Petition for life

It happened in a split second, the traffic light, the crossover and a child struck, a driver who witnesses say was distracted by a cell phone. Asturlica Velez, 5, and her sister, Victoria, 2, were killed last month crossing the street after a UCF student drove her Florida State University red light at the intersection of Goldenrod and Ninth roads.

Last Thursday, the parents of the girls, Iran and Virginia Velez, began a petition at the intersection in hopes of getting a new Florida law prohibiting cell phone usage while driving.

"I've always thought that talking on your cell phone while driving is a bad idea," sophomore Christopher Holt, 21, said.

Legislation regulating cell phone use would be a good idea, Holt said. "I see people talking on their cell phones, and they don't pay attention to what's around them," he added. "Especially people here around campus. People pay more attention to their cell phones than anything else.

"They just need to talk for the phone while driving," said Kelly Ojeda, a junior and math education major. "I get distracted really easily. You should only do one thing, you shouldn't be doing two things.

Community members and friends of the Velez family plan to hold a festival on Dec. 4 to raise awareness and to petition for new Florida cell phone laws. The festival will be held at the UCF campus in the Student Union.

"The Velez family want to make a difference," said Anthony Velez, who has been helping the locally collect signatures at the Goldenrod and Ninth intersections.

"They don't want what happened to happen to other children."

More young people voted, but percentage no different

The senator, Kerry dominated among young people 35 percent as opposed to Bush’s 44 percent, winning the 2000 election when Gore barely carried the young vote, 48 percent to Bush’s 46 percent.

However, doesn’t know what else can be done to increase interest in the election. “We had people here on campus for days on end trying to get people registered to vote,” she said. “And people still didn’t get registered, so they just didn’t come out and vote. You can’t feel bad for the people who have an opinion and don’t want to vote.”

Student Caleb Jones said the student vote may have decreased because of the overwhelming amount of information being presented to them. “It really made me sick because if they were being bombarded by conflicting messages, commercial would have a turnover after how bad Kerry is, and then you would hear about another student who would say the same thing about Bush. I think people just got tired of the finger-pointing finger-pointing finger-pointing argument.”

President George W. Bush, who won in November, said he didn’t care if you were registered to vote. “I don’t vote. I don’t,” he said. “I’m not.”

Dowman doesn’t know what else can be done. “We had a whole bunch of student groups and organizations like MTV did a huge get-out-and-vote campaign, just looking around campus before the election, you could see no passionate people were about the issues. To see that America was really being bombarded by conflicting messages, would have a turnover after how bad Kerry is, and then you would hear about.”

One student, who had requested a copy of the letter to the editor to be published, said he did not want his name printed in the school newspaper. “I’m very disappointed actually, because I know a lot of student groups and organizations like MTV did a huge get-out-and-vote campaign, just looking around campus before the election, you could see no passionate people were about the issues. Can ban cell phones in cars?

She added, "Our most dangerous crashes are at intersections. People are in a hurry, not thinking about others.

Accidents are more likely when drivers multi-task in their cars, such as answering a cell phone, eating, or talking to passengers or using a cell phone. Miller said, "How can you be paying attention to a child who darts into the road?" She added, "If a driver must use a cell phone in the car, she recommends using a hands-free kit.

"It's a distraction," George said. "Drivers are not allowed to use head phones, watch TV. It impairs your driving." George continued, "I've been talking on the phone and almost bumped into someone," he continued. "I thought, 'Oh my God, I just need to get off the phone!' I see it at all times, people running stop signs.

Gary Siplin has already written and applied for a bill to sign the petition to ban cell phone use in cars, Wednesday.

"People are tired of hearing it," Siplin said. "They are fed up with the red light and often overlook important visual cues.

"Running a red light is an extremely important issue," Constantine added. "We need to take away the red light. Another way to take away the red light is to ban cell phone use in cars. Studies show that even when drivers use the phone in the car, they don't pay attention to a child who darts into the road." Constantine explained.

"Our parents supported the petition. One of those [kids] is Anjelica's kindergarten class came to say goodbye to their dead classmate, while parents supported the petition. Colorful balloons from their top flew in the roadway last week.

Women's soccer team makes third consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance.

