$12,000 for vehicle and terminated a bill to send an automotive engineering student to four Mini Baja competitions, at which competitors race off-road vehicles they have designed and built.

The Society of Automotive Engineers holds a social each semester for SGA, at which all SGA members are invited to take a ride in the Mini Baja racing vehicles. About half of last year’s Senate members took the society up on the offer last semester.

Though the bill was strong- ly supported within the Senate, a few senators had reser­ vations. "I don’t think this is going to benefit UCF, and more importantly I don’t think this is how this is going to benefit students that are not in the organization," Sen. Brooks Brinkley said.

The winner break is a dangerous time for students dealing with depression

NASEEM SOFANE

The winner break is a dangerous time for students dealing with depression.

Though not often discussed, suicide is a "huge public health problem," according to a statement from the World Health Organization. It is the third leading cause of death for teenagers and young adults in the United States, according to the National Strategy for Suicide Prevention.

More people in this age group die by suicide than from cancer, heart disease, birth defects, AIDS, stroke, pneumonia, influenza and chronic lung disease combined, the organization says.

"This is a very important subject matter," Deichen stressed.

"One in every 8000 people commits suicide," he said, which means about four UCF students or their loved ones every year.

There is no mandate for colleges and universities to publish or track numbers of suicides, but the rate of depression — one of the leading risk factors related to suicide — is not slowing down. The number of college students who said they had ever received a diagnosis of depression has increased by 6.4 percent over the past four years to 4.8 percent, according to a nationwide study released this month by the American College Health Association.

In “9/11’silder told all” (Dec. 21), the future incorrectly suggested that the senators and Service Free increases was mentioned by the story. A Service Free increase, which was passed in August, was increased on the state, but the Activity and Service Free increase was followed by the SG President Kevin Peters to pay the hardcover damage. The Peters did not utilize an SG Senate meeting as reported in the same story.

In “More approval despite community protest” (Dec. 21) all of the businesses at a public hearing opposed the Master Plan, as implied, at least eight speakers supported the current Master Plan. The estimated attendance of 200 was also exaggerated and as there were fewer than 300 people present at any given time.

Michael Bar’s title was incorrect. He is the Seminole County Soil and Water Conservation district supervisor in Group 4.

The article also mispelled the name of Joseph Zippin.

Armed insurgents take to the streets in the northern city of Mosul, Iraq, as the U.S. military continues its offensive on the city. The insurgents are said to be linked to al-Qaeda and other extremist groups.

Polls show no clear winner in Ukraine's presidential election.

The runoff election will take place on Sunday, with the two leading candidates, Yushchenko and Kuchma, both claiming victory. The outcome is uncertain, as the election has been marred by allegations of fraud.

Ulcers and H. pylori.

A new study has found that Helicobacter pylori, a common bacteria found in the stomach, is responsible for about 90% of cases of peptic ulcer disease. The bacteria, which can be transmitted through contaminated water and food, can cause ulcers to develop and can also lead to stomach cancer.

Peptic ulcer disease.

A peptic ulcer is a hole in the lining of the stomach or duodenum. They can be caused by a number of factors, including stress, smoking, and certain medications. Ulcers can cause pain, bleeding, and even perforation of the stomach wall. Treatment options include medications, lifestyle changes, and sometimes surgery.
I am experiencing frequent lower-back pain. What are the causes, and how is it treated?

Lower-back pain is one of the most common medical problems encountered. It is also a major contributor to lost work time. Most types of back pain are not due to a serious condition and are usually resolved in three months or less.

The most common cause of lower-back pain in the college-age population is muscle strain. It is usually preceded by a vigorous increase in physical activity involving the back. Other causes of lower-back pain may be urinary tract infections or prostate disease. In such cases, these usually are accompanied by urinary symptoms present as well.

In females, disorders that can be present with lower-back pain also include endometriosis, uterine fibroids, menopausal cramps and even pregnancy.

