Despite best ranking ever, UCF is still trailing other Florida schools

TIFFANY PALMA

When it comes to being one of America’s top colleges, a lack of academic resources, a growing population and relatively low faculty salaries are slowing UCF’s progress into the list of top schools.

U.S. News and World Report printed a special report on Aug. 28 titled "America’s Best Colleges." The article, which lists hundreds of colleges and universities, is designed to help students searching for a college find that right choice.

Despite earning the school’s best ranking ever, UCF was still assigned to the third tier of schools, which comprises the schools ranked 125 to 180.

Grubov said that UCF is improving their programs, and already has strength through its engineering and business departments. However, he said that if the programs are growing, UCF was still unable to make the list, much unlike its neighbors at the University of Florida and Florida State University.

Law school admittance test a trial for students

JESSICA LINDBLAD

For some UCF students, the Law School Admission Test can cause uncontrollable anxiety, cold sweats and sleepless nights.

The LSAT, as it is commonly known, is a test that helps determine a college student’s future in law.

The half-day test measures a student’s reasoning in reading, logic and verbal skills. A passing score requires a certain number of correctly answered questions.

You have to really work it and you have to be really dedicated because it’s a really hard test, Joanna Blackstone, a senior journalism major, said. "It makes you restrain yourself to think a certain way."

Dear Golden Knights,

I want to take a moment to thank the student-body for their outstanding support of our football program.

You kept the momentum going from last season and this was evident at the Villanova game.

With ESPN nationally televised games, this season and next, the game day atmosphere at the Citrus Bowl and at BrightHouse Networks Stadium will soon be known across the nation as one of the best in college football.

You can take great pride in knowing that you play a big part in our football program and have a key role to play each and every Saturday. We want our stadium to be known as one tough place to play, as well as a first-class venue for our visiting fans.

College football is a great game and with your help we will continue to build a strong tradition at UCF.

admission to bars and clubs such as Exchange Lounge, Orange Crush Bar and Absinthe Bar & Lounge. At first the event was only open to non-UCF students, but SGA decided that everyone should be able to enjoy the event in the excitement, Delanois said.

"We [SGA] really want to keep all of our local students, especially those in the greater Orlando area," Delanois added.

To kick off the night, Natural Light will be free to the first 400 guests. Additionally, a group for the nine black Greek organizations on campus will pay a seeks rally through Church Street Station. Following, Jona Tyula at The Pressures and Delta Sigma Theta, SORORITY will perform step shows. The group will then have a student dance group nationally recognized by the International Step Team Organization perform along with D.J. Nothing, alternative band Arps and funk band Mobetta. The block party will feature a wide variety of entertainment to include breakdancing, dancing and various guest DJs, Delanois said.

Delanois said he would love to see at least 1,000 people show up for the party but says Church Street Station has the capacity to hold 400 or 500 people.

What can you do to support the Golden Knights before that game against UCF Saturday

In the Green Fairy Lounge of Absinthe Bistro, drink specials include $3 domestic bottled beers, $3 specialty draft beers, $4 wine and $4 white cocktails. When the train passes, Absinthe Bistro's "Green Fairy" shots are $3. There will also be a "UCF theme" wine dinner in the cellar room of the Absinthe Bistro.

Lyny pups will be provided to students who purchase double doses from campus to Church Street Station. Lyny pups are limited and vary by the number of passengers on each bus. Lyny pups do not have to take buses to the event, but transportation is free and students are encouraged to take Lynx buses.

Delanois said Lyny pups will be used to keep the block party tradition alive for UCF students who do not feel comfortable enjoying themselves without having a vehicle. Lyny pups are a self-serve mode of transportation. Students must be present to receive a Lyny pup and everyone up for Lyny pups must be 21 or older.

"We [SGA] really trying to keep Lyny pups going [for] a great time and not change you feel you can't drive," Delanois said.

buses. She lives in Woodfield off of University. and her little girl school takes anywhere from an hour and a half to two hours, depending on traffic. The total distance is only 3 miles.

