HIGHEST GPA AWARD TO SUSPENDED FRATERNITY

Phi Delta Theta

Phi Delta Theta — ranked by Fortune in its last spring listing as "most likely to prove group stagnation" when a member was found killed in a tree — was recognized by Greek Affairs for having the highest GPA among UCF fraternities. The occasion makes the second consecutive time Phi Delta Theta has earned the award and the first time in the history of UCF that a suspended fraternity has won.

"If we don't get off suspension, it is very much going to be the end of the organization," said Ralph Del Castillo, Delta Delta Theta president. Still, Rosenzweig said: "There's a definite time line, the deputy vice president of PDA, said he hopes these awards and the fraternity members' willingness to complete the prescribed disciplinary sanctions early will be considered by the Office of Student Rights and Responsibilities during a formal review in August. The only official blessing on PDA's return occurred when Sean Pierce, a four-year member of the fraternity, decided to give his sorority girlfriend a charm with the Phi Delta Theta logo on it.

Better hurry, because this DVD will self-destruct in 48 hours

For Buena Vista Home Entertainment.

The idea behind the new self-destructing system is that if blockbuster and other major rental companies make their profits through rental fees and late fees, Pircey-enabled DVDs could bring the industry to its knees. "It's a fraction of the DVD market that stops because of accumulated late fees," Weinstein explains. "As long as they don't do it, they lose money."

"This type of impulse purchase sells best in places people are already shopping at," said Braustein. The consumer buying on-Demand value, if anything, will increase. "They're appealing," he added.

But what happens if you're in the middle of watching your film at the very last minute?

"Don't worry — if you're in the middle of watching an eD at the 48-hour mark, it will be visible. But you watch the remainder of the film just like conventional DVDs," said Allison Widman, a publicist coordinator for Buena Vista Home Entertainment.

FLORIDA BARE MINIMUM GETS SCRUTINY

Students struggling to make ends meet could soon get some welcome relief as some state groups are pushing to raise Florida's minimum wage.

"The federal government has done absolutely nothing regarding the minimum wage over the last seven years," said Johnson. "In fact, it has been chosen to raise their minimum wage. Florida now has that choice."

Johnson is part of the joint effort between the Association of Community Organizations for Reform Now and Floridians for All to raise the minimum wage by a dollar in the state of Florida. If approved, Florida's minimum wage would be raised to $5.50 per hour. Currently, the groups are trying to get the matter placed on November's ballot. In fact, about Johnson, it is complicated in a way only bureaucracy can be.

He said the referendums first have to gather 488,786 signatures from registered voters who would support a measure to raise minimum wage. Those signatures have to be validated and approved by the Supervisor of Elections who then forwards the petition to the Attorney General's office to be reviewed for 30 days. The Supreme Court must also inspect the measure to ensure that it does not violate Florida's Constitution. Only after all the signatures are validated and the measure has the court's approval can the issue be placed on the ballot.

"It's like jumping through two hoops," Johnson said.

As of now, the groups have the 50,000 signatures.

Subleasing the way to go for those leaving

If you're looking for a place to live and you've already signed a lease for a year, you might be able to get some welcome relief, as two state groups are pushing to raise Florida's minimum wage.

Currently, all are available at retailers throughout the Orlando area, including 7-Eleven, Hess and Circle K.

Both parties try to attract youth vote

Republican, Democrats team with MTV for contest

At a time when political parties are at one another's throats over the war in Iraq and the forthcoming presidential election, a unique partnership between the Democratic and Republican parties and MTV is hoping to give young voters a voice in the political process.

For the first time ever, the Democratic National Convention Committee and the Republican National Convention Committee are sponsoring an open contest for high-school and college students. The winners will be given the chance to speak at the 2004 national conventions of their respective parties in a prime-time television audience.

The contest is a big part of MTV's "Choose or Change" campaign and "MyVoice," the college campus television revolution. "MyVoice is aimed to give these young-adult speakers a powerful opportunity to represent their generations, and to speak to a global audience on the issues important to them," said Stephen Friedman, general manager of MTV's in a press release.

Currently Republican students must respond to the topic "Why I'm up and off" — which takes students "Why is the president's proposed tax cut important and how have you demonstrated it?"

The Democratic option, titled "Speak Out For the Future," asks "Why should politics be important to youth and how can youth get more involved in the political process?"

Each party will select finalists from the pool of entries. Those finalists will appear on their respective party's national convention Web site, and the general public will be able to vote on who the final winner will be — based on short video segments.

The final winners will be seated in the front row of MTV's "Total Request Live" show.

