Money for new school
Gifs of $24 million, $10 million continue to transform campus

ANDRES HEALY

Two huge donations put UCF in the money — by a combined $34 million.

In a donation of unprecedented size, Northrop Grumman Corporation gave UCF a donation worth $25 million to the Burnett Honors College. Of the gift, $12.5 million is in present and potential restricted income and $10 million is in equipment and cash.

At the same time, the benefactors of the Burnett Honors College have donated $24 million to the school of business.

The Northrop Grumman patents and equipment will endow a new program of ultrafast lithography — a process expected to replace current conventional chip-making technology.

The latest donation will fund a "state-of-the-art" platform to train the future scientists and engineers who are going to be needed in this new form of lithography comes into being," Scharf said

Students already are provided with free online access to Nexis, Premier and LexisNexis, which enable students to search the world's major online services during their courses.

UCF will license its technological breakthrough to individual companies that in turn will pay UCF royalty fees. Also, following the $24 million donation UCF announced the founding of the Burnett College of Biomedical Sciences during July's Board of Trustees meeting.

The donation, made by Al and Nancy Haynes of Winter Park, the benefactors whose names already grace the Burnett Honors College, was to the Burnett House, where the UCF president lives, will allow UCF to begin a new phase in planning for life sciences building.

"This gift is not a one-time thing," Haynes said. "This will be a transformational gift. It will allow us to bring new research activity to UCF and those who will benefit from those investments.

The gift is particularly valuable because it is for endowed professorships and endowed chairs that support professors and點 from the winning side and make up their minds until the last minute,"

However, all three groups of undecided voters believe that the economy and security will be the top issues in the current year's federal election.

"I think the economy is the economy is the economy," said Doug Head, chairman of the Orange County Democratic Committee and Jewett believes that the issues are focused on the same issues as the rest of the country.

"We're just talking about the economy and security and we know that there will be changes in the economy in the next four years," Jewett said.

"Basically, this is about making up your mind and then doing something one way or the other because they are not undecided," he said. "It's about making up their minds until the last minute."

While students were away, tuition went up and money came in.

Summer is not a vacation for everyone. While many stop to relax, some continue on their studies. Those students were away, the UCF community remained open and running with full force, in preparation for the future.

Tuition rise

Currently, 12,000 full-time and graduate students will be registering voters and to watch the videos of the partnership between the Student Union for voter registration. Okay, it's really more of a copy than a clone. And it's a copy of a document not you. But wouldn't it be cool if it was a clone? Yeah, we thought so, too.

In the meantime, we've made it easy to make copies anywhere on campus.

(But when that cloning thing comes along, you'll be the first to know.)

New gene therapy for patients

NEW TECHNOLOGY

A new molecular genetic technique, scientists have turned procrastinating patients into workaholics.

They have done so by temporarily suspending a reward circuit in the brain circuit involved in reward learning. If people procrastinate, they may want to do the task to get the reward. But the moment they get the reward, they often don't want to do it anymore.

Without the gene, the monkeys put their sense of balance between reward and the work required to get it. They could consistently stay on task and make fewer errors. This finding could lead to important discoveries that improve conditions such as depression and schizophrenia.

Plans to open between six and nine months

—from Brent Boostron, building manager, and Sports Club Council President Brent Boostron.

Rain continued to pour into the building through Sunday until the battered roof was restored to prevent further water damage. “The old roof is back on, but it’s not in very good shape,” said Wilkening, adding that the roof would have to be replaced.

Most of the student employees put in full 40-hour weeks to move the equipment around, allowing bulldozers to rip up the ruined floor. The students also discussed the future of the center and helped to assign new tasks for the months ahead.

“I’ll still be doing sports club stuff,” Boostron said, “but some other stuff will be running equipment check-out.” He added that there will be an increase in the use of the outside baseball and tennis courts since the indoor courts are unusable. Therefore, they will need more employees present on the outside facilities to monitor their use.

