Quite the bargain

According to UCF Vice President Bill Merck and Athletic Director Steve Orlando, the cost of traditional construction for a stadium in 2002 was $112 million. The cost for the same type of stadium in 2005 is between $55 million and $60 million.

New UCF crime statistics

According to the UCF Police Department's 2005 annual report, there were 2,555 university-wide crimes reported, down from 2,621 in 2004. The crimes include rape, robbery, burglary, theft and motor vehicle theft. The decrease in crime is attributed to increased police presence and community involvement.
VCC students see smooth move to UCF

Arielle Abdalla

In the Valencia Community College Community Foundation Scholarship Program, students who transfer to UCF are eligible for scholarships that are intended to ease the transition to higher education.

“UCF has a comprehensive orientation program which, unlike many other universities, includes a class that focuses on cultural diversity and inclusion. The orientation program is very helpful for students who are transferring from Valencia to UCF,” said Arielle Abdalla, a junior at Valencia who recently accepted a scholarship from the Valencia Foundation Scholarship Program.

Abdalla transferred to UCF this semester with the goal of earning her bachelor’s degree in business administration. She plans to attend Valencia’s East Campus for the remainder of the semester before transferring to UCF.

This semester, Abdalla is enrolled in courses such as calculus, economics and business law.

“I was very surprised by the size of UCF,” Abdalla said. “I’m used to Valencia’s smaller class sizes, where you can easily interact with your professors and classmates. At UCF, you have to look for your professors and classmates if you want to interact with them.”

Abdalla said she is looking forward to the opportunities that UCF offers, such as the opportunity to study abroad and participate in extracurricular activities.

New security to patrol complex hired same night as vandalism

The UCF Police Department has been hiring freshmen orientation programs, stressing the importance of crime prevention to new students.

"Theft is the No. 1 category affecting all universities and colleges across the country," Williamson said. "I unfortunately think people take advantage of students in their education."

An emphasis on security

While College Station does provide a patrol officer and limited security cameras, McKercher said that the security is "a lot more" and that he only sees the off-duty officer patrolling the property on two nights between Bricker and Sunday when the complex's management is no longer on the premises.

McKercher is also annoyed that he was woken up at 7:30 a.m. on Saturday — one of the few days he gets to sleep in. He likens the atmosphere created when the officer was banging on everyone's door in rapid succession.

While College Station staff took more proactive steps. He was upset when the officer was banging on everyone's door.

According to the Orange County Sheriff's Office, the department has set up a security check list to outsiders who are not students and that the department seeks to educate students on ways they can start attending UCF. There are also regular reminders to students to keep their belongings and their personal safety.

Merck and Orsini excited about benefits of new home for football

For UCF, the stadium will offer a chance to showcase its unique location in downtown Orlando, as John Sullivan, assistant director of Game Day, explained: "We're going to have a great time downtown and in the stadium." Sullivan said. "It's not just our bookends, but it's also our unique location in downtown Orlando." "The stadium is projected to cost between $50 million and $100 million, but Orsini said the price is still in the works. According to Merck, that price tag is a bargain since the same amount would have cost $100 million in 2002. Orsini has maintained that the feasibility study show that the stadium's price would be covered by concessions, ticket sales and parking and will not take any money from student tuition.

Organizer: 'our potential is enormous'

Future projects for the OPP include an annual home in Cameron Koh's new Premiere Plaza (once it is built, as well as incorporating the Downtown Media Arts Center into the festival. The festival has many plans, and its website was www.orlandofilm.com. The OPP is currently under construction. The event's organizers hope the events will bring more volunteerism and facilitating local projects. Local volunteers, amateur filmmakers, and downtown filmmakers will offer services in the Orlando Film Festival. It's an opportunity for students to use their creativity and take advantage of the OPP. The festival has become a popular destination for filmmakers and downtown filmmakers.

The OPP has been a great opportunity to showcase what we are trying to do," said Baurle. "Our vision is to create a place that makes Orlando an attractive location for filmmakers." Baurle said. "Louisiana seems to be leading the charge on that front right now, offering many millions more in incentives than Florida does. It's tough to compete with states that throw money at filmmakers, but the Merck Florida Film and Entertainment Commission." The stadium was projected to cost $50 million and $100 million, but Orsini said the price is still in the works. BRINGIN' THE FUNK

The Social gets soulful each Tuesday with a weekly party devoted to keeping Orlando's hip-hop scene alive.

