LEAD Scholars create chance to celebrate
New Orleans-style while helping refugees

VANESSA FERNANDEZ / Staff Writer

Circle K International and the LEAD Scholars program are raising money for Hurricane Katrina victims, and all the money raised will be matched by UCF.

"We're not expecting these students to walk in with the country's generosity to keep it up and to keep the spirit up and to have fun, but we're giving as much of the situation," Christine Ramirez, director of campus activities for the LEAD Scholars program, said.

"We have had a week and a half to plan this and everything has been based on donations. LUNKS will be there offering LUNKS hero, some English classes are participating. Walmart, Target, the Rotary Club of Winter Park and so much of the community has latched onto this!" Crystal Lee, a first-year pre-men-...

Hurricane Katrina forced several displaced students to abandon their belong­ings or nuclear devices. The mea­sured wind had been steady­ly rising to the weakest of his summer's hurricane season. But during an appearance on the banks of the Charles River, the nation's most qualified for admission.

The NCAA said last month that it would bend some rules to help students and school officials with the hurricane, including letting students compete without attending classes. But during an appearance at the University of Kentucky, Brand said the only rule the NCAA could bend was the one that requires Division I basketball, football and hockey players to sit out for a year if they transfer to another Divi­sion I school. In other sports, Division I athletes can transfer and play immediately at another Division I school if they meet criteria released from the original university.

Displaced student in serious condition after Boston stabbing

Joseph Vairo, 19, was in serious condition at Beth Israel Hospital after being stabbed twice, Boston Col­lege spokesman Jack Dunn said. An unidentified 20-year-old was treated and released. Vairo is originally from Holden, Mass.

The student—among 150 from Loyola and Tulane University who are tempo­rarily attending Boston College—got into an argument with five men at 3:30 a.m. outside a Steve's Clevelend Circle police said.

They wrestled and hit Vairo, who was attacked moments later, police and Dunn said. He said there have been no arrests.

Police said witnesses have been interviewed.

UCF officials remind students to be aware of their surroundings after Hurricane Katrina.

BOSTON—Two Loyola University students attending classes at Boston College because of Hurricane Katrina were stabbed on a Boston street early Wednesday morning.

Joseph Vairo, 19, was in serious condition at Beth Israel Hospital after being stabbed twice, Boston Col­lege spokesman Jack Dunn said. An unidentified 20-year-old was treated and released. Vairo is originally from Holden, Mass.

One of the first events to take place in a three-part series that started Sept. 2 and will continue through Oct. 20, "This course will not only educate non-Hispanic people, but educate the Puerto Rican community as well. Really need to learn about the other communities and their cultures." - Gustavo Rodriguez, Orange County commissioner.

"This course became a reality after four years that I've been taking courses at UCF, and now is the time for people to start educating themselves." For more information, go to www.cas.ucf.edu.

Puerto Rican culture affects Florida

Angel Martinez, Director of the Latino Studies program, participated in a string ensemble of Puerto Rican music and, said, "This is a great time for Hispanics." According to the Census, Puerto Ricans now make up about 5 percent of the Orange County population, and they are taking more important roles in business, government, education and other aspects of society. As a Puerto Rican senior at UCF, Gustavo Rodriguez couldn't agree more. The Hispanic population has grown a lot in the last 20 years, he said.

"This course will be a way to educate the community of the growing Hispanic population throughout Central Florida. The three events are lectures about Puerto Rican history combined with artistic presentations of photographs and music.

There are over 400,000 Latinos in Central Florida, and 200,000 are Puerto Ricans," said Fernandez. "There are almost 1,000 Hispanics who move to Central Florida on a weekly basis, and about 90 percent of those are Puerto Ricans." According to the commissioner, the Latino community has grown tremendously within the past few years for a variety of reasons. Hispanics move to Florida due to the weather conditions, quality of life and most importantly, the proximity of the location," Fernandez said.

"The weather here is similar to the island, people are able to find better jobs and support their families, and it's convenient because Florida isn't far away from Puerto Rico, which allows families to travel back and forth," she said.