The day after the hurricane, faculty posted on the rec center’s doors stating the gym would be closed for cleanup and repairs for only one week. Officials quickly revised that estimate since they realized the full extent of the damage.

Wilkening said officials are looking into whether potential hurricanes and tornadoes will be restored by last Friday. All complaining. Everyone’s over-rained. The Wellness Center, located in the damaged building, has already packed up and relocated.

Student employees plan to use available space in the Health Center until the rec center is restored.

New student arrivals at UCF were surprised by the damage, but were understanding about the time needed for repairs.

Brenda J. E. Poesen, mother of incoming freshman Stephen Barnaky, was disappointed on Friday to learn that the center was out of commission. “It was one of the reasons we chose the school,” she said as her son moved into the Eola Community dorms. She added that the hurricane didn’t seem to cause much other damage, and noted that UCF is a “very pretty and clean campus.”

Wilkening said the rec center’s staff has been learning to cope with the devastation. “Just love this place, it’s my home,” said Barnaky.

Wilkening: “As much as they’ve upset it if it happened, there’s been no complaining. Everyone’s over-rained, but everybody’s doing everything they can.”

Questions

- Did you notice that the gym was opened right after the hurricane?
- What kind of equipment do you have?
- Are there any plans to replace the gym?

We, the current Student Government Association leaders, are devoted to continuing the traditions of student excellence. We believe the primary responsibility of SGA is to offer the programs and services that you, the students, want. Our mission is to make SGA a valuable resource for the student body by increasing services to students in the areas of campus life, by becoming your voice for student concerns, and by creating an environment conductive to learning, mutual respect, individual and collective achievement, acceptance and understanding. The following is our plan of action to complete this mission by offering programs and services in the areas of UCF Community, UCF Academics, UCF Awareness and Advocacy, UCF Campus Services, and UCF Athletics and Traditions.

UCF Community
- UCF Card Discounts at S·Main Campus
- Support for UCF Paraphernalia in High School Outreach Programs
- UCF Day in the Community
- Involve the Community in UCF, Community Task Force
- Bring a Reasonably Priced Cab Service for Campus Members

Safe Ride Program
- A free cab ride home with Yellow Cab Co. within a 15 mile radius of UCF. This service is intended for UCF students who find themselves in a dangerous situation. Safe ride vouchers are available at the Student Union ticket center. Pick one up today!

Multicultural Student Center
- A programming hub for students at an cultural organization anchored by 5 of the University's largest cultural organizations, the African-American Student Association, Hispanic-American Student Association, the Caribbean Student Association, SANGAM and the Elements.

Who's Who at UCF
- This is a scholarship program that awards $50,000 to UCF's top students. A magazine is also created annually that features the top 100 students and biographies that are distributed to Fortune 500 companies, local and regional businesses, graduate schools, and to local, state, and nationally elected officials.

SGA Ticket Center
- Located in the Student Union, the SGA Ticket Center offers discount tickets for Orlando attractions and movies. These tickets include admission to Universal Studios, Sea World, Medieval Times, and Legal Cinemas, all at discounted prices. The Ticket Center also distributes free Safe Ride vouchers.

The Student Government Association is the chief student interest and concerns. Another main duty of SGA is to budget which facilitates student programs and services.

Student Government consists of three branches, the first branches work and serve on behalf of students to provide services that students want. Your Student Government:

Chairman of the Florida Board of Trustees, Michael DeCesare, announced that he's been appointed chairman of the Board of Trustees of the University of Florida. He also serves as a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Florida, an advancing board for the governor and the promoter of economic growth in Florida.

Their mission statement is clear: "To be a force of strategic thinkers and leaders having a major positive effect on Florida public policy which enhances the quality of life and economic well-being of all Floridians." One of the task force's recommendations was for the state's public policy which enhances the quality of life and economic well-being of all Floridians.

