Ivan not a threat

Storm veers away from Central Florida

Christine Dellet

Still recovering from the wind and rain of Zeta, Central Florida residents breathed a sigh of relief when Hurricane Ivan was downgraded to a Category 1 storm. The hurricane, which made landfall in Florida on Monday, caused minimal damage in the region, with most residents returning to their homes and businesses.

Absent push from Bush, ban on assault guns will end

Steven Sotloff

The ban on assault weapons expires today, but the future of gun control in the United States is uncertain. A ban on assault weapons was first proposed in 1994 by President Bill Clinton, but it has not been renewed in Congress.

Report issued by the FBI. According to the National Rifle Association, not allowing so-called assault weapons under federal law is difficult because the term is defined as a gun having the following features: folding or telescoping stock, stock-mounted fore-end or pistol grip, clip that holds more than 10 rounds of ammunition, bayonet attachment, grenade launcher or a pistol grip-grappling hook combination beneath the stock. Magazines that hold more than five rounds also are included in this category. The ban changes the way (the gun)

The weekend shop clerk Kerry, has been the topic of recent headlines. According to the National Rifle Association, not allowing Kerry told union workers that she's too smart, but the truth is he would ban their shotguns.

"If they put (the ban) in 10 years, they put it in for a reason," and I think it should stay. I can't imagine that a gun sold with Walt-Martin's expansion of the law.

In fact, Walt-Martin's expansion of the law made it impossible for gun owners to sell self-defense guns even if the bans. They still sell self-defense rifles and pistol and semiautomatic.

Saturday's game proved the Rowdy Knights had earned their name, with members dressed in their traditional bright yellow shirts. Several members attended the games and painted their bodies. "We have 125 dues-paying members," Moore said. "Only about 40 (come) out Saturday. Most of our freshmen were also in the freshman section, so that kind of turn our members." But that did not stop the Rowdy Knights from performing their best and backing West Virginia every moment until game time—except for the times they cheered on the Knights. Chants were aloud to job at the opposition, like "The Hey Song" being changed to "Bruce-da-da-da-da-da. Hey, you said Bruce West Virginia gave what, you said!" "For football we sit in section 118 in the front few rows, and during the game we make it a habit to stand the whole game," Moore said, giving credit to some shirts reading "Hey jerk, sit down." "(We try to be as loud as possible when UCF is on defense," Moore said. "Our other tradition is that we always do pushups in the front rows of us with the cheerleaders when UCF scores."

As the game started, the Rowdy Knights were noticeably the loudest and most enthusiastic fans in attendance, as they screamed, "We want to make love to you, O'Leary!"

They also involved freshmen in the game, in the athletic marketing department on the freshmen behind the Rowdy Knights. As rowdy as they were, nothing got out of hand, unlike other instances around the stadium. Three separate brawls broke out in the stands before halftime.

The Rowdy Knights were the first to come and last to leave. "To join the Rowdy Knights you need to view pictures of the fanfare from Saturday's game, our Web site at http://www.pending.ucf.edu."

Alex Haynes posts career rushing numbers, despite UCF's sixth-straight loss

For the second consecutive week, UCF football fell victim to a high-powered run attack. This time, it was the Cavaliers that did the damage.

The Knights suffered a 45-20 defeat at the hands of No. 14 West Virginia last Saturday. Despite giving up more than 300 yards on the ground, the Knights again took another huge step in the teams rebuilding process. "We played a very good West Virginia team, but I think we improved on many areas," UCF Coach George O'Leary said. "I think we improved on our defense. We played to improve in all areas."

Even though the offense failed to score atouchdown, the defense played well. They were unable to get to the quarterback in any meaningful way. "We can't have any of those and expect to host a top-three team like West Virginia," O'Leary said.

Senior tailback Alex Sumner started for the Knights and rushed for 149 yards on 24 carries against the Mountaineers, with six WPVU's top tower Jason Cohen, who rushed for 108 yards.

"If he's a really good running back," O'Leary said of Haynes. "But I am more pleased about the way the offensive line played. If they block like that, he will have good feet."

The Mountaineers were equally as devastating in the air against UCF WVU quarterback Brad Mitchell was nearly perfect, completing 30-of-37 passes for 428 yards. Marshall threw two touchdown passes and ran another in.

While WVU dominated the passing game, UCF was merely trying to work the ball out of its own way. Last week sophomore quarterback Steven Moffett threw for 147 yards against Wisconsin, but didn't have a chance to improve upon that as he was bunched for UCF's home opener. Brandon Summer started for the Knights and showed considerable amounts of rust right away.

"We had some competition this week in practice and I think that is something we need to work on," O'Leary said. "When I was able to open up all those positions and said the guy who practices best will play. No one comes out and forced it upon themselves, I was happy with some of the things Brandon did. Every vertical tends to Steve will get an opportunity to work his job this week in practice."

Summer finished the day with only one completion out of 22 passes for just 66 yards. The senior did complete the first UCF touchdown pass of the season, a 7-yarder to senior wideout Taviance Capers. The Freshman Kicker Jordan isolated the helm in the fourth quarter, completing all four of his passes for 22 yards.

The Knights faced to University Park, Pa. Same as to face to the travelling West Virginia defense and the Penn State Military Line.

Cromwell reigns, men going down the drain

Despite holding the ball for over 12 minutes in the first half and outgaining the Owls in total offense, the Owls were able to score a late fourth-quarter touchdown to secure the win. If the Owls were able to hold the ball for over 12 minutes in the first half, they were able to score a late fourth-quarter touchdown to secure the win.

In a game filled with missed opportunities for the Knights, the Owls held the ball 7 of 11 times in the game, including both fourth-quarter possessions. The Owls capitalized on both fourth-quarter possessions, including a 14-yard touchdown reception in the final minute of the game. Against UCF, the Owls gained 26 rushing yards on 12 carries.

The Owls' defense held the Knights to a season-low 16 points, while their offense scored a season-high 37 points.

Over the weekend the WAC had a busy schedule with several important games. The BYU-Mizuno 155-yard field goal by kicker Mike English was the highlight of the weekend for the MAC with only two games resulting in a win for the second straight weekend. West Virginia's highlight was ALEX HAYNES. For 208 yards and scoring one touchdown. The senior quarterback stepped up to a greater challenge at home following a 21-yard touchdown run by Alex Haynes, who got just 29 rushing attempts for 144 yards and scoring one touchdown. The defense also had its share of struggles, allowing WVU to advance to a 22-0 lead in the third quarter.

TRAVONTI JOHNSON

For West Virginia in a third-and-two at its own 43. Johnson recorded a team-high 14 tackles, including 10 solo, and the secondary had two fumble recoveries. Johnson himself. He was the quarterback for 14 points and gaining 168 yards, and that lifted WVU to a 14-7 lead in the third quarter. Johnson rushed for 18 of his 18 carries for 121 yards and two touchdowns, and he recovered a fumble.

Florida's public access laws guarantee every student at UCF the right to look at all public records—documents, letters (including e-mail and signatures), meeting minutes, reports, school records, intellectual property, and more. Knowing the history of a decision could be useful in understanding the real-life experience behind the policy that led to it. Professors teach the students of tomorrow so they can get better ideas.

Although the budget for the university can help money-saving students figure out how much their university spends on campus, they must not ask a citizen to produce records and learning the laws is crucial. Though any concealment of the government's pocket, students are allowed to request any public record. Though any concealment of