With tickets in such high demand, the Student Government Association has made great efforts to provide students with the opportunity to go to the game. Last week, 5,000 organized a handbill and handed out the first 282 students with valid student ID's who signed up. The student reaction was huge as many lined up in the ticket office to reserve their spots for the big game. Within a few days, all ticket and bus seats were gone to the surprise of the event planners.

"We were extremely pleased with the student turnout," Aaron Buchanan, the SGA director of campus life said. "It really showed us that our school spirit is still alive and well. Students cannot create or destroy the spirit; they can only keep it going.

Once all of the tickets were given out, the executive branch of SGA petitioned the 37th Student Senate to allocate more funding for an additional 450 tickets. After a debate on the floor, the majority of the senators agreed to up the number of extra tickets from 400-600 to 1,200. The executive and legislative branches worked in conjunction with one another to ensure the largest possible number of students will be able to attend the football game.

At 10 a.m. yesterday, SGA representatives handed out the additional 450 tickets in front of the Student Union. Within a half hour those too were gone. "I am really proud of our student body," SGA Student Body President Willie Simney said. "There were over 1,500 students in line to support our football team and even though they all can't go to the game, I'm sure our team will make them proud."

UCF defensive tackle Frisner Nelson on Fan Reaction to Saturday's Game

Sometimes fans just don't get it, but not Knights fans.

I really don't like the Ohio State Buckeyes. I was born and raised in Michigan, and from an early age I was taught to hate the Buckeyes with every fiber in my body. As healthy as my dislike is for the Buckeyes, my dislike for their fans is even heavier because the Buckeyes fans are something else altogether.

It's been two weeks since the UCF Knights faced the Buckeyes at home in the new Spectrum Stadium. According to the Elias Sports Bureau, the victory over Stetson on Tuesday night was the 55th straight win for the Knights. The Buckeyes are second in the nation in losses with a 6-9-1 record. The Buckeyes fans have been waiting for this one for a very long time.

I'm talking to all of you Buckeyes fans out there. I've heard from so many Buckeye fans, they want to know if you think you have what it takes to beat UCF. They want to know if you think you have what it takes to beat UCF, and they want to know if you think you have what it takes to beat UCF.

Knights fans have been waiting for this one for a very long time. The Buckeyes are second in the nation in losses with a 6-9-1 record. The Buckeyes fans have been waiting for this one for a very long time.

RIVALRY: UCF AT USF

It's been two weeks since the UCF football team last took the field and, needless to say, the Knights are ready to start a new rivalry.

Knights eager to get back on the field against the Bulls

UCF fans and players alike have long been waiting for a matchup with USF, that day is nearly here and after a bye week the Knights are fresh and ready to start a new rivalry.

UCF fans and players alike have long been waiting for a matchup with USF, that day is nearly here and after a bye week the Knights are fresh and ready to start a new rivalry.

Knights perfect season continues after change-ups in the second half

The Knights were playing for the second time in nine days and in the first half, it showed. A few of the Knights lacked their usual quickness and the team got beaten to some loose balls. Coach Brent Erwin attributed the play to the long layoff.

"I was very, very apprehensive about the game because you get into the second round and then we go for a week and a half without a game because Jacksonville cancelled," Erwin said. "It's hard to get back into game shape.

Senior goalkeeper Ryan McDaidson agreed. "It's definitely tough coming off such a long layoff and not playing," McDaidson said. "To get back into it, it took a few games." We weren't ready to come out and play. Everybody here saw it, and coaches, let us know or halftime.

After an intense halftime speech, Erwin began the second half by benching four of his starters, including couple of team leaders in senior captains Billy Judino and senior forward Jon Brown. Erwin said he wanted guys who can work and seem to be ready to make a difference. The Knights had more shots, chances and corner kicks in the second half.

The turning point of the contest came in the 79th minute. Brecon freshmen Sean Marshall's shot was partially blocked by McChord, but it came in the net.

