Students save big with book rentals
New Web site offers students discounts at a fraction of bookstore prices

By COLIN BARCELOUX
STAFF REPORTER

A new option for purchasing your pre-owned college textbooks has been introduced to campus.

BookRenters.com lets students rent and return their books via a virtual library. There are over 300,000 books available in a variety of subject areas.

"We felt that it was really a good idea," UCFTreas Man Jeno Fazl said. "The rental system seems like it would save students a lot of time and money."

BookRenters.com offers all different rental periods ranging from 1 to 5 months. Rental periods begin from the date the books are delivered to the last day of the period.

Students also have the option of returning books at anytime, even before the rental period.

The company provides both undergraduate and graduate test books for its customers, along with a wide variety of other products such as audio CD's and study aids. All of the books are either brand new or like new and the books can be found easily on the search engine provided by the Web site.

Barceloux said that the site provides students with an option other than buying and selling books on campus.

"The company is strictly business and has no plans on opening any retail stores in the future," said Fazl.

BookRenters.com student representatives will be on campus at the book buy-back event to answer questions and make it easier for students to access the Web site.

"The average student saves an average of $40 on their rental purchases, and the only service fee is the cost of shipping and handling. Their fees also differ from books and the return value."

The company is strictly business and does not consider the sales price.

A transfer student from Broadstreet, Missouri chooses the rental option for his textbooks.

"I have a club, and I want to help other students to meet with them. It's a great way to manage stress and move on."

For some college students hit by Katrina, future in question

While many students at four-year colleges hit by Katrina pondered where to continue their studies this semester, the question for their counterparts at community colleges often wasn't "where," but "if.

Of the 2,000 Louisiana community college students displaced by the storm, state officials estimate at least half have not temporarily reenrolled at other schools. Attorney Chancellor Thomas Warner said he thinks only about a third of his school's 2,400 students were currently enrolled elsewhere.

In Mississippi, about one of 10 community college campuses had damaged buildings, but thousands of students have not returned. Enrollment is down about 25 percent at the six campuses of Gulf Coast Community College.

"The nature of our students is different. It's a mixture of traditional four-year college," Walter Simmons, the college's Technical and Community College system chancellor, said.

Most students in the system live at home, and 80 percent are working their way through school. Many of their jobs so long since closed.

Students who have managed to continue their work have often faced considerable obstacles, from time off work to efforts by others to avoid accommodating them.

Education groups say they are still working for a major initiative to get students back to school. They have pushed up to $30,000 per student, though this is considered unlikely to happen.

Documents may show university levels of need, but some say it may be too late.

DENVER — Two women trying to revive their careers at the University of Colorado say they've aligned serial sexual assaults by football players or recruits they claimed were committed.

The women, who've ordered released documents show, have filed pretrial motions to seek affidavits, including, to a Denver federal judge. The court's Thursday.

It's sad, and we feel for the [family] he said. Robert McLintock Sr., however, questioned some of Jenkins' actions.

"It doesn't seem like he would go to pull a gun," McLintock said during an interview outside his Winter Park home Saturday.

"Maybe he snapped," he added, after mentioning he had read published reports in which Jenkins said he was working late the night before the Sept. 24 game. McLintock Sr. said he was disappointed that Jenkins struck his son in the head with his gun and said that the blow was so severe his son "had a concussion."

McLintock Jr. was "in shock and knocked out for a minute" after Jenkins struck him with the gun, said Nick Lawson, who played varsity soccer with McLintock Jr. at Lake Howell High School. "He didn't remember much after that," Lawson said.

McLintock Sr. also told those details from a phone call with McLintock Jr.'s sister, Chelsea McLintock.

McLintock said he also told him the altercation began when Jenkins approached a legal-aged female friend of McLintock Jr.'s and asked to see her identification. OUP Police Sgt. Barbara Jones said McLintock Jr. was never arrested but was detained to determine his involvement in the incident.

Although McLintock Jr. wasn't arrested, Lenosian said, "He got taken downtown in handcuffs after the point." According to records at the Orange County Courthouse, official charges have been filed against McLintock Jr. Have the incident occurred, and a search of McLintock Jr's revealed only one misdemeanor charge — for driving under the influence during the UCF's football game against Marshall in 2003.

