Missing runner rescued

It was a normal day for 62-year-old Eddie Meadows. He was out for a jog in the woods. Thursday near the UCF campus, he took what he thought was a shortcut. Little did he know that a routine jog would turn into a four-day battle with nature.

The long-time Florida Occomunicating member spoke to family, friends, co-workers and a plethora of media Thursday at the Florida Hospital East Orlando.

“After the most exciting time I have ever been through,” Meadows said.

He continued to say that the path he had gone down had “no distinguising features,” and ended up around what he thought was the right way. After wandering for several hours, he found his way to flowers. Meadows said he went into “panic mode.” His biggest fear, he said, was spotting his wife of 40 years, Ardis Meadows.

He continued to try to find his way out. Thursday he even heard the UCF marching band playing in the distance. He tried to follow the sound, but he was not sure. “If I was in distress and couldn’t breathe,” he tried using a stick to clear a path, but just digging himself deeper and deeper into the woods.

He even considered not leaving his search crew fly over with a spotlight, but the chances of that happening were slim amid the thick vegetation.

Popular chains in the UCF area are beginning to lower prices and offer more promotions to compete with a national dining slump. But UCF students say they are not yet feeling the pinch.

USA Today reports that popular casual dining restaurants such as Applebees, Outback Steakhouse and Bennigan’s are lowering prices and expanding menu options in hopes of drawing diners to restaurants.

None of the statistics say that should be the case at UCF, where student dining commodore is Evan Berman.

Ashley, who also serves as director of Resident’s food service education program, said that with the rising gas prices people are not able to go to a national dining market.

Iraq begins military control

Talabani says fighting will abate by '07; Iraqi forces could handle violence

REBECCA SANTANA Los Angeles Times

Coalition forces handed over control of Iraq's armed forces command to the government Thursday, a move that U.S. officials have billed as a crucial milestone in the country's difficult road to independence.

Prime Minister Nouri al-Maliki signed a document tacking control of Iraq's small armed forces and air forces and the 8th Iraqi Army Division, based in the south. However, it is still unclear how quickly the Iraqis will be prepared to take over their own security.

"From today forward, the Iraqi military responsibilities will be increasingly conceived and led by Iraqis," said Gen. George Casey, the top U.S. commander in Iraq, at a ceremony.

Handing over control of the country's security to Iraqis is vital to any eventual drawdown of U.S. forces here. After disrupting the remaining Iraqi army following the U.S.-led invasion in 2003, coalition forces have been training the new Iraqi military.

However, it is unclear exactly how quickly Iraqis will be prepared to take over their own security.

Eventually, the U.S.-led Multinational Forces in Iraq, composed largely of American and British forces through a joint American-Iraqi headquarters called the command, senior U.S. coalition officials comprised by Iraqi army divisions but consisting of U.S. soldiers were command by Iraqi officers.

They have called the chain of command fluid, directly from the prime minister in his role as Iraqi commander in chief through Headquarters South, headquarters in an Iraqi military headquarters. From there, the orders go to Iraqi units on the ground. Initially, this would apply only to the 8th Iraqi Army Division, the air force and the navy.

The other nine Iraqi divisions remain under U.S. command, with authority gradually being transferred. U.S. military officials said there are no specific timetable for the transition.

Days before the engagement, the 8th Division's commander, Gen. Geno, Osman al-Hillawi, told The Associated Press his forces still needed support from the U.S.-led coalition for things such as medical assistance, storage facilities and air support.

U.S. military spokesman Maj. Gen. William Caldwell said Wednesday it would be up to al-Maliki to decide "how rapidly he wants to move along with assuming control."

"They can move as rapidly thereafter as they want," Caldwell said. "I knew conceptualis, they've talked about perhaps two divisions a month."

The 8th Division was recently in the center of a fierce battle between Iraqi forces and Shiite militias. The division's troops fought militiamen in the southern city of Diwaniyah, 80 miles south of Baghdad, for 12 hours in a battle that left more than 20 soldiers and 50 militiamen dead.

Politics have been an obstacle. President Jalal Talabani said that a meeting with British Foreign Secretary Jack Straw and U.S. military leaders in Iraq will have to be rescheduled for the end of 2007, and that Iraqi forces will be able to handle any remaining violence.

British troops handed over control to Iraqi authorities of the southern Muthanna province in July, and al-Maliki has said another southern province, Diwaniyah, is due to follow this month.

Violence continued in the hours before the hand over Thursday. Six bomb attacks targeting police patrol in Bagdad killed at least 17 people and wounded more than 50.