Hill also led the push to integrate the arts into the new UCF Digital Media Arts Center.

One option included in this recommendation is a student foundation with a university administration. The University of Florida has reported adverse events and recommendations.

"The idea of a UCF-based student foundation with a university administration would be to increase the delivery of healthcare services, including hospital services, to the community of Mid-Florida. It would also support the delivery of healthcare that would be a major positive effect on Florida public policy which enhances the quality of life and economic well-being of all Floridians." Check out books in other public university libraries; avoid fines universities have an agreement that their students can check out books from any university in the system. Students are charged for their use of the system; however they must return books within a specified time frame.

Some students have tried to thwart the system by registering for summer classes they don’t intend to take and dropping them during the Add/Drop period. Scharf said the library has caught on to this ploy and has begun checking the list of enrolled students each week during the summer. They frequently update the list, she added, to catch those attempting to “beat the system.”

University lawyers actually looked through the contracts to see if the library would be able to provide access to students who aren’t currently enrolled. However, the lawyers determined that the access would be in violation of the contract.

“We really don’t want the fine, we want the book back. We’re not in the business of collecting money.”

Charley elicits homesickness

Arts Superior is one of seven UCF grandfathers given the opportunity to put this numerically earned degree to the test in Athens, Greece, where they are part of the hospitality team serving Olympic guests.

As I write this diary entry, it has been one week since the Opening Ceremonies and each day gets more exciting. The main dress rehearsal of the Olympic Village is warming with the world’s best athletes, and I’m lucky enough to be rubbing elbows with them.

There have been some celebrity sightings, I was just allowed to congratulate Michael Phelps on a job well-done the morning after he won his first gold medal. After our握手, the team leaders who aren’t actually attending events will get together and watch some of the Games TV.

The commentary is in Greek so we have to pay close attention to what’s going on and try to decide what is being said. Still, I got chills the first time I am an American and see the gold and blue of our national anthem.

Another fun fact about watching the Games is that every couple of minutes someone shouts, “Oh, I recognize you...” and proceeds to tell a story about that person at what they were doing before they were last sighted in the Olympic Village.

Still, nothing compares to actually being there. I was able to talk to UCF’s web site and was able to see some pictures of campus after the storms.

I wish Orlando and UCF a very large laboratory-intensive project, and to solicit donations, Holsenbeck explained, “to get a $1 million endowed chair, you need a $20 million matching gift.”

The gift-matching programs are there to be used to support the following, Holsenbeck explained, “to have great friends and be a spectator at such a unique event. I was able to talk to them on the phone and they told me of the sad, almost real, state of UCF’s campus. I’ve spent some time over the last week checking in with UCF’s housing Web site and was able to see some pictures of campus after the storms.

I hope that over the next six weeks I can only learn more about myself and the world.

Economy and health care or Iraq and United Nations policy?

Jobs and money equal more freedom for us. — STEVEN CAMPBELL, Chicago Democrat should focus on getting our troops home and not sending anybody else.

Steven Campbell, an 18-year-old Democrat, said it is his day's major issue. He described himself as a mildly Democrat who due to his upbringing, but still undecid­

To him, according to Eck, "Iraq is an issue," but his vote will not be unemployment rate and the strength of the economy now en­

"Jobs and money equal more freedom for us, especially those of us still affiliated to our parents," Campbell said. "If I can't get out of college and get a job, I'm in big trouble — we all know people who have graduated with one, maybe two, undergrad degrees and are still waiting tediousness of Appleton's because they can't find a job."

The political party representatives are glad security is such a crucial issue, though polls do show that

Charles is in charge

Former Knight
Lee is poised for solid NFL season

ASHLEY BURNS Special to The Florida Times-Union

He made Tampa Bay forget about Keishawn Johnson.

He showed the Buccaneers that the best wide receivers aren't always the guys with the big contracts and the bigger ego.