She said the buses usually arrive on time, but the real part for her is timing the bus, the No. 30 route runs about every 30 minutes, but only every hour on weekends.

"My class ends at 3:20, and I'm away at 3:15," Lugo said. "I have to wait another 10 minutes for that next bus to come."

Linda Winton, the CFO of the SGA, said she is aware of these problems and has plans to fix them. According to Delanois, a computer problem with the UCF's public transsystem, John Clark, the director of Parking and Transportation Services at UCF also said that lack of funding is a problem with the only shuttle service. He said that five new buses are being constructed for the shuttle service, but they will be used to maintain their current service levels. More will be needed in order to reach more primary residences.

"Our biggest problem is that there are no riders and no riders, she continued, "We have to wait another 10 minutes for that next bus to come."

Lyny pups are currently being advertised a plugin to provide free rides to UCF students, currently, a fare is $165.

However, complications beyond the Lynx buses, which are privately funded, and the Lynx buses, which are publicly funded, are causing delays in this plan. As a result, the higher the numbers of riders, the more federal funding it will receive.

"It's a simple plan of what will be available to students, but, "We said we are looking at doing this bet is a pre­ ready this fall," Delanois said.

Students credit lagging rank to full classes, traffic

...and more, "UCF needs to become larger," he said. "Do you imagine most decent universities? I would imagine most decent universities had this problem? I

Many UCF students feel placing a stricter cap on enrollment would help solve the shortages of classes.

"With all the new students, people in the growing majors, like mine, are having problems getting into classes," forensic science major Lauren Hasberger, 21, said. "UCF needs to cap enrollment and add classes and sections in order to boost graduation numbers."

Electrical engineering major Paul Nelson, 20, noted that lowering the enrollment capacity could also solve the traffic and parking problems students experience on campus.

"I'm willing to bet there are students who just don't want to deal with the traffic and don't want to drive," Nelson said. "These students don't perform well, and bring down the school's total academic performance."

U.S. News and World Report also judged academic performance by faculty resources. This includes the student-faculty ratio, average faculty salaries, and the percentages of classes with fewer than 20 students and more than 50 students.

Currently, UCF faculty rank near the 2000-2000 range from $68,630 to $84,458. This average salary is roughly $70,000.

"Why do we have so many visiting professors? it would seem as if there's not enough incentive to have professors come here," Burns said. "I would think money is a huge motivator in getting professors to come here."

When college rankings are made, academic resources matter most. The U.S. News ranking system focused on how effectively the institution educates its students.

"Maybe instead of spending so much on renovations or constructing fiber engineer­ ing buildings, we could actually offer to pay professors more," Burns said.

Some students feel that perhaps the ultimate goal of education has become a second priority—and expanding the size of the school has become the first.

"UCF wants to get bigger, rather than better," Glachow said. "Several of all these students do not equal better education." However, Glachow believes that many of UCF's enrollment programs are excellent, and new academic programs will gain recognition for the school.

"The Rosen School has also garnered a lot of national attention and hopefully the school will make marks of instructors and professors," Glachow said. "As the Independent Florida Alligator reported last week, the average salary of the University of Florida medical school as well as the medical school at UCF was around $79,000.

In all, some students feel that the lack of academic performance of the new medical school and higher administrative standards are good news for UCF.

"Words cannot explain how excited we are to finally have this opportunity for students to participate on these artificial fields for open rec and Intramural use." - EM BEARD PARK ASST. DIRECTOR OF PROGRAMS

"It will be great to see students be able to use the fields on a daily basis and I can't wait to come out here to play some soccer.

The fields were funded by student GTFD funds of $52,000 for the first phase of the projects. For the next phase of this plan, in addition to the funds unknown and will not be known until the first two phases.

From the beginning, UCF controlled the ball on offense and defense, keeping possession for much of the first half. "We dominated the game," coach Brent Erwin said. "We were always in front of our goal." "We pressed them high," Rein said. "We didn't let them get out of their own end."

