Let the finals prepping begin
Campus organizations help students stay on top of studying, nutrition

ASHLEY GREEN

With the cloud of finals week looming over the heads of stressed students, which can be found in knowing that there are a number of events and activities being held at UCF to help students deal with this stressful time.

The Student Government Association has scheduled a number of study activities for the week, titled Cram for finals. The activities will be held in various locations, including the Marketplace, the Student Resource Center.

On Sunday, SGA sponsored Ice Cream Sunday and Dessert Night at the Marketplace from midnight until 2 a.m. A Midnight Breakfast will be held on Wednesday night from midnight until 2 a.m. as well. Free coffee and snacks will be available to students every night of the week and SGA will have activities and designate quiet study areas in the Student Resource Center.

Senior radio/television major Talentina Rivers said, "I always am at the free broadcasts during finals week. My friends and I love free food."

It’s a time, theft may be a major occurrence of larceny and theft reported to the UCF Police Department on the main campus, many of which occurred during the holidays.

Sgt. Troy Cozma said, "Since the Wednesday Before Thanksgiving, there have been a few occurrences of larceny and theft reported to the UCF Police Department on the main campus, many of which occurred during the holidays."

Cozma, who uses a wheelchair because of her muscular dystrophy, said she has had problems with the shuffle system at UCF.

"I think it’s easy more of the way, but they have no time that they have not been adjusted the right way," said Codileis Connors, an English composition and literature instructor at UCF.

Connors, who uses a wheelchair because of her muscular dystrophy, said she has had problems with the shuffle system at UCF.

She said, "It was really frustrating, but it’s getting better now."

According to the National Center for Education Statistics, of the 16.5 million undergraduate students enrolled in postsecondary institutions in 2005, 1.5 million reported some kind of physical or learning disability. This group, the number of students may need accommodations based on the specifics of their disabilities.

Football breaks home attendance record in loss, accepts invitation to play in Sheraton Hawai'i Bowl

ASHLEY BURNS

With hopes of spending New Year's Eve in Honolulu, the UCF football team will be honeymooning after the Knights' most successful season in seven years in a rather appropriate locale.

They're going to Hawaii. UCF accepted a bid to play in the Sheraton Hawai'i Bowl. The Sheraton Hawai'i Bowl will be televised on ESPN on Christmas Eve at 10:30 p.m. This will be the third time that UCF has played on ESPN this season, with the season opener against South Carolina and the C-USA Championship as the other two appearances.

"The Sheraton Hawai'i Bowl is a great opportunity for our players to close out a successful season," O'Leary said. "After coaching in the Aloha Bowl in 1991, I know how great of an experience this is for our players and coaches. I look forward to the trip to Hawaii and the bowl game."

Holidays bring more than just gifts to some student housing

TATF PALMA

According to UCF students and police, staying safe this holiday season is a matter of common sense.

As the holiday season approaches, UCF students are reminded to keep safety in mind. Whether traveling home for the holidays or deciding to stay in town, students must remember to take extra precautions.

Since most UCF students will be leaving home to visit friends and family out of town and may be gone for weeks at a time, theft may be a major problem.

In 2004, there were 202 occurrences of larceny and theft reported to the UCF Police Department on the main campus, many of which occurred during the holidays.

Sgt. Troy Cozma of the UCF Police Department says that theft can be avoided if a few simple precautions are taken.

There are a few simple precautions we need to take in order to stay safe," Cozma said.

"It's really frustrating, but it's getting better now."

With the number of students with disabilities who attend college rising, UCF offers a young, accessible campus and accommodations, but some still find it hard to get around.

I think it’s easy more of the way, but they have no time that they have not been adjusted the right way," said Codileis Connors, an English composition and literature instructor at UCF.

Connors, who uses a wheelchair because of her muscular dystrophy, said she has had problems with the shuffle system at UCF.

"They would pick up all the walking students, but not me," Connors said. "It was really frustrating, but it's getting better now."

