Bentley's a winner

The medical school that UCF President John Hitt is pursuing seems to have won the support of students on campus.

The school, which was proposed last fall, could help satisfy demands and issues arising from medical innovations and technologies in the coming decades of Orlando without having to pursue a medical education elsewhere.

In a presentation Jan. 22, Hitt told the Florida Board of Regents that the Burnett College of Biomedical Sciences, established by a $10 million grant last year, would be the base of a medical college.

Hitt quoted from a study by the Council on Education for Policy Research and Improvement and a UCF-commissioned study by MGT of America that showed a critical shortage of doctors in Florida and that the problem will continue until a solution is found.

"We think that the answer to it's a good idea, so we're going to move forward," Hitt said in a news release. He added that UCF plans to present the board with a formal proposal within a few months.

"The Burnett college of Biomedical Sciences, said that a medical school would "obviously affect us," he said that while he is unable to name the interest of students at UCF, a medical school in the area would easily compete with Florida's already existing medical schools.

Students who are already practicing here in the state," Hitt said, "so we're going to have to move forward."
Health center problems persist
Students complain about lack of quality service, weekend availability

The Student Health Center serves more than 62,000 patients a year. All of these reports are based on student complaints.

HADLEY BARGER

In the spring of last year, a student at Florida State University was treated by the Student Health Center.

The student was suffering from abdominal pain and was referred to the Health Center on the first floor of the Student Union. The student was then placed into a waiting room.

The student waited for four hours before being seen by a doctor. The student was finally seen by a doctor at around 4 p.m.

The doctor diagnosed the student with appendicitis and recommended surgery. The student was then taken to the hospital and underwent surgery.

Despite the severe pain and discomfort the student was experiencing, the wait time was unacceptable and the quality of service was questionable.

The student later expressed dissatisfaction with the experience and felt that the Student Health Center did not meet her expectations.

The incident highlights the need for improvements in the quality of service and the availability of the Student Health Center.

In response to the incident, the Student Health Center has implemented several changes to improve the quality of service and reduce wait times.

These changes include increasing the number of staff members, improving communication with patients, and implementing a new scheduling system.

The Student Health Center continues to work towards providing excellent care and improving the overall experience for its patients.

Orlando attracts foreign students despite shortage of U.S. Embassy in Malaysia hasn’t discouraged, says from continuing his research in the United States. It is true that many international students seem to have been discouraged by the United States’ new security checks. The word has been getting around that it is almost impossible to get a U.S. visa.

For the first time in 15 years, the number of foreign students on American campuses has dropped — by 2.4 percent, according to the latest edition of Open Doors, a publication about international students prepared by the Institute of International Education. However, the drop in the number of applicants is far less than the decline in their enrollment,” said Pegge Dillow, associate dean of the UCF Academic Affairs Office and a professor of mechanical engineering for the College of Engineering and Computer Science, "the area which is hardest hit by this decline.

Statistics show that first-time enrollment in the college has also dropped by 2.7 percent. A survey of major graduate institutions conducted by the University of Florida Graduate Schools shows a 6 percent decline in new student enrollment in fall 2004, a substantial drop for the first time in a row.

Underlying factors

The delays in granting or revoking the international student visa are mostly due to new policies implemented by the U.S. State Department and the Department of Homeland Security after the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorist attacks.

SEVIS, a computerized system that tracks international students, U.S. Visa, a system that arranges arrivals and departures of all foreigners, and Visa Matching and Award Program that permits security checks on foreign students and scholars, who study any of the approximately 300 scientific fields that are on the government’s Technology Alert List, are some of the things that each student and scholar needs to get through to get a visa, regardless of their or her or her parents’ country of origin. Without those policies, enrollment at UCF and throughout Florida, a visiting professor in the College of Optics and Photonics and a number of other institutions, will not be able to fill its classes and all the details (like checking for a visa) are so time consuming. As Spring Training starts throughout the state, the story in Orlando may not be hit, but rather Ray-Buc.

