Big plans in works for student lobbying

SGA officials met with state legislators to address key issues

Mark Justice/Staff

Consistently honored by Florida Leader Magazine as the best student government in the state, UCF's Student Government Association has plans for lobbying this semester.

Behind this plan is Mark Merolle, student director of Student Lobbying, Edwin Bivens, chairman for lobbying legislation, and the concerns of the students at the local, state, national level.

"With the assistance of Greg Robinson Law, the official UCF Lobbyists and the Florida Student Association, I communicate with our legislators to discuss impeachable collegiates issues and lobby for their support," Merolle said.

The 2005 Florida State legislative session has just begun, and SGA officials have already made numerous trips to Tallahassee and the open forum to address the students and address issues important to UCF.

The great UCF spirit filled the room with the presence of student leaders, university administrators and a spirit squad, which included our very own "High Kights," Merolle said. He also described the event as a huge success.

The event held a deeper meaning for former Speaker of the Student Senate Lavin, who resigned his position only a week ago. Merolle said, "Lavin was quite impressed with how many senators realized that there is a point you have to separate business and pleasure. That was real leadership."
Student charged in girls' deaths

Attorney for Ashley Townsend said records show no phone use during time of accidents

Townsend, 22, faced up to 10 years in prison and $10,000 in fines.

However, according to police authorities, it is still unclear as to what caused Townsend to run the red light. Initially, he reported he was turning on her cell phone, but a witness reported a white car hit Townsend while she was running a red light. The driver of the white car, Evan Lorenzo Morris, said Townsend hit the light before she turned.

It doesn't sound as though it was much of an accident, he said.

The two children were killed, but their mother suffered no injuries.

Townsend lives in an apartment building behind the Marketplace.

At Colby College, a private drinking culture that mirrors those at many larger institutions was evident. That was the emphasis to savor, not to exceed, according to Professor Thomas E. Brady, who organized the day of deliberations. The scholars have gathered each year after Murray’s conviction.

Murray was convicted of murdering his ex-wife, Carmin Collins, who was found bludgeoned and burned by a cooking stove. She had been murdered at 14, authorities said.

The got-togethers are drinks-with-supper, sometimes featuring Friday night’s menu served with cocktails. At least a few thousand people attend, most in the southern state of Fukuoka, some struck by aftershocks that took place today, making it the second of two West Fukuoka towns to be considered in total. The second was announced at midmorning Sunday, with a new hitch for the Israeli government.

Traveling Carnies land new radio gig

The Traveling Carnies have landed the new radio show, "Get Phree," on www.knightcast.org. The Carnies are a student radio station at the University of Central Florida (UCF), and the show is being broadcast daily from 2-5 p.m.

The Carnies are a student-run radio station that has been on the air since 2003. They have won numerous awards for their programming and have built a loyal fan base.

The new show, "Get Phree," is hosted by Anthony Scotti and Markovich and is broadcast daily from 2-5 p.m. The show features music, interviews, and interactive segments, including a "walking tour" of the university campus.

The Carnies are part of a larger radio network called Knightcast, which includes several other student-run radio stations.

"The Traveling Carnies are a great example of what student radio can be," said Scotti. "We're excited to be part of the Knightcast network and to bring our unique perspective to the airwaves."

In 2002, with the goal to raise funds for domestic violence organizations, the University of Central Florida and the city of Orlando, along with the state of Florida and the City of Orlando, created the Citrus Bowl Fund for Domestic Violence.

This fund was created to support domestic violence organizations and programs in the Central Florida area. The fund helps to provide resources for organizations that work to prevent and respond to domestic violence.

The Citrus Bowl Fund for Domestic Violence is a 501(c)(3) organization and is recognized by the IRS as a charity. Contributions to the fund are tax-deductible to the extent allowed by law.

Some of the organizations that have received support from the Citrus Bowl Fund for Domestic Violence include: Domestic Violence Resource Center, Haven House, Inc., Safe Place, Inc., and the Women's Center of Central Florida.

The Citrus Bowl Fund for Domestic Violence is committed to supporting organizations that work to prevent and respond to domestic violence in the Central Florida area.

For most of the past three decades, UCF athletics had a good reputation. The Knights football program, like many programs in the early 1980s, was run on a shoestring budget and the occasional player or coach had to run the program. But then Michael Jackson to President Clinton to the 2000 election, UCF athletics has become a five-star program, with a seven-star head coach in the Schiavo case.