"We haven't played in so long. We've been looking forward to the game," said senior defensive lineman Frisner Nelson, who grew up in Jacksonville. "It's been two weeks since the last game. We're fresh and ready to start a new rivalry with the Knights.

KEY PLAYERS
Golden Knights

QUARTERBACK
Steven Moffett

Moffett comes into this game after one of the most impressive performances of his college career. He has clearly gained the confidence of his teammates through press conference and the first game, as many are quick to say that he is much more loose and positive than he was last year. It remains to be seen whether or not he can duplicate the performance he had in the second half of South Carolina, but one thing is certain about the UCF offense: it will only go as far as Moffett will take it.

Mike Walker

Walker entered to the UCF offense in South Carolina's post-weekend loss after spending much of last year as the defensive stopper. Miller has the ability to put pressure on Golden Knights with his athleticism, three timesavers and leadership. He has key in key to stopping the UCF running attack, which has had a measure of success for the last two weeks.

 défensive back
Andre Hall

After missing the first three games of the season, Andre Hall returned to the UCF defense last week against South Carolina. Hall, who had a tremendous game last Saturday against Florida State, has been a mainstay in the UCF defense this season. Hall had a career-high 11 tackles against South Carolina, including six solo tackles. He also had a sack and a forced fumble, which he recovered for a touchdown. Hall is one of the best players in the nation at his position, and he will be a key factor in stopping the USF running attack.

Defensive Linebacker
James Cook

This preseason, Cook was named to the Butkus Award watch list. The award given to the nation's top offensive player. Against South Carolina, he had a career-best 11 tackles, including six solo tackles. He also had a fumble recovery, a forced fumble, and an interception. His leadership and playmaking ability will be key again in stopping the UCF offense.

Knights anxious and ready for beginning of long anticipated rivalry with neighboring Bulls

sports

The first-ever meeting between the Knights and Bulls on the football field comes on Saturday night after tough anticipations. Both teams are in different conferences this year, which has turned out to be a good start to both teams as far as expectations are concerned.

The Knights are 0-1 and coming off a 29-24 loss at UConn last week. The Bulls are 1-1 after losing to Florida A&M 37-0 on Saturday in Tampa. USF has the best defense in the nation and the offense is ranked No. 13 in the nation. Led by senior tailback Andre Hall, the Bulls have had a big start to the season after a mere 32 rushing yards to South Carolina, but this week they will face an average run defense. The Bulls are ranked No. 13 in the NCAA in rushing (237 yards per game), but they have also been held to just 170 rushing yards in their last two games.

UCF special teams vs. USF special teams

UCF's defense has been nothing less than impressive, and its special teams have also been ranked No. 3 in the nation. The Knights are saying that practices have been organized and have prepared them well.

UCF's ticket allotment has been sold out. Those in attendance will have a great view of the game, and the atmosphere will be electric.

THE RIVALRY

Getting to know the neighbors

The University of South Florida (USF) is located about 10 miles west of the University of Central Florida (UCF), and the two schools have been rivals since the very beginning. The first meeting between the two teams was in 1997, and since then, both schools have been a part of many conferences, including the Big East, C-USA, and American Athletic Conference.

UCF's Head Coach George O'Leary, on UCF's defensive linebacker Frisner Nelson:

"This is the game that everyone on campus is looking forward to. We're excited to face USF, and our players look forward to it."

USF's Head Coach Jeff Leavitt, on USF's defensive linebacker LaMonta Hines:

"I think our players will be able to make some headway as they play through the USF's offensive line."

GOING TO THE GAME?

Making the trip from Orlando to Tampa:

The trip from Orlando to Tampa is approximately 45 miles, and it takes about 1 hour and 15 minutes by car. The trip is relatively easy, and there are some convenient options for travel, such as taking a bus or renting a car.

Parking:

Parking for USF fans is available at several locations near Raymond James Stadium. It is recommended to arrive early to ensure a spot.

