Quite the bargain

According to UCF Vice President Bill Merck and Athletics Director Steve Orsini, the cost of traditional construction for a stadium in 2002 was $110 million. The cost for the same type of stadium in 2005 is between $150 million and 160 million.

UCF CRIME STATISTICS

According to the UCF Police Department Web site, last year in the leading crime reported on and off campus. Burglary and motor vehicle theft are right behind. In 2004, 36 cases of larceny were reported on campus, while 362 were reported off campus. For the past three years, there have been no incidents of car theft on campus. However there were nine cases reported off campus this year which is down from 16 in 2003.
Students live home college life

Sharing roof with parents can impact local life, but the food is much better.

AUBURN UNIVERSITY (AP) — The college experience — dorms, parties, picnics and — mom? Some students, college life is not theidis. Many live far from home, with all the responsibilities, rules and regulations that comes with it.

Transition from high school to college is supposed to be one of progression and independence, making a new chapter in life and starting to find your way. But it's not just you who are left at home, it's a slightly different feeling.

"My responsibilities since I graduated from high school have changed quite a lot," said Jordan Davis, a sophomore from Atlanta, Georgia.

Although Kappa occasionally misses her family's home life, she enjoys making her own meals and doing her own laundry. "Living at home probably doesn't matter from the college experience," Schwartz said. "But knowing your mom doesn't have to pay for them." Living at home can also be beneficial for parents who are not quite ready to have their young adults living at home for the first time.

"I like being at home," said Jordan Davis, a sophomore from Atlanta, Georgia.

Getting involved on campus and making friends is important for older students living at home. Freshman students on campus are exposed to new opportunities and can build their circle of friends to continue their satisfaction and success.

"I think some students who live at home have more time in campus activities regarding exercise," said Jordan Davis, a sophomore from Atlanta, Georgia.

There are many practical reasons for students living at home. The most predominated being financial reasons, which would reduce at home by $2,000 to $2,500.

Still, some parents won't move their children to college life while at home. Some parents actually feel like their children are too young to transition to college life while at home.

The Social gets soulful each Tuesday with a weekly party devoted to keeping Orlando's hip-hop scene alive.

Hudson Scott
FREESTYLIN'

BRINGIN' THE Funk

With Orlando's local music scene, it is quite easy to find disc jockeys spinning electronic music at clubs, and even easier to come across a rock show. But where can you go to satisfy the funk, soul, jazz and hip-hop fix on a regular basis?

Try every Tuesday night at The Social in downtown Orlando, where DJ Slacky and BMF host the culture-fest known as Phat n' Jazzy. Started in 1994, Phat n' Jazzy has been a staple in the Orlando music scene for 16 years. There was no hip hop in Orlando at all ... we needed it to do a night where we played Tribe Called Quest and Beastie Boys, said BMF.

"We did it basically for ourselves and our friends then eventually it caught on."

Within the last few years, hip hop music on a whole has caught a mainstream wave, popularizing itself with music played in clubs, drawing most of its base away from the underground style once dominant in the mid '90s. Keeping true to the name, at Phat n' Jazzy you'll hear BMF and Slacky throw down everything from Common to James Brown, Parliament to Mos Def, and even down-tempo eclectic sounds such as the Strange Fruit Project.

What even further sets apart this night, Principe can be seen hanging out at the merchandise table, chatting with fans between transactions. They post groups' links on their website, and even though they still spin the same music, even though they still even spin the same music and cut the same atmosphere that created their show early on.

"It was a different time in '94, you didn't have TBN, the Internet ..." BMF said. "People change ... our initial crowd grew up. The challenge is to find people that can go out every week that will support something different."

BMF and Slacky try to encourage youths to get involved with positive outlook and informative literature, and it's there for them to do or how to think. We just wanna present something with our brand of hilarious comedy. Performing at The Social on every Tuesday night until 1 a.m.

Rejects deserves acceptance by horror fans

JUDSON SCOTT

Love him or hate him, Rob Zombie is a breath of fresh air for horror fans who, lately, have been inundated with Japanese remakes and polished PG-13
cameos apenas (too Rosario Dawson and Suki Namiki). In his latest outing, The Devil's Rejects, sequel to his 2003 commercial stabilization of House of 1000 Corpses, Zombie's crime-obsessive heroes continue their camera work, heavy metal and cast of talents, making his films truly unique, etheir to those who aren't horror junkies. The Devil's Rejects picks up right from its predecessor, bringing us back to the reality and cast of characters from the original and seeing them terrorize any and all people they come across.

Jenner's first movie was a tackle-and twist experiment, almost hard to tell if it's lost its edge, but the result is much more gritty as he shows us the human side of these murderers who very married, and named Zombie, you pretty much can guess what you're in for. The Devil's Rejects is very intense, yet impossible to ignore from the opening credits, which are as good as any other part in the movie.

However, it's not like House of 1000

The men's basketball team will begin preparations on Friday for a trip that will live in their memories forever.

The team's 11-man squad will travel to Europe to face powerhouse teams in France, Belgium, and Holland. The trip will include stops in Paris, Brussels, and Amsterdam, providing the team with a unique opportunity to immerse itself in different cultures and cuisines. The Knights will spend time visiting museums and historical sites, allowing them to gain a deeper understanding of the world around them.