X-rays of the lower spine can often be helpful in identifying abnormalities such as narrowing of the space between vertebrae, kidney stones or bone abnormalities in the spine. Usually an abnormal X-ray will require further radiographic testing such as computer tomography or magnetic resonance imaging to further identify the extent of the problem more accurately.

In the patient population older than 50, the most common cause of lower-back pain is degenerative joint disease. That is when the disc between the vertebrae gradually collapses over time, which alters the mechanical balance between the structures of the spine, resulting in pain. Usually this pain is chronic with exacerbations that can be quite intense and become progressively worse.

Prescriptions generally prescribed for muscle strain-related, as well as degenerative joint-related, lower-back pain are anti-inflammatory medication and muscle relaxants. Application of heat and sports gel can also help with improvement.

But rest, even if the pain is intense, should not be encouraged. Most patients can maintain their flexibility and recover in a timely manner being as active as is tolerable.

Ultimately, utilizing proper back mechanics and proper lifting techniques can prevent most back pain due to vigorous physical activity.

going to get married, I'm used to asking them the same question: "Who am I?" Some people think that it's going to be this great, easy thing, but they're not thinking about the consequences.

"Sometimes people think that it's going to be this great, easy thing, but they're not thinking about the consequences. You actually get in there and have to work at a lot of things."

If partners try to compromise and put their full efforts into the relationship, the marriage has a higher chance of surviving, couples say.

Sandi and Dennis Klimak of Venice, Fla., married when they were both 20. April 30 will mark their 50th wedding anniversary.

"We feel that we had a commitment to each other, we worked hard in keeping our commitment, and always our first priority was being a young grandparent—no, it's not.

"We did not get married just because it was legal."

How do UC professors fare on the Web?

Some University of California professors are visiting RateMyProfessors.com, although the majority of them are not. But Adams said the site "is a great forum for students to comment on their instructors, writing of the things that matter to them, and the things that matter to them clearly, CampusDaily.com offers many more services while recognizing their limitations. Although they may not be the most realistic critiques of professors, it is better than going into your classes with no information at all."
Each of these services offers a unique manner of review. While RateMyProfessors.com is the easiest site to navigate and presents the information clearly, CampusDaily.com offers many more services. This site allows students to review not only the professors, but the school as well. In addition, it offers Tim eOut on a regular basis. Although pickygong.com claims to offer similar service.

T he SGA Senate did well to reject the bill that would have prohibited it voted against Bill 743, which was of concern to some students. The bill was introduced by Senator Pam May, who had been pushing for a bill that would allow students to vote on major issues. The Senate voted against the bill, and it was sent back to the House of Representatives.

After the strike ended, a new proposed bill was introduced that would allow students to vote on major issues. The bill was rejected by the Senate, and it was sent back to the House of Representatives.

Baseball can't get rid of Bonds

Senators, including the Student Government Association, Senator Government Association, and University officials, have debated the issue of Barry Bonds and his use of steroids. Bonds is currently leading the league in home runs, and many people believe he should be penalized for his use of steroids. However, others believe that Bonds should be allowed to continue playing baseball. The Senate has voted to reject the bill that would have allowed students to vote on major issues. The Senate has also rejected the bill that would have allowed students to vote on the continued use of steroids by Bonds.

Some senators have expressed concern that the Senate is not doing enough to address the issue of Barry Bonds and his use of steroids. Others believe that the Senate is doing too much, and that the issue should be left to the players themselves. The Senate has voted to reject the bill that would have allowed students to vote on major issues. The Senate has also rejected the bill that would have allowed students to vote on the continued use of steroids by Bonds.

Senate president responds

I have another perspective on some of the issues discussed in the recent article (“SGA leaders say ‘no’ to Bill 743”). I believe that the Senate is doing its job by considering the issues that are important to the students. The Senate has voted to reject the bill that would have allowed students to vote on major issues. The Senate has also rejected the bill that would have allowed students to vote on the continued use of steroids by Bonds.