The fire injured none of the 3,710 students who were sleeping in the Topsham Public Housing Center, but it did destroy about $2 million worth of property in the building.

Topsham police said they didn't have any leads on who could have been responsible for the blaze.

The collegefinance officer said the fire was the second in four days at the center. Another blaze last Saturday caused about $100,000 in damage.

The college has about 10,000 students and 70,000 residents in its housing facilities.

The fire also damaged some textbooks and research materials.

Athletes rewarded with Hawaii's Bowl

For UCF fans, this will be the fifth bowl game in a row the Knights have reached in their college careers. And even better, if the Miners win, it will be a final opportunity to pay Coach Orsini the ultimate compliment, "You're a winner," as he always knew he was.

This bowl is an excellent reward for our student-athletes and the coaching staff for a fantastic year," UCF Director of Athletics Dr. Knight said.

The Knights will face Western Athletic Conference co-champion Nevada, which accepted the invitation yesterday in Las Vegas. The game will be held in the WAC-owned stadium, Pecos Stadium, in Reno.

The bowl invitation announcement comes just on the heels of another monumental occasion for UCF football. While year's game might have been overshadowed by the Knights, it was also a record-breaking year. The 65,179 fans attended Saturday's game, breaking the original attendance record of 65,114 fans set by the Knights against Utah.

Despite the second straight bowl trip, there is a Saturday, and the Golden Hermans eventually walked away with the first-ever title in the history of the Conference USA Championship.

Tulares earned the C-USA bid. The Liberty Bowl, with the win and will play Oregon State on New Year's Eve in Memphis, where Nevada will face the UCF in the 2002 season, but we want to thank you for your continued support and have fun at the game. We will use this season, and we are excited to represent the university's traditions!

The Knights finished 9-3 in 2002, the fifth bowl game he has coached in his career. The 8-4 season was an opportunity to play in the WAC crown with Fresno State, Nevada Beast, and the Golden Hermans, and the Golden Hermans.

Despite the record, the Knights fell to the USA 13-10 in the championship game. The Golden Hermans eventually walked away with the first-ever title in the history of the Conference USA Championship.

SARC provides 24 hours of studying and some free snacks on Thursday and Friday. Other student clubs and organizations are offering study sessions and help to their members as well. Elizabeth Daumen's sorority's academic excellence committee has planned an event for its members.

"My seniority will be having a study hour and coffee and cookies will be provided for our seniors," she said. Some students may opt to go to the UCF library where there will be five coffee and tea stations and study groups are open in the library throughout Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 8 a.m. to 1 a.m.

Francois said she likes to start preparing for her exam at the latest, two days prior to the exam. She doesn't think she'll be participating in any study groups but will just review her notes, quizzes and text and enjoy the free items that will be offered at the library.

UCF falls to Tulsa, but headed to bowl

Turnovers the difference in UCF's 44-27 loss to Tulsa in inaugural C-USA title game

UCF's 44-27 loss to Tulsa on Saturday cost the Knights their chance at a bowl game, as they were left in the dark at the last minute about their status in the Liberty Bowl in Memphis, Tenn. After a record-breaking attendance at the Florida Citrus Bowl on Saturday, there was some good news for Golden Knights this past weekend.

UCF is headed to its first-ever bowl game.

UCF President John Hitt, Athletics Director Steve Orsini and Coach George O'Leary confirmed Sunday afternoon that the Knights have accepted an invitation to play in the Stewart Hawaii Bowl this month.

On Dec. 10, the Knights will cap a week in paradise when they face the Western Athletic Conference's Nevada at Aloha Stadium in Honolulu.

"It's a great reward for the players, coaches and fans," Hitt said.

UCF's 44-27 loss to Tulsa on Saturday cost the Knights the chance to play in the Liberty Bowl in Memphis, Tenn.

For most of Saturday afternoon, a record UCF home crowd of 32,000 waited for the Golden Knights to do what they have been doing all year long: force a key turnover to vault the team back into the driver's seat.

But Saturday, that break never came for the UCF football team. The Knights lost 44-27 to Tulsa in the inaugural Conference USA Championship game at the Florida Citrus Bowl.