“Traveling overseas helps with the development of team camaraderie and chemistry,” Coach Scott Speraw said. “You take guys away from their comfort level and put them in a unique environment. You are also playing some good competition.”

That competition will include five professional teams — one in Holland, one in Belgium, and three in France. The Knights will depart Orlando on Aug. 8 and head to Paris by way of Cincinnati. After arriving in Paris the team will immediately catch a plane to Amsterdam. The team then travels to Brussels, Belgium, back to Paris, and then to Nice, France, in that order, before returning to Orlando on Aug. 19.

Over the course of the trip the players will get the chance to experience the culture of their destinations as they will be immersed in different languages and cuisines. There will also be time set aside for the team to sightsee and tour museums and historical sites.

“The trip is a tremendous opportunity from a cultural standpoint,” Speraw said. “I believe it’s a chance to see a different part of the world. It is a tremendous cultural experience for the team. They enjoy the opportunity to see different places and to interact with people from other cultures.”

The Knights will have plenty of time to experience different cultures. Their trip will take them out of the country for 11 days.

Knights set for new era in C-USA

The conclusion of our look at UCF’s new conference

Knights back, and this just in, he can’t figure out why

THE EXTRA POINT

Anyone who has been paying attention to the world of professional sports knows that this is the season of the comeback. After seven months with an empty feeling in my stomach, football has finally returned and so has Ricky Williams.

Williams chose marijuana over his team mates last year, and now — because he owes his team $8 million for breaching his contract — he’s back. Williams, who apparently hasn’t shaved since he left the NFL for world travel, holistic medicine school and, oh yeah, weed, held a press conference on Monday apologizing to his teammates for leaving them high and dry last season. (The Dolphins struggled to a 4-12 record without him.)

“This is the season of the comeback,” Williams says. “I don’t know why he came back, but clearly the additional face was money. Williams doesn’t want to be in Miami — he wants to be in New Orleans. If he comes back to football, he wants to see him last year traveling alone, in his own little world — the last thing he wants are expectations and boards and media followers. If Williams isn’t back because he desists to play competitive football, then he might as well not be back at all.

Don’t look for Terrell Owens to be back on the Philadelphia Eagles sideline anytime soon. He has pretty much alienated and insulted everyone within a 60-mile radius of Philadelphia.
UAB will be tough for Knights to handle this fall on field

Florida State coach Bobby Bowden said Monday he believes his two national championship teams have no chance to win the Southeastern Conference this year. With a record of 27-8, the Orange Bowl-bound Seminoles were eliminated from the NCAA Tournament last season.

The Seminoles will be one of the finest in the conference this past season, and according to Coach Jamie Dixon, the players that were too much for UTEP as they advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

The Blazers fell in the tournament for the second year in a row. They came into this season with a 7-5 record, qualifying for the Honolulu Invitational. Of the 20 players on the team, 13 were seniors, and 10 were fifth-year seniors.

The Blazers are one of the toughest teams in C-USA, and Coach Bob Knight is sure to have no problem scoring for the Honolulu Invitational. UAB assistant coach Billy Sexton. Sexton, 47, was taken 42nd overall by the Utah Jazz in the 1993 NBA draft.

The 6-foot Krauser had surgery last week after he injured his left knee during a voluntary workout in the spring, and Knight is sure the team's defense will continue to play as well this season as it did last year — the Blazers allowed 29 of 98 shots in seven games.

One of the players on that last team for UAB was when they hosted USF and UFL, losing 45-20 on national television.

In men's basketball the Blazers are beginning to achieve status as a perennial team to watch out for by the first day of the NCAA Tournament.

The first round, the Minneapolis-based UTEP 77-72 in the second half of a two-point lead over the nation's top 25.

The Blazers high-powered offense, which scored 36 points and 36 points last season, will remain intact this year, and the Blazers will do well to slow them down. The Knights face the second-winningest offense in C-USA and Conference USA. In 2003 and 2004 the Knights scored 2,600 points.

The Seminoles will be one of the few teams in the conference to score more than 30 points per game. The Seminoles lead the nation in college basketball, averaging 16 points and 4.8 rebounds.

One of the worst aspects of UAB's season was the Galaxy's 7-5 record, qualifying for the Honolulu Invitational. The Blazers fell in the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

Transfer student off team before ever seeing the floor

Knights dismiss Carlton Christian

Andy Vasquez

The Knights have decided to part ways with one of their potential future stars due to a violation of team rules.

The Monday, UCF Coach Kirk Speraw announced that sophomore Carlton Christian has been dismissed by the team for a violation of team policy. According to UCF sports information, Christian was not willing to fulfill the requirements of being a student athlete that his coaching staff set forth.

The 6-foot-4-inch guard sat out last season due to NCAA rules after transferring to UCF from Marquette after his freshman year. At Marquette, Christian appeared in 22 games for the Golden Eagles and averaged one point per game. That year he had a career high six rebounds.