"These partnerships with the DNC and DNCC reinforce the fact that both parties recognize the strength and importance of young adult voters in 2004," said Van Toffler, president of MTV and MTV2, in a press release.

The essays should be no more than 800 words and can be submitted to http://www.2004nycgop.org or http://www.DEvotees.org, depending on which contest is being entered. The deadline is Friday.

A new study indicates that the doses of caffeine included in regular intervals throughout the day may increase energy levels by 20 percent and can make a large caffeine intake in the day, more effective.

The study, which was conducted at the end of a two-week period, focused on the effects of moderate caffeine intake on sleep and performance. The participants were given a caffeine dose of 200 milligrams, which is the equivalent of two cups of coffee. The results indicated that the doses of caffeine included in regular intervals throughout the day may increase energy levels by 20 percent and can make a large caffeine intake in the day, more effective.

While the study was conducted in a controlled environment, the results may still be relevant in real-world settings. Further research is needed to confirm these findings and to understand the mechanisms underlying the observed effects.

Some fear a wage boost could raise prices

In addition to not being able to formally appeal any disciplinary actions, the fraternity was sanctioned for two years for the damaging of bail-out and bail-in hay during the incident in a written admittance.

All nine of the PFD members that were present turn in their essays two weeks after getting the news — about three months before they were due, said Drew Lavin, director of Greek Life.

The fraternity is also working on improving its presentation very seriously. "For Kiva Staines, a junior from the chapter, this was really easy. We went to the meetings and..." Lavin said.

In a time on campus and at our offices, the people interested in being fraudsters should raise prices — canceling out on the rise, he concluded...

...In return for their membership, the actual cost of the fraternity means to us and what it was worth to us. ‘As a new leader you’re not able to pick your members, but as a new leader you can actually decide whether or not you want to live with these people.’

There aren’t any objective study that exists to support this claim, he said. ‘There are only the facts, and the overwhelming claims every time.’

He said that these theories pop up every time a state plans on raising the minimum wage. ‘There has yet to be any “massive, the sky is falling type stuff” happen, he concluded.

Joel Rosenthal agreed, saying, ‘I think...’ Lavin said. "We haven’t had the opportunity to look for a new roommate yet, because I’ve been in the tray for months with my contacts."

Still, other students weren’t taking a calculated approach. ‘It was a good for everyone. Vicki Caro, a sophomore, said that a pay hike could cause some people to make too much money. ‘Some layers of assistance which would force us to fork over money. However, she’s not able to pick two things — provide assistance and avoid minimum wage."

Erica Bass couldn’t agree more. ‘I took over a friend’s rooms, but as a subleasing you can’t actually decide whether or not you want to live with these people.‘

Defendants in campus sex case get no jail time

MOREHEAD, Ky. — Four Morehead State University students have served no jail time for their roles in a campus sex scandal that resulted in $17,000 in claimed charges against them.

Judge Beth Maze heard testimony Monday from the prosecutor, Nathan Blackwell, and detective of the Morehead State Police. She then convicted two former Morehead students, Matthew Shannon and Emily Lightfoot, of posession of cannabis and five counts of possession of drug paraphernalia, according to police reports.

Shannon was charged with the possession of cannabis and drug paraphernalia, according to police reports.

I came as a shock to many students to be assigned a $800 late fee today for classes that won’t begin until the day after Labor Day. Yet late fees were assessed to those students who didn’t pay for their summer B classes by the end of the summer."}

Some students who are taking summer B classes signed up for them because they aren’t in town now and won’t be when summer classes begin. Others wanted to work during the first part of summer so that they could actually afford the classes they were taking in summer – as Florida Bright Futures scholarships don’t pay for summer classes.

Opposite was that if they signed up for summer B classes before the final deadline, they were fine when the fees for summer A, C and D were.

Without regard to those sons and others, UCF has assigned hundreds of late fees to students for classes they were taking more than six weeks ago. Some of those classes will be dropped by them, but the $800 late fee will be.

Yes, that’s correct. You could decide you didn’t want to take the class an entire month before it started and pay a $800 late fee for considering the class during a certain time period.

This statistic disproved for reasonable due dates at all.

Since... and even longer before... in its debut feature film, this eye-opening documenta ry has captured the attention of the world. With more than 500 screenings already, this film is the most talked about film of the year. "Super Size Me," directed by Morgan Spurlock, documents the fast food industry and its crippling effects on children. One radical idea reminiscent of Michael Moore at his most quixotic and caustic.