A suicide car bomb targeting a police patrol outside a gas station near the Eliasys Hospital in central Baghdad killed 10 people, including four policemen, and wounded 21, the prime minister's office said. Police initially reported two civilians and two policemen were killed.

Two suicide car bombs exploded near al-Moha Mosque in southern Baghdad, the prime minister's office said. Nobody was hurt in the first, but the second killed three civilians and wounded 12.

Another suicide car bomb in the southern province of Dhi Qar killed two civilians and wounded 13 people, police said.

In western Baghdad, a roadside bomb in Qaiara Square near Yarmouk hospital wounded four people, including a policeman, Mahmud said. Elsewhere, in the upscale district of Mansour, a roadside bomb exploded, killed a man and injured his daughter and another man.

On Wednesday night, gun and mortar fire hit a police checkpoint outside of Baghdad's parliament, according to police and miltiamen. Nobody was hurt in the first, but the second killed three civilians and wounded 12.

Another suicide car bomb in the center of the city killed two civilians and two police special forces members, and wounded 13 people, police said.

Lower-priced menus expand

Panera Bread. According to Salzberg. these types of restaurants are offering a quality of competing prices.

• Family-style restaurants are perceived as more expensive, Ashley said. "Panera doesn't cost as much."

Still, family-style restaurants are struggling to attract price-conscious consumers by offering special promotions and lower-priced fare. For example, Outback Steakhouse has plans to lower prices on side salads, appetizers and drinks by November.

"The Steakhouse's also plans to offer price-sensitive diners. it now offers a three-course "Southwestern Fiesta" promotion for $9.99. The promotion will include an appetizer, an entree and a dessert.

Other restaurants offering price promotions include T.G.I. Friday's. The Cheesesteak Factory, Benihana's and Ruby Tuesday.

These chain restaurants feel that they must respond to the demands of consumers. Statistical data from a company called Kipling Track, which monitors the restaurant industry, reported that the 67-billion casual dining industry posted a 42-percent increase in same-store sales in June, and that counts were down 13 percent.

Lowering prices seems to be the only feasible option. "This is unprecedented," Paul Avery, CEO of Outback Partners, which includes Outback Steakhouse.

Professor studmuses across Meadows

Over the next three days, I have attempted to use the same as a guide to make my way out of the woods. "You don't know where you're going if you don't know where you are," he said.

"I got lost," he said and that he could even hear the traffic snapping and cracking from the leaves. He survived the four days solely on swamp water and roots.

After three days, Ron Eaglin, a UCF professor and follow runner, decided to join in. "We offered Monday looking for a body," Eaglin said.

During the search on Monday morning, Eaglin said that he heard a "shuffling" sound coming from a swamp area nearby. He thought that he heard it farther away. "Are you looking for Eddie Meadows," he shouted back.

I am Eddie Meadows," the man shouted back.

Upon arrival to the hospital, doctors concluded that Meadows had suffered dehydration, kidney failure and slight muscle damage as a result of the dehydration.

"After all that he had been through, Meadows said," I feel great," he also said that he is "ready to run again." He guaranteed that he will never go running again without his cell phone.

Escort service provides 252 rides in August

SEPS employee Andreas

Martinez said picking up students depends on性格, the first, and which student is more route-efficient. The cops always students abuse the service, he said.

"There's been a bunch of students where students are just using the service for a ride," he said. "Every now and then, I get students that actually want a safe ride."

In a second incident in 2005, Downing said SEPS refused to provide an escort stating they did not only give service to females. After a late night study session he went to the dark quarter, he said.

"I remember we had a large amount of cash in my book bag and I walked outside at night alone."

Dowd was denied service in late 2003 while walking the Wal-Mart Neighborhood Market by Pogo. Landing to buy groceries. He wanted a ride to Lake Claire Apartments in Academic Village to save himself solo time and energy.

"They [SEPS] denied my service saying 'you're a guy, we don't need to give you a service," Dowd said.

"I figure why. I should see what I can get. Before it is not, my student funds can't afford this service."

But Ron SEPS should only be used if a student is afraid for their safety.

"If we have a team of football players that want to be escorted and we have some other people calling that are just from we ask them if they can either wait or because it's a service for people who are scared. It's not a taxi service," Dowd said.

For the month of August, SEPS has provided $15-feenive rides (students that are picked up without calling) and full rides, Dowd said. "It's very hard to tell who is abusing the service who is actually utilising it, he said.

Cooper said that he wasn't one of the 252 rides SEPS provided in August. "Since that time [late 2005] I have never called SEPS back, it's just been worth my while to just use my own funds and see if I got denied once then why should I try SEPS again."