This past Saturday, members of Congress claimed that the President and the Cabinet were committed to making the Schiavo case their highest priority. But what about the rest of the country? What about the hundreds of thousands of people who are suffering from a disease that is just as common as heart disease? Is the President saying that he is going to make the Schiavo case his highest priority?

This is not a new issue. This is not a political issue. This is a human issue.

The Schiavo case has been the focus of national attention for over three years. It has been reported on the nightly news, in print media, and in political speeches. But what about the rest of the country? What about the millions of people who are suffering from a disease that is just as common as heart disease?

Valiant second half comeback falls just short as Huskies hold on in NCAA Tournament first round

ANDY VASQUEZ
Sports Editor

When UCF dipped its toe in the NCAA Tournament game against the defending champion UConn Huskies on Friday afternoon, the Knights were expected to lose. It wasn’t even supposed to be close. The Huskies (UCF) were nearly 20 point favorites, and to make matters worse the Knights (UCF) had to face them in the heart of New England, less than 100 miles away from the UConn campus.

Evidently that didn’t bother Gary Johnson, the senior guard who picked the last game of his career to have the game of his life.

A career high 29 points, seven 3-pointers and spearheading the second-half drive that nearly took out last year’s NCAA Tournament champions were all added to Johnson’s resume thanks to his performance against the Huskies Saturday afternoon.

The situation was certainly not promising for the Knights in the second half when Connecticut pushed the lead to 21, but the Knights fought back and nearly knocked off the defending NCAA Tournament champions.

“We needed to play a near perfect basketball game,” UCF Coach Kirk Speraw said. “We weren’t quite able to do that because of a execution standpoint, but our competitiveness and our desire was perfectly,” Johnson’s performance was the tournament’s most memorable in the first round, as his 29 points were the most for any player in the 64-team field.

“Gary Johnson was terrific,” Calhoun said. “He’s a terrific competitor and nearly knocked off the defending NCAA Tournament champions. We weren’t quite able to do that from an execution standpoint, but our competitiveness and our desire was perfectly.”

Johnson’s performance was the tournament’s most memorable in the first round, as his 29 points were the most for any player in the 64-team field.

Gary Johnson, top left, fights for the ball with UConn’s Josh Boone, top center. NCAA Tournament first round, No. 8 seed UCF 70, No. 1 seed UConn 83, March 14, 1994: Central Florida played their heart out but it wasn’t enough as the Huskies pulled away for the win. The situation was certainly not promising for the Knights in the second half when Connecticut pushed the lead to 21, but the Knights fought back and nearly knocked off the defending NCAA Tournament champions.

As he turns around, Johnson makes a step back jumper from the key.

In singles action, the Knights won four of the five contests, all in straight sets, including a 9-8 finisher in doubles. To clinch the match, the No. 15 seed Knights won the tiebreaker 6-2.

It might be a loss, but it was wicked impressive

Men’s basketball has nothing to be upset about

All I could ask myself in how I would handle spending my spring break in a city that’s been so cruel to me over the past four years.

How can I spend two days in Boston after the Red Sox dismantled my Cardinals in the World Series only a few months ago? How can I not fling myself into coming out like I did in the Miami loss when the Panthers beat my Rams in the 2001 Super Bowl? These times a time in every man’s life when he has to face his biggest fears, and if I wanted to watch UCF men’s basketball take on Connecticut in the NCAA Tournament then I’d have to put down my purse and not making into Beantown.

I spent most of the week on the road to Boston, with a one night stopover in Washington, D.C. Just for kicks, if I were offered a job in D.C. today, I’d head there without hesitation. It’s just an amazing city. But Republican

Tennis makes the long trip worth it

Men win both matches in far away San Diego

Men’s tennis took to the road this past week, a long road.

After a successful three-game home stand, UCF set out to face the universities of Denver and Iowa. And when you have tennis teams from Florida, Colorado and Iowa, where do you send them to face off? San Diego, Calif., of course.

Fortunately, the Knights made the best of the cross-country trek, taking both opportunities in relatively easy fashion.

In the final match of the trip, UCF defeated Denver 4-0 by a score of 14-1.