Hudson Scott Contributing Writer

With Orlando's local music scene, it is quite easy to find disc jockeys spinning electronic music at clubs, and even easier to come across a rock show. But where can you go to satisfy the funk, soul, jazz and hip-hop fix on a regular basis?

Try every Tuesday night at The Social in downtown Orlando, where DJ Slacky and BMF host the culture-queen known as Phat n' Jazzy.

Phat n' Jazzy

Stared in 1994, Phat n' Jazzy has been a staple in the Orlando music scene for 11 years. "There was no hip hop in Orlando at all ... we needed to do a night where we played Tribe Called Quest and Beastie Boys," BMF said. "We did it basically for ourselves and our friends then eventually it caught on."

Within the last five years, hip hop music on a whole has caught a mainstream wave, popularizing itself with music played in clubs, drawing most of its base away from the underground style once dominant in the mid-'90s. Keeping true to the name, at Phat n' Jazzy you'll hear BMF and Slacky throw down everything from Common to James Brown, Parliament to Missy Elliot, and even down-tempo eclectic sounds such as the Strange Fruit Project.

What even further sets apart Phat n' Jazzy is, aside from the nightly event, the over all celebration of the hip-hop culture as a whole. The last show featured a viewing of the independent documentary Prinivil, which chronicles the history of freestyle rap with such footage as a 17-year-old Notorious B.I.G. battling rappers on the streets of Brooklyn.

After the film, BMF took the music as local artist DeBBsinger and Ace from the Soullectors of Sounds stood on stage and freestyled over everything and anything being played, spitting lyrics of life. Every week expect to see crews of hip-hop dancers break dancing at ease — and impressively. Expect to see local musicians and artists handing out countless promotion al flyers for their upcoming local shows. Expect to see men and women of all different ages, races and cultures, as there is no pre dominant style needed to be welcomed, just expect to come celebrate soulful music, and show up with an open mind.

Passing through their initial generation of listeners, BMF and Slacky are now faced with the challenge of keeping their scene fresh, even though they still spin the same music and outline the same atmosphere that created their show early on.

"It was a different time in '94, you didn't have TVa, the Internet ..." BMF said. "People change ... our initial crowd grew up. The challenge is to find people that can go out every week that will support something different."

Catch Phat n' Jazzy every Tuesday night at 10 p.m, when Slacky usually kicks off with a down-tempo set, followed by the organic style of BMF. Numerous styles of specials are ris for the next, and lately free for free every Tuesday night until 1 a.m.

The Jerk 26th anniversary DVD

Before he told his tales of outrageousness, this man was actually funny. Remember when he was a "wild and crazy guy" with this release.
Violent, horrific horror flick a refreshing recall of '70s horror in wake of tame PG-13 squeak-fests

JUDGUS SCOTT

Love him or hate him, Rob Zombie is a breath of fresh air for horror fans who, lately, have been inundated with Japanese remakes and polished PG-13 fare. An average teen can Bambi[in Brakes] and Scream (etc.), but in his latest outing, The Devil's Rejects, released to his 2005 DreamWorks debut Best of 2005, Zombie's career's heroes line his camera work, story line and cast of characters, making his films truly unique... even to those who aren't horror junkies.

The Devil's Rejects picks up right where The Devil's Rejects left off, where the Fulci family and Bubba Firefly [Sid Haig] are running the town as the bank robbers go all the way back to the 1930s. The formula has proven to show the label that succeeded triumphantly in collecting $105 million. It's obvious within the first five songs they are going all the way back to the '90s. The first song was a standout and a huge hit anywhere they played, almost hard to redeem (this sequel is just issues, but the reason is much more gritty as it shows the human sides of these murderous eps that we try to fake in movies.

Although many believe the sequel to his latest release, The Devil's Rejects is a huge failure from any other movie, it is with a solid cast of character actors. Plenty of music junkdoodles for gothic geeks.

Upcoming releases

Must Love Dogs
Director: Gary Marshall
Stars: John Cusack, Hugh Grant, Elizabeth Hurley, Christopher Plummer
What: A very-something pre-school teacher goes looking for love in the personal column and meets Tom cruise. They face a series of romantic misadventures before the climactic decision of whether or not they should get married.

Verrity Predicts: Will they end up together after all the hitches? Oh no! The suspense is killing us! Talk about a truly original love story.

Sky High
Director: Michael Lembeck
Stars: Lloyd, Lynda Carter, Bruce Campbell, Brian McDonald
What: The son of a great superhero duo goes to a high school for super powered to try and get a girlfriend. But when villains rear their ugly head, will he be ready to fight off the menace on his own?