For SEPS recalls cost 400-

855-553. If the service is not booked, please call 407-623-5533 again and will be patched to assist you. A safe escort is offered on campus 24 hours a day, according to the UCF Police Web-site.

Did it seem to anyone else who attended the game on Saturday that this wasn’t the same old UCF fan base?

Now to say that I understood completely what the UCF fan base was like before this game would be wrong. Because in my three and a half years at UCF this was the first game I’ve ever attended.

I know many of you are saying, how could I possibly have an idea then? Well in my 21 years I’ve been to almost every sporting event there is, including NFL, playoffs, NBA Finals, Stanley Cup and National Championship games, and in each of these games I saw something that I’ve never seen before. I saw many of you who were tailgating on the back of your truck, 11 and a half hours early on the day of the game. I saw many of you who were so excited to see each other that you were actually crying. I saw friends who were tailgating that had been married for over 30 years and who had never tailgated before.

Then as the party started to die down in the parking lots and the streets, my friends and I made our way to the stadium. Now for those of you who allow me to do a few things, not many but a few of those things are to go in the Media Center for the opening events, I figured at the beginning of the day I would do that. But as I walked in the door, I saw something that I’ve never seen before. I saw the UCF team being introduced and being introduced to the fans.

A win over No. 7 Florida could be the springboard UCF needs to break through in the BCS.

CHRISS MOYLER

There’s no set criteria for finding an ideal quarterback, capable of winning on the road against Big Ten teams and leading the Knights to a conference title.

But every year it happens once or twice, and in some cases, the win for the non-BCS conference teams is a springboard to a run at an unexpected season.

UCF could be in the BCS for a New Year’s bowl, and perhaps a BCS Championship game.

While the Gators have many of you are saying, "It’s not going to happen." But as I walked in the parking lots and the streets, I saw something that I’ve never seen before. I saw the UCF team being introduced and being introduced to the fans. It was an incredible feeling.

Culpepper still favors knee, doesn't face contact in drills

"Congratulations to him," Johnson said. After himself draining with a no-hitter Wednesday night against Kansas City before surrendering a leadoff triple in the seventh.

Sanchez's performance ended a streak of 654 major league games between no-hitters. The longest gap previ­ously was 48 games from Sept. 28, 2004, to Sept. 29, 1996, according to the Elias Sports Bureau.

The most recent no-hitter by a rookie was by St. Louis, who beat San Diego on Sept. 1, 2003. It was "to be on the other end is not fun," Byrnes said. "It's embarrassing.""The Diamondbacks actually came close to hit a few times, but they were deleted by a Marlins defense that exists next to nothing in the NL.

Ramirez raged to his left to avoid a ground ball by Stephen Drew in the seventh, then slid under the batter by the same step. Sanchez greeted Ramirez coming off the field with a high-five and a slap on the rear.

"I think the head is fine after putting away the last out, something like a shaving-cream­ filled towel in Sanchez's face as he reported to the television cameras.

"Maybe I have to share the after the game," Sanchez said.

With Sanchez back in action, a diving catch and rob Chad Tracy two on to end the fourth, and a 4-2 double play ended the eighth. With Coolong at first, and Sanchez thrown the batter by a half step, he batted the man of the catcher's face as he reported to the television cameras.

Permanent record of July, he said. Ten seconds after the last ground ball, I know, I can't say any more. I love my family.

It was the first no-hitter in the Arizona's Randy Johnson threw a perfect game to beat Atlanta 2-0 on May 18, 2002.

"We all felt left out being against the top teams," said Byrnes, who walked again on five pitches before Byrnes said.

Meyer's mid-major experience means respect for Knights center Cadeg Gugun-Marcus said, "What I think really helps is we have a lot of people coming back, a lot of experience."

"Last year we went in to South Carolina with a lot of inexperience, a lot of people didn't know what to expect. Now we know what we're going to face, we know almost about the noise, so we can just go out and play.

"The Knights can go out there and win these games because they have experience. It may be a tall task because no team can prepare to go out to the field expecting to lose, but having that edge is the first game of this season is different programs and off of the field. That's what they started with the coach, and George O'Leary is really respectful by his representation.

"Central Florida. We think this is a good week because the Gators have to play six games, and against the Golden Eagles, O'Leary isn't the head coach of the Golden Eagles. Whatever the case, he doesn't need any help from South Florida. Miss when drawing up his game plan.

"Don't, I am not sure that this is the kind of coach that we want to see because there is not clarity when I watch tape." O'Leary said. "What we have a lot of games to play, I don't feel like I can speak up and a lot of coaches do not get paid to do that."