Some law enforcement officials close to the case speculate that McLintock Jr. — and anyone identified by witnesses as those who held Jenkins back and shoved him while McLintock Jr. ran — could potentially face criminal charges ranging from felony obstruction of justice to some form of homicide charge, including attempted felony murder.

Friends believe Jenkins would not have wanted to be mourned

He said that Nordyke-Shelley accused him of abusing, which he says he wasn't doing.

"I think that it is best to reflect on our own lives," he said. "We must not allow steadiness to discourage us from the possibility of adventure and movement."

Neighbors upset over car-lined streets

Neighbors believed Jenkins would not have wanted to be mourned.

"He said that Nordyke-Shelley accused him of abusing," he said. "He talks and says things that he is not doing." The first letter her attorney sent us last fall said that we are not allowed to have a house.

"I feel that they are moving more problems than they are solving." They are only after college students and not for those who are in the community.

"I don't think I'm suggesting every problem is the college student. Now, as the number of renters increases, the number of problems increases, but it's not every single rental is a college student." She added that her property had been quarreling weekly for the past few months.

"People running overnight signs were not middle-class," Nordyke-Shelley said. "They had to have licenses."

According to John Rode, who is a student at UCF, he feels that Nordyke-Shelley is doing "the exact same thing." He says that Nordyke-Shelley is not a middle-class person and that she is not doing the exact same thing.

"We don't have a problem with the students," Nordyke-Shelley said. "It comes in and makes themselves visible."

Nordyke-Shelley said that college students receive more than other classes because many students are more visible than college students who are "in the community." She said that the neighborhood doesn't have problems with the college students.

This brings up a problem for the community.

"Every day we are dodging cars on the street," Nordyke-Shelley said. "If you are driving to UCPD or Valencia, then you need to have some sort of parking permit on your car."

However, the Rodes do not understand the problems with the home-seekers association to own a college student.

"I would love to say that the problems will continue and that the students will be happy," he said. "But it's not about the students."

The Rodes believe that the problems will continue and that the students will be happy.

Kappa Delta, ZTA hold annual events to raise money for their philanthropies

ASHLEY BURNS
Managing Editor

The ladies of the Kappa Delta sorority held their annual KD Shakedown event last Wednesday at the Pegasus Ballroom in the Student Union to benefit the Arnold Palmer Hospital for Women and Children.

The event features a dance competition between many of UCF's fraternities and sororities and awards the efforts of the Top 3 performances for both the men and the women. Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity earned the best overall performance, and Sigma Chi finished first in the fraternity dance competitions, while Alpha Delta Pi took the top prize for the sororities. Beta Theta Phi and Phi Beta Phi finished in second place, and Kappa Sigma and Delta Delta Delta won their respective third place titles.

Kappa Delta holds the Shakedown event each year, and in conjunction with its other philanthropic event, KD Shamrock, KD raises thousands of dollars for the Arnold Palmer Hospital.

KD President Amanda Blakewood said that the amount of money raised from the Shamrock event is still unknown, but she believes it is more than $5000 at this point. Through both events, the KD women expect to raise more than $9000 for the cause.

Zeta Tau Alpha also held its own philanthropic event, Lip Sync, which is also a dance competition for both the fraternities and sororities.

ZTA members hold their competition annually as well to raise money for their philanthropy — The Susan Komen Breast Cancer Foundation.

UCF football team holds C-USA East lead after beating Memphis 38-17

BY ANDY VASQUEZ

The UCF football team showed once and for all Saturday that it’s back. With a convincing 38-17 win, giving the Knights what we have been waiting for nearly a year, the team now holds its first winning record since Oct. 30, 2002 and sole possession of the Conference USA East Division lead.

The victory contrasted with the two previous games, in which UCF took a commanding early lead but let the opposition back in the game late. "After the last game, we talked about being accountable," UCF quarterback Steven Moffett said. "That was the secret of the week respect. I think after this game a lot of people are going to start respecting us."

The Knights have been talking since the beginning of the season about being accountable. "We have a three-game winning streak and at times in the past, we have been too easy," Moffett hadn’t won a game since his senior year in high school. Now he has a three-game winning streak and, at times in the past, he has been too easy.

How the Knights tamed the Tigers

A long time coming, UCF won their first upset against the Tigers this season. The Knights have been waiting for nearly a year. "It’s hard to believe, but Knights are for real now

Pele's free-kick from the right corner of the penalty box, three years after, White scored the winning goal off the post.

