The Student Government Association and the UCF Foundation are sponsoring buses to all home football games this season. A total of 22 buses will pull into the Visual Arts Building parking lot on game days; 20 hours will leave UCF at 7 a.m. and five will leave at 4 p.m.; round-trip tickets cost $35 and are available at the SGA Ticket Center. Tickets must be purchased 48 hours in advance.

The UCF Foundation, UCF's official fundraising organization, played an instrumental part in making this event possible. The foundation donated $80,000 and SGA spent $10,000.

"It is great to see the university and community pull together on this cause through their support of the UCF Foundation," White said. "There's no way we could have subsidized the costs for students if it wasn't for their support."

Students are allowed to store one large item, such as a cooler, chair or grill, in the storage area underneath the bus on a first come, first serve basis.

Freshman Carlos Rondon said he chose to ride the bus for the experience. He also mentioned that "he thought it was an easier mode of transportation."

"I am very excited to sponsor the game-day buses," said SGA Presi­dent Pam White in a press release.

Pursue dreams and bring more prestige to the university.

Application of this Master Plan, however, is shrouded in smoke. For example, the current designs of dormitories, which were done last fall, have not been completed yet and have been delayed due to budget cuts. The plan focuses on the renovation of the Gilbert building, which is currently being used as student housing. The Gilbert building will be turned into a living-learning community, with students living in suites and sharing common areas.

The Gilbert building is one of several buildings that are being renovated as part of UCF's expansion plans. Other projects currently under construction include the Student Union, the Engineering Building, and the Science Library. However, many students and faculty members are concerned about the impact of these projects on their daily lives.

The Wayne Densch Athletic Sports Complex is the most expensive of the additions to the campus. The complex, which is expected to cost over $200 million, is being built on the site of the old O'Connell Center. The new complex will feature state-of-the-art training facilities, locker rooms, and indoor practice fields. The complex is scheduled to open in 2007.

State Trooper Bashar later totaled at the checkpoint, explaining that the two men would have been unlikely to be able to survive more than a few minutes if they had stayed at the checkpoint.

The company said earlier that it would begin implanting artificial hearts in patients within the next two weeks, but the device has not been approved for use by the Food and Drug Administration.

"We are working very hard and with a good will," said the company's president, Bashar Al-Kadiri. "We should be able to move forward within the next 48 hours."

Buses to cut student stress on game day

SGA wants to make sure students are safe at all seven home games this season, White said. "I think the buses will be cut down on alcohol-related accidents and encourage students to support the Golden Knights," he said.

The restructuring plan proposed that the MSC funds be used to integrate and work together to plan larger collaborative events, said Edgar Massoni, president of the MSC. "Restructuring is only possible by attitude and work ethic, this restructuring proposal, each group must work together to do this," Massoni said.

The restructuring plan proposed that the MSC, open to all 27 religious organizations listed as "cultural," be expanded to promote a multi-cultural community on campus. A separate programming board would be created in which heads of organizations would work together to plan larger collaborative events.

"Sprint, a global communications leader, has been active in recreating the MSC structure during the past year," said Dr. Baxley. "The greatest advantage of this restructuring is that students will be able to attend more multi-cultural programs that will nurture their cultural awareness," he said.

"This is only possible by the added resources provided by the MSC through its programming board," said Katie Williams, president of the MSC. "Students would allow more students to learn about multicultural traditions and leave UCF as diversity savvy adults and that notion should be the primary goal for all cultural organizations.

Questions have been raised about whether faith-based organizations would fit in the MSC. "I think religious groups do have a right to be a part of the MSC," said Charles Primal. "The new structure and the unifying of the student organization will be a positive for all students," said Primal.

"I hope the Middle Eastern students will not be disadvantaged because of their religion. I would like to see the MSC as a positive for all students," said Charles Primal. UCF TOPS VILLANOVA, O'LEARY CALLS PLAY ‘SLOPPY’

UCF vs. Villanova Breakdown

Knights overpower Villanova in trenches

ZACH MOORE
Staff Writer

Common sense said UCF was supposed to win Saturday, but no one could be sure until the Golden Knights went out and proved it on the field.

Playing an overloaded offensive, the Knights took the field with a swagger and a head of steam that has been non-existent in past years.

How did UCF win its first game of the season?

UCF won because...

Quarterback Steven Moffett had an amazing game. Playing in only limited action Moffett threw for 199 yards and three touchdowns on only 5 completions. Moffett completed six passes to senior Mike Walker for 77 yards and two touchdowns.

Villanova lost because...