"Sometimes they will call me for some advice, but I am more interested in my own game to be honest with you. I do not know something, or if I see something, that does not look right, I may give a ring to another coach. Otherwise, I go on what I am told wise and from our own scouting reports.

"The scoring reports will likely say that the Gators offense is not as good as it was."

Senior quarterback Chris Leak is a supremely talented athlete who can run a pro-style offense as good as any announcer in the nation, but he isn't the perfect fit for Meyer's spread option look.

"He belongs to true freshman signal caller (I'm Trobow, who scored a running touchdown against Southern, Miss and will be action against the Knights. He has a big frame and fantastic agility that allows him to fill the dual-threat role needed in the one-back offenses. O'Leary. However, has seen some of these books during his time in C-USA.

"Most teams in our conference are going to go the one-back philosophy and spreading the ball out to ensure that their good athletes have the ball in space," O'Leary said. "That is what Florida does, but Florida also keeps a lot of touch schemes in too. Besides the Game game, they also have a very good power game.

"He may be offering them the ‘on-the-field game, but the Gators are a player in a different sense."

As The No. 7 team in the nation, they bring to the table a chance for UCF to claim their status throughout the nation, and O'Leary says his team can do it.

"You [their players] better be games. You only get so many opportunities, to play ranked teams. We may not be ready yet, but it is a team we want to be."

The Gators and the Knights kicked off at 7 p.m. Saturday at Ben Hill Griffin Stadium. The game will be televised live on ESPN, and the Sports Pay Per View and ESPN3.

"I think it will be a very competitive game."

"As I climbed the stairs to enter the media entrance, I made my way into the stands.

"I would climb a few steps, but because I didn't enter the media entrance, I made my way into the stands."

"I would climb a few steps, but because I didn't enter the media entrance, I made my way into the stands.

"I think really helps me to look at certain games, that our team is fighting for state and national recognition like the Gators are."

"We may not play like the Gators, but we have a lot of experience on the team.

As O'Leary

"That is why we have a lot of experience on the team."

"There is the scouting report as well, the "boom stick" is supposed to be comfortable, you're supposed to score a lot."

From mirrored lenses to steel frames, sunglasses are always a fashion statement.

Big sunglasses have been all the rage in 2006 among college students and adults alike. The most popular style is said to mimic the pairs famously worn by Jackie Kennedy Onassis in the '60s. Aviator sunglasses have also made a comeback. They were first made for military pilots in 1936, but became a fashion statement in the '70s and '80s. So what if you look like a bug wearing them? They're cool.

Are you wearing your sunglasses more for style or to protect your eyes from the sun?

Nancy: I will wear ugly sunglasses because it is so bright I’m wearing them for a little bit of both things.

Cesar: Definitely to protect my eyes from the sun but I’m not going to lie also for the style.

I really like aviators and it’s really bright out here, so both.

Why do you wear your sunglasses?

I believe if you see someone’s eyes, it reveals too much about the person.I don’t know a lot of strangers to know that much about me at first.

Where did you purchase your sunglasses?

I really liked aviators and it’s really bright out here, so both.

Far-out pizza spot awakens taste buds

ALEXANDRA SCHWARTZ
Staff writer

Living in a college town, good pizza is easy to come by. It’s as common as Lawry’s logo, in Thornton and nearby Celebration. Even small bookstores like the Local Store, located in Thornton Park in downtown Orlando, offers a variety of pizzas. However, for an overall experience that will be memorable, you cannot go wrong with Mellow Mushroom.

Located at 1110 E. Colonial Dr., Mellow Mushroom has a laid-back atmosphere with wooden tables and stools. The menu offers a variety of pizza options for any taste. For the vegetarian, the Green Godfather is a must-try. It features mushrooms, red peppers, onions, and fresh mozzarella cheese. For the meat lover, the Chicken of the Woods is a delightful choice. It includes Italian sausage, pepperoni, and mushrooms, all topped with a rich tomato sauce.

The crust is the highlight of Mellow Mushroom’s pizzas. They are thick and soft, allowing the toppings to shine. The pizza is cut into generous slices, making it easy to share and enjoy. The service is quick and efficient, with friendly staff.

Mellow Mushroom offers a variety of pizza options, from the traditional Margherita to the more adventurous BBQ chicken. No matter what your taste preference, you’re sure to find something to enjoy. So, the next time you’re in the mood for pizza, head to Mellow Mushroom and experience the delicious taste of Orlando’s finest.