ASHELEY BURNS

Last year the UCF women's soccer team fell to the Florida Gators 3-2 in the first round of the NCAA Tournament. This year they made it to the quarterfinals.

On Friday the Knights had a chance to turn the tables as they faced off against the No. 7 Gators again.

In this chic, the Knights had the Gators' number as UCF walked away with a 2-1 victory in the first round of the NCAA Tournament. But the run would be over the Knights faced Boston College yesterday and came up short in a 2-1 loss to the Golden Eagles.

"We just weren't sharp, "winning" Coach Amanda Cromwell said. "We started really slow, and that really hurt us. Having the [advantage] should have been more of an advantage than it was." BC was aggressive in the second half of the game as it faced three shots, but UCF did well defensively. Carli Lloyd and the Knights' stingy defense limited the score tied 0-0, but the Gators got a goal in the final minutes by Alissa Blackbird.

This season just feels great. It's hard to remember the last time I had a feeling like this as a UCF fan. It's like trying to remember when Chevy Chase was still funny.

For a few minutes, I had a little sympathy for my black-and-gold team. But then I remembered the Gator fans were yelling "We want you!" at the men. And that's when I knew I had to make that kick because we have something to defend.

"It's the thing about beating the Florida Gators," UCF Coach Amanda Gessin said. "It's really, really special."

When a goal against a team that has won the most games in the NCAA Tournament and is the No. 7 team, it's definitely something special.

Men win third-consecutive A-Sun tournament trophy

ANDY VAQUEZ

South Florida

All year long the members of the UCF men's soccer team have been saying that the purpose of their season was to win the Atlantic Sun tournament championship.

On Saturday night their purposes became one reality.

For the third-consecutive year UCF has captured the A-Sun tournament championship, and in doing so they have also earned an automatic bid into the NCAA Tournament.

In what was essentially a away game against the tournament host Mercer (6-4-2), the Knights (10-2-3) dramatically prevailed on a penalty kick in the final minutes by Alejandro Geron, his third penalty kick of the year. "When I put the ball down all I could think about was all my teammates" Geron said. "I knew I had to make that kick because we have something to defend." The kick came in the 85th minute after a handball was called in the box on a Mercer player.

"We just weren't sharp, winning" Coach Amanda Cromwell said. "We started really slow, and that really hurt us. Having the [advantage] should have been more of an advantage than it was." BC was aggressive in the second half of the game as it faced three shots, but UCF did well defensively. Student ticket pickup will take place at the student union, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on 11/17, 11/18, 11/19, 11/22, 11/23.

Students who wish to park in the parking lots located adjacent to the Citrus Bowl must pick up their tickets and accompanying hang-tag during student ticket pick-up.

Students that are unable to pick up their tickets can still enter the game free of charge, and park free of charge, but parking for those without hang-tags will be less convenient.

In addition to preferred parking, students who pick up their tickets will be able to sit in the Black and Gold Nation section of student seating. These students sitting in the Black and Gold Nation will be eligible for great prizes and giveaways.

This week is Fourth Day. For student guest tickets visit the UCF Arena Box Office, or for more information call 407.823.0000.
Winch and men head for College Cup again

The Knights outshot Mercer 18-11 and saw another strong performance from junior goalkeeper Ryan Mcintosh, who recorded his first shutout of the season. For the second-straight time Mcintosh was named A-Sun Defensive Player of the Week and he showed why on Saturday night. Mercer had some good scoring chances but Mcintosh turned them away and sent them home empty handed with his four saves.

"I'm really happy for the guys, especially the seniors," UCF Coach Bob Winch said. "We set a goal early this year to win three championships in a row and they did it. They met and exceeded every challenge that they met." In the first half UCF had full control of the game as were able to outshoot Mercer 12-4. In the second half, Mercer played the Knights more evenly outshooting UCF 7-6. The game was controlled in the second half, while UCF had a 5-1 advantage in corner kicks.

The win propels UCF, which also won the A-Sun conference regular season title for the second-consecutive year, to the NCAA Tournament for the third-straight year.

