Glass ceiling goodies show discrimination

Feminist club spreads the word about unfair wages by sliding-scale prices

PATRICIA MCCAUSLAND

The UCF feminist group Uncommon Grounds will hold a wage-gap awareness sale this week to raise awareness of the glass ceiling.

The group is changing different prices for the goodies, depending on the consumer’s sex and age — with white men paying the most and Hispanic women paying the least.

“Any kind of awareness that there is a wage gap,”gay coordinator Renee Gosnell, the president of the group, said, “but there’s a lot of books and essays out there that refer to such a thing. The fact is it’s a myth.”

This mindset makes getting the message out there even more important, she added.

A fine of $5 at UCF, the sale price wasn’t an easy way to organize.

“We were told originally that one person had already bought a few things,” Gosnell said.

The group stressed its goal is not to discriminate but to make students aware of the discrimination that exists in the workplace.

“Now horrible is it that these people get paid in an economic way when, if you go to the store, you are paying a little for a gallon of milk, no matter what class you’re in, no matter

Renters insurance is not required by law in apartment homes

STEVENVATOFF

Renters insurance was the last thing on P1-year-old Matt Bransen’s mind last week when fire broke at Pegasus Pointe Apartments, which displaced 47 residents and caused thousands of dollars in damages.

Fortunately for Bransen, he was still a dependent and one of his last costs could be insured through his parent’s homeowner’s insurance. Even though he lived in the third floor, which suffered the most severe fire damage, he was able to recoup several personal items including his computer.

“Much of my stuff was lost,” Bransen said.

Almost all of the insurance companies do not charge a deductible for personal property, as he hopes. That his parents’ policies will cover his losses.

Many others are not so fortunate.

“Lose even one item before insurance before the fire,” Mike Jameson, 20, said. Other residents also failed to be informed of or

SGA’s first fiscal bill goes to forensic club

Sponsors and members disappointed with $2,000 cut to conference funds

KARENBOWELL

Student Senate passed a bill granting UCF’s Forensic Science Club $5,000 to attend a national conference — a good change in comparison to last year, which was $3,000.

Earlier this semester, Forensic Science Club, described the American Academy of Forensic Sciences annual conference as, “the most important professional conference in the forensic science community.” The club networking research and meeting undergraduate students from other schools and UCF gain’s from her club attendance at the conference, allowing $4,500 to 32 students to members in New Orleans for the February event.

Whether the Forensic Science club receives monetary help getting to the conference was never a question for the Senate. How much money they should get was. As Sen. Alex Sigil put it, “seven thousand dollars is a big hit to the Senate.”

Sigal, along with several other senators, suggested less people attend the conference. When this suggestion was met with a great lack of enthusiasm, debate began on how much the Senate could.

Sen. Evan Rosenbloom noted that, “the date of this conference allows the club to do more fund raising,” and aid to cut the original $5,000 figure to $3,000.

Sen. Seth Edmiston was both negative of this move and apologizes, “We have to be realistic here,” he said. “We’re not all sitting in the ocean. I’m very familiar with all the senators and not all senators were happy about the proposal.”

Rather than eliminating the proposal, the bill passed the bill, that the club was not getting needed funds. “If there is any club that deserves full funding it is this club,” Sen. Jameson said.

If this club was funded then other clubs would be better served researching than fundraising.

“Not do they belong out doing car washing,” he said.

To many wants it wasn’t a question of the clubs merit, but a question of ‘why are we doing this?’

Sen. Jameson said, “There is nothing wrong with car washing.”

He added, “We really need to do the conservative thing because we do not

Homecoming week in photos

There are a lot of photos from last week’s homecoming events.

The fireworks event was a large success as a large number of students enjoyed the event. The crowd cheered for hours as the music played and the pyrotechnics went off.

The football game was a hit with the crowd as well. The team played well and put on a great show for the fans.

There were also many fun events throughout the week, including the homecoming dance and the parade.

Renters insurance is not required by law in apartment homes.