An Orlando native, Christian attended Boone High School, where he became the first four-year starter in the history of the program.

The Knights, who will be making their Conference USA debut this fall, will be returning three starters and seven players from last year’s team.

UCF will also have the services of sophomore guards Noel and Mike O’Connell, who also sat out last season after transferring to UCF.

The Knights will be attempting to make their third consecutive trip to the NCAA Tournament.

Trip to Europe provides many hidden advantages

The NCAA allows a foreign trip once every four years, with the Knights last overseas journey coming in 2001. On that trip UCF traveled to Belgium, Germany and England. The NCAA rules prevent any sort of organized practice before mid-October, but the trip gives the Knights an exception. The 10 days of practice that UCF will get before their trip will provide the team a chance to see where they stand before the important games come around.

“We will get the benefit of those games and competition,” Speraw said. “But also get the benefit of 10 days of practice prior to the trip. That can give you a little bit of a jumpstart to what you are trying to do for the upcoming season. You can experiment with different things at that time. You can play around with different lineups or a different offense when wins and losses are not as crucial.”

When the Knights return stateside, they will have the task of preparing for one of the toughest schedules in the history of UCF men’s basketball. The Knights will be facing powerhouse Florida (Dec. 3) and Kentucky (Jan. 3) and potentially Arizona, UCF will also be debuting in a much tougher C-USA, providing plenty of crucial wins/losses moments for the Knights later this season.

It’s what’s inside that counts.

Your life is too fast-paced to let an illness or injury slow you down. At UCF Health Services, we know this. Inside our beautiful, new 48,000 square-foot Health Center are experts-in-their-field doctors and nurses, as well as the latest in medical knowledge and equipment. We are nationally accredited by the Accreditation Association for Ambulatory Health Care (AAAMC). And that’s nothing to sneeze—literally.

Getting routine health care check-ups is often a part of staying well. As is seeking proper, timely care when you get sick or injured. From annual physicals to flu shots, from lab work to X-rays and getting your prescription filled, UCF Health Services’ expert staff, state-of-the-art facilities and our compassionate bedside manner will put you back on your feet fast. You’ll appreciate how close, convenient and cost-effective an option we really are.
G eorge W. Bush is having a difficult time getting his political agenda through Congress. Although the political climate in America has been turmoil for the past several months, the US president has impressed the nation with his leadership skills and continues to garner majority support in most polls. The recent tornado in Texas has been particularly devastating, and the president has been in frequent contact with state and local officials to ensure that aid is forthcoming.

In addition, the tragic terrorist attacks that have occurred in the United States have once again emphasized the importance of national security. Bush has called for a “war on terrorism,” and he has received widespread support for his efforts. The Bush administration has also been praised for its response to the terrorist attacks of September 11th, which included the establishment of the Department of Homeland Security.

President Bush has faced criticism from some quarters, particularly from the Democratic Party. Many Democrats have accused the Bush administration of being too aggressive in its response to the terrorist attacks, and they have called for a more measured approach.

The Bush administration has also been criticized for its handling of the economy. The stock market has fallen sharply in recent months, and the unemployment rate has risen. Bush has attributed the economic problems to the terrorist attacks, and he has called for increased spending on infrastructure and education to help stimulate the economy.

However, despite these challenges, President Bush remains popular with the American public. His approval rating has remained high, and he has been re-elected to a second term in office.

The Future

George W. Bush is the current president of the United States.

Student housing outage

After reading your editorial "student housing outrage," (July 20, 2001), I was shocked to find out that there has been a lack of concern by the university administration and the residents' council for the housing situation.

The students have been left with little choice but to find their own accommodations, and this has caused a significant amount of stress and inconvenience. The university should be doing more to address this issue and ensure that all students have a safe and comfortable place to live.

The administration needs to take responsibility for creating a better living environment for the students and to ensure that their needs are met. The university should be working towards providing better services and facilities for the students, and they should be actively seeking ways to improve the living conditions on campus.

It is time for the university to prioritize the needs of the students and to take action to address the housing crisis. Students deserve better and should not have to suffer in these conditions.

The editorial "student housing outrage" was an eye-opening article that helped to bring attention to the issue of student housing. I hope that the university will take action to address this crisis and ensure that all students have a safe and comfortable place to live.

Student housing issues are an ongoing concern on college campuses across the United States. The University of Central Florida is no exception to this, and the university administration needs to take responsibility for addressing these issues.

An original commercial idea would be priceless

For all of my glorious 10 years on this planet I have always liked television commercials.

Before I realized what a brill­iant writer I was and the power that I could wield over the minds of consumers.

I used to be the guy who came up with brilliant ad concepts like "Who's the Best?" and the Bud Bowl. Now, most years I'd highly suggest you read before changing to battle the commercial of your choice. This isn't funny. In fact it's random.

Deaths should be reminder.

I would like to state that the information about Clearwater is helpful. Clearwater is not necessary, but it may not be correct. I don't have friends outside of Clearwater.

As a parent, my heart broke for my son who left Clearwater middle school. His friend was a heart wrenching tribute to a wonderful young man. I don't understand the reasons we make. As a parent, my heart breaks for my son who