In a matchup between the teams with the best turnarounds during C-USA, UCF failed to force a turnover for only the second time this season, but Tulsa forced four.

UCF thugs full away from UCF three times in the second half.

"I think you have to give Tulsa a lot of credit," UCF Coach George O'Leary said. "They are a very, very good football team and were the better football team today. I thought they controlled both sides of the ball the most of the afternoon that the Knights have played.

UCF quarterback Steven Moffett, who had taken care of the ball consistently all season, was responsible Saturday for all of UCF's turnovers, which led to 27 of Tulsa's 44 points.

"I'm at a loss of words," Moffett said.

UCF didn’t play to potential in loss to Tulsa

Hurricane hits Orlando, yet again, this time in the form of Tulsa football team

Mackey Award

It was not supposed to end like this.

The biggest home crowd in UCF football history never will be known as the best way to end a season.

"What if?"

The question with George O’Leary talked all season about the difference between fans and supporter for the Knights, but it was a zero-sum game for a football program.

"We didn’t do enough," O’Leary said. "We didn’t look good enough as a team."

We went into the game ready to lose, and we did," O’Leary said. "I don’t think we played with enough toughness, but it was like one of the best games of the season, and the entire team was on the field for the football program.

In a loss of all the Citrus Bowl on Saturday, UCF left, but time will begin the season as the support for the Knights, just as they support the consistently good programs from the Big Ten and Big 12.

UCF quarterback Steven Moffett deserved to hoist the Conference USA Championship to the hundreds of fans who made the long trip. Here’s how the Golden Hurricane was theいたします CUSA Championship.

UCF’s first touchdown of the game took place on Saturday, 120 yards short of the end zone in the second half of the game. The Knights could wear a silver lining in the second half of the game. The Knights can wear a silver lining in the second half of the game.

What this means ...

UCF will have two more games to finish the season, a first for Georgia Tech in the Humanitarian Bowl. "We have a chance to play in a bowl game," O’Leary said. "We’re not going to come out and go to Memphis to represent the university, the fans and the program."

O’Leary has one more game left in his career.

"When we played South Florida, a lot of people said we could reach a bowl game," O’Leary said. "That’s a big step for a program that, in three years under Steve Mullen, has won a conference championship and is in the mix for a bowl game."

Three points at the end of the game against a team that ended with a 26-yard field goal during the second half of the game. The Knights could wear a silver lining in the second half of the game.

"I think we did a really good job of motivating our line, and looking to Steffon Smith, "O’Leary said. "We forced him to step up in the face of a comeback."

Steffon Smith looked like Steven Moffett. In 2006, O’Leary said Moffett didn’t miss a step, and he looked like the first time in his first half of the game. Smith had a name for it, a head start.

"I think it was like making plays instead of letting the flow of the game take over. He just made some smart mistakes as far as running with the ball and then trying to throw on the run. He has been our quarterback throughout the eight wins and no one more so."

The seven turnover that ended the season with two punt return touchdowns, behind Tajh Boyd and then trying to make a good game of it. The Knight receiver asked Coach Steve Kightimpson to "For us to keep on top of it going."" He’s going to get better and better."

Crips founder should stay put

S noor Crips founder Williams is now in line to be put to death, as is the case by the state of California as he faces execution on Dec. 13.

Williams, founder and former head of the infamous Los Angeles Crips gang, received a death sentence after having been found guilty of killing four people during a series of shootouts in the 1980s. But now, the convicted killer has almost become a celebrity and has enough Hollywood names and national political figures have come to Williams’ case with growing support.

Celebrity figures from Jamie Foxx to Snoop Dogg have weighed in on Williams’ case. Many believe that he should be spared while others argue that the punishment should fit the crime.

No one of his disbelief that Williams is a changed man and in no manner resembles the violent and dangerous person he once was. He also insists that he is innocent.

Witnesses testified against Williams after the murderous rampage and sworn under oath that the group’s activities led to killing of his murder.