Quick facts — renters insurance

• Apartment complexes cannot require tenants to purchase renters insurance.
• Sample insurance policy could cost $6 per year.
• People insured $50,000 worth of property may require a $500 deductible.
• Some insurance policies cover theft, accidental damage to the apartment and damage to appliances.
• Landlord’s insurance policy does not cover renters’ personal property.
• About $14 of tenants have renters insurance policies in 2000.

purchase renters insurance before an early Wednesday morning fire burned the roof and the second floor of Building B.

The new rules were put into place by the State Fire Marshall’s Office.

Renee Gosnell, the president of the club, said the club’s attendance at the conference may be hindered.

"It is not up to the apartment complex in any way, shape or form that we need to get renters insurance," Rachel Hieronymus, an accounting major who regularly attends the club’s events, said.

"It would be against the law to require it and is up to the tenants to purchase it.

"If you do not want to purchase renters insurance, you will have to pay for the damages and losses,

"It is not a law to make tenants purchase renters insurance. It is something that the landlord has to do.

Britney captures professor's fancy

Japanese instructor delivers a talk on American fascination with Spears

KATE HOWELL
Streib Professor

Why is America so infatuated with Britney Spears? That’s the question Prof. Kevin Campbell of UCF wants to answer at the Wednesday, Oct. 19 appearance at UCF’s College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. Prof. Campbell, associate professor in the Graduate School of History and Political Science at Arizona State University, is traveling to UCF to deliver a talk on his current project — a book intended as the first comprehensive source on One More Time America: An Ode to Britney Spears.

UCF history professor Stephen Finger points out that Britney’s ballad is one of the most important topics in American history.

In his presentations, Campbell will discuss his book on the Internet culture. Campbell was chosen as a speaker because he has done research on contemporary culture from an academic perspective.

For example, “If Britney Spears One More Time” is not Campbell’s only Britney-related publication. His work, “It’s Not a Job, I’m Not a Rollerblade: Making Sense of Britney Spears,” was published in Rolling Stone Pop Phenomena, a forthcoming book by Northern Arizona University English professor Mark Vassolo. Campbell is also the author of Going for the Gold: The Story Behind the Olympic Victory of the U.S. Men’s Soccer Team. He is known for his work on contemporary culture from an academic perspective.

Senators say $7,801 too much for club trip

Sen. Frank Leoni has proposed a $7,801 budget for club trips, but the Senate Finance Committee recommends a $4,000 budget.

The Panthers pounce on men
Soccer falls to FIU in final game of regular season

The Panthers pounced on the FIU Panthers in their final game of the regular season on Sunday afternoon. The Panthers have now finished the regular season with a 6-6-2 record, which is the same as the record of the UCF Knights. The Panthers will now move onto the conference tournament next weekend.

Kicking the bucket

Being wireless actually has a little charm to it

The hardest job in the world has to be that of a plumber. In no other profession can you go from being a game-winning hero to a choking job. So in no other profession can you be the toast of the town one day and an elementary school hall monitor the next.

The offensive and defensive playmakers always get the credit for a big win, but the kicker that knocked in the game-winner on Saturday could receive three-second-highlight status on SportsCenter and a pat on the butt. No expensive vouchers and no bling, just from university drama and TV dinner.

But other than the kicker that blows the game on missed extra points, the true heroes hit the road for the Atlantic Sun Tournament in the last two seasons, the Panthers have now defeated the Knights this season. The Panthers return to the UC Wilmington Volleyball Tournament on Friday night with even to having to face the floor.

The Knights return to the UCF Soccer Complex on Sunday afternoon to face rival Florida International University.

On Senior Day, the last home game of the season, the Knights played the Butternut team. The Knights had 6-1-1 record and were 1-1-0 in the A-Sun regular season title for the second consecutive year.

The Knights were defeated by the Panthers 3-1 in overtime Saturday.

The loss was the first time in nine years of regular season that Alex Haynes didn't get his "halftime." O'Leary said, "I'm disappointed in the way we responded to the field position in the second half. I thought that we had to come away with points and that we did not kick the field goals."
Akrón in three-way tie for first in East

MATT DUNNAM & JEFF SHORIN

Entering the weekend, the MAC East was like Frank Sinatra. They have been the most exciting team on the scene, generating a lot of attention. They have the best team logjam, and have a tough trip next Saturday.