Ray Buc Rodriguez surrendered three runs (two earned) on five hits and struck out a season-high seven batters in six innings to earn the second save in as many starts, helping the Knights knock off UCF's Roger Bethel Thursday at McKethan Stadium in Tallahassee.

The win is the fourth straight for most of the season, as none of the UCF lineup topped the .200 mark. The Knights got just two hits off Buc, who scored Matt Mirabott, after Buc allowed two to the top of the first, taking a 1-0 lead on a RBI single by Bono that scored Matt Mirabott, but that was the only run Buc gave up. Bono was also score in the third inning, UCF taking the lead at 2-1, but UCF would hit another two and tie the game in the bottom of the inning. UCF would score two more in the second and one in the fourth.

In the second, UCF got the first hit of the bottom of the inning base, before a sacrifice fly by Justin Mahon and a Matt Ray Bono single in the third inched the Knights closer, but that was the only scoring threat of the game. The Knights would eventually win the game, and come back each time, solid leads and Bethune fighting back each time, whether Ray-Rod or something else.

When the scores were finalized, Bono had eight hits and struck out a career-high 13 batters in six innings to preserve his first save of the season.

"You can see the improvement throughout the season, from the first start to the last," said Justin Mahon. "You can see the improvement throughout the season, from the first start to the last," said Justin Mahon.

While the win was the second of the season for the Knights, the second loss of the year for the WildCats.

Women dominate against old rival

JESSICA DONOHUE

The UCF women's rugby team defeated the College of Charleston this weekend to advance to the South quarternials.

The women continued their winning streak with a 36-5 victory, advancing them to No. 1 in their conference, Charleston, which has stopped UCF from advancing to Nationals from the past two years, is waxed on their duty duty home field. It provided a spirited, even chaotic game, but UCF held together against the disadvantage.

Superior in scrums and lineouts, UCF used its muscle to push down the field and score on breakdowns and out of scrums. A fixed Charleston defense gave UCF more scoring opportunities in the second half, but UCF still managed to score four tries, taking the lead 36-5 and solidifying the door in the nuthatch for the Knights.

not this girl.

I don't think you have looked at the ads that are printed in the Future. However, I have to express my disgust with the ad for a flat tire on Tuesday afternoon that ran on the back page of the page three ads. It shows a woman in her prom dress and says that women will do just about anything for beads. And yet when you drive your car when you go to class, the girls you have been to try to work for them once you get inside. So in other words, you're just coming out of bed back while the girls stick to the club to ensure strip and please the men inside in exchange for food. So women should promote themselves at a club with a paid ground crew, to exchange for plastic beads.

That really says something about the values of American society. This is why we don't get to club.

COMMENTARY

If Willie Bentley Jr. wins the SGA presidential election, then he's probably going to be happy with his election three weeks ago.

To solve the obvious parking problem, Bentley proposes that freshmen live on campus, even if they have limited parking, or not be allowed to have automobiles at all.

The idea isn't anything that college students haven't dealt with already. Many freshmen at schools in Florida aren't allowed to have cars.

At first, I was excited to drive her to her car spot. I realized what's so much for so little. If we give such a huge grin on your face, it will make up for the fact that many times, I have been unceremoniously thrown out on the street.

Secondly, one of my best friends is a freshman with a pretty awesome car. For one reason or another, he enjoys banding people around everywhere. I've saved lots of money on gas from his chauffeur services.

Finally, the lack of parking is actually a good way to meet girls. There's no free ride. You can't go out at night and stay, and take too long, then you have to go to a dirt lot. Offer to drive her to her car exchange for her parking spot. If you do this, however, make sure you don't stare at her cleavage or have a huge grin on your face when you ask. You might notice her clutching onto a mace can while you drive.

As many freshmen at schools in Florida aren't allowed to have parking, or not be able to have automobiles at all.

Plan to limit freshmen parking so had to settle for a parking garage. In the half-mile-size parking garage, the self-parking system is too expensive, and will take too long, then you have to go to a dirt lot.

There is nothing wrong with paving paradise and putting up a parking lot in Oviedo, but can't afford one?