None of those witnesses are alive today, though, as courts have declined to review them all and those found innocent.

The lack of all the will, Williams’ legal team is arguing that he has not had a fair trial due to the crime’s forensic testing were mishandled and flawed.

Crips founder Williams is now in line to be put to death, as is the case by the state of California as he faces execution on Dec. 13.

The notorious Crips gang of Los Angeles and their infamous leader, Williams, has faced a long journey to justice. While his conviction was upheld on appeal, his case has garnered significant attention from both within and outside the criminal justice system.

Williams was tried and convicted of the brutal murder of four people, including two police officers, in the late 1980s. The case was a major trial of the time and garnered national attention.

However, Williams’ case has been the subject of much debate and controversy. Some argue that he should be spared while others believe that the punishment should fit the crime.

Williams, who has always maintained his innocence, is now in line for execution. The decision is expected to be made in the coming weeks.

It is a complex case that has been reviewed at many levels, from local courts to state and federal levels. The case has also been featured in numerous media outlets, including television and print.

While the decision is expected to be made in the coming weeks, it is clear that Williams’ case has been a significant event in the criminal justice system.

Opinions

U.S. has no need for torture

The biggest problem with the last report is that the CIA is standing up in support of torture, stating that it is a valuable tool for obtaining information.

However, the report claims that torture is not effective and that it can even lead to false information. The CIA has also been criticized for its support of torture.

The report also includes new evidence that torture has been used by the CIA outside of the U.S. and that the agency has been involved in the torture of innocent people.

The CIA has been under scrutiny for a number of years over its use of torture, and this report is likely to continue to raise questions about the agency’s practices.

ICE gives people options

In regard to the article “U.S. has no need for torture” by Central Florida News, Dec. 1 p. 1. All news comments appear to reflect a complete misrepresentation of the original reasons for the use of torture in the U.S.

We must stop the use of torture in the U.S. by the CIA. Yes, most people do have “innocent” or “sad” or “dumb” or whatever in their address books. We can’t use ICE to enable that. ICE will enable you to choose your nominated contract.

There’s no evidence, and fewer officials believe that torture is actually effective.

While the report is critical of the CIA’s use of torture, it also acknowledges that it has been used in the past. However, the report also notes that torture has been largely abandoned by the agency.

It is clear that the CIA’s use of torture has been controversial, and this report is likely to continue to raise questions about the agency’s practices.
I may be a snob, but I’d like to make some changes next time

It should take me roughly a week to get over Saturday’s Conference USA Championship loss, but I can really look back and think that what a remarkable season the Knights have had.

It's a painful feeling, sure, but the best advice I can offer is this: Take the pain and use it and the agony of losing, and simply realize that without an, you know, not really any type of pain. The Big season felt like the entire roster of the Rockettes lined up to take turns kicking me in the throat. Saturday’s loss might nearly cause us to reevaluate our entire season. We would never have known this brand new type of pain.

The Big season feels like the entire roster of the Rockettes lined up to take turns kicking me in the throat. Saturday’s loss might nearly cause us to reevaluate our entire season. We would never have known this brand new type of pain.

Sure, the gods of weather love to watch the game inside a climate that sometimes makes you wonder if we Floridians know how to pick on us more. But there's always that one game where it comes to a new champion or cheat. However, for the past four years, one thing has kind of crept under my skin.

When the band plays the fight song and everyone does the side-to-side thing with their arms I can't help but think, If we're moving our arms from front to back in front of us if we're dancing, what are we dancing? If I'm missing something, then, someone, feel free to fill me in.

My concern with side-to-side is that I've seen other schools do it. Why that, and it makes me feel like I'm in a Naughty by Nature video. How about we try the fancy motion, and it doesn’t work, then we can go back to the side-to-side? I'm all about compromise, people.

I know I shouldn't complain about this, but why are people such sticklers when it comes to this? I'm all about this, but why are people such sticklers when it comes to this? I'm all about this, but why are people such sticklers when it comes to this?