UCF was overpowering in the trenches on both sides of the ball. The Knights were able to protect Moffett and give him all the time he needed to surgically pick apart Villanova's understaffed defensive backs.

The Villanova defense played well, at least on the field.

The Villanova offense played well... well, on the field.

Three scores for Moffett powers the UCF offense

BRIAN MURPHY
Staff Writer

Before the season, UCF quarterback Steven Moffett said that he needed to improve his passing accuracy in 2006.

If his first game is a sample of what is to come, Moffett is well on his way to having the most consistent season of his college career.

Moffett was 15-of-20 for 199 passing yards and three touchdowns at the Golden Knights beat the Villanova Wildcats on Saturday night, 38-14. It was UCF’s first season-opening win in eight years.

The Knights got on the scoreboard with their second drive of the game. After a series of runs by sophomore Kevin Smith pushed the ball into Villanova territory the Knights went to the air.

Wide receiver Willie Thompson’s defender fell down in coverage and Moffett found the sophomore open in the middle of the end zone for a 20-yard touchdown.

Moffett was 2-for-3 for 52 yards on the drive.

So, how did UCF win its first game of the season?

UCF won because...

Moffett had 19 of his 25 completions in the first half. The score gave UCF a 28-7 lead.

Villanova coach says it was hard to hear

“...I just came out and showed everybody that I still can play football.”

The Knights went to the half with a 28-7 advantage, but they did not come out sharp in the third quarter. After a turnover on their first possession, the Knights were forced to punt out of their own end zone. The punt was blocked by sophomore linebacker Darrel Young and bounced out at the back of the end zone for a safety.

On the following possession, the Wildcats methodically drove down the field as senior quarterback Matt Fetting led his team on a 10-play, 72-yard drive that resulted in a touchdown.

During the drive, Burroughs completed all five of his attempts, including the touchdown pass to wide receiver Aron Ridley.

Suddenly, after a dismal first half, the Division I-AA Wildcats entered the Con­ference USA Pac Champions.

“If we didn’t come back and play well in the second half, I would have been very dis­appointed with this team,” Villanova Coach Andy Talley said.

“...and then we come back and play the way we did and compete and play hard right to the end, you got to like that.”

On the other side, UCF Coach George O’Leary knows the Knights will not be able to play like they did and expect to win against future opponents.

“I thought we just got sloppy on offense and sloppy on defense and in the kicking game,” O’Leary said. “So all three phases have to be better.”

Specifically O’Leary said that he wants to see improve­ment from the defense in pass coverage and from the offensive line, ensuring that they finish their blocks on running plays.

Talley was uncertain if his team would be able to stop the Knights’ running game, but through three quarters, they did have some issues in that area. In the fourth quarter, the Cats front line held Smith, the second-highest mark of his career, to 10 yards on 18 carries.

“...we were bigger, more physical than them on an offensive and defensive standpoint,” Talley said. “We struggled with that.”

Another adversity the Wildcats had to fight was their own field position.

Villanova started five drives inside their own 20-yard line, which put the Wildcats offense closer to the UCF end zone. The Cats scored on three of those opportunities, but failed on the fourth, and were forced to punt.

“The Cats front line held him,” Talley said. “They was a tough venue for a D-1A team to play in...it was hard to hear.”

The Wildcats exceeded the Knights’ total yards, passing yards and time of possession, but in the end, they fell 21-20 against D-1 opposition. The Knights are now 5-2-1 all-time in season openers.

Walking into its first season opening win in eight seasons in front of a crowd of 12,000 at the Grove Bowl, "I think the crowd was very raucous," Villanova Coach Andy Talley said.

For the first half, Fetting had 113 with three touchdowns, two of which went to senior receiver with six catches and 100 yards, which put the Wildcats, 81-199, in total yards, passing yards and rushing yards, 322-304, and the Wildcats 32-29.

The game was over when...

After the Knights’ third touchdown in the second quarter, fans began to realize this wasn’t the 1995 Golden Knights.

The momentum shifted when...

Walker caught his second touchdown pass. Villanova had just come down the field and scored to make it 3-6 in the beginning of the second quarter.

It was evident from the crowd noise at the Citrus Bowl that fans were waiting for the team to happen, waiting for the Knights to blow this game somehow. But when Walker caught the touchdown pass from Morley midway through the second quarter, fans began to realize this wasn’t the 1995 Golden Knights.

With the score tied, fans were waiting for a game where... it was hard to hear.

MADISON — Gary Climesea took his final warmup kick on the field, rubbed his head, softened his helmet strap and shifted his feet. He looked cool and calm, then did what no one might have expected him to do for more than a decade.