Verrity Predicts: More of a pre-teen superhero story but it's a good idea with a solid cast of character actors. Plenty of music junkdoodles for gothic geeks.

Stealth
Director: Robert Levine
Stars: Keanu Reeves, Josh Lucas, Sam Shepard
What: A totally original thriller unlike anything that's out to start World War III. Jaxa(where I win a biff and explosions go off left and right)

Verrity Predicts: Sounds like something out of a comic, but a solid story line! To watch a movie made by a man named Zombie, you pretty much can guess what you're in for. The Devil's Rejects is a very intense, yet impossible to ignore from the opening credits, which are as cool as any other part in the movie. However, it's not like House of 1000 Corpses, which is good because we wanted to see the same movie twice!

Recent marriages won't delay Rise Against album tour

The men's basketball team will begin preparations on Friday for a trip that will live in their memories forever.

Knights set for new era in C-USA

The conclusion of our look at UCF's new conference

ANDY VASQUEZ
Sports Editor

With the month of July came the Knights' jump to Conference USA, now with the month coming to a close, the future concludes its preview of the Knights' future foes in C-USA.

Last week we previewed Southern Methodist University, Southern Miss and Tulane. Check it out on www.ucfnews.com. This week look into another crystal ball to see what we might expect out of three more of UCF's conference tenants.

University of Tulsa

Recognizably the University of Tulsa chose to nickname all of their sports teams the Golden Hurricane, which would be understandable. If Tulsa wasn't located in northeastern Oklahoma and if their primary school color wasn't blue. They must not be big on details in Tulsa. Despite the completely understandable nuisance, the Hurricane should provide some formidable competition for the Knights in the coming years. UCF won't be seeing the Golden Hurricane this year on the football field, which is too bad for the Knight fan because it was a struggle for the Hurricane last year. They finished in a record of 4-8, their most convincing victory coming at home 49-7 over Southwest Missouri State. That was one of the few bright spots for the Hurricane last year as they lost 29-26 to Navy and fell in overtime twice in three weeks.

The season won't get any easier for Tulsa this year as they face Minnesota and Oklahoma to open the season.

Men's basketball had a rough year last season as well in the Western Athletic Conference. The Hurricane struggled to a 4-5-0 record, and their season ended in the first round of the WAC tournament. They nearly beat Oklahoma but lost by

Ricky Williams is back, and this just in, he can't figure out why

THE EXTRA POINT

ANDY VASQUEZ
Sports Editor

Anyone who has been paying attention to the world of professional sports lately knows that this is the season of the comeback.

After seven months with an empty feeling in my stomach, football has finally returned and so has Ricky Williams. Williams chose marijuana over his team and, oh yeah, weed, held a press conference school and, oh yeah, weed, held a press conference that many media followers. Anyone who has been paying attention to the world of professional sports lately knows that this is the season of the comeback.

After seven months with an empty feeling in my stomach, football has finally returned and so has Ricky Williams. Williams chose marijuana over his team and, oh yeah, weed, held a press conference school and, oh yeah, weed, held a press conference that many media followers.

Williams says he doesn't know why he came back, but clearly the carrot that was money. Williams doesn't want to be in Miami — he wants to be somewhere else. He wants to be back to the land of opportunity, the land where anything he wants are expectations and boards of media followers.

If Williams isn't back because he desires to play competitive football, then he might as well be back in school.

Don't look for Terrell Owens to be back on the Philadelphia Eagles sidelines anytime soon. He has pretty much alienated and insulted everyone within a 60-mile radius of Philadelphia.

The Knights will have plenty of time to experience different cultures. Their trip will take them out of the country for 11 days.

next month the men's basketball team is going to have the opportunity to take its game to an unfamiliar place — literally.

The Knights are headed to Europe.

On Friday men's basketball will begin 10 days of on-campus practice as they gear up for a preseason European road trip that will take them across the Atlantic to Holland, Belgium and France.

"Traveling overseas helps with the development of teams camaraderie and chemistry," UCF Coach Kirk Speraw said. "You take guys away from their comfort level and put them in a unique environment. You are also playing some good competition."

That competition will include six professional teams — one in Holland, one in Belgium and three in France.

The Knights will depart Orlando on Aug. 8 and head to Paris by way of Cincinnati. After arriving in Paris the team will immediately catch a plane to Amsterdam. The team then travels to Brussels, Belgium, back to Paris, and then to Nice, France, in that order, before returning to Orlando on Aug. 19.