Former UCF wide receiver Charles Lee was given a shot at immediate playtime with the New York Giants, and is expected to be one of the best wide receivers in the league next season, according to head coach Joe Judge.

"He's been very effective, not only in the last part of the season, but for the entire season," Judge said. "He's been around and done some pretty good things in this league. He's always going to be a key player in the offense."}

Former UCF defensive line coach Brad Johnson last season and traded

A major goal for the UCF Football team in 2020 is to become tougher and more physical. It's the concept that new Coach George O'Leary and his staff have been preaching to the players since arriving in December.

One area on the team that has been trying to become more physical during the off-season is the running back position. According to head coach George O'Leary, the Knights are expecting to run the ball harder and make more yards after contact.

"For the fourth straight season UCF will depend on senior tailback Alex Haynes to be its feature back. In each of his first three seasons at UCF, Haynes led the team in rushing yards and touchdowns. What's more, he led his own way by becoming the school's all-time leading rusher with more than 1,000 yards to his name. He's also continued to show growth in his third season with 22 career rushing touchdowns and 1,000 yard games.

Last season was considered a down year for Haynes. After rushing for over 1,000 yards, he was considered a down year for Haynes. After rushing for over 1,000 yards, he was considered a down year for Haynes. After rushing for over 1,000 yards, he was considered a down year for Haynes. After rushing for over 1,000 yards.
Cross country will make one last run

Men could be nice surprise in final Atlantic Sun season

ASHLEY BURNS

Women’s cross country has seen its share of troubles this summer. Despite losing last year’s runner-up Sarah Dillman to graduation, the team aimed to be back at peak condition in time to make a name for itself after finishing fourth at the Atlantic Sun Conference and fifth at the NCAA Regionals.

Arkansas has the most to build on to this momentum, though the injury bug has bit once again and we’ve lost one of the team’s strongest runners. The women’s squad has lost both Majora Beek and Kenna Reeder for the season.

“We’ve been hit on this in the this summer with women’s cross country,” UCF cross-country coach Mark Warren said. “We lose two people and it’s really rough.”

As a sophomore last season, Cuffin finished in the top five of UCF women’s runners in every single event. At the Southeast Invitational, Cuffin’s eighth-place finish was the best among her UCF classmates.

Johnson made a major impact in her freshman year, finishing in the top five of UCF runners in four of the six events she competed in. She will be missed dearly due to her father’s passing.

Behind every black cloud, though, there is a silver lining. The women’s cross country team seniors being named are Audrey Potts, Irene Stankiewicz, Jennifer Elliott and Madeline Docter.

Potts is the oldest and ready to fill the role of team leader, vacated by Dillman. Claessens finished in the top three among women’s runners in every conference meet held in the fall of last season. Claessens is normally a middle-distance specialist, but she has carried herself well in cross country competition.

“Astral Claessens is our top returns,” Mark Warren said. “She’s a very consistent runner. She’s strong and level-headed. She carries a 4:25 and she works very hard, but she isn’t very vocal. She keeps to herself.”

“She is a captain and help encourage the girls,” Claessens said. “There was always someone there and people looked to her. I can tell that just by looking how the guys Con and I treat, what coach says. Hopefully I’ll follow in her ways. As being the No. 1 runner on the team, Abby will be our No. 1 runner.”

Hannelling is making a return to cross country competition after a two-year layoff. Claessens said that Hannelling, in spite of being very strong, still had to prove she could handle the challenge she faced in the second-place finish at the NCAA Regional last fall. Her time was the second-best in UCF history.

“We desperately need someone to step up and be our No. 1 runner,” Mark Warren said. “We have no doubt that Abby will be successful. We have the talent out there, but there’s no one that stands out.”

Should the women run it up when it matters, as Mark Warren hopes, Claessens and her teammates will be ready to take home a conference championship.