I believe that the Senate is doing its job by considering the issues that are important to the students. The Senate has voted to reject the bill that would have allowed students to vote on major issues. The Senate has also rejected the bill that would have allowed students to vote on the continued use of steroids by Bonds.

Reminding

Going into my final semester, I look back at my four and one-half years at UCF and try to answer two questions: “Was it worth it?” and “What do I do now?”

To answer the first question — absolutely. A bachelor's degree has opened doors for me, to apply to jobs I would otherwise be excluded from, and to self-confidence. I have obtained these things. However, I was granted from UCF that I would be a career in the business world, and I am glad I did that. However, I would be able to work with my advisor and colleagues to prepare for the future. I am glad I did that.

We should aim to keep the Senate from the media, and not allow it to be defamed. We should also aim to keep the Senate from being defamed. The Senate should be able to stand on its own without the need for defamatory media. The Senate should be able to stand on its own without the need for defamatory media. The Senate should be able to stand on its own without the need for defamatory media. The Senate should be able to stand on its own without the need for defamatory media. The Senate should be able to stand on its own without the need for defamatory media. The Senate should be able to stand on its own without the need for defamatory media. The Senate should be able to stand on its own without the need for defamatory media. The Senate should be able to stand on its own without the need for defamatory media. The Senate should be able to stand on its own without the need for defamatory media. The Senate should be able to stand on its own without the need for defamatory media. The Senate should be able to stand on its own without the need for defamatory media. The Senate should be able to stand on its own without the need for defamatory media.

As for the second question — well, that’s for you to decide. In the end, you are the one who has to live with the decision you make. You are the one who has to live with the decision you make. You are the one who has to live with the decision you make. You are the one who has to live with the decision you make. You are the one who has to live with the decision you make. You are the one who has to live with the decision you make. You are the one who has to live with the decision you make. You are the one who has to live with the decision you make. Where on earth can one find that perfect present for that special someone? The following ideas can make that annoying account when looking for a gift a bit easier to savor how much they want to spend. For most college students who work in order to pay off loans, insurance and rent, this will narrow the search drastically. If you can afford a trip to the mall at Millennium and prefer to shop there, than you obviously aren’t a struggling college student and I hate you. But if you want to buy my friendship and believe me you can, I could really use an iPod and a Lacoste cashmere sweater. If either of these items is on your list of gifts to buy for your friends, then let me offer a much more economical option. Remove silver spoon from arm and give that instead. Maybe you work but your parents help out with some of the bills too so you have a little extra cash this holiday season. This average mall could do the trick, so go ahead and try online. Wedgies like those are a really popular option for those who have cash but want to get their bargains fix. Find all sorts of cool and unique gifts in the auctions, from a grandmother’s ghost to a set of Oregon salt and pepper shakers. Had that Oregon shaker — irony is funny. But if you think we are in the lower price range or you happen to be the poor, then you must subject yourself to second-hand agility and visit the nearest Wal-Mart. If the person for whom you don’t appreciate the usual gifts, or you are in the low budget appreciate the suffering you had to endure to get that. Because the true spirit of giving somehow is that you have no friends left. Nobody wants to be friends with a poor person.

Saturday I will be describing the years of my adoles­cence to an over-paid psychia­trist.

I was never allowed to trick-or-treat on Halloween. I never went on Easter egg hunts. Worst of all, at age six, I never went on Easter egg hunts. Childhood was taken away from me the one month of peace and happiness we are promised. In my mind, there is nothing wrong with letting kids experience joy and happiness. No, for if I am a Christian parent, you shouldn’t hinder your child from believing these things as long as they understand the true meaning of Christmas.

As a young child, I was told that the meaning of Christmas was the birth of Jesus. I still believe this, I however missed out on many experiences that were ever-present. Raising a child in Christianity from a young age is a very important decision for a parent to make. It is important to explain to chil­dren the fundamentals of building a foundation of morals and knowledge of right and wrong. It should not be subject to anything that would make them so set-apart from normal society that they are embarrassed or hatred. This is the main problem with Christianity today. Students on campus look at the whole spiritual evangelical basis on the Money Martyr s making gifts calling them this. The assumption becomes that this is what all Christians are like. We are a bunch of jerks.