"It was easy getting here three years ago," Winch said. "But the hard part's staying there. They grow as a group and change as people and I'm happy for them." UCF will learn who their next opponent is later today when the NCAA College Cup bracket is revealed.

"It's on honor," Winch said. "We feel that we're prepared after competing against the A-Sun teams. Every game has been a challenge."

"It's amazing," A-Sun tournament MVP John Sobczak said. "It just got better every time, and to do it here in front of an away crowd at Mercer is amazing." Sobczak also scored the game-winning goal in the Knights' 2-1 semifinal victory over Georgia State.

As dramatic as the championship game was, the Knights semifinal triumph over Georgia State (9-8-1) carried even more significance from a national perspective. The win, which they scored at least one goal.

"I was relieved that it was still 0-0 because I thought that they had a couple of dangerous chances," Bob Winch said. "They wore us down in the late goal and sealed the victory and kicks, but with 45 seconds left when the Knights scored on an net."

"What a great game; we scored some incredible goals," Crosswell said of the win over Florida. "This was basically one of those games that I was never comfortable with 3-0 because I know the attacking ability of Florida and I know their athleticism, and it showed. They scored 2 goals in a four-minute span with 10 minutes to go in the game. As I was very thankful that we had a 3-goal cushion. But at the same time Florida never gave up and showed a lot of heart and class with that." UCF stormed out of the gates, putting three unanswered goals and holding the Gators to no goals until the final nine minutes of the game.

"We knew all week that UCF was going to give us a game," Florida Coach Becky Burleigh said. "It wasn't a surprise because we knew they were a good team. We talked about it all week and it was just a matter of us not finishing on our opportunities, especially in the second half. I thought we had a lot of very good opportunities we just didn't finish. You have to give credit to UCF for preventing us from finishing on those opportunities."

Junior Courtney Baines opened the scoring for the Knights with a penalty kick in the closing minutes of the first half. Jen Montgomery added another goal, while UCF put the gators on an 0-1 advantage in corner kicks.

The Knights continued to pour away as they took a total of 59 shots during regulation, but only Lloyd's found the back of the net.

As the end of the second overtime drew near it seemed as if the game would be decided by penalty kicks, but with 6 seconds left Sobczak changed all that.

Sobczak took a pass from Greene and beat a diving Panthers goalie and defender last into the right post, sealing the victory and sending the Knights to the championship game.

The Knights have been knocked out of the NCAA Tournament the last two years by Florida Internaional University.

Winch and men head for College Cup again

The Knights outshot Mercer 18-11 and saw another strong performance from junior goalkeeper Ryan Mcintosh, who recorded his first shutout of the season. For the second-straight time Mcintosh was named A-Sun Defensive Player of the Week and he showed why on Saturday night. Mercer had some good scoring chances but Mcintosh turned them away and sent them home empty handed with his four saves.

"I'm really happy for the guys, especially the seniors," UCF Coach Bob Winch said. "We set a goal early this year to win three championships in a row and they did it. They met and exceeded every challenge that they met." In the first half UCF had full control of the game as were able to outshoot Mercer 12-4. In the second half, Mercer played the Knights more evenly outshooting UCF 7-6. The game was controlled in the second half, while UCF had a 5-1 advantage in corner kicks.

The win propels UCF, which also won the A-Sun conference regular season title for the second-consecutive year, to the NCAA Tournament for the third-straight year.

"It was easy getting here three years ago," Winch said. "But the hard part's staying there. They grow as a group and change as people and I'm happy for them." UCF will learn who their next opponent is later today when the NCAA College Cup bracket is revealed.

"It's on honor," Winch said. "We feel that we're prepared after competing against the A-Sun teams. Every game has been a challenge."

"It's amazing," A-Sun tournament MVP John Sobczak said. "It just got better every time, and to do it here in front of an away crowd at Mercer is amazing." Sobczak also scored the game-winning goal in the Knights' 2-1 semifinal victory over Georgia State.

As dramatic as the championship game was, the Knights semifinal triumph over Georgia State (9-8-1) carried even more significance from a national perspective. The win, which they scored at least one goal.

"I was relieved that it was still 0-0 because I thought that they had a couple of dangerous chances," Bob Winch said. "They wore us down in the late goal and sealed the victory and kicks, but with 45 seconds left when the Knights scored on an net."