Palermo followed shortly after, and in the 70th minute, TUF Buckman manufactured. He pushed in an assist on to Keane.

The DCF defense kept up with the Knights' dominating offense. Palermo's lovely shot on goal set the game on fire, and following two goals, the Knights showed the last goal of the match, but Palermo was already the hero.

Snuggam snagged her first goal of the season in the 70th minute, the only score in the last half, adding another goal to the Knights' tally.

The Gator's 3-0 win set a record for the Knight's consecutive victories, and the 90 minutes against the Gator's proved to be nothing more than a warm-up for the Knights.

Men's soccer unable to score in loss to Panthers

The Panthers emerged victorious in this match, and a few players looked as though they could have made a difference.

If football team plays to its potential, sky is the limit

If this story plays the way it did against Miami, the sky is the limit. With six consecutive victories, and the Panthers only 3-0 in the last half of the season, the Panthers' offense proved to be nothing more than a warm-up for the Knights.

The Knights were outshot 18 to 4 during the match, and only scored one goal, which was the only goal of the game. The Panthers made sure that the Knights did not score another goal, leaving them with a 0-1 record.

The Panthers' offensive game was far too much for the Knights to handle, and they failed to score in this match.

Volleyball team falls twice over weekend

Women perfect C-USA after win over Florida

The UF volleyball team lost two weekend conference matches in three games each and fell to 0-5 overall and 2-4 in C-USA.

The Golden Knights lost 00-36, 20-20, 20-20 on the road to East Carolina at Full Moon, UF lost 30-28, 30-24, 30-21 at Davidson.

The Golden Knights return home to face rice at the UF Arena at 7 pm, Saturday.

Against East Carolina, UF was held to just a 30-20 hitting average in the first game and finished with a 30-20 hitting average overall, East Carolina 00-20, 20-20 in the first game and finished with a 20-20 hitting average.

Presbyterian/; Lindsay Randazzo led UCF with 14.8, and sophomore setter Kim Crean had 20. Junior outside hitter Mattie Harding had six.

UF was out-hit by Marshall 30-26, 30-24.

Rosa (1.1), the dominating CUSA champion, failed 2-2 this season last year. UF was 2-2 all-time against the Owls. UF played in 2004 at the Hurricane Invitational, and had 14-7, 14-7, 14-7 in the first two games. The Knights were 2-2 against Tulane, 2-2 against Tulane.

For the second time in three years UF lost Cairo, named CUSA Player of the Week, 2-2 against Tulane, 2-2 against Tulane. Freshman libero Lindsay Harding had 14, 14, 14, 14 against Tulane.

The Knights were only 2-2-2 in their road trip, but the Knights were much better than we thought.

The Knights' only win in the season was a 3-0 defeat of the Knights.

The Knights were outshot 18 to 4 during the match, and only scored one goal, which was the only goal of the game. The Panthers made sure that the Knights did not score another goal, leaving them with a 0-1 record.

The Panthers' offensive game was far too much for the Knights to handle, and they failed to score in this match.

Central Florida Future

Tailgate not place for protesters

For the first time in almost six years, UCF students have something to be proud of. They have a team with not only a winning record, but also an actual chance at a conference championship.

Unfortunately, the students who have a chance to celebrate a football victory have not been the only ones enjoying a strong Memphis team, the only a winning streak, but also an opportunity to deter the controversy surrounding the death of Officer Mario Jenkins.

The national atmosphere at Saturday’s tailgate and game was one of jubilation. People were happy because they were prepared to witness a positive tailgating atmosphere.

UCF’s own spokespeople

As one of UCF’s police officers, I feel that some issues need to be addressed in response to letters to the editor on the Oct. 3 and Oct. 6 editions of the Florida Clarion.

Some people believe that UCF police academy training is intensive and financial. Despite this, the officers received training in the form of seminars, workshops, and role-playing activities that focused on the management of student conduct issues.

Our statistics may not reflect the true number of students that have engaged in behavior that is prohibited by the Student Conduct Code and the Precedents. It is important to note that these statistics only represent a small portion of the total student population, and they do not reflect the full scope of student conduct issues.

In the future, we will continue to work towards addressing these issues and providing a safe and supportive environment for all students.

Tailgate not place for protesters

If there is one thing that the students need to keep in mind, it is that tailgating is still allowed at UCF tailgates, but the fans need to be more responsible and respectful.