This is not the case. If you want to just talk to them or know people you know, you might be surprised to find out that they are either a Christian or completely not. Regardless of what your believe, everyone should be able to enjoy this time of year in whatever way that they choose. Happy holidays.

ISRAEL IS THE CANARY IN THE MINE

The war between Arabs and Jews is not the cause of the war on terror, as apologists for Muslim radicals claim; it is the war on terror.

Twenty-five years ago, there were two non-Islamic democracies in the Middle East: Israel and Lebanon. This was too much for Islamic radicals, Syrian irredentists and Palestinians who joined forces to destroy Lebanon and make it a base for terror.

The goal of the post-Oslo intifada is not to establish a Palestinian state alongside a Jewish state. Its goal is an Islamic umma extending "from the Jordan to the sea." That is why Oslo was rejected by Arafat even though Barak and Clinton offered him an independent state on virtually all of the land Palestinians claimed in the West Bank of the Jordan and Gaza. That is why the very birth of Israel is referred to by all the present Palestinian leadership as the "Naqba" —the "catastrophe." To Islamic radicals at war with the West, the very creation of Israel is a catastrophe.

American apologists for Arab aggression are also apologists for Islamic aggression. In their eyes, Arab terror in the Middle East has a root cause in the policies of Israel, whom terrorists refer to as the "little Satan." For apologists of the Islamic terror of 9/11 and the Zarqawi terror in Iraq, jihad is not a self-generating creed but has a "root cause" in the policies of "the Great Satan," which is us.

Peace in the Middle East and peace in the war with al-Qaeda and Zarqawi will come only when the terrorists surrender or are defeated, and when Arab governments cease their incitement of hatred against Israel and the United States.

TIME FOR THE KNIGHTIES

Giving out awards to those athletes who gave it their all

ASHLEY BURNS

Hollywood has Oscar. TV Land has Emmy. The Porn industry has Woody. And UCF has the Knighty. Each semester a crack team of physicists and statisticians get together for weeks on end to determine the most-deserving athletes for the most important awards offered in college athletics. This semester saw some firsts in the annals of the Knighty, there was not one but two Knighty winners in one year. Wayne Johnson called the team's start later this fall against Gardner-Webb a career-high 24 for the team. John Webb, who put on that showcase he put on that night, he was the offensive leader of the team. The team had an offensive output of 0-1 against UCF. The offense was turned over to the ref's. Any time Gardner Webb made a statement loud and clear.

Don't say I'm sorry

Winning is a good thing but only when it counts.

There are three things that I'm always afraid of: being wrong, being embarrassed, and being disheartened by a spitter. And I think that every sports fan seriously fears the bottom end of the list. They are just as likely to lose their hope as they are to realize that they have no hope.

But last Thursday night, the team I wrote the highest praise for (that doesn't involve the words Swishball of the Year) made me feel every word I spared at my millions of faithful readers last week.

I like my high horse and I go on and on about how poor the Norris is because it's our best shot at a number one ranking.

two outs and then the rest of the inning,
and that was it,”
Stiegler said.

In the ninth inning,
the Knights scored six runs
on a solo home run
by Jenna Mayhew
and a two-run double by Tricia McCarty.

UCF scored three runs in the bottom of the ninth.

During a pitching duel
in the final game,
UCF hit four solo
home runs.

UConn scored four runs
in the final game
on three singles
and a home run.

“I don’t think we were ready at the plate
in the first nine innings,
but we got it going in the final inning,”
Mayor said.

Both teams ended the weekend with a 6-7 overall record
for UConn.

“We got a hold of
some good pitches,
and we were ready
for the last nine innings,”
Mayor said.