The Knights struck first when a free kick was served from Ryan Roushandel to Jake Howard in the 26th minute for the game's first goal. "The first goal was really big," Howard said. "It got the team going. We were playing hard up to that point, but it got us going.

At intermission the Knights held a 9-0 lead over UCF, out-shooting their opponents 15-5. Entering the second half the Knights lost a little intensity but managed to regain control of the game. "It took awhile to get going," Howard said. "Once we realized we had to bring it up, we did." Rein thanked the Rattlers would not prove to be helpful as they won for the first time in 2006 with a 24-22-8, 30-20-3, 23-20-5 victory over the Knights.

UCF vs. No. Florida

Last year, UCF received a huge wake-up call when they played in front of over 3,500 fans in Minneapolis. Friday night was a case of vets vs vets as the Golden Knights played in front of 10,022 rowdy fans in the O'Connell Center and were handed their most decisive loss to date this season, falling in the game to the Gators 30-20, 30-20, 30-20.

The dominance of the Gators over UCF was evident in every hitter hitting percentage for the game.

While Florida was hitting at a .340 clip for the match, UCF struggled hitting only .209 for the match and having only 1 more (52-120) than hitting opponents (50).

"Sanfer McCray led a balanced Gator attack with 11 kills in conjunction with her .429 hitting percentage in victory," Stefanie Douglas and Klyon Killingsworth were two of four Gators with 7 kills in the victory while setter Angel McGinnis had 13 assists.

Lori Lukas led UCF in kills for the night with 8 kills, with eight right away. Libero Tricia Noe, with nine digs in the Knights dropped their third straight match outside.

UCF vs. FAMU

After lacking their wounds from the Saturday. coach Joey Calado and his ladies looked to get back on the winning track versus previous winners Florida A&M.

However, the Rattlers would not prove to be helpful as they won for the first time in 2006 with a 24-22-8, 30-20-3, 23-20-5 victory over the Knights.

Hazing rites should end

"Hazing is nothing new in Florida and across the country. Tales of high school seniors smothering a pledge with beer cans and glass shards when the crunchy bits on the floor provide a clue that someone has been mistreated, the potential for permanent harm is always present," says Crystal Bowe, a journalism student at the University of Florida.

For this reason, let's work to put an end to hazing in our student body, and give the government the right to put a stop to this practice. We need to raise awareness about the potential dangers of hazing and make sure our campus is free from this type of behavior. Let's come together and fight for a safer and more inclusive community.

Let them drink real milk

Milk is something most people pick up on their way home from work, but some people have real stuff, like raw, unsweetened, unpasturized, and raw milk products. It is important to drink milk, and it is not just a question of individual choice. It is not just for the sake of personal health, but for the sake of the environment as well.

For example, studies have shown that cow's milk is produced with a significant amount of pollution. This pollution is caused by the use of antibiotics, pesticides, and other harmful chemicals in the production of milk.

The lack of sunshine and the high temperature of the milk is a major factor in the production of milk. However, the consumption of milk has been increasing, and the need for the agricultural sector to produce more milk has been growing.

Additionally, the dairy industry is becoming more dependent on the use of antibiotics to keep animals healthy. This creates a cycle of antibiotic resistance, and it is not a healthy way to produce milk.

The government should back the farmers who grow milk and provide an incentive for them to produce milk without antibiotics. This will help to reduce the amount of pollution in the dairy industry and make it a more sustainable way to produce milk.

The government should also be more involved in the dairy industry, as it is a major source of pollution. It is important for the government to regulate the dairy industry and ensure that it is producing milk in a sustainable way.

The government should also encourage the development of alternative sources of protein, such as soy or tofu. This will help to reduce the amount of milk that is produced, and it will also help to reduce the amount of pollution in the dairy industry.

Summary

In conclusion, hazing and the consumption of milk are issues that need to be addressed. We need to work together to put an end to hazing and to encourage the production of milk in a sustainable way.

Let's work to make our campus a safer and more inclusive place, and let's make sure that we are doing our part to protect the environment.
