Friday the 13th blows

U CF avoids serious storm damage

HEIDI A. D. VIHLES Staff Writer

UCF suffered minor cosmetic damage but nothing worse from Hurricane Charley, which moved through the region Monday with a direct hit on Orlando and left widespread damage across the state.

Neighborhoods near campus were among those where force winds stripped off roof tiles, tore siding from walls and trees splashed parked cars. The热带 and commercial conditions of University Bowl and Alafaya Trail still were largely without electricity and phones on Sunday afternoon, as were the residents of Lake Claire and Grene Isle.

Orange County officials were predicting it could take up to one week for all residents in the area to have their power restored.

Although the hurricane struck southwest Florida on Friday morning — a Friday the 13th — as a category-four storm, Charley had been downgraded to category two by the time its eye rolled over UCF about 9 p.m., with winds gusting up to 60 miles per hour. Fallen leaves with winds up to 45 miles per hour was tearing the harborside community of Punta Gorda, north of Fort Myers in Charlotte County, where several people died and many were missing.

On campus, the only significant damage reported was in the Recreation and Wellness Center, where winds tore a building roof off the roof that allowed water to seep into the facility. Arin Sugarman, of the Environmental Health and Safety Division of the UCF Physical Plant, said:

"Damage elsewhere at UCF will be easily remedied. A flattened fence that separated the Lake Claire community and Greek Row was ripped out of the ground. While fallen trees had mostly been cleared from roadways in the area by Saturday afternoon, an exception was University Boulevard, which remained blocked by a tree sprawled in the middle of the street. Two trees had fallen on Millikan Hall and were leaning against its frame Saturday, but didn't appear to cause any structural damage."

E-Passing you by on highways

Central Florida's pre-paid toll system helpful, faster

JESSIE C. HAMILTON Columnist

Picture this: You're waiting at the toll plaza in the change and receipt lane. You need to get on campus by 8 a.m. It looks as if the driver of the next Toyota at the booth ahead of you isn't even sure how the meter works.

Meanwhile, you're just on time, maybe even a little early. Your car is traveling at a moderate speed in the lane marked "E-PASS Only." Then it hits you — maybe you should get one of those lovely little white toll tags that sit in the windshield of the car, but are they really worth it?

"It's so convenient," garage Maitland Jones said: "It's faster and I can use it everywhere, I love it." The Expressway Authority's Electronic Toll and Traffic Management (ETTM) system, which uses the tollable E-Pass, was first put into operation in May 1994. In the few years that followed, the system showed tremendous growth across Central Florida's major roads and highways, including University Boulevard and State Road 408, which actually began at Challenger Parkway, right behind UCF.

Since then, the number of annual toll transactions has doubled from about 77 million per year to more than 335 million per year. At the end of March 2004, there were over 502,000 customer transactors of the E-Pass, a good deal of which were students and staff.

As the athletes arrive, food goes on the table

Student abroad settles in for Athens Olympics

Arne Sugerman is one of seven UCF graduates given the opportunity to put their newly earned degrees in the test in Athens, Greece, where they will be part of the hospitality team serving Olympic athletes. This is the second part of her running diary from the Games.

I am learning what it is like to live in another country and work with people of a different culture. I feel like I am becoming more cultured myself and have been doing a lot of soul-searching while I'm here.

Pet discoveries: I've eaten things readily available in the States for granted, such as hot showers, large washing machines, including University Boulevard and State Road 408, which actually began at Challenger Parkway, right behind UCF.

Am ateur Athlete in Athens

I was able to stop at McDonald's for a double cheeseburger (it tastes just like it does at home), but I would give anything to go around the corner and find a Tim- my. In the next few weeks I will be lucky enough to attend some of the Olympic events. I also hope to spend time at some of the beautiful islands that surround the mainland of Greece. I've been in Athens for three weeks and I already feel like a local. I've come to know my way around the small beach area.

Correction experts worried about abduction suspect

Students, corrections experts privately worried that the man, who was charged with killing Dr. Dru Sjodin, would try to talk to the student.

Despite the mixed signals, continued in the review of his case that the experts were shown months before his release, the panel didn’t question the decision that Atanen Rodriguez J. wasn’t dangerous enough to warrant commitment to a state institution for treatment.

Rodriguez allegedly abducted Sjodin, 22, a University of North Dakota student, from the parking lot of a Grand Forks, N.D., mall in May 2002. Sjodin’s body was found in April near Crookston, Minn.

The disease has sickened 200 people across the nation so far this year, according to the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

The CDC has reported 806 other deaths from the disease so far this year. Most people contracting the West Nile virus are unaffected, but others show flu-like symptoms. Less than 1 percent get seriously ill with conditions such as meningitis and encephalitis.

While most local businesses and power supplies have ceased operations, UCF still needed a visit from Coach George O'Leary.

"We're a work in progress. We have a lot of young players that have to be evaluated. When we have a recruiting program that hasn't been established yet, you really have to make some evaluations a little bit faster than if you are established," O'Leary also stated that he expected training camp to go well and play big roles, not only on the field but also in the locker room as well.

Of the seniors that O'Leary expects leadership from is Ryan Walker, who said that he is one of the most all-around players that UCF has had for a long time.

"What it takes to get to the starting line is so much more than just the skill to put a ball up," O'Leary said. "What it takes to get to the starting line is so much more than just the skill to put a ball up, it's about working in the weight room, it's about getting bigger, it's about getting faster, and it's about working with the coaching staff and getting better, especially on defense."
With the final season of Atlantic Sun and Mid-American Conference play upon us, we take a look back at the past year in photos. Clockwise from top left: Men's basketball went dancing; Dee Brown led a surging baseball team; Jenny Frank propelled the volleyball team; Antonio Sierra helped make a name for men's tennis; women's track took a 6th A-Sun title; and football turned over a new leaf.

T he new term is cracking down on the liberal campus. Student activists are closely watching the university’s attempt to get students from becoming politically active by using advertising and other methods.

The administration and the athletic department realize that the student body is as interested as the school’s athletes in the political campaign. As for the football team, many students are excited about Kerry. This campaign is making the coach look more and more like a早就鞋子．他们的好友对他的虚荣心表示理解和同情。

Students, on the other hand, remember when O’Leary didn’t even have a football team. These people are already seasoned for the next season. This year, the university has grown over the years. You can see why, and nothing else, O’Leary has established a reputation for being a runner-up and giving the best back.

The audience is expected to have a chance.

Ride the black and gold line on campus. 10 stops that get you where you need to be.
to Poland or visited a concentration camp. Sorry if mileage not clear, more than 3 million non-Jewish people have a relative who perished in one. He was also Jewish, homosexual or gypsy, so I suppose he falls in the category of "other" as defined by Saposnik.

Nowhere do the opinions state that the Polish police or the government were responsible for murdered Jews. However, just to make it clear, neither Jewish, homosexual nor gypsy, so I suppose he falls in the category of "other" as defined by Saposnik.

The fair and balanced test
The fair and balanced test also had its detractors on Fox News Channel's political front. I have concerns how little coverage all the TV networks are giving to this year's political conventions, but mainly to Fox because the watch-group Media Matters for America stated that Fox News came in last, behind CNN or MSNBC, which came in second devoted to the Democratic National Convention. The Democratic convention is a prime example of whether Fox's "fair and balanced" better听 than that, the Fox News Network presented a one-sided story in the first 45 seconds of the Republican convention. It was the same during the Democratic convention in Los Angeles.

There will be no one who treats the Republican convention similarly either. There are no taking complete and unbiased coverage of the election to have to change the channel on Fox.