The city of Akron proclaimed Friday Akron Day this week, as the Zips are 18-1-3 in the past 24 games, with a three-game winning streak. Those are the results of Akron's three-game winning streak.

The Herd (5-4, 5-1 MAC) has a tough trip next Saturday. The team, and inspire better play in the MAC.

Eastern Michigan 61, Central Michigan 50

Marquis had the top overall yardage and five TDs, while Davis put up the best passing while Davis put up the best passing.

The Franchise knocked off 1st seed beating Mercer in the MAC Recap.

The match was played close, until the 24th minute when Landon's goal for the Panthers was held, as Florida Central put up a minute of pressure.

The Panthers clawed back a 2-0 deficit on a second-half goal by Marquis, and defeated long-time rival in the season opener.

The Knights 6-1 from his goal, was a physical contest as he had never scored a goal in his career.

The Herd (5-4, 5-1 MAC) put all offense together in the second half and third quarter when Pevy fired wide on 23 shots.

Bowie Lee was the top overall passers for 197 yards and five TDs, while Davis put up the best passing.

GAME 9 » OHIO 17 • UCF: 16

ALEX HAYNES (RB)

Haynes continues to be the linchpin of the UCF offense, pounding out 100 yards on 26 carries. He now stands just 7 yards shy of all-time UCF rushing mark of 3,127 yards by Willie English. He'll get his shot to break the record next week at Ball State.

PAUL CARRINGTON (DL)

Playing in front of his four closest high school classmates, Carrington recorded seven tackles, including two tackles for loss. He also had a half-sack.

Ryan Hawkes on the verge of breaking UCF career rushing record

Hawkes has been the theme this season, as he is coming off a 123-yard effort at Ball State. He has been a workhorse, rushing for 470 yards on 111 carries, good for 4.2 yards per carry. He is currently averaging 60 carries per game, which is among the highest in the nation.

Playing in front of his four closest high school classmates, Carrington recorded seven tackles, including two tackles for loss. He also had a half-sack.

Ron Stover (QB)

Hawk entered the game in relief of Max Prater, who left with a foot injury in the first quarter. Stover responded with seven tackles, including two tackles for loss. He also had a half-sack.

Ryan Hawkes (QB)

Hawk entered the game in relief of Austin Everson in the third period, going 6-for-8 for 73 yards. His lone touchdown pass, a 30-yard pass to Mike Walker in the third period, tied them 30 yards through the air.

Ohio won because…

They were consistent on offense, pounding out 194 yards on 26 attempts. They were also able to keep the ball out of the bobcats’ hands, holding the ball for 35 minutes of the game.

Play of the game:

Prater’s botched extra point in the third quarter was the game’s biggest play. He missed the 29-yard potential extra point, which would have given the Bobcats a 12-10 lead. Instead, the Hawkers took over on downs at the Ohio 20.

Bender of the game:

Hawk earned a 10-yard touchdown pass to Justin Call on Ohio’s final drive in regulation. The Hawks led 10-0 at halftime and never looked back.

The Future has been called libinal, communal, and just plain stupid at times,
look ahead, understand last week's endorsement of John Kerry.

Yes, the Future takes a liberal stance. The national media, as a whole, is often too bent on the thief nothing else for self-preservation.

But the Future, as the media is consistently opposing democratic ideals and saying that society should blindly follow any political party. The media is the watchdog of the government — often, no matter who is in office, journals should and need to question policies, and events.

The term liberal should be re-evaluated. Classical liberalism was actually more associated with the Republican Party as the term used for limiting governmental power and defining personal rights. Neoliberalism is similar, calling for the privatization and deregulation of all industries. Every product ought to be on the market. There have been no governmental regulations and people are free to engage in business without any restrictions.

In fact, the free-market economy has actually destroyed jobs. For instance, how many neighborhoods
were built in the last few years?

The government needs a strong watchdog to make sure that society is held to the same standards that any business.

The Future is against the Kurdish incursion. It is against the state of enforcement. The Kurdish people are being slaughtered by the Iraqi police and regime. It is not the regime having control over the state of emergency which exists in Iraq.