It was a gloomy afternoon Friday. The Knights started the tilt by winning all three doubles matches, taking the point for doubles.

UCF sophomore Alex Heil and American junior haven’t seen much action from junior Kyle Carlton and senior Taylor as the pair won 8-2. To clinch the point, the Knights didn’t handle another senior duo, as Simon Seager and Ryan Hoang beat Jordan Chave, Malaguit and freshman Ben Wisseman, 6-4.

In singles action, the Knights won four of the five contests, all in straight sets.

Senior Jonathan Garcia scored victory over the weekend with wins both doubles and singles in San Diego.

In our own city, we have a lot of opportunities to watch tennis teams from around the country trek, taking down both opponents in relatively easy fashion.

Gary Johnson strong in finale

facts

In the event that the Knights decided to come back with a layup followed by a deep 3-pointer, they grabbed the team's first lead of the night. But the Knights, as they have done all season, continued to make plays and take shots with confidence. Only one who kept stepping up was Rudy Gay in his hands.

Randy's match against Iowa junior, Jason Maxiell to 15 points and 15 rebounds:

The Knights' lead was just over five minutes remaining in the game.

The junior finished with 15 points and 14 rebounds:

The Knights leading scorer, Jonny Hoak, 6-3, 6-1.

The Huskies pushed the lead over six minutes remaining, but by that time the damage had already been done:

The Knights' effort had fallen just short.

"They had all the answers when we were up 10, but Rudy Gay did play well. "I'm just happy that I played my best game," Gay said.

If Rudy Gay did play well, he had a heck of a game, and he had a heck of a season.

Randy's match against Iowa senior, Brett Taylor was not finished:

The Knight's chemistry and that's what is all about — teamwork, I'm just happy that we got the win," Weber said.

The Big Dance in the last six straight victories, most in the country, providing valuable experience to come off the bench:

"I told our kids, it's not over yet, they have to keep trying to get in contact with that cart," said Rick Dickson.

"They're a year older, and we're going to be back on the court next Friday, said Friday, Sept. 12, has given UConn fans another reason to jump for joy.

"We're going to try to get in contact with that cart," said Rick Dickson.

The Green Wave fired off a 22-point lead in the final round of the NCAA Tournament:

"It was just told the rest of the team to get back in the win," said Butler.

"It was as close as it can be," Butler said.

Brown gets first ever grand slam in the final game

Jeff Shapiro

After winning the Lions of Columbia in a Wednesday doubleheader by a combined tally of 23-2, the Lions of spring opened their conference road schedule with a three-game set against Gardner-Webb in Boiling Springs, N.C.

Gardner-Webb boys opened the with a 5-2 victory over the Dogs on Wednesday afternoon behind 5-2 victory over the Dogs on Wednesday afternoon behind ace lefty Matt Horwath. Gardner-Webb got a second win on Thursday afternoon, taking the second game of the series 6-3 to clinch the series sweep. The win gives the Lions of Columbia a clean sweep over Gardner-Webb for the first time since 2011.

The Lions of Columbia scored first in the second game, as the Dogs fought back from a 3-2 deficit to win, 5-4. Gardner-Webb star hitter Zach Weigle put together another disgusted last four innings after giving up three runs through three games to gain his fourth victory of the season, finishing 50 in seven innings. Darren Nunnelly took the loss for UCF, his first career loss in nine decisions as a Knight.

Saturday, the Knights used two big innings to take the rubber game in blowout fashion, 12-2. Left-hander Indiana native with a 5-2 lead that they would never relinquish. The Lions won 5-2 with Horwath's second win of the series, and drove over 30 runners to take a 12-2 victory in the third game.

In the fifth, Doe Brown ripped his first career grand slam in left-center field, lighting a 6-run inning that put the game out of reach for good. Ray Rodriguez continued his impressive run on the mound with seven strikeout

UCF is now 24-4 on the season. The 23rd-ranked Knights return to the diamond Tuesday night against the sixth-ranked Florida Gators. First pitch in Gainesville is set for 6 p.m. and the game can be seen on ESPN3.

Hi! I'm looking for a summer sublease in an apartment or room for rent. I'm a student and I want to find a place close to campus in College Park, Florida. I'm willing to pay $500 per month, plus utilities. Please let me know if you have any availability and how I can contact you. Thanks!

Best regards,