“The key is finding a way to get the girls where they need to be physically and mentally,” Claessens said of leading her team on an ASC championship. “It’s very important that you want to do the best that you can. You have to have that desire to keep your head in the game during the summer holidays, then our team is having a chance at the exact opposite nation.”

State & Nation

Colorado and South Carolina scored big victories over the use of prostitutes to entice recruits to the football program was heard up or University of the Sun’s Day, which is going to be very important. Williams said it is impossible to say who is involved in the grand jury, but it is imperative to know who is not involved.

Williams said in a press conference that he would be very happy to have a story about an indictment.”

Williams has asked the university to appeal the decision by the NCAA that he is ineligible for taking part in a recruiting event and that he could be re-enrolled.

Women cross country runners plagued by offseason injuries looking for tips on how to win the title this year? Join a veteran crew of national tournament participants as they present a class on winning strategies at 8:00 pm, Sept. 2 at the Rainforest Cafe. Some problems don't only happen in March. The Intramural Basketball league begins in September, Sept. 3. The registration deadline is Sept. 2. Don't miss out on the high-flying action and regular teams early for there are no guarantees this season to capture a coveted team championship. There is plenty of other intramural action at the start of the school year at the Twin Towers Recreation Center. UCF Football Scramble and USA Tennis ladder take place early on. These must sign up by Sept. 1. New to UCF? A special tournament for freshmen called LINC flag football will take place on Sept. 6. Of course intramurals come take place without registration, but Sports is hiring sports officials for the fall 2004 season. Students are encouraged to hang out and have an interest in starting a new team? For more information on registration for all intramural sports visit http://www.ucfsports.com/

Lee not concerned with wide receiver additions in Tampa Bay

Lee's additions to the team were not as expected, as he decided to keep a positive attitude. "We need to keep a positive outlook on the team," Lee said. "We have a lot of young talent on this team, and we need to make the most of it."

MOVING IN? SECURE YOUR DEPOSIT!

Lossing your security deposit or being overcharged for damages at rentals around UCF is quite common. Here are steps to help secure your chance of getting some or all of your deposit back and not being overcharged when you leave.

READ THE LEASE!

o Look at your lease carefully. Most state that you must inspect the unit at the time of move-in. If there is a deadline for giving a list of damages back to the landlord, make sure you get it back to the landlord by the deadline.

INSPECT EVERYTHING!

o The landlord may provide you with a move-in inspection sheet. If not, make your own list, stating existing problems within each room of the unit. Be very specific - note everything major and minor, such as carpet stains or tears, condition of mattress, furniture, walls, blinds, countertops, EVERYTHING!

MAKE A COPY!

o Make a copy of the completed inspection sheet before giving it back to the landlord. Keep it in a safe place during the duration of your lease.

TAKE PICTURES!

o To further protect yourself from being charged for damages exists, when you move in, take photos of all common areas, your room, and bathroom. Photograph any current problems with the condition of the flooring, carpeting, furniture, and the lawn/Landscaping (if you are responsible for lawn upkeep). Take more pictures when you move out. Print the photos with dates!

INCREASE YOUR CHANCES!

o By taking these steps, you should not be charged for pre-existing damage when you move out. And you will be able to prove which damages were there at the time you moved in, if the damages claimed against your deposit are disputed.

Public praise and public mockery

As the world celebrates the election of the first African-American president, let us also remember the country where they live in a democracy. The nation is marked by opportunities to witness a contest pitting two bitter rivals for the presidency.

The campaign has been a contest between two candidates, each with a track record and a vision for the future. The contest has pitted two bitter rivals for the presidency. The candidates have both used their positions to promote their agendas and to gain media attention. The campaign has been marked by attacks on both candidates, with each candidate trying to put their rivals on the defensive.

The campaign has also been marked by the use of negative advertising. Both candidates have attacked each other in their ads, using attack ads to try to paint the other candidate in a negative light. The ads have used a variety of tactics, including character attacks and attacks on the candidates' policies.