Both teams were

Kendra Flock was an offensive menace this season, leading the Knights with 21 yards. She knocked in game-winning goals to give UCF two games this season and also knocked in the game-winning goal against Florida in the first round of the NCAA Tournament. Despite all of that strong performance, Flock was marked by the A-Sun in the “Freshman of the Year” voting and received only a spot on the conference All-Freshman Team. Ednah Neiderworder gained some slight offensive respect as well as a more than 1.40 and 99 points.

Desperately in need of a Gimmick

Ryan Mcintosh

He's the top goalkeeper in the A-Sun, but he's one of the top goalkeepers in the USA during his senior year next year. He's won two consecutive A-Sun Defensive Player of the Year awards. All that and he's still almost squeaky clean for his own good. Mcintosh needs some kind of intimidating edge like a tattoo on his face or a biker-emoticon.

Raw Deal? - (Tie) Tanya Jarvis, Amanda Stanifjöyds, Michelle Sanders

Volleyball's senior trio deserved a better ending. These are the only 10 players in the history of the A-Sun in the history of the A-Sun. Where a senior has to go last season's streak-breaking loss to Troy, and the B-A winning streak was broken out of spite, they simply have to worry about howl-officiating again. The same goes for all of UCF's other sports as they make their final run through the Atlantic Sun Conference. Whenever MAC officials were quite possibly officiating poorly out of spite. A-Sun-Officials are not bad at all. That good. Men's basketball saw a handful of calls go against them in last season's streak-breaking loss to Troy, and the poor officiating is already underway this season, as evidenced in last Thursday's loss to Florida A&M. If we wanted to send flowers to the Conference USA officials, what address should we use?

Excellent in Hibernation - UCF football's offense

The Knights averaged 15.9 points per game this season on offense. That was 15 points less than their opponent averages against them. UCF averaged 97 yards per game on the ground and the school on 1.50. For its powerhouse defense managed a measly 131 rushing yards per game. Oh, and there was that whole 0-11 record. Too, wide receiver Josh Liddell Huggins and Tavara Capers, both equally talented athletes, combined for 1,099 receiving yards. That's 148 yards less than Doug Gabriell's single-season record in 2002. Capers didn't even eclipse his 335-yard 2003 campaign. Even Alex Haynes couldn't crack the 1,000-yard mark. Oppo- nent defenses and the youth of this offensive line had him fall down from the start. The son of Haynes only made more of this offensive unit in the offseason.

Freshmen Sensations - (Tie)

Kendra Flock and Scharf

Hilfoeder

Women's soccer phenomenon

The Inaugural Knighty (Lifetime Achievement Award goes to ...)

Alas Haynes

For his career-record 3,356 rushing yards, and career-setting 74 rushing touchdowns, Alas Haynes leaves UCF as one of the greatest student-athletes in the school's history. Statistics aside, his work ethic is paramount and his demeanor is an example for every student-athlete. That said, Haynes was named A-Sun Offensive Player of the Year for UCF giving 100%. He's fought through injuries and experience and he has been a leader throughout all of it. He gave 100% from the start and through the finish of his junior season this 01-02 season. All that's left is to turn to Haynes' final goal, sealing the screen of Monday Night Football.

Toledo comes from behind for MAC title

Gradkowski leads Rockets with four passing touchdowns

HATT DURWANY  Senior Staff Writer

A few bumps and bruises didn't slow down Matty Gradkowski, quarterback for the Toledo Rockets, last weekend. In fact, the senior led the Rockets to a come-from-behind victory over Western Michigan, 44-41.

Gradkowski's performance was critical, as he four passed for 306 yards and scored four touchdowns. His performance set the tone for the Rockets' victory, as they trailed 24-14 at halftime.

The Rockets were without leading receiver Michael Larkin, who broke his hand in the previous week's game. However, Gradkowski stepped up and found his receivers in the second half, leading Toledo to a 44-41 win.

Gradkowski's performance was instrumental in the Rockets' victory, as he led the team to its second win of the season. The Rockets will look to continue their winning ways as they prepare for their next game.