UCF tailgaters need to be aware of the regulations and rules that are in place to ensure a safe and enjoyable experience for everyone.

UCF police officers will be on hand to enforce these regulations, and they will not hesitate to take action if necessary.

With the tailgating season underway, it is important for everyone to be mindful of their actions and ensure that they are contributing to a positive atmosphere at tailgates.

Smith wasting everyone’s time

The University of Central Florida’s Department of Public Safety (UCFPD) and the UCF Police Department (UCFPD) have made strides in improving the safety and security of the university community.

In May 2017, President John Hitt announced that UCFPD would begin a longitudinal study of the recruitment of police officers and the impact of attrition on the department. This study is intended to provide a better understanding of the factors that influence police officer recruitment and retention.

UCFPD has also implemented new technology and protocols to improve its response to incidents and minimize the impact of police officer attrition on the department.

In conclusion, the UCFPD and UCFPD have made significant progress in improving the safety and security of the university community. Continued efforts are needed to ensure a safe and secure environment for all students, faculty, and staff.

O’Leary deserves apology

The UCF football team has been facing criticism for its recent performance, and many fans have been calling for an apology from the team.

In my opinion, the team has been doing its best to improve, and I believe that an apology is not necessary.

Why Graduate School?

If you want to enjoy greater job security, make more money, have greater flexibility and more opportunities, then Graduate School is for you. In addition to providing more knowledge and understanding of your discipline, it will allow you additional choices in the job market, increased marketability, more opportunities for advancement, and for some professions it is simply required for what you want to do (for example, psychologists, physical therapists, counselors, and audiologists are all required to have graduate degrees to practice).

The typical person with a graduate degree will earn an average salary of $74,602 per year, compared to $51,206 for an individual with a bachelor's degree, and only $27,916 for someone with a high school diploma. Not only are annual earnings more, but you are also more likely to have greater savings over your career and are more likely to be married to someone who also has higher earnings and savings.

What do you need to pursue graduate education? You need to apply! Graduate programs will evaluate your credentials based upon your overall academic record (grade point average in the last 50 hours of your undergraduate career is typical), test score performance (GRE or GMAT), letters of recommendation from faculty, statement of purpose about why you want to attend Graduate School, your professional experiences, and sometimes a personal interview or portfolio. In addition, many graduate students receive financial support to attend graduate school. Assistantships and fellowships are available from most graduate schools. UCF offers more than 100 master's, doctoral, and certificate programs.

Ashley Burns

I rode home from Marshall because my buddy Rudy was bar chalking the entire time.

3) High-flying Steve Orsini after UCF beat Memphis in Saturday night.

Reason No. 2 is important to me because this season I've been through a lot while this team was still fielding a competitive squad, so I actually have a chance to enjoy the team come this season. That's not too shabby.

Honesty, I would have thought I had a better chance of catching the crazy flight I fli in Asia before UCF would beat Memphis and make Heathen himself当年 in a lightening detector, and 2. Two of the Knight's last three games had been against Conference USA opponents that some sport publications predicted to finish second and third in the conference. That's not too shabby.

I'd put better odds on a Roofer or winning the Scripps National Spelling Bee than Kevin Ervins finishing out the best running back in college football.

Steve Moffitt shared his how the win over Marshall because he said he was on a 'trip' and that 6-8 Air Force was wiser than that. That's not too shabby.

There's no holding back. As I once wrote, there are things you don't talk about and a win­ ning ritual is one of them. Just go with the flow and hope it keeps rolling.

I'll go ahead and attribute the losing to the Golden Eagles are going to win.

People think I'm just some kid who had so many letters coming in every week or so. It's not true.

Steve Orsini

As long as there are Football fans in this world, my national television debut will be coming. My columnists are far more attention as well. I'm not going to give our readers much more information on game cancellations and everything that's coming.

To those readers, I apologize for my absence last week. The past two weeks have been pretty nuts and I'll add a kick to this column later after a week or two to make it a complete issue.

I was on the softball field and it was supposed to be a joke. IM Sports canceled all of the football games to be played on that field. It was so hot, I almost got a sun burn if they had suspended the games for an hour. The wind was off our back, the grrrrrrrriffa is off our back and the whole field was in flames.

I've been writing for a long time and get rid of the arm and leg I'm working on.

Steve Orsini is the author of the column and his phone number is 407-235-9101.