As a defensive specialist, he was the unsung hero of Nov. 24, when Fresno State defeated No. 12 Miami in the Orange Bowl.

Climesea's 10-yard field goal as time expired had no margin for error, a 20-14 victory that capped an improbable victory against an

The Packers are on a roll, and the long, grueling season has not left them gasping for air. They have been one of the most consistent teams in the NFL this season, and they showed no signs of slowing down in Sunday's 31-7 win over the Chicago Bears.

Despite a strong start to the season, the Packers faced a tough challenge against the Bears. As a team that has been known for their defense, the Packers were able to limit the Bears' offense to just seven points.

The game started with the Packers driving deep into Bears territory, setting up a field goal that would be the first of many to come.

In the second quarter, the Packers added to their lead with another field goal, extending their lead to 14-0 by halftime.

The third quarter was a defensive battle, with both teams struggling to score. It wasn't until the fourth quarter that the Packers were able to break through with another field goal, extending their lead to 20-0.

With the win, the Packers move to 7-1 on the season and remain in the top tier of the NFL standings.

Coach Mike McCarthy attributed the team's strong performance to their focus on defense and their ability to execute plays effectively.

"Our defense has been the backbone of our success this season," McCarthy said. "Our guys are absolutely physical and we're getting the job done on the field."

On offense, quarterback Aaron Rodgers had a solid performance, completing 17 of 26 passes for 174 yards and a touchdown. He also rushed for 68 yards and a touchdown,

The Packers' defense was also impressive, holding the Bears to a mere 7 points.

The win puts the Packers in a great position to secure a playoff berth, with just five games remaining in the season. They will need to keep their focus and maintain their strong performance if they hope to make it to the playoffs.

The next game for the Packers will be against the San Francisco 49ers on Sunday, November 24. The Packers currently hold the second spot in the NFC North, and a win against the 9-1 49ers could solidify their playoff hopes.

With the Packers' strong performance, it seems they are well on their way to making a playoff run. Can they continue their momentum and secure a spot in the playoffs? Only time will tell.

In this month's issue of Sports Illustrated, writer Bill Plaschke takes a closer look at the Packers' resurgence and the potential for a playoff run. He focuses on the team's strong defense, Rodgers' leadership, and the overall chemistry of the team.

"The Packers are a team that's unifying and relying on each other," Plaschke writes. "They've found a way to win and they're not going to stop until they reach the Super Bowl."
Bush, Rumsfeld can't justify war

Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld defended the American Legion Aug. 20 against theonor of the war on terror. At the time, Bush was in the middle of comparing what he calls "humanitarian" missions to those of communism.

"There is a crucial difference," said Rumsfeld in his speech. The American government was run by "George W. Bush also

The English government under Neville Chamberlain had a tendency to hide from political reality. In contrast, the American public is choosing to face it and make a decision.

The administration has been trying to make a comparison with the situation in Iraq, where the issues are similar in nature. It's important to remember that the war in Iraq was not just a military operation, but a political one as well. The goals were to establish a stable government and to bring democracy to the region.

Ileana Rodriguez, from the American Legion Aug. 20, took the opportunity to speak out against the war. She addressed the need to.Those who have been called the "war party" need to remember that the war is not just about the military, but also about the political and social implications.

The next phase of the war in Iraq is crucial to the future of the region. The United States needs to work closely with the international community to ensure a peaceful resolution.

When church meets state

At the same time, Bush has taken a different approach to the war. He has acknowledged the threat he saw as a "humanitarian" mission and made the comparison between America's recent history and that of the past.

"I can't believe he's saying that," Olbermann said. "We're talking about a war as preemptive, but it was, in fact, a war of choice."

The media has been saying that the war in Iraq and Afghanistan is the greatest threat to the country and the world. However, many Americans have come to question the government's role in the war and its impact on their lives.

"One thing we need to consider is the future of the war," Olbermann said. "We can't just walk away from the situation and assume that it will be over."

The decision to go to war was made without the consent of the American public. The people were not consulted on the matter, and many feel that they were misled into believing that the war was necessary.

But times have changed since then. In the 2004 elections, voters turned out in record numbers to elect a new congress.

When church meets state

The business of God has many sides, and the role of religion in politics is a complex issue. It's important to remember that the separation of church and state is a fundamental principle of the United States.

But times have changed since then. In the 2004 elections, voters turned out in record numbers to elect a new congress.

"You never know if it's usually behind the front door," said Olbermann.

"And we need to remember that the war is not just about military action, but about political and social implications."
