Alumni mourn loss of dear friend
ASHLEY BURNS Managing Editor

The UCF Alumni Association has been mourning the loss of a good friend and dedicated alumnus, as Manny Rodriguez

Rodriguez was very active in ensuring that a new alumni center was built on campus. He saw that dream come fruition as the Fairwinds Alumni Center opened in early November. A special announcement released by the UCF Alumni Association said, "As a UCF alumnus, Manny dedicated much of his life to UCF and was instrumental in building the Fairwinds Alumni Center. His work made a difference for past and present students as he sat as the head of the table from which he worked. Manny will be greatly missed."

Doctors told Rodriguez that he was cancer free in early 2009, and his passing caught many of his co-workers off guard.

Rodriguez graduated from UCF with a degree in political science in 1974. He is survived by his parents, sib­

Early decision on rise

College applicants make quick choices, experts believe it could be bad

For the first time since surveys on early decision began in 1999, more colleges reported fewer applications than one year before.

There are also indications more students from the Midwest and Southeast are making early decision applications, joining the large numbers of seniors from the high school Northeast and West Coast who have been attending.

Applications were up at several prominent Southern universities, including Duke (5 percent), Vanderbilt (4 percent), and Emory (8 percent over two rounds). At Vanderbilt, the early decision pool of applications was up just 5 percent, while 25 percent of the early pool used to come from Northeast and mid­

Fantasy sports a growing trend

College students love the opportunity to pretend they're a real franchise owner

For many people, the budding interest in participating in fantasy sports is too tempting to resist. With the help of the Web, they have the key to keeping track of their favorite athletes, and the Web is providing the means to join leagues that let them imagine themselves as franchise owners for a season.

Today fantasy sports hang a growing popularity with female sports fans like never before. As more than 10 million users, fantasy sports has become one of the fastest growing segments of online entertainment.

Many people are still unfamiliar with fantasy sports. Fantasy sports are mainly played online, on Web sites such as Yahoo! or ESPN. However, you and your friends can start leagues with phone or online registration.

The sports range from football, baseball, basketball, and professional fishing but fishing leagues are the most popular sites with the largest number of registered users.

They were both charged with the Tryals for the Iowa militants. They had been transferred from the Los Angeles County Sheriff’s Department. They were both charged with making terrorist threats, Brown said.

The boys, ages 17 and 15, had been transferred from the former school to other schools for disciplinary reasons, authorities said.

Brown said an investigation began Wednesday when a student contacted the school’s vice principal and the former students were planning a “Columbine-style ambush” on the campus.

The next step was to inject human lung cancer cells into mice and to administer the drug. After 21 days, the tumors in the mice that did not receive the drug were about twice as large as those in the mice that did receive the drug.

Researchers then looked at the tumors in the mice and found that the tumors in the mice that did not receive the drug were about twice as large as those in the mice that did receive the drug.

The researchers also tested the effectiveness of the drug in human patients. They found that the drug was effective in reducing the size of the tumors in about 80% of the patients tested.

The researchers are currently conducting additional studies to further evaluate the effectiveness of the drug in human patients. They hope to begin clinical trials later this year.
Football team heads to Hawaii for bowl game

UCF coach Jeffstatus extra practice time to its benefit

UCF's bowl team will be the same one that beat Nevada in the regular season. After a rough week of practice, the Knights immediately practiced as they tried to adjust to a new climate and time zone.

UCF's 429-mile trip from Orlando to Honolulu is the longest of any team traveling to a bowl game this year, but the Knights will have nearly an entire week to adjust to their beautiful surroundings. UCF's game against Nevada isn't until Saturday.

Though the Knights are currently practicing, the week leading up to the trip to Hawaii was anything but bad break.

UCF Coach George O'Leary wished his team had an effort to take advantage of the extra week of practice a bowl game provides.

Knights hand Central Michigan first loss of year

BRIAN MURPHY

After dropping six straight games, the Knights women's basketball team just won its first game at any cost. It was an added bonus that it earned its first win against one of an undefeated team.