Over the course of the trip the players will get the chance to experience the culture of their destinations as they will be immersed in different languages and cuisines. There will also be time set aside for the team to sightsee and tour museums and historical sites.

"This trip is a tremendous opportunity from a cultural standpoint," Speraw said. "I believe the players get a chance to see a different part of the world. It is a tremendous cultural experience for the team. They enjoy the opportunity to see different places and to interact with people from other cultures."

The Knights will have plenty of time to experience different cultures. Their trip will take them out of the country for 11 days.

Knights dismiss Carlton Christian

BY NADAV OZ
Sports Info

The Knights have decided to part ways with one of their potential future stars due to a violation of team rules.

On Monday, UCF Coach Kirk Speraw announced that sophomore Carlton Christian has been dismissed by the team for a violation of team policy. According to UCF sports information, Christian was not willing to fulfill the requirements of being a student athlete that his coaching staff set forth.

The 6-foot-4-inch guard sat out last season due to NCAA rules after transferring to UCF from Marquette after his freshman year. At Marquette, Christian appeared in 22 games for the Golden Eagles and averaged one point per game. That year he had a career-high 19 points vs. Louisville and grabbed four rebounds.

An Orlando native, Christian attended Evans High School, where he became the school's all-time leading scorer.

Christian has been dismissed by the team and will not be allowed to make the team's potential future stars due to a violation of team policy.

The Knights, who will be making their Conference USA debut this fall, will be returning three starters and seven players from last year's team.

UCF also will have the services of sophomore guards Jermaine Noel and Mike O'Connell, who also sat out last season after transferring to UCF.

The Knights will be attempting to make their third consecutive trip to the NCAA Tournament.

Trip to Europe provides many hidden advantages

The NCAA allows a foreign trip once every four years, with the Knights last overseas journey coming in 2001. On that trip UCF traveled to Belgium, Germany and England.

All seven returning Knights from last year's squad will be able to make the trip, as well as transfers Mike O'Connell and Dave Noel, who both sat out last season after transferring to UCF.

As mandated by NCAA rules new signees Jeremiah Taylor and Lavell Payne will not be allowed to make the trip.

The trip will also benefit the team greatly from a basketball standpoint. Normally NCAA rules prevent any sort of organized practice before mid-October. But the trip gives the Knights an exception. The 10 days of practice that UCF will get before their trip will provide the team a chance to see where they stand well before the important games come around.

"We will get the benefit of those games and competition," Speraw said. "But also get the benefit of 10 days of practice prior to the trip."

"That can give you a little bit of a jumpstart to what you are trying to do for the upcoming season. You can experiment with different things at that time. You can play around with different lineups or a different offense when wins and losses are not as crucial."

When the Knights return stateside, they will have the task of preparing for one of the toughest schedules in the history of UCF men's basketball. The Knights will be facing powerhouse Florida (Dec. 3) and Kentucky (Dec. 5) and potentially Arizona. UCF will also be debuting in a much tougher C-USA, providing plenty of crucial win/lose moments for the Knights later this season.

The school has invested property including representing Florida. Opinions in the student newspaper have posed, and there hasn't been a steel beam not in place on campus as of yet. When the student newspaper has often told us that money doesn't exists, if it did then UCF wouldn't have any foliage left on campus because of what much those redundant complete students who spoke against their viewpoint. Heckles were presented with on your last day there. The complex and its closing, it's a sad state of affairs when a student newspaper has experienced with many experiences with front office staff that is ignoring the demands and regulations of their own compliances. I've been too many times by complex representatives citing "Well, it's the rule" as the reason why. I've been witness to other people saying this same.

An original commercial idea would be priceless.

For all of my glorious 20 years on this planet, I have always liked watching commercials.

Before I realized what a brilliant writer I was and the power that I had control over my fingertips, I really wanted to be an ad exec. I wanted to be the guy who came up with brilliant ad campaigns like the one that says, "The Budweiser frogs are unstoppable."

But commercials hold so much power and, if used correctly, they can bring billions to a company. If you have even the slightest disbelief, just look at the classics. The Budweiser frogs built Anheuser-Busch into an unstoppable force of deliciousness and hope. Andy Pegel's Comedy Central commercials made years of pre-pubescent males grow up. Commercials are the foundation of revenue.

I chose organ donation as a final gift from my fingertips, I really want to be an ad guy. I wanted to make television commercials that support our future millionaires. Congratulations UCF's 6,000+.
