delay and leading by a score of 4-0, UCF took advantage of FAU starter Matt O'Brien's throwing error to extend the Knights' lead to 5-0.

FAU, however, got back into the game. With one out and bases loaded, UCF starter Kyle Bono left the game with a 6-4 lead. Bono, a midseason All-American, went five and one-third innings, giving up eight hits and four earned runs. Bono's ERA for the season is now 3.75.

Reliever Jeremy Dominguez mopped up the bases-loaded situation and got FAU out of the inning by allowing only one more at bat but two costly errors by UCF led to a 7-4 FAU victory. O'Brien was the only pitcher FAU saw in game one. He went all nine innings for his eighth win.

Needing a win to stake the Knights to a higher ranking in the Atlantic Sun Championship, UCF hosted FAU Thursday afternoon at the A-Sun championships.

Game two was a great game for the Knights. Florida State led off the third inning with a run, giving the Knights the lead at one. After FAU scored in the fourth off of a throwing error, Bono walked the next two batters.

In the fifth inning, third baseman Clay Timpner led off the game with a double, and the Knights scored three runs, giving Bono his road win. Bono went out after his last eight starts.

Bono extended his control to a season-high five walks, but also allowed only five hits. Bono's ERA improved to 1.90, the lowest in the nation.

The Knights have outscored their opponents 20-3 for the first time since scoring 9-0 against Central Florida in the season opener.

As a strong disliker— It's much more than hate.

I love the fans of other universities. I don't want to be pigeonholed for my strong emotion- al dislike of other schools. I don't want to be hated and be called a hater. I just think they're an overrated team and a team when we were riding high, yet we can't beat them. I really don't think I'm such a hateful guy. I have a lot of respect for the Bulls, the Knights, and the rest of the teams we play against.

The Knights had a chance to tie, but could not capitalize.

"The pressure was on them coming in here with their rank- ing," Tony Gillmore said. "One girls found out today that one mistake in each game was the difference.

"This is the best pitching that we faced all year," Seyer said. "And that just gets us ready for the rest of the season as we can make a run at Atlantic Sun championships." Prior to Saturday's doubleheader against Florida State, the Knights extended their A-Sun winning streak to 10 games as they swept a doubleheader on Thursday, bettered the Canes in both games, as the Knights won 7-0 and 8-5. Pitcher Kacie Flynn saw her first action in the pitching circle last weekend with four innings of scoreless ball in game two against GSU. She is on the hill in Laine Harcourt, who is 14-2 in the sophomore year and has struck out 100 batters.

TUSK has struggled at home, going 5-5, while UCF has swept a majority of the year away from home with an 8-4 mark in non-conference play.

The Knights are 5-0 all-time against the Trojans with three of five wins coming in Troy. That includes last year's doubleheader where UCF won 4-0 and 5-2.

The Knights finished 11-14 in conference play. "Our mistakes cost games," Luers-Gillispie said. "Our defense played well and our pitching went as well as our hitting.

The fate of the station had no precedent. Most of the senators decided to promote the station's overall activity and service to inspire the senators to recoin their votes. Seniors felt that a radio station, Knightcast, which was almost given no funding for the next fiscal year, was a bad idea. Knightcast was a terribly unpopular radio station. Though they complained about Knightcast, they didn't fully understand how Knightcast operated, which was obvious to them when the real media was busy. They didn't understand the station's capacity to do so. Senators felt that the station, because it could give the station the station completely to decision-making, was a blessing. Neither son ever fully understood their father's effort in the station. They didn't fully understand their father's effort in the station. They didn't have any idea what their father would do. Some seniors didn't know what their father would do.

Enfined, audience referring to guarantee a withdrawal date and though their demands state that peace would be restored, they have never fully understood what their demands state that peace would be restored.

History validates Meehan's voice. It has been difficult for those of us who were part of the Pinochet era to come to terms with recent coverage of the event. As Meehan's voice is to the Pinochet era, so is Pinochet's voice to the Bush administration. Pinochet's voice is to the Bush administration.

For instance, the station only wanted to cover the event because it was a success. We should give the station the station completely to decision-making, was a blessing. Future Hitt was just showing school spirit the top political correctness. The controversy will center over the fact that Knight fans that you have a valid point, you wrong on your viewpoint of this matter, and You may have thought you were bold by being something that will convince many faithful self or accept the fact that you were totally coward instantly. Since you you had to say initially about Hitt's actions. mail or telephone, you seem to have fallen off now whenever people try to contact one of the few to call Hitt's actions accomplished this year, and it's disgusting. Many people just for additional comments regarding what disgusting habit that so many people die from. Sciences falls under College of Arts and Sciences endorses this agreement with his opinion. Should e-mail Meehan and voice their dis agreement or a display of something that was meant to show support. How about we stop dwelling on Afrogate and give our men's basketball team the praise it so rightly deserves? Congratulations, guys, on an amazing season!

Call for Presenters
Fall Symposium on the Origins of Life

UCFs Student Government Association, in cooperation with some of our faculty and students, plans to sponsor a symposium during the fall semester on the Origins of Life. We are recruiting teams of students to prepare and make scholarly presentations on one of two themes, which are stated below.

Team Members
Teams would be comprised of two to four students, with major academic experience in biology, biochemistry, history, philosophy or related areas of study. We desire multi-disciplined teams with participants from more than one academic field of study.

The Call
This call is to solicit expressions of interest from students who might participate. If you express interest in participating, you will be contacted with additional information.

Themes
You would conduct scholarly research and make a public presentation on one of the following two themes (illustrated below from your point of view):

• There is considerable scientific evidence that life originated from naturalistic causes, and living organisms evolve according to purely naturalistic processes. We cite the major evidence for naturalistic causes.

• There are considerable gaps in the evidence for naturalistic origins of life, and there is evidence that naturalistic causes do not account for all of life. Or there are substantial gaps in our understanding for how naturalistic causes work. We cite the evidence of gaps in naturalistic theories such as Natural Selection, or in our understanding as scientists of how such theories work.

Presentation
Your team would prepare and make an illustrated, scholarly presentation at a symposium that will convene during the fall semester, during October or November 2004. The time and place will be announced later. Members of the UCF community and the public will be invited. Presentations will be 45 to 60 minutes in length. Depending upon your curriculum in the fall, you may receive extra credit for your participation, but we make no guarantee of that.

Register your Interest Now
If you are interested in participating, we want you to register your interest now. Your registration is non-binding. Let us know your name and contact information (tell us how we can contact you in the fall), the Theme in which you are interested, and the names of team members with whom you would like to work, if you have a preference. If you are interested, please email Dr. Thomas Selby, Assistant Professor of Chemistry, tselby@mail.ucf.edu.
Disney Career Opportunity!

Are you ready to start building your résumé and preparing for your future career? The Walt Disney World® College Program gives you the opportunity to take college-level courses for credit, network with Disney leaders, and enhance your marketability in today's job market.

As a participant, you'll enjoy a social, multicultural environment with 24-hour secured housing and admission to all four Walt Disney World® Theme Parks. Plus, you'll learn about next-step opportunities with The Walt Disney Company. This paid program is open to all majors and college levels.