The first round of the UCF Holiday Classic, the Golden Knights outlasted the University of Central Michigan, 54-49, Friday night at the UCF Arena.

The Knights reached their goal by blowing out their opponents, winning games by an average of 38 points. But this win was a defensive struggle from the start.

The emergence of Johnson as a defense presence was something that Speraw has been looking forward to.

"He was active," Speraw said. "He was flying around, he was running the floor hard, he was battling and fighting on the glass ... just played with consistent effort and that's all that we ask of our guys."".

The Knights saw their lead get all the way up to 10 in the closing seconds of the game to end Michigan's 6-0 start.

A big key to the Knights' victory was their ability to improve in a couple areas where they had been slumping all season, rebounding and free-throw shooting.

The Knights held Michigan to 8-of-24 from the field, a 33.3 percent. Through their first seven games, the Chippewas are just 4-of-24. Their field goal percentage is just 38 percent.

A picture’s worth a thousand memories

From Hurricane Wilma to the Hawai'i Bowl, 2005 was an exciting year to be a Knight. The UCF campus continued to grow with the addition of the Fairwinds Alumni Center and the Towers at Golden Knights Plaza, while plans were laid and approved for a new on-campus football stadium.

In the world of sports, UCF cemented its status as a burgeoning powerhouse, with the men’s basketball team making it to the NCAA Tournament and the football team winning the C-USA Eastern Division title and a trip to the Sheraton Hawai'i Bowl in Honolulu.

Look back on this amazing year with some of the Future staff’s favorite photos.
Bowling game tickets priceless

I am a RPI graduate of UCF and I have season tickets to UCF football, basketball, and baseball. Going to Hawaii for UCF’s first bowl game is, however, beyond my budget. I am still going to buy a ticket to the game for $40. I am going to frame that ticket and keep it with the rest of my UCF memorabilia.

Here’s why: First, I will support the UCF athletic program. Second, years from now, I’ll at least have a ticket from every bowl game that UCF played in.

“Third, if we sell out the UCF section in Hawaii, then maybe next year a “continental” USA bowl will select UCF and I can drive to the game.

Go Knights!”

I want to say that UCF and every state college with more than 20,000 students needs to be reassessed. I hope this message gets to all those presidents.

There are no classes for me to take. I have all the classes for my bachelor’s degree and I can drive to the game.

Justice for all, not just Hussein

I am writing in response to the editorial entitled "Hussein and Co. say just Hurrah." (Dec. 6)

I would like to point out that the torture techniques used by Hussein that the writer says made him such a horrible dictator are the same techniques currently being defended by the Bush administration.

The writer says that anything less than the death penalty for Hussein is entirely unacceptable. I would ask if he or she holds the same sentiments toward U.S. prison guards in Iraq or their commanders who knew about the torture and even instructed them to do it. Prisoners being handcuffed, blindfolded, beaten and even killed sounds a lot like Abu Ghraib.

Is Saddam an evil person who committed atrocities against his enemies? Yes. Has the U.S. committed atrocities against Iraqis? Yes.

I am all for justices being brought to Saddam Hussein. But sitting right next to him and re-enrollment.

Third, it if the student is currently enrolled and has completed at least 30 semester-hour credits with a GPA below 2.00, and if the student, in the most recent of those credits, has earned a GPA of 2.00 or better.

You see? Try to bring that up with John Hitt. The percentage of students who are in any situation is probably the same.

This college does not know how to handle this because of the rarity.

Register for Spring 2006 as a non-degree seeking graduate student

Spring Semester begins January 9

While in non-degree status, students may take graduate courses, in some departments, on a space-available basis. Not all departments accept non-degree students and the process for enrollment into graduate-level classes vary. If you are enrolled in a non-degree status, you should back with an admissions counselor or with the individual that is most familiar with the process of submitting application and attempting to register. There is a limit of 10 graduate hour of graduate-level coursework that can be transferred into a graduate degree if a student is granted regular graduate admission status.