THE SCHEDULE:

UCF vs. USF:

Date: Saturday, September 26, 2020
Time: 6:00 p.m.
Location: Raymond James Stadium, Tampa, Florida

UCF Rack: 0-1 (1-1 in the Big East)
USF Rack: 1-1 (1-1 in the Big East)

Predictions:

Both teams are looking to bounce back after their respective losses last week. UCF's defense has been ranked No. 3 in the nation, while USF's offense has struggled with offenses in recent games. This game is expected to be a tight contest, with both teams looking to make a statement.

By the end, Don — and the audience — arrive at the inevitable conclusion. However, in both cases, it's not so much about the destination as it is the journey, and Broken Flowers is a strangely satisfying journey in that manner. It's certainly better than a song of ch.

CD REVIEW

New Kanye West effort the best hip-hop album of the year

Like peanut butter and jelly and Fogcut and jenius before them, Kanye West and Jon Brion were one half of a team. For proof, look no further than Late Registration, Kanye's newly-released masterpiece of a second album. But the fact that they are together or on an album is all but one of many examples of how Kanye is pushing rap forward. And push he does. What-

Bill Murray continues his recent trend of effective mini-mall performances as an aging Don Juan pontificated to visit a few former flames in Broken Flowers, the latest from Jim Jarmusch (Coffee and Cigarettes, Ghost Dog: The Way of Late Registration, precocious to locate each of the five women who may have sent him the letter. Murray manages to keep this role relatively low-key, even compared to his roles in Lost in Translation and The Life Aquatic with Steve Zissou. His deadpan delivery and subt­tle movements become the source for the majority of the film's humor and heart. However, every actress manages to hold her own opposite Murray. From Sharon Stone as a NASCAR widow with a teenage daughter discreetly named Leda, to a nearly unrecognizable Tilda Swinton, all of them deliver terrific performances with each individual role. Frances Conroy (Six Feet Under) appears as a stiff real­tor who, with her fellow real­tor and husband (Christopher McDonald), is especially con­cerned about water becoming.

BRIAN ROEHL

Joe Beck apologizes as he seated in an over-the-top drone of Life on the road has taken its toll on Beck over the weeks.

"We're driving to Salt Lake City for one show tonight. We love it over there," Beck explained. "The people are so cool, the music is good and the venues are amazing," he said.

Chris Bowers

We were asked if there were any complaints about the tour, but there were none, be the biggest band in the world.

"We've been on tour for a few weeks now and it's been really fun," Bowers said. "We're excited to be here and we're excited to see everyone tonight."
Groups applauded for relief efforts

President for relief victims of Hurricane Katrina has become a huge advocate for environmental causes at UCF and each group should be congratulated for the work being done to raise money and supply the victims in the hardest hit areas of the Gulf Coast.

Thousands of dollars have been raised by a number of different organizations and the self-less donations shown by the community is amazing, to say the least.

The UCF Police Department showed their support by collecting for doing their part to help those affected by the disaster. University UCFPPD deserve more credit because the officers aren't stopping there. Former Mayor of Orlando and current state senator, John Romanelli, went to New Orleans and throughout the Gulf Coast helping people, donating money and supplies to victims.

HELP NOW!

Turn on the television, tune into the radio or read through a newspaper and it is evident that with the devastating disaster of Hurricane Katrina help is needed. The Central Florida Future is raising money to send to the American Red Cross and we are asking for your help. 100% of the donated monies will go directly to the relief effort. Margaret Thatcher once said, "Pennies do not come from heaven. They have to be earned here on earth." This is just what we set forth to do. Together we can raise money to help those who have experienced destruction that most of us cannot imagine.

We have all had many opportunities to help those who are suffering in the Gulf region but the important thing is that you act on one of these opportunities. Don't put it off. If you do not wish to donate through our drive please select an alternative method.

Together our thoughts and prayers are with those who have felt the terrible effects of Hurricane Katrina and we hope that normlcy will be restored soon.

Sincerely,

Central Florida Future