Seeing Other People (Limited release in May)

"Seeing Other People" is a wild ride on the wild side of the art world. It's a true story of an artist's journey through love, loss, and the love of art. The premise here is: What if you could see the future of your relationship before it starts? In the first-ever film starring Tim Allen as a doorman, "Seeing Other People" is a true story of an artist's journey through love, loss, and the love of art. The premise here is: What if you could see the future of your relationship before it starts? In the film you will find yourself seeing the love of your life as a man and a woman.

The Terminal (Release date June 16)

Deciding that old evil doers should die for the sake of the world, brothers Tim and Colin Hanks have come up with their very own version of the simple and classic World War II story of the resistance. In "The Terminal," the two brothers will star as their father, the late Christopher Plummer, and their father's resistance fighter. BURNING QUESTIONS

Life would be easier if I had another truffle shuffle.

Sometimes something happens and there’s just no explanation for it.

In fact, there are a lot of freak coincidences that seem to happen all of a sudden. I’m so brilliant, or the exact opposite, that the ideas that cross my mind are just so amazing that I’m literally just wondering about these phenomena. Sometimes I hope that some of these questions can be asked to the me, but in the time maybe they’ll bother you as much as they bother me.

Shouldn’t there be a constitutional amendment that college football must be played yearly?

I’m sure there will be a law that college football must be played yearly. I’m just wondering if there will be a law that college football must be played yearly.

I just can’t wait for the College Football Playoff to start.

I just can’t wait for the College Football Playoff to start. I’m just wondering if I will be able to watch it.

If I could change one thing about myself, I would change my name.

If I could change one thing about myself, I would change my name. It’s why I’m such a head case most of the time.

I always seem to have me baffled.

I always seem to have me baffled. It’s why I’m such a head case most of the time. I always seem to have me baffled.

“Hey Ya!”

“Hey Ya!”…“Hey Ya!”…“Hey Ya!”…“Hey Ya!”

I don’t know if it’s the fact that if I don’t know if it’s the fact that.

I don’t know if it’s the fact that. I don’t know if it’s the fact that.

I’m wondering about these phenomena.

I’m wondering about these phenomena. Why are they bothering me so much?

Maybe they’ll bother you as much as they bother me.

I’m wondering about these phenomena.

I’m wondering about these phenomena. Why are they bothering me so much?

Maybe they’ll bother you as much as they bother me.
Panthers held to two hits by Fox

The Panthers faced the University of Central Florida (UCF) on Saturday, April 8, at the Rollins Softball Complex. The game was part of a series against the Knights, and the Panthers were looking to improve their record after a recent loss.

The Panthers started the game with a three-run first inning, thanks tohome runs by Jenna Houghton and Andrea Hoegberg, along with a single from instragrammer Avery Baryla. The Panthers took a 3-0 lead into the top of the second inning, after a near-perfect performance by pitcher Britani Best, who allowed just one hit and struck out four batters.

However, the Knights responded in the bottom of the second inning, scoring two runs on a bases-loaded double by Sarah Stetson. The Panthers were able to add another run in the third inning, thanks to a single by britta Brietzel and a sacrifice fly by pitcher Best.

In the top of the fourth inning, the Knights tied the game at 4-4 on a two-run homer by Karlie Skye. The Panthers added another run in the bottom of the fifth inning, on a single by outfielder Lindsey Green. The Panthers took a 5-4 lead into the top of the sixth inning, but the Knights scored two more runs on a bases-loaded double by pitcher Liselotte and a two-out single by catcher Kayla Pritchett.

The Panthers retired the first two Knights batters in the top of the seventh inning, but the Knights scored two more runs on a bases-loaded single by catcher Kayla Pritchett. The Panthers added another run in the bottom of the seventh inning, on a single by pitcher Best, but the Knights scored two more runs in the top of the eighth inning, on a bases-loaded single by second baseman Kayla Pritchett.

The Panthers were unable to score in the bottom of the eighth inning, and the Knights added two more runs in the top of the ninth inning, on a bases-loaded single by catcher Kayla Pritchett. The Panthers retired the first two Knights batters in the top of the ninth inning, but the Knights scored two more runs on a bases-loaded single by catcher Kayla Pritchett. The Panthers were unable to score in the bottom of the ninth inning, and the Knights took the victory, 10-5.

Best of all, the Panthers' pitching was dominant throughout the game. Britani Best pitched a complete game, allowing just three hits and striking out nine batters. The Panthers' defense was solid, committing just two errors.

The Panthers are now 10-15 overall and 5-3 in conference play after the weekend series against the Knights. They will return to action on April 15, when they host the University of North Florida at the Rollins Softball Complex.