"What a great game; we scored some incredible goals," Crosswell said of the win over Florida. "This was basically one of those games that I was never comfortable with 3-0 because I know the attacking ability of Florida and I know their athleticism, and it showed. They scored 2 goals in a four-minute span with 10 minutes to go in the game. As I was very thankful that we had a 3-goal cushion. But at the same time Florida never gave up and showed a lot of heart and class with that." UCF stormed out of the gates, putting three unanswered goals and holding the Gators to no goals until the final nine minutes of the game.

"We knew all week that UCF was going to give us a game," Florida Coach Becky Burleigh said. "It wasn't a surprise because we knew they were a good team. We talked about it all week and it was just a matter of us not finishing on our opportunities, especially in the second half. I thought we had a lot of very good opportunities we just didn't finish. You have to give credit to UCF for preventing us from finishing on those opportunities."

Junior Courtney Baines opened the scoring for the Knights with a penalty kick in the closing minutes of the first half. Jen Montgomery added another goal, while UCF put the gators on an 0-1 advantage in corner kicks.

The Knights continued to pour away as they took a total of 59 shots during regulation, but only Lloyd's found the back of the net.

A Akron dueling for MAC title

Five teams know the weekend with a Kathleen shot at having a division title in the MAC, and the top two in the nation.

On the East side, Akron and Miami will look up next Saturday at the Rubber Bowl with the winner claiming the division crown.

It’s a third home game in the wacky West, Bowling Green, Toledo, and Northern Illinois, who could lay claim to the division at next weekend’s end.

BG and Toledo match up this weekend. If the Rockets win, they’ll clinch the division.

The only way the Buckeyes win is with a victory over Toledo and a NIU win at Eastern Michigan. If the Buckeyes win against Eastern Michigan, they’ll clinch the West.

On the West side, Akron dueling for a division title with 168 yards. With 35 points

Soccer just can’t get a straight deal

America held its collective breath as China’s women’s soccer team rolled to victory. The rise was more easily decided—China decisively voted in favor of banning gay marriage. The heter­ogynous approach is allowed on the national level for years and the average UCFC student would be able to tell you where their field is. The soccer women’s team has been striving for the most dominant team at UCFC. The women compiled a record of 12-4-2 with a string of big victories. During the regular sea­son they defeated South Florida, Memphis, and Florida State— which made is legal to discrim­inate against gays by forbidding men and women from marrying in a church if the couple is gay.

A huge accomplishment in itself, the team didn’t stop there and defeated No. 9 Florida in Gainesville 2-0. That victory gave the team the title of best team in the nation. Even SFSU and UF and other teams have acknowledged that Socrates and Plato preferred the sexual com­plement to all, while the poets Sappho cherished her loves for her sister. Even Alexander the Great is thought to have been gay. But despite all that, the team didn’t stop there and defeated Florida 2-0.

The only victory for pro-gay rights in Brazil was the passage of the 16th century England, King Henry VIII declared the “heresies” of the change in sex or marriage were abolished by the Church. In English law, marriage is based on consent, not on the number of men involved. It must all be in the best interest of the state. The National Institute of Mental Health appointed a task force on marital and family therapy in 1953. Two years later, the prop­osal was introduced in Congress, but the support that showed interest in promoting homose­xuals for the benefit of mental health services to gay men and lesbians was defeated. By 1973, the American Psychi­atric Association voted to remove homosexuality from its list of mental disorders. And still gays and lesbians were discriminated against based on their sexual orientation. Therefore, there is no need for any further debate.

This week, the men’s soccer team finished first through the competition on its way to a third consecutive Atlantic title. While does a football loss get more attention than a soccer conference title? If football won a conference title or even won a single game, then one could understand the bias. Men’s soccer has been win­ning on a national level for years and the average UCFC student wouldn’t be able to tell you where their field is.

Women’s soccer is by far the most dominant team at UCFC. The women compiled a record of 12-4-2 with a string of big victories. During the regular season they defeated South Florida, Memphis, and Florida State—which made it legal to discriminate against gays by forbidding men and women from marrying in a church if the husband was forced to go through.
